

THAT WAS THE WEB THAT WAS

2000

500+ msm and conspiracy-related links

thatwasthewebthatwas.net

That Was the Web That Was 2000

A new social commentary:

A collection of 500+ links to mainstream and alt media news articles with conspiracy-related internet content from the year 2000.

Ordered by date and easy-to-read.

Summarised and archived.

With references and commentary relevant to 2024.

TW+WTW

In days of old
When tyrants cold
Repressed the people with diktat,

The people, bold
Linked arms to hold
And circulated samizdat.

Please help circulate this free samizdat!

Examples of why the year 2000 is relevant to 2024...

January 2000: Bill Gates left Microsoft to head GAVI for the WEF: and distribute vaccines.

February 2000: The Clinton White House prioritised nanotechnology [to put into those 2020 vaccines].

March 2000: The UN announced its Replacement Migration "solution".

April 2000: Microsoft applied for a patent to transmit power and data via the human body [accepted on a 6-6-6 date].

May 2000: EU research paper: "Methane production by ruminants: its contribution to global warming."

June 2000: The US govt secretly colluded with Pharma and the WHO to cover up the dangers of vaccination.

July 2000: War criminal Tony Blair passed his Terrorism Act 2000, which will later be used to harass truth-telling journalists.

August 2000: Kamala Harris quit her job in San Fran [but not without causing a drama].

September 2000: Dick Cheney strenuously denied allegations that he had a big one ["thanks" to Cathy O'Brien's testimony, "that" picture was all over the conspiracy websites].

October 2000: There was a "plane crash at the Pentagon" simulation and Blackstone bought the debt on the WTC [in preparation for next year's 9/11].

November 2000: In the UK, popstar Jonathan King denied [more] charges of paedophilia. [We had not yet heard about his friend Jimmy Savile.]

December 2000: Depopulationist CNN founder Ted Turner donated $34 million to pay off the UN's debts. Huh?

Preface:

Page

i] Introduction to TWtWTW 2000

ix) Statements of Copyright xiii) How to Use TWtWtW 2000

xvi) Note to Readers

Introduction to TWtWTW 2000: Saving the Web from Revisionism

Welcome to That Was the Web That Was 2000, your PDF collection of over 500 links to msm news and “conspiracy” articles that appeared online in 2000. Ordered by date, archived and excerpted. So that even if a link and its archive disappears from the internet, evidence of the original remains.

We’ve done our best to make this collection easy to read. We’ve summarised everything twice so you can easily skim-read the content, browse it briefly or dive deep into all the links via the interactive Table of Contents.

The collection consists mainly of UK and US content.

What is this collection for?

To preserve some truth. To protect it against revisionism. We’re currently seeing the internet, which contains our history, or the history we were fed by the msm, being scrubbed and “sanitised” by malicious parties. So we’ve saved a tiny piece of it. In PDF format. So it a) can’t be deleted, and b) can be read offline.

We’ve seen the WEF, in particular Gates and Schwab, grumbling about conspiracy theories and their “mistakes” with web 2.0 – seems they’re planning to revise the past. Schwab’s threatened repeatedly that cyber attacks will occur. He says we “pay insufficient attention” to their likelihood. So we decided to prove him wrong, pay attention and prepare.

Welcome to our prepping. We’re working on collections for 2001-2005. Because we own our history, not them.

Please help us spread the word

Thank you if you can help by sharing this free ebook with everyone you know who’s into conspiracy theory/truth/freedom/history. Please spread it around, particularly “under the algorithms” via email or Telegram. Or talk about it – spread it via word of mouth. It costs nothing.

There's no registration or subscription – this collection is entirely free and anonymous. This is samizdat by we the people for the people.

Of course you can also support us by donating to cover time and costs – that goes without saying. Any amount is gratefully received and we could sure do with it. [How to donate.]

Web address: thatwasthewebthatwas.net

Email: thatwasthewebthatwas@proton.me

Substack: thatwasthewebthatwas.substack.com

Why are you doing this?

Because we won't accept the NWO, their "reset". How dare these murderous parties interfere in our lives and wreck our countries? What right do they have to delete us, or our history?

We see lots of good people who feel the same as we do, taking action to hinder/expose the NWO or otherwise help the situation, from musicians to farmers, from researchers to podcasters, from artists to lawyers, from cartoonists to comedians and car dealers. Everyone "awake" has something to offer - this is our contribution. This is UK samizdat 2024. Please accept it. Please help us beat the algorithms and share it far and wide. Thank you.

What is samizdat?

From Britannica:

samizdat, (from Russian sam, "self," and izdatelstvo, "publishing"), literature secretly written, copied, and circulated in the former Soviet Union and usually critical of practices of the Soviet government.

Obviously, we are not Russians, we are English through and through but we see our country being destroyed by Communism and feel that the word samizdat aptly describes our work.

What use is this collection?

Among other:

- It saves a little truth/history from being wiped out or revised: It's evidence!
- The articles linked [and archived] contain many names relevant to today: Musk, Gates, Schwab, Blair and more, they were all active in 2000, furthering the NWO agenda.
- It exposes the msm. Like how back then they were pushing the tech agenda: Bill Gates and Google were so cool, they crowed... to manipulate us into adopting it.
- It contains living history. Most of us adults were around in 2000, whatever age we were. It's a reminder of what we missed at the time. We ourselves missed a lot, being too busy with family, work and life in general to notice, for example, that the UN had issued their lethal "replacement migration" agenda [not that that was widely reported in the msm].
- The articles linked give hindsight. Like in 2000 the msm were puffing Diddy's and Peter Nygard's parties. And the Ronsons'. Those guest lists make interesting reading in 2024...
- It shows readers how "they" did it. In date order. Like when Gates moved into vaccines and Clinton into nanotech – that was in early 2000. And our monthly summaries make the information easy to read and interpret.
- It's a guide for people who have just "woken up" to the NWO. See our conspiracy commentary.
- It's brimming with potential "rabbit hole" content for creators. Like are there any Freemasonry experts out there who want to deep dive into Jean-Michel Jarre's millennium concert 2000 in which he projected the Illuminati eye onto the Pyramids? Send us any links to your posts.
- It can be read offline in the event of a cyber attack. It won't be the same as the internet, of course, but it's something to surf/scroll through if your devices have power.

Please note that in 2024, we'd prefer to use the phrase "legacy media" but "msm" is accurate here because that is what the media was in 2000: full-on mainstream.

This collection is, we believe, unique: it's a "new social commentary"

There are plenty of vanilla "What Happened in the Year 2000" pages online but we are not aware of any conspiratorial collections [in PDF, too]. That is why we argue [\[for the purposes of UK copyright law\]](#) that this is a "new social commentary".

Most “What Happened” websites won’t highlight that in 2000 an “agitated” Bill Gates melted down paranoid over conspiracies: the government and billionaires were out to get him. Or that that same year, Microsoft filed for a patent on using the human body to transmit power and data – which was granted on a 6-6-6 date. [So was the US Patent Office in collusion? Coincidence or conspiracy?]

Those vanilla 2000 sites won’t mention either that that year, the US government colluded with the WHO and Big Pharma to cover up the dangers of vaccination, or that the BBC headlined puns about fixer Jimmy Savile and crotches. In 2024, however, we find these items interesting.

MSM article curation

We’ve collected links to msm articles from 2000 where in our opinion they constituted “revelation of the method” or documented the progress of the NWO. For example, we linked this letter to the NYT:

“To the Editor:

Microsoft's newest television advertisement uses the musical theme of the "Confutatis Maledictis" from Mozart's Requiem. "Where do you want to go today?" is the cheery line on the screen. Meanwhile, the chorus sings, "Confutatis maledictis, flammis acribus addictis," which translates to, "The damned and accursed are convicted to flames of hell."

Examples of articles we’ve linked documenting the progress of the NWO include Clinton’s Presidential Decree that Gay Pride Day was to drag on for a whole month, and when turncoat UK MP Sean Woodward resigned to make way for future PM David Cameron to take a seat in Parliament. These links constitute most of the collection.

Please note that we are not for a second demonising individual journalists and other media professionals [although we do question the Guardian’s vaccine-pushing George Monbiot]. Most msm journalists and presenters will not have been aware of the NWO agenda. Many, for example Jacqui Deevoy, now openly reject it.

Conspiracy content in the year 2000: how we selected it for inclusion

The online conspiracy landscape has changed beyond measure since 2000. With the arrival of social media from around 2003, for example YouTube [2005] then Twitter/X [2006-7] and Telegram [2013], the genre has ballooned. And the revelations just keep on coming.

In 2024 it's normal to see posts about, say, Tartaria, adrenochrome and the ice wall. We see AI translations of Hitler's speeches and pictures of cabbage patch babies. And to generalise, many child victims/survivors have now grown up and are speaking out about their abuse in, for example, secret space programs or at Montauk - on different planets, even. Years on, some abusers have died, too, which has made it easier for some to speak out.

But back in 2000, there was hardly any of that. We had no social media, no YouTube. Mobile phones were fairly widely used but not everyone had a device, video camera or access to a computer. News was delivered mainly via print, radio or TV. So conspiracy theory was very different – on or offline. As David Icke said, at first he “could not fill a phone box.”

As we recall, film-makers like Anthony J. Hilder [RIP], writers like Jordan Maxwell [RIP], alt historians like Graham Hancock, UFO researchers like Linda Mouton-Howe and survivors like Cathy O'Brien were selling books and videos in their niches, but we, their fans, had to travel to bricks and mortar shops to get hold of them because there weren't many shops that sold conspiracy theory. Either that or mail order because online shopping was yet to be perfected. Word was slower to spread.

All the same, there were plenty of conspiracy websites around, particularly US-based. Many were individual sites hosted on platforms like geocities now lost – archived at [geocities]. We've included a few of these retro/vintage sites. Others, such as davidicke.com or infowars.com were out there, but have been through several iterations between then and now and much material has been lost – these sites don't display material published in 2000 so we couldn't link it.

Sites like educateyourself.org and rense.com, grahamhancock.com and larouchepub.com remain pretty much the same as they were in 2000. We've linked one or two articles from these excellent comprehensive sites, but are mindful of copyright.

It's also for copyright reasons that we've reluctantly not linked too much high-quality conspiracy content from magazines like Nexus and New Dawn. These publications were popular in 2000, too. Others, like UFO Magazine are, sadly, no longer around.

Where we have included specific conspiracy content, it's usually drawn from the public domain or retro/vintage sites of interest e.g. the Mar 9 2000 chemtrails photos. You'll see a few names that are still going strong in 2024 e.g. Alex Constantine and Linda Moulton-Howe. Some, sadly, we've lost e.g. RIP Ted Gunderson, Dave McGowan, Jordan Maxwell, Anthony J. Hilder, Rauni Lena Kilde and others: we miss you but your works and memories live on strong - thank you.

Christian conspiracy theory in 2000

As far as we remember, Christian conspiracy theory in particular was more substantial on the web back in the day: debates raged in newsgroups and forums over the Rapture, Revelations, names of Jesus and so on. We've linked and archived a couple of Christian articles from archive.org – again, we've been mindful of copyright. Much high-quality Christian content has been lost forever.

How to read the collection

We explain things as we go along in date order – where we can, we hold readers' hands. You can dip into this PDF, keyword search or trawl through page by page. We will have left things out. And this is only our perspective. We welcome contributions from readers who know more/better and will where we can document them on our website. Please send us your comments and contributions!

Who are you?

A couple of old conspiracy theorists who collect news.

What do you mean by “conspiracy theorist”?

We wear the term “conspiracy theorist” as a badge of honour. We might not always be right – and who hasn't been deceived by NWO disinfo at some point? - but we are forever theorising about the wicked conspiracies that are being and have been perpetrated against us humans. Such as the one we're currently living through.

For “conspiracy theory” articles/posts, we've used a broad definition of the genre, including some alternative history, Christianity, alternative spirituality, big cats, UFOs, cryptids, Montauk – it's a mixed bag and links collected are pretty random. When selecting, copyright was our first consideration.

Why should we listen to you?

You need not. We've simply collected from the internet links to items of news that in our opinion shed a little light on how some of the globalists furthered some of their agendas in the year 2000. We're just the collectors and formatters of the information who've added a little commentary: make of it what you will. Build on it. Correct us if necessary – we’ll publish corrections on our website. And please send us your retro conspiracy links [from any time before 2005].

O2CW

All “conspiracy theory” commentary is our own opinion. We have labeled it clearly as “O2CW”, short for “Our Two Cents’ Worth” as a self-deprecating reminder to readers that that is all it is: idle speculation/commentary to be ignored as necessary.

In our fifties, we are happily traditional and slightly conservative [small c] in opinion – we will express this. Are we bigots? We try not to be, but we believe that paedo-Satanism and the NWO were and are active out there and feel compelled to point them out. You don’t have to like or agree with us or our commentary, our “pastiche”: it’s the material itself, how you interpret it and what you do with it that’s important.

Why is this old news relevant?

How can it not be? At the very least it evidences that in the sphere of politics alone, groups of malevolent, apparently anti-human miscreants [globalists] have been working to their NWO agenda continuously over the past quarter of a century.

There are far too many of these miscreants who are past their use-by dates around at the moment. We had assumed they would go away. Retire, even. But Hillary is still out there getting booed. War criminal Blair is still lying. Mandelson is still meddling. The younger ones appear as shameless.

Things look pretty much the same in tech. All repeat and no rinse. Gates, Thiel, Musk, Google et al, it seems a stagnant slow flow. Regrettably, there seems to be no operational plumbing mechanism via which we as a society can flush out our systems.

As conspiracy theorists, why are you collecting mainstream media?

We see the msm as a collection of tools the globalists use to weave their narratives. We also believe that they believe that to avoid karma, they must let us know what they’re doing. And the msm is perhaps their biggest means of revelation of the method. So in our opinion it’s revealing – and prudent – to save.

We hope you enjoy our collection. Again, please spread it around. It's samizdat, so see sharing it as an act of rebellion against the NWO. Just forward this email or circulate it on Telegram. It's free.

TWtWTW

Statements of Copyright

Our understanding of copyright law

We don't understand it. Maybe we're being over-cautious in our ignorance, but we want to work within the law and as we see it, the principle must be that we cannot make any money off others' work. All the same, we need to link articles and excerpt them for the purposes of preservation. So that's what we're doing. We're just covering our backs. As follows:

With regard to all material reproduced in this PDF ebook, we are operating within the US' fair use and the UK's fair dealing copyright laws to the best of our understanding.

Please note that in attributing articles by linking them to their original source, should readers visit them, their featuring in this ebook will increase hit count and ranking. Readers might even subscribe or donate.

US Fair Use Notice:

The material in this PDF ebook has been collected and provided for educational and informational purposes. All images used have either been purchased, used with permission, credited and linked back to their original sources or believed to be public domain/Creative Commons. It is believed that this constitutes a 'fair use' of any such copyrighted material as provided for in section 107 of the US Copyright Law.

In accordance with Title 17 U.S.C. Section 107, the material on this site is distributed without profit to those who have an interest in using the included information for research and educational purposes. If you wish to use copyrighted material from this PDF for purposes of your own that go beyond 'fair use', you must obtain permission from the copyright owner.

This book is being distributed without profit. Instead, donations are invited for the work we put into compiling That Was the Web That Was 2000, including collecting, presenting, archiving and formatting over 1000 links overall on over 500 pages of information conveyed in 175,000+ words. We recommend to readers what we hope is a reasonable donation of $14.95 US, but only if they can - the book is free.

UK Fair Dealing

From here:

“UK Copyright Fair Dealing Exceptions

In the UK, there are a number of ‘fair dealing’ exceptions to copyright law, which means that certain uses of an artistic work do not require permission from the copyright owner so long as the use is considered to be ‘fair’.

A similar concept - ‘fair use’ - exists in the US but it is a general defence. The UK ‘fair dealing’ is more limited than the United States doctrine of fair use. The terms ‘fair use’ and ‘fair dealing’ are not interchangeable - an exception that applies in the US may be regarded as an infringement in the UK.

Fair dealing requires a judgment to be made by whoever is carrying out the copying. Every case is different but generally speaking, if the use would not affect sales of the work and if the amount of the work copied is deemed reasonable and appropriate, then that use may be considered as fair.

Quotation, Criticism & Review

These can be considered two different exceptions or two distinct uses covered by the same exception: one for criticism & review and a more general one for quotation. It is allowed to use short extracts of copyright protected works for the purposes of criticism & review, but it will have to be a genuine critique by way of discussion or assessment.

It is possible to use quotation for other purposes than criticism & review such as using a short quote in a history book or an academic article. There is a lot of overlap between the two exceptions and both apply to all types of copyright works.

News Reporting

To report on current events of national or international importance, reporters may sometimes require the use of copyright materials such as short textual extracts or short clips from video footage. The exception does NOT apply to photographs. An event is ‘current’ if it deals with a present issue.

Parody, caricature and pastiche

Parody, caricature and pastiche refers to a new creative work which is referencing and making use of various existing works to generate new social commentary for humour or ridicule. The exception introduced in 2014 allows individuals to use copyright protected materials for the purpose of ‘parody, caricature and pastiche’ without having to obtain permission from the original author.

UK Fair Dealing Statement

With regard to fair dealing, there are no “sales” of this work. We are making this work [a new form of social commentary] freely available on the internet, on our own website [not social media] and inviting donations. We have also suggested readers donate to the archive site.

We respect the work of others and copyright of all publications. We have taken short excerpts all fewer than 250 words and not [or barely – once or twice for formatting purposes e.g. deleting space] altered original texts. We have linked to original sources for attribution.

Criticism and review: Our excerpts are short. We offer with the “O2CW” comments plenty of criticism and review. Depending on definition, everything in this ebook arguably is review because in 2024 we are referring to and commenting on articles written in the past and linking them to current affairs.

News Reporting: Current news reporting in 2024 covers many names seen in this collection: Puff Daddy and Jay-Z; Donald Trump; Hillary Clinton; Bill Gates; Elon Musk; Tony Blair; Oprah Winfrey, to name a few. This ebook augments and references current news reporting.

Parody, caricature and pastiche: This ebook is, “a new creative work which is referencing and making use of various existing works to generate new social commentary for humour or ridicule.” All of our “O2CW” commentary is just that. We make “humorous” [depending on your sense of humour] references to “msm scaremongering”. We’ve used humorous images. We consider this ebook to have generated a “new form of social commentary”: it has not as far as we are aware been done before.

Justification

There is a clear need to preserve in the public interest links to historic news items and articles like those listed and archived in this collection. In recent months we the public have been warned repeatedly by governments and NGOs that some kind of undefined “cyber attack” is going to occur. We saw a spate of them in June 2024. So what material is going to be lost?

For example, World Economic Forum members have made threats against our online interests. In 2021 Klaus Schwab threatened/warned that we don't take the threat of "comprehensive" cyber attacks seriously enough and at Davos 2023 we were told by a WEF representative [at 01:43 in the video] that "Web 2.0 and social media, turned out we got that wrong."

How then will these globalists seek to rectify their mistakes? They pretty obviously hate humanity. TWtWTW is an effort to preserve just a few facts by means of a PDF against our history being "reset" or wiped out.

Selective sourcing of news in order to comply with copyright laws

We have deliberately made extensive use of the UK's msm Guardian newspaper and BBC websites because both are provided free of charge in the public domain and considered reliable "academic" sources.

This ebook is UK-centric but we have also drawn on many US news sites and others to provide context.

Disclaimer: All material has been presented "as is". In the case of the msm in particular, we cannot and do not guarantee the accuracy or validity of any of it. We offer no advice to readers in this book – except that it would be a good thing to share it far and wide.

How to Use TWtWTW

This is a standard PDF. It should open in your browser [or Acrobat Reader] at which point you can choose to Download or not.

1) The collection is easily-navigable via the PDF navigation panel in the left sidebar of your screen [also via the ToC on page 1].

You can also go to any page number in the PDF via the x/xxx number of pages box in the bar on the left hand side of the screen in the PDF viewer.

2) To search by keyword, use the navigation panel and enter your keyword.

3) To return to Preface pages, use the search term TWtWTW.

Layout for Each Month

Each month has three sections. All sections give different overviews of what happened in the same month so don't get confused – the repetition is deliberate. It's for the sake of clarity. As follows:

1) A “Most Relevant to Today” section which provides a brief summary of the news that we feel are most relevant today. For example, in January 2000's Most Relevant to Today section we highlight that on 13 Jan 2000 Bill Gates left his post as Microsoft's CEO to head GAVI for the WEF – and distribute vaccines. And that on 14 Jan 2000 P. Diddy [all over the news in 2024 so we judged it relevant] had hired O.J Simpson's lawyer to represent him following a shooting incident.

2) A “Summary” section drawing on the same news but in more detail than the first, with a longer bulleted list summarising all of that month's topics for skim-reading.

3) A longer main “Links” section showing 30-50 headlines from the month in date order, each displayed in between blue lines for clarity, each with an italicised excerpt of the article and link to its archive. Many have a “Relevant” addendum referencing other years.

4) Occasionally we add a short commentary in between flourishes labelled "O2CW" meaning "Our Two Cents' Worth". Example post from the "December 2000 Links" section:

Link to article headline

Dec 23 2000 Tory defector will not defend seat

Excerpt from article in italics

"MP Shaun Woodward, who defected from the Tories to join Labour, will not be defending his seat at the next general election. In a statement he said that he would not be asking the constituency Labour Party in Witney, Oxfordshire, to consider him when they come to choose their candidate in the new year...

*Aged 41, he was born in Bristol and graduated with a double first from Oxford University. He worked at the BBC from 1982-1990 as a researcher and producer on current affairs programmes and Esther Rantzen's That's Life, before moving into politics in 1991 as a communications chief for the Conservative Party." Archive.*

Relevant links

Relevant: 2009: Minister's 'tax dodge': MP avoided paying £1.5m bill on sale of 'main home'. 2009: Richest man in cabinet Shaun Woodward claims his full £23,083 allowance. Archive.

2012: Lord Mandelson, Prince Andrew, Shaun Woodward, and convicted paedophile Simon Jeffrey Epstein

2015: Ex-Tory turncoat Shaun Woodward splits from Sainsbury's heiress and cameraman friend.

O2CW remarks between flourishes

O2CW: Shaun Woodward's defection from the Tory Party allowed David Cameron to enter Parliament, thus securing Cameron's role as co-conspirator to destroy the UK from within.

Woodward was married to a Sainsbury's heiress and they both appeared in Epstein's black book. They split when he had an affair with his cameraman. He worked for the BBC and is good friends with [paedophile-protector] Esther Rantzen.

Next link

Dec 24 2000 Right-wing coup that shames America: Continuing unofficial counts reveal the full extent of Al Gore's lead and the massive abuses that have put George W. Bush into power

Please note:

- At 600+ pages and over 1000 links overall, TWtWTW was lot to format. We've tried to make it easy to read and at the same time as tidy and compact as possible: apologies for times when minor mistakes arise - we did our best. Thanks for your patience and understanding.

- We have not referenced or summarised most of the “conspiracy theory” links. Conspiracy theory content appears randomly.
- We use square brackets because we find them easier on the eye. English-English spelling has been used, except where dealing with American news sources.
- Many sites had already been archived before we went to archive them. Older sites and PDFs will not archive. [Is that why the WEF and other globalist organisations store a lot in PDF?] You are advised to download any PDFs that interest you.
- The internet changes constantly: If a link cannot be accessed because, say, it has been removed, you can access it via its ARCHIVE LINK. The archive links are often easier to read/access than the originals.
- Please consider supporting/subscribing to the sites you’re viewing.

Please email us at the address below with any queries or to point out any errors and we’ll get back to you as soon as possible. Thank you.

TWtWTW

Contact: thatwasthewebthatwas@proton.me

www.thatwasthewebthatwas.net

Note to TWtWTW Readers:

The information we've collected into this PDF is heavy. It's our intention to protect the facts, preserve the light of truth and spread understanding, not to demonise, demoralise or depress.

[For transparency, "we" refers to us, a couple of conspiracy theorists stranded overseas, loving and missing our country from afar, watching on tenterhooks and praying for family and friends as events unfold. We have Christian/spiritual biases and prefer to remain anonymous.]

In 2024, more and more people are realising that the UK, in fact most of the world, is being hijacked by the dark side. We too are convinced we're in a spiritual war. So what's the answer?

Shine light on the dark. Lighten the place up. Whatever your belief. Whether by prayers or going to church, by asking a guardian angel for [Britain's?] protection... We can't patronise with advice on how to lighten the place up – everyone will have different ways, means and beliefs: Rastafarians will spark up a joint. Indeed, we might be tempted, too, if things get too heavy.

Q: So what's light in this dark ebook? Does it contain any good news?

A: Yes. Such as:

- It shows that in 2000, they were already behind in their crazy, psychotic agendas. [See May 22 2000]
- We the people have resisted them throughout and held them at bay. [Sept 13 2000]
- They fight between themselves. [Feb 22 2000]
- They're dangerously [to themselves, too] mentally unstable. [Mar 19 2000]
- Ref the Diddy case 2024, word's getting around now no matter what. [May 8 2000 x 2]
- They get caught. [Sept 29 2000]
- They give themselves away. [Mar 16 2000]
- People are [in 2024] rejecting some tech. [Oct 1 2000 – "Relevant" section.]
- Bill Gates' image hasn't improved since 2000. [Apr 28 2000]
- People are on to them now. [Jun 2000 – voting machines.]

- The British public didn't like them back then, either. [Jun 12 2000]
- They make stupid mistakes like doh: who let the chupacabras out? [Jun 8, 2000]

If we can think of any more - and there will be more - we'll blog about it – [check out our \[all free\] Substack](#).

Love and joy to the world at Christmastime 2024, peace and good cheer be with you all – God is winning. There will be dark days ahead but have comfort that change for the good is occurring,

TWtWTW

Welcome to TWtWTW 2000. Please if you are able consider making a donation to support us and cover our costs in time and data – we are entirely self-funded. We hope you find this collection an interesting new social commentary on the msm genre.

Recommended donation: $14.95

The ebook is free, but any amount would be very gratefully received. If you would like to donate, bank transfer or crypto would be our preferred methods:

Payment details for bank transfers:

PAYEE:	MR GUY WARD
IBAN:	GB45ABBY09012926763309
SORT CODE:	09-01-29
ACC:	26763309

Crypto:

Bitcoin: bc1q42fsvylspq28wvg5qjqevejvmnet8r458v05s6

Monero:

8AhQky4aoeALSpCZRTp6R45E8nAVa2gBnipd7bu4gK3y98zEqAoD7QMaoTUviEzbxkcEYru
v1ZoKHKCyZQU253XfDR71Zty

Pirate:

zs1p8x9fflnm9k2k7gg4rg9vjezzz33krehv806qh2hdphx8aqxxvhrcq0w4yff7y8q8z9uz2hk
4r

PayPal: gfxw@mailfence.com

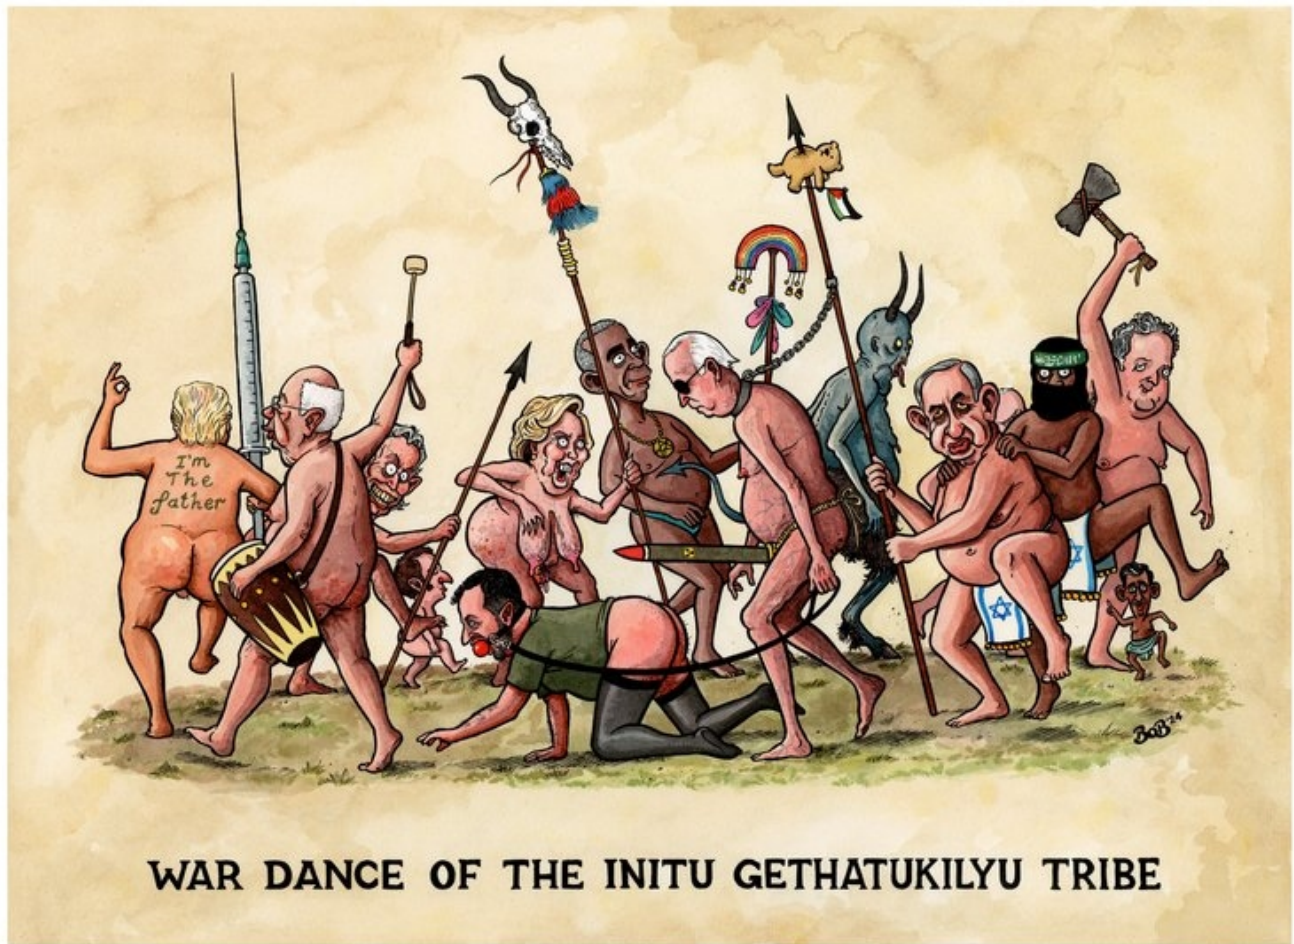

Please also consider donating to the archive.is hosting site. Thank you.

Table of Contents

Links of 2000 Overall: a Summary.....	3
January 2000 Links Most Relevant to Today.....	15
January 2000 Summary.....	18
January 2000 Links.....	22
February 2000 Links Most Relevant to Today.....	66
February 2000 Summary.....	69
February 2000 Links.....	73
March 2000 Links Most Relevant to Today.....	114
March 2000 Summary.....	118
March 2000 Links.....	122
April 2000 Links Most Relevant to Today.....	165
April 2000 Summary.....	168
April 2000 Links.....	173
May 2000 Links Most Relevant to Today.....	222
May 2000 Summary.....	225
May 2000 Links.....	229
June 2000 Links Most Relevant to Today.....	270
June 2000 Summary.....	273
June 2000 Links.....	278
July 2000 Links Most Relevant to Today.....	321
July 2000 Summary.....	323
July 2000 Links.....	328
August 2000 Links Most Relevant to Today.....	364
August 2000 Summary.....	367
August 2000 Links.....	371
September 2000 Links Most Relevant to Today.....	410
September 2000 Summary.....	413
September 2000 Links.....	417
October 2000 Links Most Relevant to Today.....	461
October 2000 Summary.....	464
October 2000 Links.....	469
November 2000 Links Most Relevant to Today.....	507
November 2000 Summary.....	511
November 2000 Links.....	515
December 2000 Links Most Relevant to Today.....	561
December 2000 Summary.....	564
December 2000 Links.....	568

Welcome to ThatWastheWebThatWas 2000

Links of 2000 Overall: a Summary

"War Dance" by Bob Moran, available here.

Listed in this summary section are some of the main themes/topics we saw overall in the msm in 2000, selected from TWtWTW [not exhaustive of the news, obviously, or of TWtWTW].

9/11:

The pieces were being put into place:

Rockefeller-funded artists and Israelis moved in to the WTC, Blackstone bought the Tower's debts and a simulation of a plane crash at the Pentagon was staged. The msm profiled Osama bin-Laden.

In the UK, a couple of planes were hijacked by people with scary-sounding names. To prep our subconscious minds for the phony 2001 "War on Terror"?

War on Cash:

That was progressing nicely: Musk pivoted from X.com to focus on PayPal with Thiel. Smart cards would contain biometrics, it was revealed. Academics were giving presentations on digital money and electronic payment systems. Ecommerce was on the rise.

The Tech Agenda:

Blair and Gates couldn't push it hard enough. Blair wanted a laptop for every pupil [he wasn't paying for it, though].

In the US, the msm were busy lionising "philanthropist" Gates along with Musk, Bezos, Thiel, Google et al. There was Steve Jobs and Larry Ellison of Oracle, then there was Demon Internet and Lucent Tech [three dark occult names]. And more.

Tech was portrayed as so cool and temptingly innovative! Workers in tech were earning a packet, too. They were the snappy dressers: Silicon Valley was the place to be, we were reminded.

In the meantime, the wires were being laid for the inter-networks that would ensnare us. The UK spectrums were being auctioned off for the future 5G prison [by Gordon Brown].

AI chat bots were being developed, based on the work of a man who was funded by Jeffrey Epstein and, just like Gates, Bezos, Google et al, was a frequent flyer on the Lolita Express [but we would not find that out until 2017].

Microsoft was advertising on TV using the Mozart Requiem's Confutatis Maledictis soundtrack, revealing that they were the corporation from hell.

That same corporation applied for a patent to transmit power and data via the human body [which was filed on a 6 date and accepted on a 6-6-6 date]. That month it also funded electronic voting machines [go figure]!

The outcome of the Microsoft anti-trust/monopoly trial was going to pave the way for the Google and social media tech oligopoly we see today.

Klaus Schwab was pushing for action on the world's "digital divide".

And another divide, the divide between generations, that will later be exacerbated by burgeoning tech and social media, was being defined in the msm and academia as Gen X aka "The Slackers".

[It's that letter X again...]

Bill Gates:

Was bidding for a pineapple paradise island. Had a paranoid meltdown over the billionaires and lashed out at "conspiracies". He was shunned by his golf course. And had dinner at Steve Jobs' house.

Weedy Gates scored poorly in comparison to Oracle's macho Top-Gun Larry Ellison. He bought an apartment in Trump Towers. His foundation donated to the UN [de]Population Fund and Planned Parenthood.

Bill Gates was "described as having autistic-type traits: lack of eye contact, poor social skills, a monotonous voice, a prodigious memory and a tendency to rock backwards and forwards during business meetings."

War on the Food Supply:

The UK farmers were angry to witness Blair destroying the pig industry. Blair was booed at the Women's Institute and a minister was custard-pied [it was a chocolate éclair].

France banned beef on the bone [BSE was a total lie, yet another coverup of Pharma misdeeds by corrupt government, we read on rense.com].

Most people hated – and still hate – GMO so McDonald's withdrew their potatoes. Monsanto added a fish gene to tomatoes. There was a global fishing crisis.

Replacement Migration:

The UN kicked it off, even though there were riots in Liverpool and most Brits said they were were sick of asylum seekers. And the Euro: most people wanted to ditch it and 33% wanted to leave the EU altogether. Suck it up, sheeple!

Depopulation:

[The Gates'] Planned Parenthood introduced an abortion pill. Thabo Mbeki wrote an open letter to global leaders about the AIDS crisis. Kosovo was still reeling from NATO's offensives. Thousands of children were dying from the UN sanctions on Iraq. There were child soldiers in Sierra Leone. And a nailbomber in London.

The MI6 building was bombed – but no one seemed to care. Liberian premier Charles Walker was suing the Times for referencing his alleged flesh-eating and blood-drinking. The British Army was recruiting gays and Gurkhas. CNN founder Ted Turner gifted the UN $34 million. And there will have been wars we've missed.

Infestation of Widespread Abuse in the UK's "Care" Systems:

There was appalling abuse of elderly, children, special needs children and prisoners. It was care as in "cremation of".

Satanic Ritual Abuse:

It was coming out in Canada and the US. But being covered up.

The UK police told the BBC they would investigate SRA [dream on]. MP Virginia Bottomley was trying to cover it up, it appeared. Mrs. Bottomley lives/lived in sunny Godalming, which is where all the amazing celebrities live/lived! Including Jonathan King. And Epstein client list DJ Chris Evans...

In Canada, Justin Trudeau was being a hypocrite and the Residential Schools scandal just wouldn't go away. Nor those Montreal hospital cases: EST victims were suing.

Global Warming:

It was speeding up but lots of people knew it was a lie. The North Pole had lost its ice! Tuvalu was flooding! All the same, scientists found no evidence of it. But not the Frankenscientists who studied cow burps and farts [or wanted to breed a human-pig hybrid] - they were getting research grants so they believed it.

Vaccination:

Largely thanks to Dr. Andrew Wakefield, parents were linking autism to vaccination. Asperger's was on the rise. And obesity too...

In the US, Gates and GAVI were scheming to vaccinate "children in developing countries." Clinton was prioritising the latest nanotech. Which would later be added into vaccines. The Frankenscientists were beavering away on mRNA and vaccinating fruit and vegetables. Mmm!

At the same time as Thabo Mbeki in his developing country was hollering: "Big Pharma and the CIA are out to get me," Fauci was interviewed on AIDS.

GAVI press release: "Children are key to sustainable human development." Huh?

Viruses:

There was mainstream media fear-mongering over scary viruses – including computer viruses and hackers. Bill Gates' credit card was hacked from Wales [da iawn y dyn yna]. There were scary breaches of data security. Just in case we imagined we'd ever see our privacy again...

Israel and Gaza:

Plus ça change, plus c'est la même chose. A study found that Jews are the genetic brothers of Palestinians and the Lebanese – but no one took any notice. Oh, by the way, Israel withdrew from Lebanon. Again...

Savile?

We did not know about Savile until 2011 [in 2000 the BBC were headlining him as a selfless cheeky chappy] so we didn't know that he had a key to Broadmoor Hospital. Where there was one suicide every 36 days: were they suicides or Savile's Sacrifices of the Month?

Pride Month:

Bill Clinton decreed that Pride Day was to drag on for a whole month [yes, that's who's to blame]. There was just a handful of transsexuals back then. It wasn't even a word, really...yet.

Royals:

Then-Prince Charles was stepping out with Camilla, whom the Queen had only just got over. Camilla had a cokehead niece. Like Tara Palmer-Tomkinson. Britain's long list of royals were costing an arm and a leg. Their popularity was tanking.

Andy was dating Ghislaine and partying with Epstein and Trump in Florida while reconsidering remarriage to Fergie. Their girls weren't going to be finished at Aiglon [Swiss school] because the headmaster had been raping pupils again. Britain's old money was being superseded by new money, which one didn't like.

Charles was a godfather to all manner of degenerates, Princess Anne made a pensioner cry. Prince William was sitting his A-Levels so he got out of going to the party. Mohamed Al-Fayed banned Prince Phillip from Harrods.

Other Paedophiles and Murderers:

The UK's News of the World [now defunct] tabloid stopped naming and shaming paedophiles. RIP little Sarah Payne. Mass murderer Harold Shipman was sentenced. Jonathan King was charged but denied it...again. Gary Glitter got emotional. An ex-Bay City Roller got caught. Ted Heath stood down.

Conjurer James Randi insulted an alternative scientist. Three of Latvia's premiers were outed. Peter Nygard was entertaining celebs and royals with his cockatoos in the Bahamas. There were massive busts, particularly in Italy, where a snuff film flashed onto mainstream TV, causing outrage.

Religion:

Pope John Paul II didn't like the Pride parade. Or perform an exorcism. He apologised for the sins of the Church. Meanwhile, an Irish nun was found guilty of the extreme abuse of girls in her care. In the CofE, there was one gay and one trans vicar.

The Dalai Lama was talking at the UN, furthering the One World Religion agenda. There was abuse in Buddhism. And the Hare Krishnas. And at Sai Baba's ashram. There were mass suicides and a shooting in cults. A Hindu priest was a blackmailer.

The Moonies bought up a large slice of Paraguay.

In the US, exorcism was exploding – even computers were possessed, and possessing previously innocent men into watching Porn Hub. Jesus was mocked.

Degradation of Art:

Saatchi was buying up all the rubbish art and pretending it was "culture". No surprise that advertising was becoming increasingly degenerate. The Millennium Dome was a flop. Marina Abramovic was exhibiting in Hampstead.

Real Art:

Banksy was painting. The London Eye arrived.

Celebs and pop music:

Jay-Z stabbed someone, And P. Diddy shot someone. He allegedly raped a teenager. Paula Yates died, Britney banged her head on set and Paul McCartney loved Heather. Madonna was in London. Celebs and hacks alike were living it up at the Groucho Club.

Paris and Nikki Hilton were into hip hop. Oprah launched a new magazine. Elton John had blown thousands on flowers. "Unbearable shit" Naomi Campbell walked free from assault charges. Her friend Mike Tyson enjoyed hurting people. Piers Morgan's share-dealing was dodgy. Kevin Spacey donated to the Old Vic [where he would later rape young men].

There was the Ronson family and their slew of suspicious-looking [with the benefit of hindsight] relatives and guests. Ben Affleck had bargained with the devil. Californication and Aaliyah [RIP] won MTV awards.

Film/TV:

There had been millennial disaster films. Harry Potter was kicking off. The Guardian didn't like Erin Brokovitch. Director Arnan Milchan made an appearance from the shadows. There were absolutely no Scientology subliminals in Battlefield Earth, but there were pro-Bush subliminals in the TV ads. Nickelodeon was programming the children, too.

For the first time ever, the Simpsons failed to predict the future: Trump, not Kamala Harris, won in 2024.

Tony and Cherie Blair:

The Blairs frantically sued their nanny to block her memoirs' publication [nanny had been junketing in Cannes at the Paymaster General's pad]. Cherie got caught jumping the train and baby Leo arrived but the children's lives were private. Except Euan passed out drunk at Piccadilly Circus and lied to the police. And there was abuse at their Oratory School.

Tony was tunnelling under London and taking lots of bribes. He tripled the number of Downing Street special advisors and merged the work and welfare agencies, paving the way for JobCentre Plus. Dodgy software was being installed in his Post Offices. Charles Leslie [later Lord] Falconer was his psychic.

Blair ennobled Lord Alli and David Lammy was emerging out of the swamps of Tottenham. Twenty-odd years on, don't you wish they would all go away?

Just in case you didn't know [we hadn't known], in 1997 Tony Blair had very quietly [08:00] removed the death penalty from the UK's Treason Act...so he'd been covering "their" backs - "they'd" been preparing all along.

Politicians other:

In the US, Gore would concede the election to Bush. Bernie Sanders and Hillary were elected: RFK Jr. was backing Hillary. Hillary snubbed her "anti-Semitic" Moslem donors.

Kamala Harris flounced out on her job. Jesse Ventura left Ross Perot's party so Trump did not run in 2000. Newt Gingrich remarried with a lavish wedding list and lot of politicians had gay offspring. Sex pest John Bolton gave a speech on globalism.

In the UK, Peter Mandelson cried when he had to resign over corruption. The ways were paved for BoJo and David Cameron to emerge as future PMs. Robin Cook covered up the snatching of a Saudi princess. Gordon and Sarah Beard-Brown married.

Jeffrey Archer was embroiled in sex and perjury. Mohamed Al-Fayed and MP Neil Hamilton were at odds over cash for questions.

UKIP voted out its leaders. Mr "I drank 14 pints" William Hague was spotted wrestling topless with MP Sebastian Coe under Dolphin Square. The Hinduja brothers were in trouble but they had so many high-up friends! [We didn't know back then that they were human traffickers].

Putin arrived. Sleaze oozed in France.

Secret Societies:

In the US, Alex Jones crashed Bohemian Grove and the Bushes were Bonesmen. One of NASA's founders was a Satanist who blew himself up. Svali was whistleblowing on the Illuminati.

Bilderberg met in Brussels. Jean-Michel Jarre met the millennium with a Freemasonic ritual at the Pyramids. The UK police set up a lodge all to themselves. Gaddafi was a Freemason, too.

WEF:

Clinton and Blair fawned at Davos. Bill Gates moved from Microsoft to chair GAVI for them. Schwab's non-profit finances proved most profitable but he got away with it.

Schwab was trying to force a new video-conferencing platform on the WEF members. His nephew fell out with him so leaked that forum members resented having to be available for Klaus on video 24/7...suck it up, Schweinhunden!

Space:

There were scary asteroids, Beagle2 was launched [it got lost in space...] and Pizza Hut delivered a pizza to astronauts [if you believe that kind of junk...].

NASA's genetically-engineered chupacabras were rampaging in Chile.

[So-called] "Elite" Families:

A judge hushed up a juicy-sounding Rockefeller divorce. A Mellon died. And a Rothschild from a heroin overdose. Rush Limbaugh went to a Rockefeller party. Lynn Forester got hitched to Evelyn de Rothschild. The Rothschilds were on a roll and the De Beers were running the diamond scam.

Business and Finance:

JP Morgan Chase was born. Vanguard and Murdoch were busy buying everything up. There was the biggest and probably most corrupt merger of all time [still today].

The tech stocks were tanking. Jeff Bezos lost a billion. Warren Buffett lost too and ruthlessly sacked 600 employees. PWC were in trouble...again. And Microsoft. The banksters were working hard to fund the tech agenda. There was money in mobile.

There was a massive Mafia securities bust in New York.

Law:

In the UK a law was passed making it easier for paedos to get away with it. Tony passed the Terrorism Act - which would later be used to harass journalists - and the draconian RIPS bill. His Freedom of Information Act was a "poisoned chalice."

The honest ticket inspector who caught Cherie fare-dodging faced [what looked like] a revenge-sacking, which he took to tribunal.

In the US, the Biden-Helms Act was signed by warmongers, bringing the US and UN closer [Trump was later to repeal it]. Microsoft was ruled a monopoly. After hardcore porn and bestiality was found on the White House servers, a judge ruled pro-pornography.

There's more in the following sections. And in between the main msm news we've scattered a few conspiracy posts from back in the day.

January 2000 Links Most Relevant to Today

Time Magazine cover Jan 1, 2000 available here.

Welcome to the Year 2000. We believe our millennium kicked off with Jean-Michel Jarre performing a Masonic ritual at the Pyramids but we can't find any conspiratorial posts about it [we wrote our own on Substack].

Jan 3 2000 Boris Yeltsin hands reins of Politburo power over to Putin.

Jan 3 2000 Telecoms advisers top bankers' table – the banksters were working hard to fund the tech agenda.

Jan 12 2000 Vanguard 500 Is Set To Pass Magellan as Biggest Fund - Vanguard was already buying everything up.

Jan 13 2000 Gates steps down as Microsoft CEO – Bill will be moving into vaccines.

Jan 14 2000 Puff Daddy hires OJ's lawyer – we read regular references to Diddy's "parties" even back in 2000. The msm boasted he played polo with Trump and partied in the Hamptons and reported nonchalantly about a 16-year-old Hamptons "slut", a girl who had slept with more than 30 men.

Jan 20 2000 United Nations Reform: The Helms-Biden Act is signed by Joe & other warmongers, bringing the US and UN closer together. [Trump cancelled it in 2019.]

Jan 24 2000 UK Attitudes to Refugees – 74% of Irish people wanted more restrictions on immigration.

Jan 26 2000 UK Asylum seekers up 55% as backlog grows.

Jan 27 2000 [Davos Chief \[Klaus Schwab then as now\] Dabbles in For-Profit Firms, Raising Questions About Non-Profit Forum's Priorities.](#)

Jan 28 2000 Clinton and Blair attended the New Millennium WEF meeting at Davos:

"At the Annual Meeting 2000, the Global Alliance for Vaccines and Immunization (GAVI) was born. The GAVI Alliance today serves as a vital coordinator of the global network of governments, international financial institutions and development organizations, philanthropic organizations, and private sector actors in the effort to maintain the world's commitment to vaccines and immunization, which are essential to global public health and development. Among the early supporters of GAVI was Microsoft founder Bill Gates, who has been a regular Davos participant since 1996."

Jan 31 2000 GAVI press release: "children are key to sustainable human development." What does that mean? Is that an admission that they eat them?

January 2000 Summary

"Are you ready for Y2K?" by Eric Fischer is licensed under CC BY 2.0.

The New Year 2000 saw msm and alt media scaremongering about Y2K, scary-virus influenza pandemics and asteroids landing on our heads.

In the US:

- Clinton, Biden and other NWO operatives edged the US and UN closer together with the Biden-Helms Act.
- The Y2K psyop was a washout. Only a few Americans were scared and few computers failed.
- The Senate still hadn't ratified the test ban treaty.
- We saw the MTV Music Awards.

- Silicon Valley: The Valley was so cool! There was a security flaw at Elon Musk's X.com. Bill Gates and Microsoft featured prominently. Gates was shunned for lowering the tone on his golf course. His philanthropy dwarfed Carnegie's and Rockefeller's. He had dinner with Apple's Steve Jobs [who was gifted a private jet while earning $1.00 a year]. He left Microsoft to head GAVI with Melinda, working with the World Economic Forum and a posse of corrupt politicians.
- The bankers were working with the telecoms giants; they had a developing globalist technocracy to fund. In 2000, Mark Zuckerberg was only 16 - we had never heard of him and there was no social media yet but Musk, Bezos, Google and others were beavering away in the background to build their empires. As were notorious fund manager Vanguard and media mogul Murdoch.
- Puff Daddy was in a shootout and hired OJ Simpson's lawyer. Allegedly, he raped a girl after the MTV VMA awards. Not to be outshone, Jay-Z was also indicted for a stabbing.
- The tech-pumped markets were volatile, but not as volatile as a juicy Rockefeller divorce - which the judge hushed up.
- Oprah launched a new magazine called O.
- The word "transgender" was slowly being dropped into media articles, making it a "thing".
- Giants AOL and Time Warner planned to merge - it would fail.
- Dolly the Sheep's cloning contracts were causing controversy.
- Bernie Sanders was elected to the House of Representatives.
- George Bush was/is a member of the Skull & Bones secret society.
- We read Gene Kelly donated to the IRA.

- In Canada, the horrors of the residential schools and the scandal of Ewan Cameron's notorious Montreal MK Ultra hospital just would not go away. ECT patients were suing. Police brutality was in-your-face.

In the UK:

- UK nationals were starting to get angry about all the refugees and asylum seekers and the benefits they received, including free fertility treatment on the NHS. It hadn't yet dawned on people that the globalists were implementing a replacement migration agenda – they blamed war.
- PriceWaterhouseCoopers were under the microscope.
- Harold Shipman was found guilty.
- The Blair government continued to restructure the civil service and NHS. And push the tech agenda. Mobile phones were becoming a regular part of life.
- Stage magician and professional debunker James Randi upset alt scientist Rupert Sheldrake. In 2000 we hadn't yet heard Randi's randy tapes. And paedophile Gary Glitter got emotional. So we weren't at all sure we needed human cloning...
- There was a gay scandal at Stagecoach.
- Cherie Blair/Booth was caught jumping the train. So they had to punish the honest guard that caught her.
- Prince Charles was the Godfather. And his friend Tara Palmer-Tomkinson had lunch with a journalist.
- Peter Hitchens called Darwinism a cult and Banksy was painting.
- There were vintage spycraft Tempest questions.

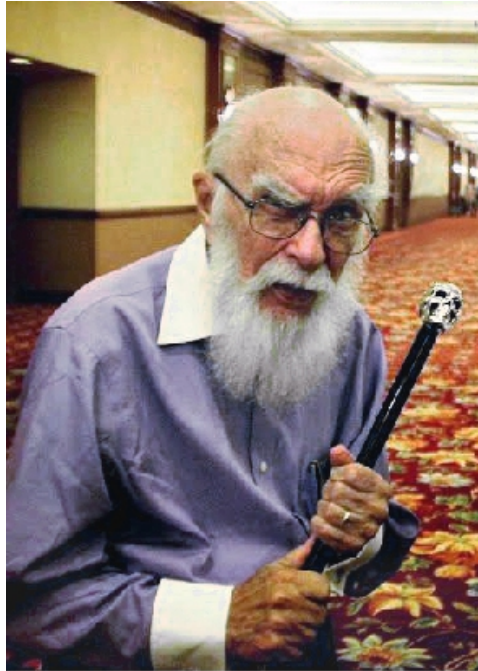

- UKIP voted out its leaders.
- The papers defied a ban to print a shocking advert.

In the rest of the world:

- In Europe, Beagle2 was going to Mars [it got lost in space].
- There was drug-trafficking through NATO-battered Kosovo.
- Putin took power in Russia.
- In Switzerland, Clinton and Blair were at the WEF's New Millennium meeting and Klaus Schwab's "confusing web" of finances/profits were under the microscope.
- In India, the Brits were recruiting Gurkhas.
- Jean-Michel Jarre's Masonic millennium ritual at Giza projecting an eye onto the pyramids was messed up by fog.
- In Indonesia, the UK was selling arms.

And in between all that we've tucked in big cat, Bigfoot and UFO stories with a few mind control articles and more conspiracy stuff to dig into...and that was the first month of our millennium.

January 2000 Links

Conjurer James Randi

[By Sgerbic - Own work, CC BY-SA 4.0, <https://commons.wikimedia.org/w/index.php?curid=38653992>]

2000: Banksy painting: You told that joke twice

“In You Told That Joke Twice, [painted in 2000] Banksy depicts a scene of four police officers overpowering a clown, a visual narrative that is as whimsical as it is disturbing. Each officer holds a limb of the entertainer, a gesture that seems to mock the concept of law enforcement itself. The clown, a figure typically associated with joy and laughter, is shown in a state of distress, highlighting the absurdity and cruelty of being punished for the trivial act of repeating a joke”. Archive.

2000: Police Misconduct, Brutality and Use of Force in Canada 2000

"A disproportionate number of homeless and mentally ill individuals, as well as members of racial and ethnic minorities, are victims of police abuse and brutality ranging from verbal epithets to unwarranted searches to beatings and killings. - Amnesty International

Carlton Watson Aged 39. On or around December 9, 2000, Carlton Watson, an eight-year Peel police officer was arrested and charged with theft under $5000. for the theft of goods from a local Home Depot.

Joni-Ann Bender On or around December 4, 2000, Joni-Ann Bender, a veteran Toronto police officer accused of padding her court overtime has become the city's 25th officer charged this year with a crime. Never in the Toronto Police Services 43-year history have so many officers faced serious criminal allegations, including manslaughter, sexual assault, robbery, fraud and breach of trust.

On December 4, 2000, police announced they had laid 27 counts of breach of trust against Const. Joni-Ann Bender, a 14-year veteran of the force, working out of the city's west end. In essence, police allege the officer made more money from court appearances than she should have. Bender was among 39 employees out of 7,000 on the force who made more than $100,000 in 1998. That income level is usually confined to senior brass." Archive.

Relevant: 2023: Data shows that police-involved deaths in Canada are on the rise.

Jan - Feb 2000 [The Bullied Pulpit: A Weak Chief Executive \[Clinton\] Makes Worse Foreign Policy](#)

"The Senate's failure to ratify the Comprehensive Test Ban Treaty (CTBT) last October has been called a disaster for arms control, a triumph for American security, a humiliation for the Clinton administration, and an embarrassment for congressional Republicans. But these various and contradictory perspectives miss something important, as do most discussions of the failings of U.S. foreign policy: the structural crisis to which the nation has succumbed." Archive.

Jan 2000 James Randi, a Conjuror Attempts to Debunk Research on Animals

Scientist Rupert Sheldrake writes: "The January 2000 issue of Dog World magazine included an article on a possible sixth sense in dogs, which discussed some of my research. In this article Randi was quoted as saying that in relation to canine ESP, "We at the JREF [James Randi Educational Foundation] have tested these claims. They fail." No details were given of these tests...

Randi also claimed to have debunked one of my experiments with the dog Jaytee, a part of which was shown on television. Jaytee went to the window to wait for his owner when she set off to come home, but did not do so before she set off. In Dog World, Randi stated: "Viewing the entire tape, we see that the dog responded to every car that drove by, and to every person who walked by." This is simply not true, and Randi now admits that he has never seen the tape."

Jan 2000 Scientist Rupert Sheldrake video on "liar" James Randi.

OzCW: It seemed every time something interesting to do with the paranormal appeared in the msm, for example when Rupert Sheldrake demonstrated animal telepathy, the BBC would wheel out the hairy, off-putting "skeptical" stage magician James Randi to debu nk the topic, thus stifling its debate and development and deflating any interested parties.

Randi was given prime-time space and acclaim. No surprise then, knowing how the BBC has made "stars" out of paedophiles, that the voice in the sordid recordings linked below sounds very much like him.

Randi wasn't born with the name Randi, his birth name was Zwinge. Seems he chose his father's middle name, Randall, to shorten as his stage name. Wonder why he chose not to use "Swinger"?

Relevant: James Randi's Alleged Sex Tape Archive. Audio/video excerpt of the alleged Randi sex tape [nauseating content warning].

From 1999: "In this statement, you, James Randi, said:

The tape cassette which formed part of the blackmail package, rather than being the product of a "tap" on my phone, as the blackmail package claimed, was a copy of a tape that I was specifically asked to make back in 1968, by the police chief — Zerr — of Rumson, New Jersey, where I lived at that time.

That request was because of obscene phone calls I'd been receiving at home, at all hours of the day and night. The object of my conversations on that tape had been to keep the callers on the line and thereby trace and identify the persons responsible.

Zerr informed me that though a recording could probably not be admitted into evidence, it would be a powerful tool to possess. [At that time, to establish a trace, it was necessary to keep a caller on the line a minimum of four minutes.] That investigation resulted in a minor in a neighboring town being identified and charged with the crime. At that time, the minor's lawyer was informed by the local police that I possessed a recording of the phone calls."

2000 PDF: Human Rights Journal: Do Transsexuals Dream of Gay Rights? Getting Real About Transgender Inclusion in the Gay Rights Movement

OzCW: From now on, we will see the [previously rare] word “transsexual” appear more frequently in the public domain. A seed “issue” has been sown by academia/Tavistock. It will be nurtured and deeper rooted into the collective consciousness by the msm and the likes of Peter Tatchell until what was a tiny, arguably insignificant seedy nothing has spread to overtake and strangle all growth and decades later Drag Queen Story Hour will “slouch towards Bethlehem to be born”.

2000: Yukon UFO Sightings

“Two woman were travelling southbound on the Klondike Highway just prior to reaching Little Fox Lake when their vehicle was overtaken on their left side by a large orange fireball. "It zoomed past us". The ball itself was the size of a 3 ft [0.9 metre] road sign and the tail [also orange] was the length of an 18-wheeler trailer. It looked like it was 15 feet above the ground and below tree level. The fireball was visible for one to two seconds. The strange thing was that as soon as it hit, the two women sensed an electrical burning smell in their vehicle. They checked their gauges, which gave no indication of anything amiss and the car gave them no further trouble. One woman thought the fireball was just behind the trees on the side of the road, perhaps 500 ft [150 metres] away and the other woman thought that it was further, about 3 to 10 miles [5 to 16 kilometres] away". Archive.

OzCW: The article excerpted below is a book review. The book [titled in the headline] was written by Gina Kolata, a science writer for the New York Times. The NYT is controlled by the CIA and the White House, as the paper itself admits here and a journalist writes here.

Decades on, this looks like pre-programming: the book is scaremongering about the spread of a deadly virus in a pandemic. In 2020 Kolata was pushing the vaccine and even remdesivir. Her book cost $25.00, which back then was a fairly hefty whack.

The review appears in the – woke – journal Nature. One of the biggest and most influential academic science journals, Nature has used its status politically and pushes climate change. Were readers being pre-programmed by academia and media to accept the 2020 C-19 narrative?

From the review: “A large-scale epidemic could overwhelm our modern, sophisticated medical system. Because our overcrowded cities are massively interconnected by commerce and travel, an emerging virus could be spread today at a rate that is orders of magnitude faster than the rate of spread eight decades ago.

So the questions remain: Can such a pandemic happen again? How will we deal with the deadly viruses that will undoubtedly emerge in the future? Greater knowledge about what happened in the 1918 flu pandemic and a deeper understanding of the virus that caused it would be useful.” Archive.

“The order of the Skull and Bones is a secret society founded at Yale by William Huntington Russell [S&B 1833]. His cousin Samuel Russell’s family enterprise, Russell & Company, was the largest American opium smuggler, working with the Scottish firm Jardine-Matheson, the world’s largest.

Many new England and Southern families in the “China Trade” sent their sons to Yale, and many were “tapped” into the Skull and Bones. From Yale, “Bonesman” went into and were very influential in the worlds of commerce, communications, diplomacy, education, espionage, finance, law and politics.

There have been two Skull and Bone presidents, at least ten senators, two chief justices of the supreme court and many U.S. representatives and state governors. Bonesman have held myriad lesser appointed post and positions, with a particular affinity for the Central Intelligence Agency. This year, a Bonesman George W. Bush[S&B 1968]. is the leading Contender for presidency.” Archive

Jan 2000: Tara Palmer-Tomkinson: our interview from January 2000

[CC BY-SA 3.0, <https://commons.wikimedia.org/w/index.php?curid=3735571>]

“I had previously collected my two best celebrity-spots at Le Caprice. First, I saw Princess Diana having lunch there with her lawyer, and then, only a few weeks later at the same table, I saw a figure every bit as exotic and implausible as the late princess. Can you guess who it is yet? Yes, Rolf Harris. Now somehow – and I can’t quite explain why – you just don’t expect to see Rolf Harris in what passes for real life.”

I wanted to ask him to wobble the menu, but my nerve failed. In the I-Spy... celebrity book, the old balladeer of the bush has got to be worth a good ten points. And here I was in Le Caprice, a restaurant that seeks to be as rich and polished as its clientele, with a celebrity of my own. In fact, you could say that Tara Palmer-Tomkinson is the apotheosis of late 20th-century celebrity; a woman whose fame feeds upon itself, and the closest we now have to Princess Diana, at least where upper-class dysfunctionality is concerned. In the past year alone, she's been addicted, exposed, betrayed, jilted and rehab-ed." Archive.

OzCW: Yet another young “elite” casualty. If you trawl through these pages you will see more, from Camilla Parker-Bowle’s coke-head niece to Raphael de Rothschild, who died of a heroin overdose [was this a first son sacrifice?]. Then Britney Spears, Nicholas Knatchbull and more.

Sadly, “It” girl Tara Palmer-Tomkinson, a friend of then-Prince Charles and very much a face of the late 90’s, died in 2017 aged 45. She foretold her death to a friend. The causes reported were a brain tumour, perforated ulcer and auto-immune disease. It was the [brain tumour, apparently.]

The journalist is fawning over Rolf Harris. Like most of us, he won’t have known about Rolf’s proclivities back in 2000.

Relevant: 2012: Allegation that Tara Palmer-Tomkinson had been seen involved in mind control. 2023: Disgraced Rolf Harris [employed by the BBC] dies.

Jan 2000 Emails received by the Save Stonehenge Campaign Archive.

OzCW: Festivities at Stonehenge had been banned in 1985. 2000 was the year the ban lifted and revellers were able to access the stones for a Solstice party. It went well. Archive.

Relevant: 2024: The Stonehenge saga. 2024: Just Stop Oil sprays Stonehenge.

Jan 1 2000 Heroin heroes

“The United States propped up the Kosovan Liberation Army in the Kosovo conflict. With Milosevic gone, and no one in control, the former freedom fighters are now transforming the province into a major conduit for global drug trafficking.” Archive.

OzCW: Now NATO had destroyed Serbia/Kosovo, the traffickers were moving in to establish drug/other supply routes. Drugs/other will be processed and shipped into the hands of crime families.

According to this well-referenced site, Kosovo [1991–99] was yet another NATO feeding frenzy:

“It’s a great mistake to intervene in a civil war”: former British Foreign Secretary and Head of NATO Lord Carrington on why it was wrong to intervene in Serbia’s civil war.

“What we did made things very much worse. NATO strikes on Serbia caused, rather than prevented, ethnic cleansing in the Balkans.” [He] also criticised Britain for being “a little bit selective” about its condemnation of ethnic cleansing.

Who coined the term “ethnic cleansing”? It sounds like the Nazis to us. The Guardian isn’t sure. Genocide Watch blames Milošević and Serbian propagandists for inventing the term. Is there an opposite, we wonder? How about “replacement migration?”

Jan 1 2000 A Means of Control

“A feeling arose in the Renaissance — and crystallized by the seventeenth century — that moralizing and preaching religious doctrine could no longer be trusted to restrain the destructive passions of men. [[2]] A new means of control had to be found:

“Peasant rebellions were not exceptional events. They erupted so frequently in the course of these four centuries that they may be said to have been as common in this agrarian society as factory strikes would be in the industrial world. In southwestern France alone, some 450 rebellions occurred between 1590 and 1715. No region of Western Europe was exempted from this pattern of chronic violence. The fear of sedition was always present in the minds of those who ruled. It was a corrective, a salutary fear — since only the threat of insurrection could act as a check against unlimited exactions.” [[3]]”
Archive.

Jan 2 2000 Y2K survivalists struggle with reality

In response to the Y2K scaremongering: “Others bought gold and stockpiled military rations or hundreds of pounds of beans and rice. Now, these people are living through a nightmare they didn't imagine: Having to admit they were wrong. “Despite family and friends laughing at me and telling me I was crazy for preparing, I persevered and prepared anyway,” wrote a contributor on the TimeBomb 2000 discussion board. “Now I am TOTALLY EMBARRASSED.”” Archive.

OzCW: The article above discusses reactions to the Y2K psyop. There were many who cashed in as fear was ramped up in the late 1990s, including Alex Jones who on the eve of the millennium outdid himself scaremongering to his large audience.

In this video, radio host Milton William “Bill” Cooper [RIP] criticised Jones for lying to whip up Y2K hysteria. Was “Agent Jones” stirring it up so reactions could be gauged? Measured, even?

In the video we hear Jones ranting about Russia because Boris Yeltsin had just handed power over to Putin. Jones will have known that many of his audience, after decades of Cold War fear programming, will have jumped even higher on hearing those words “the Russians.”

It's prescient that at around [09:36] in the video Jones uses the words, "it's absolutely out-of-control, it's pandemic," to exaggerate something scary that did not even happen two decades later. But back then, most of us were not fooled and carried on as normal.

Jan 3 2000 Chaos theory proves unfounded – for now: 2000 glitch-free start may not last

"While the worst fears of planes dropping from skies and nuclear meltdown appear to have been avoided, experts said many undiscovered problems could be lurking in wait for people returning to work.

Some suggested that as little as 10% of the problems related to the millennium bug will surface in the first two weeks of the year.

Bill Gates, the head of Microsoft, the world's largest software company, said that small businesses and any organisation using older computer systems could still face bug-related problems in the weeks ahead. 'There are lots of snafus that we haven't seen yet. There is still a little bit of a mess there that will have to be cleaned up.' Archive.

O2CW: Even though the Y2K/millennium bug psyop had proved a washout, Bill Gates & Co still seized a last opportunity to fearmonger and profit by promoting the upgrading of old IT systems to "safer" Microsoft.

Jan 3 2000 Telecoms advisers top bankers' table

O2CW: Back in 2000, most people were still in the habit of getting their news from the TV or print papers. This article and others like it would have appeared in, say, print newspapers' Finance Sections. Most of us would not read whole papers, least of all the Finance sections – we'd skim the headlines at best and head to our favourite pages e.g. Jobs, Sport, Entertainment or Singles.

So while the information was out there [that way “they” i.e. the Luciferian globalists could placate their Lords of Karma] most of us had little or no idea of the extent to which tech and money continued to meet in their ongoing bids to shape our society:

“Simon Dingemans, a corporate finance director at Goldman Sachs who enjoys a close relationship with Vodafone, has come top of Financial News' leading M&A dealmakers tables.

The tables rank individuals by the value of the M&A transactions announced in 1999 on which they played a senior advisory role. Not surprisingly, the top places are filled with dealmakers involved in telecoms transactions such as Vodafone's £83bn [E132bn] hostile bid for Mannesmann. Dingemans and his colleague, Jeremy Mead, led the Goldman team that advised Vodafone on its £33m takeover of Airtouch as well as its current bid for Mannesmann.” Archive.

Relevant: 2010: Who is Goldman Sachs' €500bn man? [Dingemans' move to GlaxoSmithKline.]
2020: Corruption Unltd: GSK and “Trump's Vaccine Czar”. Sex tapes, dead babies, bribes and prostitutes.

2021: GSK Chief Acknowledges Chinese Bribery Allegations Probably True [Dingemans was CFO].

Jan 3 2000 Boris Yeltsin hands reins of power to Putin

“His resignation took force immediately. Within a few minutes of the address being aired, he had handed over the powers of office--including control of Russia's strategic nuclear forces--to 47-year-old Prime Minister Vladimir Putin. Russian TV showed Yeltsin, already wearing his overcoat, holding the door of his ornate Kremlin study open for his successor. “Your office,” he told Putin, with a stiff sweep of the arm...” Archive.

OzCW: In 2000, we could never have known the extent to which Clinton had meddled in the Yeltsin government and how, according to George Soros, Putin was selected in the late 90's with the help of [later assassinated] oligarch Boris Berezovsky. Archive.

As we write approaching Christmas 2024, we hope Putin will turn out to be a good guy. Earlier this year he was calling out the paedo-Satanism and offered Russian visas to westerners wishing to escape the “tyranny”, which we saw as a good sign.

In our dreams, as a member of the Russian Orthodox Church Putin will stand up for humanity against the dark forces of the NWO but in cold hard reality, as a former member of the KGB he is probably playing “their” game.

Jan 4 2000 Saving the world from asteroids

“Professor David Williams, of University College London and formerly of Nasa's Space Science Data Centre, told BBC News Online that detonating a rocky object would simply create lots of individual asteroids which could rain down destruction over a larger area.

He said that a better option would be landing a solar-powered engine on the object that would then gently push the asteroid out of its collision course.” Archive.

OzCW: To us, this asteroid article looks silly. It’s a nothing-burger. Maybe we are being silly, but one possible scenario to explain its publication is that NASA/UK Science and Innovation Minister David Sainsbury needed to justify, say, a large wodge of government funding going to UCL/NASA for a solar-powered engine so he had a word with the BBC and they ran a bog-standard msm scaremongering piece.

Asteroids are something scary in space most people can’t see – if they even exist at all. So the potential for “academic research” into them and its funding is limitless.

Relevant: List of scary asteroid movies.

Jan 5 2000 Darwinism a cult?

Peter Hitchens: “...Evolution is an unproven theory. If what its fundamentalist supporters believe is true, fishes decided to grow lungs and legs and walk up the beach. The idea is so comically daft that only one thing explains its survival—that lonely, frightened people wanted to expel God from the Universe because they found the idea that He exists profoundly uncomfortable.” Archive.

Jan 5 2000 Golf snobs turn backs on scruffy Gates: We don't want your sort around here

OzCW: Bill Gates' scruffy casuals have ruffled his upmarket golf club. He's eroding tradition and decorum with casual t-shirts and sneakers.

“Call me Tony” [TeFlon] Blair took a comparable approach to dismantling and degrading UK traditions under the guise of trumpeting “a people's revolution” of “Cool Britannia”.

“For all his wealth, Gates has found it hard to crack America's ultra-bourgeois golfing scene. Eighteen months ago, he was denied membership of the Augusta National, home of The Masters tournament, one of the world's four most important championships. He was told to wait in a seven-year line.”
Archive.

Relevant: 2021: Gates hiding out at his golf club as divorce news breaks. 2023: Gates has a problem with “conspiracy theorists”.

Jan 6 2000 Charles the Godfather

“THEY are single mothers, drug users, womanisers and hippies. They come from broken homes, drink too much and fritter away their family's fortunes.

The 32 godchildren of Prince Charles may have grown up saturated in pomp and privilege - as the Honourable Nicholas Knatchbull proved this week - but they are not cocooned from the outside world.”
Archive.

OzCW: Another young “elite” casualty: Nicholas Knatchbull is the grandson of paedophile Lord Mountbatten. The young Knatchbull mentored Prince William at Eton. He escaped into drink and drugs and in 2024 has been in rehab at least five times.

This site alleges that Knatchbull had been mind controlled with the notorious “Alice in Wonderland” programming.

Relevant: 2024: Charles and friends “raped hundreds of children.”

Jan 7 2000 Bernie Sanders Wins 2000 Re-Election Campaign To The U.S. House Of Representatives

“Still the only Independent in Congress, Bernie Sanders won re-election with 69 percent of the vote in a campaign that found him pitted against Republican Senator James Jeffords. The race between the two candidates was expected to be a statistical tie, but a landslide victory proved polling and predictions wrong.

Sanders had seriously considered running for the Senate because it offered more power, more influence, and a longer term at six years, compared to the two-year House term. However, his decade of House seniority and influence within left-right coalitions on health care, international trade, and more issues critical to Vermont outweighed the benefits of a Senate seat.” Archive.

Relevant: 2024: ‘Sickening’ Tape of Bernie Sanders Raping Boy Surfaces in New Pizzagate Files.

Jan 9 2000 How we are poisoning our wildlife: Britain under threat of another 'silent spring' as owls, foxes, weasels and polecats fall victim to rat poison “Scientists have discovered alarming levels of rat poisons in British wildlife. Barn owls, polecats, foxes, weasels, stoats, red kites and even some domestic cats and dogs have all been affected.

*Many populations of wild animals face depletion or even eradication in an ecological disaster like the one triggered by DDT over-use in the Sixties, a calamity first highlighted in Rachel Carson's classic book, Silent Spring.*

'We have not yet reached the level of another silent spring, but alarm bells should be sounding by now,' said biologist and pesticide expert Professor Robert Smith of Leicester University.

New rodenticides used by farmers since the early Eighties include chemicals such as difenacoum and bromadiolone which cause rodents to bleed to death. They were introduced to replace previous poisons, such as warfarin, after rodents developed tolerance to them in many parts of the country, beginning in 1957." Archive.

Relevant: 2024: It is even worse now.

Jan 10 2000 AOL and Time Warner to merge: Internet leader and entertainment firm to join forces- new company worth \$350bn

"In a stunning development, America Online Inc. announced plans to acquire Time Warner Inc. for roughly $182 billion in stock and debt Monday, creating a digital media powerhouse with the potential to reach every American in one form or another.

With dominating positions in the music, publishing, news, entertainment, cable and Internet industries, the combined company, called AOL Time Warner, will boast unrivaled assets among other media and online companies. The merger, the largest deal in history, combines the nation's top internet service provider with the world's top media conglomerate." Archive.

Relevant: Why the colossal merger was to fail.

Jan 10 2000 Crying all the way to the bank: He's huge in open-air music spectaculars and big on sharing his feelings about tax, drugs, rock'n'roll - and his ex-partner, Charlotte Rampling

"To the cynical English ear, Jean Michel Jarre, the 51-year-old French musician, talks enough rot to sink a cross-channel ferry. He spent Millennium night in Egypt, lighting up the Pyramids with "an electronic opera" entitled the Twelve Dreams of the Sun, at which he and his audience were not "trapped by their day-to-day life, with tools around their arms", but "in front of themselves, not just in front of the past, but in front of time", and also "in front of timelessness". It was "a physical experience, a bit painful". They felt "the rust, the dust". It was, despite the multi-million-dollar equipment, 100%"organic".

He has a new album out this month, Metamorphoses, "a blank page, a new chapter", in which for the first time in his career he has fully "experimented" with the voice, his own and others, using it naturally "as an instrument", the words as "audio-pictograms". It has an Oriental feel this album (it is also "organic"), and Jarre believes more and more that the next metamorphoses of Europe, in which "we grow up enough to succeed as Europeans", may come not from inside but from outside, from this Oriental connection, "this glue", we all share: "The Turkish connection for Germans, the north African connection for France, Pakistani or Indian for Britain." Archive.

O2CW: In our [non-expert] opinion, Jarre's Twelve Dreams of the Sun millennium concert at the Giza pyramids was a blatant Masonic ritual which, to our surprise, no one has analysed in depth from a conspiratorial perspective.

To us, it looks as if Jarre's two giant speakers to left and right represent the Masonic pillars Joachim and Boaz. He has a huge dancing Anubis who, according to the Freemasonic Dictionary is the son of Osiris and Nephthys and god of funerals. He even projects the "eye" onto the pyramids. In his video he is wearing a black and white chequered scarf.

In the Guardian [headlined above] report quoting Jarre, note that for some censorious reason we need to "grow up enough to succeed as Europeans." What does that mean? We note the mention of "new metamorphoses" for Europe...

"The Turkish connection for Germans, the north African connection for France, Pakistani or Indian for Britain." These were indeed the immigrant nationalities of each of the countries at the time. The newspaper has used Jarre's word "Metamorphoses", associated with butterflies.

Was Jarre helping usher in the Masonic New World Order with this ritual? Fortuitously we hope, desert fog messed up the projections [unless it was the astral fog of the dark forces he had summoned arriving]. The musician's name does appear on a Wiki, a list of Freemasons to be verified and we have an article from the 1990s evidencing Jarre was a Mason so we're likely not the first to ask these questions.

Jan 10 2000 Tickets please – fair’s fare

“The £10 penalty fare paid by Cherie Blair for travelling on a train to Luton without a ticket, puts the prime minister’s wife in remarkably distinguished company...In July 1999, Tory bigwig and former chancellor Kenneth Clarke turned himself over to London Transport staff at Kennington tube station.”
Archive.

OzCW: In 2000, when attempting to whitewash Cherie Blair’s reputation by comparing her to MP “bigwig” Ken Clarke and former MI5 director Stella Rimington, even the BBC would not have known that a decade later whistle blower Ben Fellows will accuse Clarke of having molested him as a child and prove it in court, or that two decades later, unsavoury allegations about Rimington would appear on various websites. Archive1. Archive2.

Further reading on Cherie’s scandals, however, suggests the comparisons are more than appropriate.

Jan 11 2000 It's still a £10 fine - even if your name is Cherie Booth

““She caught the train from Blackfriars without a ticket,” said an unrelenting Thameslink spokesman. “If someone travels without a valid ticket they have to pay a penalty.”

Mr Blair's spokesman, Alastair Campbell, leapt to her defence. “She did volunteer to pay,” he said. “The alternative would be to jump over the barrier which is quite difficult for a pregnant woman to do.”
Archive.

Relevant: 2000: Cherie launched the “Carbon Disclosure Project” in London.

OzCW: According to the website linked above, in 2000 Cherie was “in there” early laying the foundations of the Net Zero scam with her Carbon Disclosure Project in London. We have not been able to verify the allegation or the date provided but it sounds credible.

2002: Cherigate: Britain's New Profumo Affair?

2010: Cherie will not be disciplined [surprise]!

2017: The link between ex-Prime Minister Tony Blair & gangsters the Kray Twins [via Cherie]. Archive.

2021: Blairs fiddling in Pandora Papers property deals.

2021: Cherie's involvement in Pegasus Spyware phone-hacking.

Also relevant Dec 2000: Sack for ticket inspector who fined Cherie Blair £10

"Mr Harriott, from Luton, Bedfordshire, is taking the company to an industrial tribunal, claiming unfair dismissal. He said: "I have gone from hero to zero. At first Thameslink was quite happy to leak the Cherie Blair story to the media and exploit it as a public relations exercise to show they treated all customers alike, no matter how rich or famous.

"They preened and congratulated themselves but now they have dropped me like a stone because they feel I have served my purpose. They are worried that the attention I get will stop them keeping their franchise, which is coming up for renegotiation." Archive.

Relevant: 2001: Mr Harriott won at tribunal.

Jan 11 2000 Emotional Glitter speaks of regret

"The disgraced star left prison in Bristol shortly after 8am, in a marked police Peugeot Boxer van, which sped past waiting photographers.

Glitter is reported to have been kept separated from other prisoners during his sentence. The threats to the singer took the form of letters which are understood to have been sent to his friends and to the prison." Archive.

Relevant: Gary Glitter timeline: In 1997, "A computer engineer discovers thousands of child porn images on Glitter's laptop while servicing it." In 1999 Glitter is jailed for four months after pleading guilty to 54 offences of making indecent photographs of children under 16. In Jan 2000, after serving two months in prison, the singer is freed and travels to Spain and then Cuba.

2024: Gary Glitter and Jimmy Savile's sick BBC lair. 2024: Gary Glitter documentary raises fresh questions for BBC.

Jan 12 2000 Vanguard 500 Is Set To Pass Magellan as Biggest Fund

“During a speech in January 1992, John C. Bogle Sr., founder of Vanguard Group, loftily predicted that, by the turn of the century, the then-$6.5 billion-in-assets Vanguard 500 Index Fund would be the world's largest mutual fund, displacing Fidelity Magellan , then three times bigger.

His prophecy was off -- but maybe not by much.

Barring unusually strong investment gains by Magellan, the flagship Vanguard portfolio is expected to pass Magellan as the biggest of the big in a matter of weeks -- or maybe even days. On Friday, the two funds were in a virtual dead heat, separated by tens of millions of dollars, pocket change for $100 billion-plus funds. On Monday, a rallying market aided Magellan more than it did the index fund, and Tuesday, in a declining market, Magellan continued to hold the Vanguard portfolio at bay. But Vanguard 500 is boosted daily by stronger inflows of net new investment money, while Magellan is closed to most new investors.

Tuesday night's score: Magellan, about $103.5 billion, Vanguard, about $103 billion.” Archive.

Relevant: 2023: How Vanguard Conquered the World.

Jan 13 2000 Who gave the most: Carnegie, Rockefeller or Gates?

“Mr. Carnegie, the steel magnate who died in 1919, gave more than $350-million in his lifetime, according to the Carnegie Corporation of New York. Mr. Rockefeller, the oil baron who died in 1937, gave away about $540-million, according to The Rockefeller Century, by John Ensor Harr and Peter J. Johnson. Mr. Gates, a computer software pioneer who is only in his mid-40s, already has donated about $17-billion.

Such totals do not tell the whole story, of course. For example, they do not show the value of giving by Mr. Carnegie, Mr. Rockefeller, and Mr. Gates in relation to their total wealth or to the size of the American economy as measured by the gross domestic products of their respective eras. Nor do the giving totals reflect the way in which the value of money has changed because of inflation and other economic forces.

Even so, when inflation is taken into account, Mr. Gates’s giving still outpaces that of Mr. Carnegie and Mr. Rockefeller, though the distance separating Mr. Gates from the other two narrows considerably.” Archive.

Jan 13 2000 [Stonehenge on Salisbury Plain \[photos\]](#)

“After a hasty morning feast in Windsor, it was off to the Salisbury Plains to visit the ancient monument of Stonehenge and the surrounding barrows. I think most people I have talked to in the tour and off the tour who have been to this monument had a different idea of what it would be. Personally I thought it would be located in the clearing of a forest, yet it was located right by the side of the road - never the less it was still a highlight of the tour...” Archive.

Jan 13 2000 Apple Board of Directors Awards CEO Steve Jobs with Gulfstream V Private Jet

Relevant: 2019, did Steve Jobs fake his death?

Jan 13 2000 Gates steps down as Microsoft CEO

“Bill Gates, who built Microsoft msft into the most powerful company in the world and in the process became the world's richest person, announced today that he is stepping down as chief executive officer to concentrate on software strategy.

Steve Ballmer, Gates' former college classmate and long-time right-hand man, was named to replace him in the top job at the world's largest maker of PC software, adding the position to his current title of president. Ballmer also will join Microsoft's board of directors...

In addition to focusing on new Microsoft products, Gates is expected to devote more time to pet projects, including modeling the human brain, as well as to the charitable foundation that he runs with his wife, Melinda.” Archive.

Relevant: 2021: Bill Gates, Jeffrey Epstein and a neurosurgeon. In 2024, Transhumanist Gates is still interested in the human brain.

Jan 13 2000 Dow hits record high

“The tech-heavy Nasdaq has now swung more than 100 points in six of the year's nine trading sessions -- volatility that can only be called extreme.” Archive.

Jan 13 2000 Stolen Nation: disappeared mothers

"For more than 20 years, Canada took native children from their homes and placed them with white families. Now a lost generation want its history back

When former Indian Affairs Minister Jane Stewart made her historic apology to the aboriginal peoples of Canada on Jan. 8, 1998, she singled out native residential schools as the most reprehensible example of Canada's degrading and paternalistic Indian policies. Designed to assimilate native children into English ways and strip them of their language and culture, the schools also became notorious for sickening physical and sexual abuse.

Though none would disagree with Stewart's condemnation of residential schools, which were phased out in the 1960s, some wondered why she didn't also apologize for the equally assimilationist — if less well-known — strategy that followed immediately in the schools' wake: the widespread adoption of aboriginal children out to non-native families in the '60s, '70s and early '80s." Archive.

Relevant: 2018: School fires. 2021: Missing and murdered indigenous women and girls. 2021: Survivors call for an end to arson attacks. 2024: Truths about residential schools.

O2CW: In 2000 we see many articles about the horror of Canada's residential schools. It would not be appropriate in this matter to ignore the work of researcher Kevin Annett. Annett is a controversial figure but his work on the residential schools has been tireless.

Jan 14 2000 The spy who came in from Silicon Valley

"Relaxed in jeans, running shoes, and a white knit shirt, the boyish Louie epitomizes the ways in which the digital, Internet-based world is slowly reshaping the nation's key institutions, one by one. Louie's job is to drag the Central Intelligence Agency into the Digital Age, a task that brings the secretive, bureaucratic world of Washington into collision with the entrepreneurial ways of Silicon Valley. But Louie is confident of success because of what he calls "the cool factor."

"In Silicon Valley you do things for two reasons: because of the money, or because you get a chance to do cool stuff," he says." Archive.

O2CW: The article above is just one of many evidencing the msm spinning an image of “cool, casual Silicon Valley dudes” delivering such wonderful, exciting innovations, when really their tools had been designed to ensnare us.

We see msm emphasis on the outfits the “nerds” were wearing and their hairstyles. In our opinion, it was and remains all so cynically aimed at the young, to divide the generations.

Jan 14 2000 Puff Daddy hires OJ's lawyer

“US rap star Puff Daddy has hired a top legal team including OJ Simpson's ex-lawyer in an attempt to avoid a possible 15-year jail sentence...

Johnnie Cochran, who successfully defended OJ Simpson against murder charges in 1995, and Benjamin Brafman - another star lawyer - have joined the 30-year-old star's defence.

On Thursday, Puff Daddy's prosecutors decided to take the case, stemming from a shootout at a New York nightclub last month, to court...Puff Daddy - whose real name is Sean Combs -denies the charges and has said he does not even own a gun.” Archive.

Relevant: 2000: Puffy's lawyers begin defense. 2024: Sean “Diddy Combs”: aka Puff Daddy. 2024: List of Diddy's legal troubles over the years. 2024: Sean Diddy Combs arrested by FBI.

Jan 15 2000 Call to boycott Stagecoach over 'anti-gay' donation

“Gay rights groups yesterday called for a boycott of all Stagecoach bus and train services after it emerged the company's chairman, Brian Souter, had given more than £500,000 to the campaign against lifting section 28.

The Scottish communities minister, Wendy Alexander, has pledged to repeal the law, which prevents schools and teachers from promoting the acceptability of homosexuality, in this term of the Scottish parliament.

The intervention of Mr Souter, a committed Christian and Labour supporter, comes as consultation on the executive's plans to lift the legislation north of the border draws to a close...

"He is behaving like the business leaders in the deep south of America who funded the 1950s campaign to maintain racial segregation. I hope commuters, trade unionists, churches, politicians and companies that support gay human rights will boycott Stagecoach." Archive.

Relevant: Aug 25 2000: STAGECOACH BOSS FINED £1000 IN U.S. GAY STING; Don't call a hooker in Texas, you'll get one of our finest police officers.

OzCW: Whoops... Mr Souter won't have been happy to hear about his male employee on a work-related trip trying to hire a big black police officer for extra-marital sex...

"FORMER Stagecoach boss Barry Hinckley was fined £1000 yesterday after he was snared in a police gay prostitution sting.

The married father of three was caught trying to hire a male hooker on a business trip to Houston, Texas...

Stagecoach suspended the executive director following his arrest but he resigned from his £220,000 post after learning he was to be sacked." Archive.

Jan 15 2000 Irreconcilable Rockefellers

"When blonde, virginal Amy Whittlesey, 22-year-old daughter of Reagan's ambassador to Switzerland, married 39-year-old artist George O'Neill, great-grandson of John D. Rockefeller Jr., it seemed she'd found the perfect combination of father figure and Prince Charming. Instead, she was headed for years in the gated Wasp enclave of Mountain Lake, in central Florida— and what she describes as a nightmare of infidelity, perversion, and guns that led to her hospitalization for depression. Now, as LISA DEPAULO reports, America's most famously wealthy clan faces the scrutiny of divorce court, threatening the long-held secrecy the Rockefeller trusts" Archive.

OzCW: We would like to know more about that “nightmare of infidelity, perversion, and guns,” that led to Amy’s hospitalization for depression, but the judge seals the poor woman’s silence.

It’s interesting that talk show host “friend” Rush Limbaugh was partying with those Rockefellers – we thought he didn’t like them. So surely he can’t really be Jim Morrison?

Jan 15 2000 Spycraft email exchange: How old is TEMPEST?

- > A French journal claimed about TEMPEST in December 1999 that:
- >
- > "The initiators of this technique is the Bulgarian secret service
- > (formed by the KGB) which placed modified vans around
- > embassies or important companies."
- >
- > No date for the initiation. Is the claim accurate?
- >
- > We've read hints that some of the earliest research concerned
- > naval vessels whose metal structure was discovered to be
- > acting as unintentional antennas. Then, later, planes, other
- > equipment and architectural/engineering elements of buildings.
- >
- > We would appreciate information on the history of Tempest.
- > Not asking for classified/NDA info just dates, say, or what kind of
- > discoveries led to the technology. And when it went into the
- > export control regs.

I've been told by people trained within the beast many years ago that at least one of the very first examples of TEMPEST type attack used by US intelligence (the NSA et al) if not the first was the accidental discovery that recordings made of encrypted Russian teletype messages captured by the Berlin tunnel wiretaps in the early 50s contained what at first seemed faint interfering clicks on the audio tone carriers carrying the teletype traffic, which later turned out to be from the electromagnets on the teletype machine printing the plaintext..." Archive.

Jan 17 2000 Cosmic Abduction

"1. CLOSE ENCOUNTER OF THE FIRST KIND

A UFO seen at close range, but not affecting the environment

2. CLOSE ENCOUNTER OF THE SECOND KIND.

Similar to encounter 1, but with an effect to environment such as scorched earth or some electrical anomaly - i.e. car engine stopping or lights going out etc

3. CLOSE ENCOUNTER OF THE THIRD KIND.

Occupants can be seen at close quarters, but not necessarily involving any interaction with them

4. CLOSE ENCOUNTER OF THE FOURTH KIND

You are invited on board for tea !! abduction or contact where often the beings have a message or perform some kind of examination and may even have an implant inserted for reasons we can only guess

5. CLOSE ENCOUNTER OF THE FIFTH KIND

You are beamed up never to return

In this section we deal with close encounters of the fourth and fifth kind, abductions and we include some of our readers experiences - EXCLUSIVE to this site!" Archive.

Jan 18 2000 Book review: Clinton: whose vast conspiracy is it anyway? By Jeffrey Toobin.

O2CW: In 2023 Jeffrey Toobin wrote a book scaremongering over “the rise of Right-Wing Extremism.” In 2020, he was sacked from his post as CNN’s legal adviser for masturbating on a Zoom call with colleagues [he has since been reinstated]. We’ve included this unctuous review of his book as an example of the msm white-washing.

“Jeffrey Toobin's "A Vast Conspiracy" is a lucid, level-headed and ultimately convincing recounting, from a largely legal perspective, of what is sure to be regarded by future historians as one of the weirdest and unloveliest episodes in American history. Toobin is the legal expert at the New Yorker and

ABC News, and his expertise helps him to blow the hysterical smoke out of the room and recount exactly what happened. This in itself is a valuable service, because the Clinton crisis is one of those murky stories whose true [and frightening] absurdity only becomes clear when it is anatomized.

The title of Toobin's book is taken, of course, from Hillary Clinton's famous statement on the "Today" show that "the great story here ... is this vast right-wing conspiracy that has been conspiring against my husband since the day he announced for president." Toobin, who is no Clinton apologist, points out that her statement ignored her husband's culpability, that many of the "conspirators" didn't know each other and that when she made her statement there was no evidence that any of them had broken the law. And indeed, he finds little evidence of illegal activity throughout the affair." Archive.

Relevant: 2016: Pizzagate. Archive. 2024: The Clinton Body Count.

Jan 19 2000 UK minister defends arms sales to Indonesia

"The foreign office minister John Battle yesterday defended the resumption of British arms sales to Indonesia in spite of the rapidly escalating social unrest, a divided military and warnings from other countries.

He urged the world to dispel its long-held view of Indonesia as an unstable, military-controlled state and to welcome the emerging democracy into the international fold.

Mr Battle said after two days of talks with Indonesia's President Abdurrahman Wahid and government officials in Jakarta that it was time to get rid of outdated and antiquated views on Indonesia.

"It is not commonly understood internationally that there is a new president elected, that there are new ministers, that there's a programme of reform, and my view is that the government needs to be underpinned in that programme of reform," he said.

In such circumstances, and in the light of Indonesia's withdrawal from East Timor, he said, there was no reason to reimpose the European Union arms embargo against Jakarta." Archive.

Jan 19 2000 Illinois Farm Town Mystified By UFO-Like Thing in Sky / Witnesses to Jan. 5 event include four cops

"It was immense: As long as a football field. Two stories tall. Triangular, like an arrowhead. Bright lights winked from its rear. Red lights shimmered from its belly.

And no one has any idea what in -- or out of -- the world it was...Was the government testing some top-secret, slow-moving, lit-to- the-max mega-blimp? Was nearby Scott Air Force Base trying a quirky new weapon? Did four police officers hallucinate simultaneously? Or were extraterrestrials scoping out the heartland with a 4 a.m. fly-by January 5?

"It's going to be a long while before we determine what went on that night," said Colm Kelleher, who studies UFOs at the National Institute for Discovery Science in Las Vegas. Folks out here don't seem too taken with the mystery." Archive.

Jan 19 2000 Hollywood legend Gene Kelly handed thousands to the IRA

"HOLLYWOOD legend Gene Kelly donated cash to the IRA to buy guns, it was revealed yesterday During a meeting with a senior republican he handed over a pounds 20,000 cheque, saying: "This money is for guns. I certainly don't want it going to any do-gooders."

Kelly donated the money during a covert fund-raising mission to the US in 1970 by Cathal Goulding, head of the Official IRA. The singer, who was born into a staunchly Republican Irish-American family in 1912, had kept a lifelong interest in Irish politics." Archive.

Relevant: 1952: VIDEO: Gene Kelly Singin' in the Rain [a Hollywood masterpiece].

Jan 19 2000 Klaus Schwab files a patent: a "sheet for transmitting confidential information"

"B42D15/025 Postcards; Greeting, menu, business or like cards; Letter cards or letter-sheets with peel-away layer hiding information." Archive.

So Schwab is secrecy-obsessed to the extent he filed a patent for this paper-based product. At the same time he was pushing video-conferencing on WEF members. What does this tell us? Not much, probably, but we find it interesting.

Relevant: Klaus Schwab's patent applications 2000.

Jan 20 2000 United Nations Reform: The Helms-Biden Act

“In a true bi-partisan effort, Helms worked closely with Senator Joe Biden, UN Ambassador Richard Holbrooke, Secretary of State Madeleine Albright and President Clinton to introduce legislation addressing U.N. funding and reforming the relationship between the United States and the United Nations. The Helms-Biden Act passed with an overwhelming majority in the Senate and President Clinton signed the bill to law.” Archive.

OzCW: What a cast of thieves. Here we see corrupt Joe Biden, “grotesque genocidal stinkbug” Holbrooke [d. 2010], “killer” Madeleine Albright [d. 2022] and Clinton working together across parties to launder debt and further cement the UN and US globalists in preparation for the 2020s depopulation drive. Trump, however, was to take it down in 2019.

Relevant: 2010: Grotesque Genocidal Stinkbug Richard Holbrooke: Long-time operative for US imperialism.

2016: 8 reasons why folks want the US diplomat Madeleine Albright [tried for war crimes] in the Hague. Why stop with her?

2019: Trump Administration Takes Down Biden’s Legacy—at the U.N.

“But the Trump administration has also quietly chipped away at one of Biden’s most important, albeit little-known, foreign-policy legacies: The 1999 Helms-Biden Act, which resulted in the payment of nearly $1 billion in unpaid arrears to the United Nations and restored Washington’s standing in the world body as it sought to rally international support for its post-9/11 campaign against al Qaeda.

Two decades ago, Biden, the then-Delaware senator, brokered a deal with Republican Sen. Jesse Helms, the ultra-conservative chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, that marked the beginning of arduous international negotiations about U.S. payments to the U.N. The talks resulted in the elimination of most of a $1.1 billion debt and ended Washington’s reputation as the world’s biggest deadbeat U.N. funder.

“This was never seen as just a budget issue for all of the other countries of the world,” said Robert Orr, who served as the Washington point man for the late Richard Holbrooke, the diplomatic troubleshooter who helped persuade foreign governments to accept the conditions contained in the bipartisan legislation. “This was about the U.S. commitment to the international system and the U.S. following through on its pledged and responsibilities under the U.N. Charter.”

Jan 20 2000 Big five – PwC denies asking for cash

“PricewaterhouseCoopers has denied it will be asking UK partners for an additional cash contribution, despite reports that the US network had spent more than expected and had asked partners for a top-up, writes Lucinda Kemeny. The report was met with some surprise by UK firm insiders who said that since the merger 18 months ago, there was every indication the firm has made significant revenue gains through dramatic growth since 1 July 1998. Under the UK partnership structure, the firm makes an annual cash call on partners to enable their shareholdings to remain linked to inflation. A spokesman said: ‘There will be no cash call in the UK other than on a purely routine annual basis.’ “
Archive.

Jan 21 2000 UKIP votes leaders out

“The future of the UK Independence Party has been cast into uncertainty after members voted to oust its leader and national executive committee.

There were stormy scenes at an emergency meeting of 1,000 of the fringe party's members, held following a vote of no confidence in the NEC at the party's conference last October.

Rival factions within the Euro-sceptic party, which has three MEPs in Strasbourg, gathered at the meeting in central London to thrash out growing rifts...

Arguments centre on the MEPs' attendance record at Strasbourg, alleged unconstitutional behaviour by Mr Holmes and claims that his supporters had persuaded BBC's Question Time not to allow Mr Farage to take part in a TV debate on Europe.” Archive.

Relevant: 2024: UKIP news.

Jan 21 2000 New Oprah Winfrey Magazine Named O, The Oprah Magazine

“Hearst Magazines and Harpo Entertainment Group have announced that the new Oprah Winfrey magazine, set to launch on April 17, 2000, will be titled O, The Oprah Magazine. The choice was finalized after a series of focus groups were conducted and the name was unanimously embraced. The magazine's title will have a connection to Oprah's overall theme and message.

“What I like about O is that it is simple and direct, and it is what a lot of my friends call me,” said Oprah Winfrey.” Archive.

Relevant: 1975? 2018: Oprah pimped me to Harvey Weinstein. 2022: Oprah’s psychic quits over too many paedophiles. 2023: Maui locals furious at Oprah’s land grabs. 2023: Oprah Maui conspiracy theory goes viral: “Oh, I wonder how my mansions survived the 2023 Maui fires?”

2024: In this video, a Satanic abuse survivor names Oprah “Super” Winfrey as an Illuminati “high-up” who participated in ritual abuse at sex parties [at 2:20:00]. 2024: FBI: Oprah Purchased “Sickening” Diddy Tape of Underage Justin Bieber Being Raped.

Jan 22 2000 Papers defy advert ban

“Three national newspapers have defied a request to censor an advertisement about abused children deemed “too shocking” for publication.

The Committee of Advertising Practice issued notices to publications advising them not to run the Barnardo's advert showing a baby who had injected itself with heroin...

The CAP, the division of the Advertising Standards Agency that deals with self-regulation, said it had already begun receiving complaints from readers.

It asked the newspapers not to run the advert again...

Text accompanying the image reads: “John Donaldson. Age 23. Battered as a child, it was always possible that John would turn to drugs. With Barnardo's help, child abuse need not lead to an empty future.”” Archive.

Relevant: 2017: Horrific abuse at Barnardo’s. Archive. 2019: Barnardo’s apologises for abuse.

OzCW: Articles like the above demonstrate how social mores were/are being degraded and the boundaries of respectability broken down. The msm insisted on running images of heroin-shooting infants that would previously have been unacceptable.

Jan 23 2000 Puffy's hot new talent

"With his parties in the Hamptons and his polo outings with Donald Trump, rap artist Sean [Puffy] Combs reminds some critics of a song title from his second CD: "Fake Thugs." But last week the hip-hop socialite was indicted in New York City on felony weapons charges that could send him to prison. Through his press agent, Combs issued a statement that asserted both his innocence and his faith in God. He also did what any multimillionaire facing criminal charges would do: hired the best legal talent he could find." Archive.

Relevant: 2024: Sean 'Diddy' Combs hires his jail mate Sam Bankman-Fried's lawyer—a former clerk for Ruth Bader Ginsberg. 2024: Producer alleges in new complaint that Sean 'Diddy' Combs was involved in [2022] shooting at recording studio. 2024: Sean 'Diddy' Combs faced 2001 NYC shooting trial, was acquitted by jury.

Jan 23 2000 UK Shock therapy patients to sue

OzCW: Just five years previously, Bill Clinton had apologized for [some of] MK Ultra in the form of the Tuskegee experiment in which black men were given syphilis, and government-sponsored radiation experiments. Now it was ECT's turn to come to the fore in the US and UK.

"This week the psychiatric profession - which is set to be hit by a wave of compensation claims by Electroconvulsive Therapy [ECT] 'survivors' - will robustly defend what is often seen as the indefensible, in a move that has been dismissed as a public relations stunt..."

Psychiatrists increase voltage until they get a twitching toe - a sign that, despite paralyzing drugs, the body's nervous system is in major convulsion. The electrical storm raging through every synapse of the brain is meant to cure patients, although psychiatrists admit they have no idea how.

Rebecca Jason [not her real name], a literature graduate, went through ECT about 40 times. 'It was very easy for them to get me to agree to it, because I did not know what I was doing,' she recalled. 'It had a very profound effect on my ability to make decisions. I had panic attacks for ages. It affected my memory greatly - I could no longer remember books, or quote from them, which I used to be able to. There are certain things I've never been able to do since, like sew. I'm shaking all over just thinking about it.'" Archive.

Relevant: 2020: In this moving and unusual testimony an SRA survivor tells how in the 1950's her mother and other perpetrators used an ECT machine to wipe her memories.

Jan 24 2000 Apple's one-dollar-a-year man – Q&A with Steve Jobs

"...You've finally done away with the word "interim" in your title. But you still only let Apple pay you $1 a year. Why don't you take any salary or stock yet?"

A: The board has made several incredibly generous offers. I have turned them all down for a few reasons...

Bottom line is, I didn't return to Apple to make a fortune. I've been very lucky in my life and already have one. When I was 25, my net worth was $100 million or so. I decided then that I wasn't going to let it ruin my life. There's no way you could ever spend it all, and I don't view wealth as something that validates my intelligence..

Q: Do you ever look around and think that a younger generation is driving this industry now?"

A: I had dinner in Seattle at Bill Gates' house a couple of weeks ago. We were both remarking how at one time we were the youngest guys in this business, and now we're the graybeards.

When I got started I was 20 or 21, and my role models were the semiconductor guys like Robert Noyce and Andy Grove of Intel, and of course Bill Hewlett and David Packard. They were out not so much to make money as to change the world and to build companies that could keep growing and changing. They left incredible legacies." Archive.

OzCW: It's weird earning $1 a year in salary when your perks include a private jet.

As conspiracy theorists, we also find it interesting that Jobs remarks that unlike most companies, the early tech giants were not so much out to make money. Huh? So was somebody funding them? Probably. Job says that instead, they wanted to “change the world” – how nice of them! And “build companies that could keep growing and changing.” Well, they sure succeeded in that.

Whether Jobs’ death was faked, it does not alter the fact that his “widow” Laurene Powel Jobs was pictured cavorting in a state of undress with Ghislaine Maxwell on Epstein’s island.

In 2024, this SRA survivor recalls Jobs’ close involvement with her Satanic paedophile father who was using her to produce adrenochrome for money. We believe her. [Jobs ordered the first online pizza.]

Jan 24 2000 UK Attitudes to Refugees

“Sharply divergent public attitudes towards the treatment of refugees and asylum seekers are reflected in findings by an Irish Times/MRBI opinion poll. They indicate how finely balanced public opinion is on this delicate and potentially explosive social issue. And they emphasise how important firm political leadership will be as we move towards the establishment of humanitarian structures and a more inclusive society. An anxiety to improve the official treatment of such people, given our own history of emigration and our current prosperity, comes through strongly in the survey.

There is, however, no disguising the unwillingness of Irish people to allow an ‘open door’ policy to refugees and asylum seekers. Almost three-quarters of those questioned [74 per cent] felt the number of refugees coming into the country should be strictly limited, while 17 per cent disagreed or strongly disagreed with that proposition.” Archive.

OzCW: As we’ve already pointed out, back in 2000, even most “conspiracy theorists” were unaware of the globalists’ replacement migration agendas. In our opinion, only the geekiest politics buffs or political researchers would have had a clue what the UN was doing behind the scenes of public life.

Jan 26 2000 M&C Saatchi Sponsorship joins Beagle2 mission to Mars

“M&C Saatchi Sponsorship, one of Europe’s leading sponsorship consultancies, today announced that it is to lend its support and commercial expertise to Beagle 2, the space mission to put Britain on Mars in 2003 and answer the question, “is there, or was there, life on Mars?”” Archive.

O2CW: Beagle 2 was to fail. It disappeared in 2003 and was found allegedly in 2015. Beagle 2 was backed by Saatchi and science minister Lord Sainsbury, both of whom have, allegedly, Satanic links.

Relevant: 2024: VIDEO: This Montauk survivor/whistleblower makes [01:40] extensive allegations about Mars’ secret history.

Jan 26 2000 UK Asylum seekers up 55% as backlog grows

“A record number of more than 71,000 asylum seekers arrived in Britain last year, according to official figures published last night which also show that the backlog of those already here waiting for their cases to be decided has broken through the 100,000 mark for the first time.

The statistics show the number of people seeking asylum rose to 71,160 in 1999, an increase of 55% compared with 46,015 in 1998. The increase is partly accounted for by the organised airlift of refugees from Kosovo last summer.” Archive.

Relevant: 2007: The immigration legacy of Tony Blair. 2024: Ireland’s asylum seeker crisis. 2024: How many cross the Channel in small boats and claim asylum?

O2CW: Quote on Blair from 2007 article linked above:

“Elected prime minister of the United Kingdom in May 1997, Tony Blair of the UK Labour party announced in October 2004 that he did not wish to stand for a fourth term. In effect, he had publicly announced his resignation, albeit with an extraordinarily long notice period. This finally came to an end with his resignation on May 10, 2007, which brought to an end over 10 years' service in Number 10 Downing Street.

Commentators have already leapt to define his time in office, but few have noted one of his legacies that will likely last at least a generation. Namely, Blair leaves behind an immigration system that has been fundamentally reshaped: migration is now "managed" to favor migrants coming for work and study.

Migration has been a consistent feature of the policy and political landscape in the United Kingdom over the last decade. Concerns have ranged from asylum seekers to unprecedented economic migration from Eastern Europe. The monthly MORI poll of "the most important issues facing Britain" has consistently recorded immigration among the public's top concerns. The most recent figures, from April 2007, showed immigration to be the public's second most important issue, behind crime." Archive.

Jan 27 2000 Davos Chief Dabbles in For-Profit Firms, Raising Questions About Forum's Priorities

"GENEVA -- Klaus Schwab springs from a chair in his office and gestures toward the floor-to-ceiling glass wall that looks out on Lake Geneva and distant, snow-capped peaks. This new headquarters, he says, was consciously designed to symbolize the transparency of his organization, the World Economic Forum.

"This building perfectly reflects our culture," says the host of this week's annual gathering in the Swiss ski resort of Davos, which opens Thursday and is drawing the usual parade of global power brokers, including Bill Clinton, Tony Blair, America Online's Steve Case and Microsoft's Bill Gates. "It's open and transparent."

But a close examination of Mr. Schwab's organization shows that it is less clear than he suggests. Even those who have worked closely with Mr. Schwab find the forum a confusing web of its 61-year-old founder's overlapping personal and professional interests, especially when it comes to the forum's for-profit initiatives." Archive.

Relevant: 2005: Blair bumps Brown to shmooze with Gates at Davos. Davos 2009: "At a session on charity yesterday, Blair, Bill Clinton, Bill Gates and Richard Branson watched a video with a voice-over that declared "the world economy is collapsing" - and invented a horrible word to describe the effect, "philanthrocrisis"..."

The absurdities of Davos are endless: the computer registration system on which delegates email each other in a kind of fatcat Facebook; the screens showing rolling business news ("Korea says dog cloning to be made cheaper", one declared yesterday). And Blair's disembodied voice floating out of a speaker, still mouthing the buzzwords of globalisation."

Relevant: 2022: Davos and the purloined letter conspiracy.

Jan 27 2000 What Are They Saying?

OzCW: In the following article, is the New York Times mocking a reader's concerns over Microsoft? It prints her letter and makes no reply. Or in doing so, is this a "revelation of the method" of dark-arts Microsoft with or without Ms. Sennett's knowledge? Or is it something else entirely innocent? We will never know.

"To the Editor:

Microsoft's newest television advertisement uses the musical theme of the "Confutatis Maledictis" from Mozart's Requiem. "Where do you want to go today?" is the cheery line on the screen. Meanwhile, the chorus sings, "Confutatis maledictis, flammis acribus addictis," which translates to, "The damned and accursed are convicted to flames of hell."

ROSALIE SENNETT

New York" Archive.

Jan 27 2000 US Suit alleges infamous MD ruined woman

“Few names still spook people like that of Ewen Cameron, the famed psychiatrist who came to be described as a mad scientist for his CIA-funded mind-control experiments at Montreal's Allan Memorial Institute....

Gail Kastner, a 66-year-old Montrealer, says Dr. Cameron's controversial therapy turned her from a brilliant young nursing student into a pathetic zombie.

She has sued the Allan Memorial Institute and federal government for $4.2-million, alleging that federally funded experiments were responsible for her hellish existence.

The case, which wrapped up this week, indicates that Dr. Cameron's bizarre legacy is still being disputed, and that nearly 50 years after the fact, his alleged victims are still stepping out of the shadows.” Archive.

Relevant: 2015: Mind control – Dr. Ewan Cameron and psychic driving. Archive.

Jan 27 2000 Cloning: Issue of patents on ‘Dolly’ technology stirs controversy

“...The two British patents, issued on 19 January to the Roslin Institute and the two government agencies that supported its work, cover a broad variety of applications of the cloning technology, but exclude human reproductive cloning. In all, the patents cover 58 claims to methods of producing cloned non-human animals, human cell lines and early human embryos, and to the animals, embryos and cell lines produced in this way...A US patent on the technology is therefore likely to be issued within months...

Rifkin says he is distressed by the UK patent office's “chilling” and “unconscionable” decision to grant a patent on the earliest form of human life. He argues that patents should pertain only to inventions, not to naturally existing entities, such as humans. The decision, he says, is “an absolutely transparent violation of the patent statutes in virtually every country. This is something my attorneys are going to move on immediately with formal legal protests in the UK.”” Archive.

Relevant: 2015: The Human Cloning Centers Disclosure. Archive. 2021: Donald Marshall on secret human cloning. Archive. 2023: Rapid human cloning. Archive.

OzCW: At first glance, the idea of human cloning might seem bizarre and impossible. However, having invested a few days' listening to many credible "I was cloned in a black project/at Montauk" whistle blowers on YouTube some [detailed in this article] we have been 100% convinced that it exists. In doubt? Fine – that's your prerogative.

Jan 27 2000 Recruiting for the Gurkha Regiment

"Outside a recruiting centre in Pokhara, central Nepal, hundreds of young men file in for the final selection process for entry into the British army.

It takes months - from basic literacy tests to the ability to race up a mountain with 35kg of rocks strapped on their backs.

It was over a 180 years ago that the British army decided it couldn't defeat these men in battle and so started to recruit them instead.

The Gurkha Regiment is one of the most decorated in the British army and one of its most valuable assets.

But the unquestioning loyalty and devotion of the British Gurkha can no longer be taken for granted.

As so often in relations between wealthier countries and the developing world, even here there have been allegations of exploitation." Archive.

Jan 28 2000 Clinton and Blair attended the New Millennium WEF meeting at Davos.

"At the Annual Meeting 2000, the Global Alliance for Vaccines and Immunization (GAVI) was born. The GAVI Alliance today serves as a vital coordinator of the global network of governments, international financial institutions and development organizations, philanthropic organizations, and private sector actors in the effort to maintain the world's commitment to vaccines and immunization, which are essential to global public health and development. Among the early supporters of GAVI was Microsoft founder Bill Gates, who has been a regular Davos participant since 1996." (This site will not archive.)

Relevant: 2000: Protests mar Davos meeting. 2000: Jan 2000 Davos.

Jan 28 2000 Security Flaw Discovered at Online Bank

"[Elon Musk's] company, X.com, based in Palo Alto, Calif., was founded in March 1999 and has been online since early December. Its banking services are provided by X.com Bank, a division of First Western National Bank, a small community bank based in La Jara, Colo. The relationship is intended to permit the Internet start-up to develop technology "that makes accessing and moving your money easy," according to the company's Web site.

Computer security experts said today that the company had erred in making unauthorized electronic funds transfers far too easy.

"I should not need to explain to you the dangers and damage that could be caused by this security flaw in X.com's systems," said Elias Levy, a computer security expert at Security Focus, a San Francisco-based consulting firm. "Anyone with half a clue could perform these unauthorized transfers for over a month via their Web site and create some real financial problems for other people."

He said that he had verified that the flaw existed last week by transferring money from another account with the permission of the owner.

Company executives acknowledged the Web banking service had some early problems, but said they had instituted procedures intended to prohibit fraudulent practices." Archive.

Jan 28 2000 Big cats prowl British countryside

"Commenting on the apparent rise in sightings of big cats in the countryside, an RSPCA spokeswoman added: "A lot of these are unconfirmed, but people should not necessarily be alarmed. There's no need for people to panic."

A former lion-tamer has told how he released a panther and a cougar into the English countryside in the 1970s...

"I released a panther 26 years ago on to the moors on the Pennines at Snake Pass," Mr Maiden, of Dudley in the West Midlands, told the BBC's Midlands Today news programme.

"It was miles from anywhere. It was a couple of days after releasing a cougar," he said.

Mr Maiden, 63, now said he regretted what he had done, but that he had had no choice.

He said: "I've always been an animal-lover. But people came to me with the animals saying they would have to put them down. I had no option." Archive.

Jan 29 2000 Bill Clinton's remarks to the World Economic Forum and a Question-and-Answer Session in Davos, Switzerland

"...After the second war, the leaders were given a second chance. This time it was clear that what was at stake was not simply the return of prosperity but the defense of freedom. They chose the path of economic and political partnership and set the stage for 50 years of growth across the globe. No one can seriously argue that the world would be a better place today if they had reverted to the old isolationism.

So today, at the start of a new century, the entire world, not simply Europe and the United States and the wealthiest nations of Asia, the entire world finds itself at a crossroads. Globalization is revolutionizing the way we work, the way we live, and perhaps most important, the way we relate to each other across national boundaries. It is tearing down doors and building up networks between nations and individuals, between economies and cultures." Archive.

Jan 29 2000 Bigfoot believer has bear of a task ahead

"A lot of them think it's a big joke," said Linda Martin, who runs Clancy's Country Store, a popular gathering place in Honobia on the LeFlore and Pushmataha county line. While most people would scoff and laugh at the notion of a hirsute, manlike critter roaming the Sooner State, Martin isn't laughing. She said she has seen the footprints, 15 inches long and 7 inches wide.

She also claims to have heard a tape recording, revealing a whistling-like sound that resembles an elk's call, only louder. "It's pretty believable," Martin said. She also said she has heard the stories from Humphreys and the others who claim to have seen Sasquatch with their own eyes. They describe a tall, hairy creature who resembles a man more than the typical ape.

And they've gotten mankind riled up around the Kiamichis. A Poteau paper reported that Smithville residents held a town meeting to discuss the sightings." Archive.

Jan 30 2000 How Cues and Programming Work in Mind Control and Propaganda

“Today I will be speaking about How Cues and Programming Work in Mind Control and Propaganda as well as how to avoid these cues. I am the editor of the SMART newsletter and sponsor of the Ritual Abuse, Secretive Organizations and Mind Control Conference held in Connecticut near Bradley every summer in August.

This may be very heavy for survivors. This transcript is not a substitute for other ways of recovering from ritual abuse is not meant as therapy or therapeutic advice. Readers should use caution while reading this transcript. If necessary, make sure other support systems are available during and after reading this transcript.” Archive.

Jan 31 2000 GAVI press release

O2CW: Bill and Melinda and the WEF are ramping up their vaccine depopulation agenda...

“CHILDREN’S IMMUNIZATION CAMPAIGN LAUNCHED AT WORLD ECONOMIC FORUM

Gates Foundation money to spur fight against preventable diseases

Davos/New York, 31 January - A global alliance of business leaders, philanthropic foundations, development banks, UN agencies and national governments today urged the world’s economic powerbrokers to view children as the key to sustainable human development, and said that millions of young lives could be saved each year through an ambitious new campaign to immunize all the world’s children...

Late last year, the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation paved the way for the launch of the Children’s Challenge by donating US$750 million over five years to establish the Vaccine Fund for Children’s Vaccines. The Vaccine Fund is one of the financial tools GAVI will use to save children’s lives through improved immunization. GAVI is seeking additional large donations from the public and private sector. U.S. Vice President Al Gore recently announced plans to ask Congress for US$50 million to support the objectives of the Children’s Challenge.” Archive.

Relevant: 2015: Indian doctors sue Gates for harming children. 2016: Kenyan doctors accuse Gates of sterilisation. 2017-20: Gates has killed thousands of Africans with vaccines.

Jan 31 2000 Is this child pornography?

“Picture this: A photo of a boy and girl -- unmistakably naked, posed and giggling -- holding two very large sausages [Italian?]. The boy is maybe 8, the girl maybe 6. They are not touching each another, nor does the camera seem especially interested in their genitals. What catches the eye are those sausages, but not that they are involved in anything you or I would call, right off, sexual: They are not being licked, stroked or inserted. They are more atmospheric, I guess you could say.

Is this child pornography? Well, if you are a photo lab manager in Burbank, Calif., you follow the in-store policy and ask the store manager. The store manager, noticing the nudity and the meat, follows what he takes to be the law and calls the Burbank police. The police send two undercover cops out with instructions to nab the photographer. The cops then order the photo lab manager to phone the customer, tell him his prints are ready and instruct him to come pick them up right away.” Archive.

O2CW: Articles like the above will have served to normalise child sex abuse images and generate conflicting emotions in the public. When there should be no conflicting emotions at all – child sex abuse images are an anathema.

Jan 31 2000 Harold Shipman, guilty of 15 murders. But did he kill 150?

“Harold Shipman, a trusted family doctor who became Britain's most prolific serial killer, was yesterday convicted of murdering 15 elderly female patients, and may have killed dozens more, it emerged last night.

Sources close to the police investigation said files had been prepared on 23 more deaths and detectives had looked into a total of 141 deaths, although not all were thought to be suspicious. The Manchester coroner, John Pollard, said Shipman may have killed 150 of his patients.

At Preston crown court yesterday Shipman was given 15 life sentences and the trial judge will recommend to the home secretary that he remains in jail for the rest of his life.” Archive.

Relevant: 2016: Dr Death Harold Shipman timed his suicide [2004] so his wife could get £100,000 pension payout. 2018: Dr. Opiate: Harold Shipman and Hampshire Satanist Ritual Abuse SRA Shenanigans.

Jan 31 2000 MTV Video Music Awards (VMA)

OzCW: We can't copy this from the IMDB but check out the Archive here.
Talk about pre-programming and revelation OTM:

Best Art Director winner: Colin Strauss Red Hot Chili Peppers
"Californication"; Cara Yoshimoto Filter: Take a Picture".

Best choreography: Fatima Robinson for Aaliyah "Try Again" [don't get into that plane next year – RIP Aaliyah].

Best Group Video: Destiny's Child [bringing in Beyonce]. To partner up with...
Best Rap Video: Jay-Z Feat: UGK Big Pimpin',

Jan 31 2000 Jay-Z Indicted on Assault Charges

"The stabbing occurred during a listening party for rapper Q-Tip's solo debut, Amplified. Jay-Z had just finished a listening party of his own at Irving Plaza for Vol. 3 ... Life and Times of S. Carter. Rivera was held at a hospital overnight for treatment.

Though no motive was given for the attack [it was] reported that Jay-Z suspected Rivera of pirating Vol. 3 before its Dec. 28 release. Rivera has refused to comment on the stabbing."

Relevant: 2010: Jay-Z, Beyonce, Rihanna and the occult. 2014: Jay-Z causes racism outrage. 2024: Justin Bieber: Jay-Z rapes and murders children in Satanic rituals.

OzCW: This is pure speculation from 2024 but given allegations that both Diddy and Jay-Z have dark occult connections, could the violent assaults they both committed in 2000 have been Satanic initiations "earning" them greater power, money and success?

We were never into gangsta rap or, indeed, any music scene in 2000 so we don't have relevant memories. But from what we've seen in the msm from 2000, as conspiracy theorists we conclude that the msm were "puffing" the genre to make it seem so cool to "the youth". Just as they were glamourising the tech. Examples of msm hop hop/rap puff pieces from this collection:

Sept 1: Hip Hop Debs [teenagers Paris and Nicki Hilton clubbing];

Apr 28: 4080: Underground hip hop magazine [which in hindsight reads like some kind of an intelligence operation working out of an office in Berkeley];

May 8: The Rising Ronsons [glorifying DJ Mark Ronson, protegee of P. Diddy, and the various celebrity parties including msm crowing over suspect names].

Nickelodeon cartoons [grooming young boys?] and MTV awards.

February 2000 Links Most Relevant to Today

Time Magazine cover Feb 7 2000, available here

Feb 2000 White House NATIONAL NANOTECHNOLOGY INITIATIVE: Developing nanotech to add to vaccines.

Feb 2 2000 A Webb of Lies. Sidney and Beatrice Webb, among the founder members of the Fabian Society, were pro-Stalin and refused to admit there was ever a famine in the Ukraine. [Tony Blair, Gordon Keir Starmer, Sajid Javid and many others in the UK Parliament are Fabian Society members.]

Feb 2 2000 Gates wants laptop for every pupil. What business was it of Gates to interfere in UK education policy? Is he still interfering now Gates and Blair [and Starmer] are working together via the WEF at Davos?

Feb 2 2000 Bouygues Telecom Launches Wireless Internet Services Portal Based on Microsoft Software Platforms. Microsoft was speedily setting up the international tech infrastructure with which to ensnare us.

Feb 3 2000 Blair hits out at countryside critics – the war on the British food supply continued. [BSE was apparently caused by insecticide but government and Pharma covered it up and took the excuse to kill our cows.]

Feb 3 2000 Global warming scam: people were calling out the lies.

Feb 9 2000 Sympathy for the Europhobes: 69% of Britons wished to stay out of the European single currency, and 34% wanted to leave the EU altogether.

Feb 10 2000 Beating the hacker attack. Were some of these 2000 hacker incidents pre-programming or drills for cyberattacks? The reports were undoubtedly scaremongering.

Feb 11 2000 Israeli government report admits systematic torture of Palestinians. Plus ça change, plus c'est la même chose. [Ehud Barak was PM.]

Feb 12 2000 Smart cards will soon contain biometric data. They were ramping up the wars on cash and privacy and letting us know.

Feb 13 2000 World Economic Forum Global Leaders for Tomorrow.

Feb 17 2000 [South Africa rejects \[AIDS drug\] AZT advice.](#) Fauci + Pharma + Gates = genocide.

Feb 20 2000 Trump, Epstein, Ghislaine, Prince Andrew, Michael Bolton news clipping of them partying at the same fundraiser.

Feb 23 2000 Global Warming Speeding Up? The temperatures were “record-breaking!”

Feb 24 2000 Parent groups claim autism cluster due to MMR vaccine. Dr. Andrew Wakefield had been getting the word out about vaccine damage.

February 2000 Summary

Heat Magazine Madonna and Guy Ritchie cover 2000 available here.

Come February 2000 we saw healthy scepticism over the climate heating up and vaccine safety. There was msm scaremongering over hacking and the Taliban.

In the US:

- Corporate bank mergers were being debunked.
- The msm was still fawning over Bill Gates' philanthropy. And profiling Larry Ellison.
- ecommerce was picking up.

- Trump was not running for president. Clinton, Senator Joe Biden et al edged the US and the UN closer together with the Helms-Biden Act. While Clinton was pushing his new nanotech in preparation for vaccines. And Jesse Ventura left Ross Perot's party.
- Epstein was photographed partying with Trump and pals at Mar-a-Lago. Trump's girlfriend Melania modelled a swimsuit.
- Music mogul Clive Davis was fighting back.
- The result of a Jesus contest stirred controversy.
- We heard smart cards would soon contain biometrics.

In the UK:

- Naomi Campbell walked free from assault charges. She was an 'unbearable shit' according to a modelling agent.
- In the Peter Young rogue trader case [in which a male had turned up to give evidence in high heels] the UK Serious Fraud Office failed to secure a conviction.
- Bill Gates wanted a laptop for every child.
- The UK had not tried to assassinate Gaddafi.
- Madonna was in town. And the Millennium Wheel aka London Eye arrived.
- Police said they'd investigate a satanic ritual abuse scandal. Alleged abuser [although in 2000 we didn't know this yet] MP Virginia Bottomley apparently initiated a cover-up.

- Horrific abuse allegations were coming out about UK children's homes – like Bryn Estyn - and secure hospitals. A Grange Hill actor had fallen victim. At the same time, case law was changed to make evasion of justice easier for predators.
- The [now defunct] tabloid News of the World was criticised for its fake-sheikh sting operations.
- The founders of the Fabian Society were lying Stalin supporters.
- Piers Morgan's share dealing was dodgy.
- The msm would not leave Robert Kilroy Silk alone.
- Brexit sentiment was bubbling up in UKIP.
- The Blair government's war on the food supply was waging: the people fought back with chocolate cake.
- There were protests over the Chechen War.
- Mohamed Al-Fayed and MP Neil Hamilton were embroiled in a cash-for-questions scandal.
- There was military pomp in Windsor.

In the rest of the world:

- [Friend of Naomi Campbell] Liberian premier Charles Walker was suing the Times for referencing his alleged flesh-eating and blood-drinking.
- Thabo Mbeki, the South African premier didn't believe the lies about AIDS and the deadly pharma AZT.

- In Switzerland, Klaus Schwab had been trying to force on WEF members a new video-conferencing platform. His nephew had fallen out with him so leaked that forum members resented having to be available on video 24/7...suck it up, guys.
- Israel admitted the systematic torture of Palestinians.
- In France, wireless internet was ramping up.
- In Germany, the world's biggest [and, it will later turn out, dodgiest] corporate merger was taking place.
- Mexico remembered a premier's assassination.
- In Europe there was a cyanide leak.
- Three of Latvia's premiers were outed as paedophiles.
- There was a Japanese HIV blood scandal.
- The Taliban banned opium poppy production [so wait for the war...].
- A Turkish man had been elected a WEF Global Leader for Tomorrow.

All the above interspersed with the usual and unusual UFO/alien/ancient sites and conspiracy flotsam and jetsam stepped us one month deeper into the millennium.

February 2000 Links

"London Eye at Night, Thames Embankment, London" by barry.marsh1944 is marked with Public Domain Mark 1.0.

Feb 2000: PDF from Clinton White House - NATIONAL NANOTECHNOLOGY INITIATIVE: Leading to the Next Industrial Revolution

O2CW: Was it a coincidence that the Clinton White House was using almost identical terminology as Klaus “Fourth Industrial Revolution” Schwab two decades later as the globalists added their nanotechnology to the Covid vaccinations?

"The President is making the National Nanotechnology Initiative [NNI] a top priority.

"Nanotechnology thrives from modern advances in chemistry, physics, biology, engineering, medical, and materials research and contributes to cross-disciplinary training of the 21st century science and technology workforce. The Administration believes that nanotechnology will have a profound impact on our economy and society in the early 21st century, perhaps comparable to that of information technology or of cellular, genetic, and molecular biology."

Relevant: 2020: Transhumanist nanotech in C-19 vax. 2023: Graphene nanobots shed C-19 vax to unvaxxed. 2024: New Study from Japan: Covid Shots Installed Nanobots.

Feb 1 2000 Millennium Wheel proves worth the wait

"After a series of false starts, engineering problems and all-too-public delays, the £35 million Millennium Wheel was finally up and running today - and the first passengers were unequivocally enthusiastic.

From some 450ft above London in nine-tonne capsules, the select few enjoyed unprecedented views of the capital's landmarks and beyond, to the rim of the Home Counties.

Overcast conditions failed to spoil the day out for the passengers - competition winners who would have travelled on New Year's Eve until a clutch problem on one of the capsules led to a postponement of the wheel's opening.

Jenny Walker, from Croydon, south London, said: "It was unbelievable. Even on a relatively poor day for visibility we had wonderful views over London. It was just magnificent."

Another competition winner, Suzanne Blackford, from Mitcham, Surrey, with her two children, even promised: "I shall come back again and pay to go on."

The 2,100-tonne wheel - officially called the British Airways London Eye - stands on the south bank of the Thames opposite the Houses of Parliament." Archive.

OzCW: The Millennium Wheel, commonly known as the "London Eye", which opened in 2000 after several false starts, is owned by Merlin Attractions Operations Ltd. Noting the occult-themed name, we looked into the company but found very little of note: in 2016 they were prosecuted for what looked like an unfortunate accident in a theme park.

Notwithstanding, to achieve planning permission for the erection of such a structure on the banks of the River Thames close to Westminster would have been a phenomenal feat, most likely involving Freemasonic dealings.

We also note the sacred geometry effect of the “Eye” as it lights up London so magically. This “Occult London” post describes it:

“This huge, slow-moving Ferris wheel amusement ride stands majestically on the banks of the Thames. The structure dominates the landscape, recalling many occult circular symbols, from the zen-like concepts of completeness and wholeness, to the brutal death of heretics upon the Catherine Wheel. It also includes a brazen Masonic compass in its centre, as well as being named after another ancient occult symbol, the all-seeing eye. The ‘Eye’ became a powerful part of the landscape in a very short period of time and one that is colourfully lit during special occasions, such as New Year’s Eve.”

Feb 2 2000 A Webb of Lies

“...As implausible as the new Soviet man might seem, left-wing radicals in the West applauded the Soviet Experiment. They clearly believed Trotsky’s description in Literature and Revolution: the “average human type” under communism would be the equal of Aristotle and “above this ridge new peaks” of humanity would rise. Among the loudest voices cheering were the prominent British socialist utopians, Sidney and Beatrice Webb.

In 1932, the Webbs traveled to Russia. This was the same year that Stalin directed a campaign of genocide against the kulaks—the millions of farmers, largely Ukrainian, who refused to be collectivized. When shooting them proved too slow, Stalin created a famine by sealing off roads and railway lines. Then the kulaks were stripped of all food, fuel, farm animals, and seed for planting. The death toll is estimated variously from six to ten million people.

*The Webbs toured the Ukraine during the height of the famine (1932–1933), interviewing Soviet officials as they went. They concluded that anti-communists had invented the famine. The Webbs' two-volume book Soviet Communism: A New Civilization (1935) repeated the claim: no famine had occurred, planned or otherwise..." Archive.*

OzCW: Sidney and Beatrice Webb were among the key founders of the Fabian Society. They supported Stalin through his genocidal Great Purge and show trials and repeatedly denied the Holodomor [the famine during which millions starved in Ukraine]. They supported the tyrannical secret police the Cheka and were reportedly happy to see Russian people “disappearing”.

The Fabian Society logo used to be a wolf in sheep’s clothing. Tony Blair and Keir Starmer are members, just like every other British Labour Prime Minister was.

2024: For an enlightening conversation on the Fabian Society, check out UK journalist Sonia Poulton’s interview with Graham Moore of the English Constitution Party [01:46:00]. We liked Mr. Moore’s recounting that since he and others had been “outing” the Fabian Society, quite a few people had left.

In typical underhand Fabian fashion, in 1997 PM Tony Blair had very quietly [08:00 in the vid] removed the death penalty from the Treason Act. He’d been covering his/their backs, knowing what had been lined up for us.

Feb 2 2000: Clive Davis Fights Back

“When brash young BMG Entertainment C.E.O. Strauss Zelnick tried to oust Clive Davis from Arista Records, in November, the legendary music man refused to go. So the industry has watched with bated breath as Davis—who made stars of Janis Joplin, Barry Manilow, Whitney Houston, and many others—wages the second great battle of his life. Revisiting Davis’s rise to the top of CBS’s music division, his firing amid charges of fraud, and his return to glory, Robert Sam Anson profiles a 66-year-old maverick whose ego is rivaled only by his ear, his energy, and the devotion of his artists...”

There he was with Whitney and Aretha and Bruce and Janis—the doomed child-woman who had started it all for him three decades before at CBS. And there were dozens of others who could have been on the walls: Sly Stone, Billy Joel, Laura Nyro, Spirit, Donovan, Neil Diamond, the Kinks, and Earth, Wind and Fire; Boz Scaggs, the Electric Flag, Pink Floyd, Dionne Warwick, Kenny G, and Patti Smith; Lou Reed, Barry Manilow, Sarah McLachlan, Hall and Oates, Miles Davis, and Gil Scott-Heron; Dr. Hook and the Medicine Show, Mott the Hoople, Edgar Winter, Toni Braxton, Loggins and Messina, Ten Years After, and Annie Lennox; the Chambers Brothers, the Isley Brothers, the Allman Brothers, the Grateful Dead—an entire gallery of modern musical history shaped by him.” Archive.

Relevant: 2023: VIDEO Clive Davis, The Man Who Made P Diddy A Monster. 2024: Allegations surface against Clive Davis. 2024: The Unbreakable Bond Between Clive Davis And Diddy. 2024: Clive Davis Ignores Questions About P. Diddy.

Feb 2 2000 Gates wants laptop for every pupil

“Every pupil in the United Kingdom should have their own laptop computer within five years, says Microsoft chairman Bill Gates...

For families who cannot afford to buy their children a computer each, there are plans for a Microsoft foundation of "e-learning" which will offer some additional assistance...

"Putting portable computers in the hands of schoolchildren will free pupils, teachers and parents ... and will ensure that future generations are technology-literate at much earlier ages."

The scheme has been piloted for two years at 28 schools. Among these, the Cornwallis school in Maidstone, Kent, has a wireless network which allows pupils to use their laptops as electronic workbooks anywhere on the school premises.” Archive.

Relevant: 2024: Smartphone addiction statistics. 2024: Thousands of parents regret giving their children smartphones.

OzCW: While Gates has officially left Microsoft and formed GAVI with Melinda et al, the caring philanthropist still finds time in his busy diary to help Tony Blair with his education policy!

Feb 2 2000 Bouygues Telecom Launches Wireless Internet Services Portal Based on Microsoft Software Platforms

“CANNES: Today at the GSM World Congress, Bouygues Telecom, one of France’s major wireless carriers, and Microsoft Corp. demonstrated Bouygues Telecom’s new wireless portal, <http://www.bouygtel.com/>, which is based on Microsoft’s standards-based, flexible, end-to-end mobile Internet solution. One more way that Microsoft is working with the wireless industry to enable information access any time, anywhere and from any device, the new mobile portal is available immediately to Bouygues Telecom’s subscribers, at no additional charge.” Archive.

O2CW: At the same time as Microsoft was preparing to go to court over monopoly/anti-trust issues and Gates was busy in the UK pushing laptops, the corporation is speedily rolling out its wireless networks elsewhere to ensnare the world in its fowler’s net. “At no additional charge” – but at what cost?

Feb 2 2000 Supermodel guilty of assault walks free

“Naomi Campbell admitted Wednesday she beat her assistant with a telephone, punched her, then slammed her against a wall, but the supermodel will walk away with no criminal record.

A judge granted Campbell an absolute discharge, which means she will serve no sentence and have no record of her crime.” Archive.

O2CW: Decades on, it turns out Naomi Campbell’s friends – who include Charles Taylor and Jeffrey Epstein, violent heavyweight Mike Tyson and P. Diddy – aren’t that nice, either...so like attracts like. Was the judge who let her off a friend, too? Over the years, Campbell has evaded various assault charges.

Feb 3 2000 Blair hits out at countryside critics

"Tony Blair admitted to a farming crisis in Britain today but insisted that towns and countryside share the same problems.

In a plea to unite the country Mr Blair repeated his view that the north-south divide is less important than differences within regions and hit out at those those "who seek to divide town and country"...

On his arrival, he was met by a handful of protesting farmers. One shouted to him: "You're killing the British pig industry." Mr Blair conceded that the countryside did have its specific difficulties.

"Yes, there are problems. Farming, in particular, is in crisis. Yes, some of these problems are specifically rural, like bus services and post offices," he said." Archive.

OzCW: So Blair continued the gradual destruction of the UK food supply in preparation for depopulation. In the UK in 2000, the chemtrails had already started, we'd lived through Conservative MP Edwina Currie's 1998 destruction of the egg supply and BSE, during which millions of our cows were slaughtered. In 2000, they were getting at the pigs. The sheep and lambs will follow in 2001 with foot and mouth as "they" play their long game...

Feb 3 2000 Agricultural minister Nick Brown left with cake on his face: National Farmers' Union embarrassed by security lapse that allowed woman to smear chocolate éclair over agriculture minister and flee

"Nick Brown, the agriculture minister, was left with cake on his face yesterday after being attacked by a protester while on stage at a national conference.

A woman wielding a chocolate éclair managed to evade security at the National Farmers' Union conference in London and smear it on his face.

The incident happened during a heated confrontation between Mr Brown and delegates.

The protester, Birgit Cunningham, managed to slip away unhindered from the Hilton hotel conference room, which was packed with hundreds of delegates.

She later said she had "just flipped" and wanted to apologise to Mr Brown, but the incident caused severe embarrassment to the National Farmers' Union, whose security arrangements were so easily evaded.

Mr Brown made light of the attack, which happened five days after the Liberal Democrat councillor Andy Pennington was murdered and the MP Nigel Jones injured by a man wielding a sword at the MP's surgery in Cheltenham. Mr Brown said the assault was a silly stunt.

"It was not a samurai sword. It was a chocolate eclair." Archive.

Relevant: See picture here

Feb 3 2000 Global warming scam

"The White House has pulled off a magnificent public relations scam on the global warming issue, with great deftness and apparent success. The OSTP [Office of Science and Technology Policy] parlayed a dry technical report by the National Research Council/National Academy of Sciences into an impending climate crisis. Leaking a misleading press release to CBS [which broke the news embargo] weeks prior to President Clinton's State of the Union address, the Executive Branch laid the groundwork for its message that environmental catastrophe is around the corner "unless we act." Indeed, President Clinton's final address to the nation raised fears of "deadly heat waves," more frequent droughts, flooding of coastal areas, and general economic disruption." Archive.

Relevant: 2023 Newsgroup post on the global warming scam. Archive.

Feb 4 2000 Taylor sues over flesh-eating claims

"Liberian President Charles Taylor is suing the London Times for quoting a book accusing him of being a cannibal.

*The book, The Mask of Anarchy by Oxford-educated scholar Stephen Ellis, accuses Taylor of "indulging in human sacrifice and the ritualistic consumption of human body parts". The Times article, which appeared on its foreign pages on November 2 1999, also mentioned "reports and rumours of Mr Taylor's alleged cannibalism, including drinking the blood of his murdered rivals".*

Taylor's writ also highlights the claims in the article that "specific individuals were selected for human sacrifice and consumption, a practice believed by some Liberians to confer power on the participants. Many of these bloody rituals were allegedly carried out in Charles Taylor's house."

The Mask of Anarchy has been praised elsewhere for its balanced approach. On December 26 the Sunday Telegraph also ran a piece about the book. It was clearly labelled as a review. The reviewer wrote: "In the course of the [Liberian civil] war, children were turned into psychopathic fighters and cannibalism was rampant. Mr Ellis deals with this most sensational aspect of the conflict without titillating the reader..." Archive.

Relevant: 2009: Charles Taylor on trial. 2010: Charles Taylor sent blood diamonds to Naomi Campbell. 2010: Naomi Campbell was flirting with Charles Taylor. 2013: Warlord Charles Taylor arrives in Britain to serve 50-year sentence for war crimes.

Feb 5 2000 UK Featured Author Paul Devereux speaking at the Rollright Stones

"What is interesting and while we were monitoring here at all hours of the day and night and all seasons and all weathers, a number of people would report to me - who had been working here for several days - "I saw something strange on the road here." Then somebody else, some completely other person who didn't know the other person, would say "I saw something strange on the road here."

And we found that in that hundred yards length we had reports of cars being occupied, for instance, that disappeared - like driving along and suddenly they weren't there any more; old fashioned gypsy caravans appearing and disappearing; and even, by someone... when a very large hairy animal walked by. He said it had coarse grey hair and it went by. He wondered "what could that be?" and he looked out and there was nothing there.

So there were appearances and disappearances...on this stretch of road here. None of those people knew it was radioactive. We did because we'd monitored it time and again...But we subsequently found on the Dragon Project that in areas of heightened natural background radiation...people would get very vivid waking dreams..." Archive.

Relevant: 2024: The Rollright Stones.

Feb 5 2000 London protest over Chechnya

"Protesters against the war in Chechnya have gathered to stage a rally in central London.

Around 200 demonstrators, led by Labour MPs Tony Benn and Jeremy Corbyn, plan to march from Westminster past Downing Street to Trafalgar Square.

March organiser Mark Osborn said there was a growing peace movement in Russia because of the number of young men who were dying in the fighting.

"We are appalled about the carnage that the Russians are inflicting on the Chechens," he said.

"This war is wrong, outrageous and barbaric and should end. The Chechens should be free to decide their own future." Archive.

OzCW: The Chechen war was manufactured by another false flag- by horrific explosions in Moscow apartments.

Relevant: 2022: Chechnya started with Russia's 9/11. Archive.

Feb 6 2000 Jesus contest 2000 draws strong reactions

"Said another anonymous e-mailer "I am not pleased with this choice. If it is Jesus of all the people, why doesn't it show Asian, Latino, Hispanic, Italian, White, Irish, Europeans, Middle Easterners, Indians, Pakistanis, Jewish? Why just a black in dreadlocks?"

The artist... used a female African American model to create her winning entry, "Jesus of the People." The figure is flanked by a yin-yang symbol, an Asian sign of harmony, and a feather, symbolizing transcendent knowledge and the Great Spirit of American Indians...

"Next time I'm going to join this contest," the e-mailer wrote. "My Jesus will be a narcoleptic vegetarian astronaut clown mime who lives in a Sri Lankan tree with three lesbian popes and sings the boogie-woogie in Navajo. And I'll probably win." Archive.

OzCW: In this Jesus contest, were we watching the degradation and destruction of Christianity and the pushing of NWO/New Age agendas?

Feb 9 2000 Psychotronic terrorism: digital hacking of the human brain

"I came across the term 'Psychotronic' in late 1998. I was surfing infowar-dot-com and saw a piece on "Psychotronic War: IW [information warfare] & Bioeffects of DEWs [Directed Energy Weapons]" I believe the term owes its origin to a Soviet think tank obsessed with Star Wars. Of the many characteristics of "psychotronic war," one is its potential to alter the data-processing systems in the body. This was quoted in an article by Timothy L Thomas, published in the Spring 1998 issue of Parameters.

The article, is captivatingly titled, "The Mind Has No Firewall." Before I proceed further, let me explain the term firewall. Long back, 'firewall' wormed its way into the thesaurus. Simply put, it is a sentry who stands at the gate of the network and shouts, "who goes there" and then "haath uppar, pehchan ke liye age barh [raise your hands and come forward to be identified]." Archive.

Feb 9 2000 Sympathy for the Europhobes

"I was surprised, nay, astonished, to learn from a BBC poll last week that 69% of Britons wish to stay out of the European single currency, and 34% want us to leave the EU altogether...

Another prominent UKIP member, Christina Speight, has sent an equally fond open letter to Nigel Farage MEP, the party chairman. "It is not enough to have a big voice and a quick wit, you need a brain to go with it and some integrity," she coos, going on to pay tribute to his "double-dealing, backstabbing, disloyalty and treachery".

Meanwhile, several London branches of UKIP are refusing to canvass in the election for the mayor and London assembly, in protest at the choice of Damian Hockney as the party's main candidate." Archive.

Relevant: 2024: All about Brexit. Archive.

Feb 9 2000 UK's Ashworth Hospital boss to leave

"The acting chief executive of the scandal-hit Ashworth High Security Psychiatric Hospital is to leave his post.

Peter Clarke has been running the hospital in Maghull, Merseyside, since a damning report into the way the unit was run was issued last year.

The Fallon Report recommended that Ashworth should close after it revealed paedophile activity and widespread corruption amongst staff and patients.

Among the most shocking revelations uncovered by the Fallon Report was the case of an eight-year-old girl who was repeatedly allowed to visit unsupervised a ward housing patients who had a record of sexual abuse against children.

The investigators said they had no confidence in the ability of any of the then management team to reform the way the hospital was run.

However, the unit was reprieved despite the then health secretary Frank Dobson lambasting a "shameful story of confusion, indecision, mismanagement and incompetence" at the hospital." Archive.

Relevant: 1999: Ashworth Hospital scandal

Feb 9 2000 Police investigates satanic abuse charges

"Allegations of satanic abuse are to be investigated by the Metropolitan Police, after a psycho-therapist working for the government said her own clinical experience suggests it exists.

Valerie Sinason, who was commissioned by the Department of Health to carry out research into satanic abuse, will present her findings in the next few months.

The report is based on allegations made by some 76 children and adults involving sexual abuse and murder.

Police investigation

But Ms Sinason, who treats people with personality disorders at the Clinic for Dissociative Studies, acknowledged there is little in the way of hard evidence to support the allegations.

"There is a lot of confusion about what constitutes evidence," she said.

She added there was a lot of clinical evidence but a court of law requires physical evidence.

The Metropolitan Police, however, has now assigned one of its senior officers to investigate some of the claims." Archive.

Feb 9 2000 Stansted hijack 2000: Storm put hijack jet on path to Britain. Crisis flight: Blair faced with setting tough line on air terrorism

"It was at Tashkent that the hijackers disclosed their demand - the release of Ismail Khan, the man dubbed the Lion of Herat in the Afghan battle against the Russians but now imprisoned by Afghanistan's Taliban government...

Taking a studious approach, negotiators agreed to allow the delivery of a generator to allow air conditioning on the plane at 6.30am, and at the same time soft drinks, tea bags, toilet rolls and baby food were handed over...

In return the Stansted authorities handed over grilled fish, roast chicken, soft drinks and bread. But they were still negotiating about providing extra supplies of water and emptying the plane's toilets...

Gen Safi, who said he had once spent a year at the SAS headquarters in Hereford when he was in the Afghan Royal Army said: "The hijackers were foolish to come to Britain because the forces that they are dealing with are absolutely professional." Archive.

OzCW: Was this a real "drama"? We're not convinced. It looks like some kind of a drill. Or propagandising. Were the intelligence services/msm ramping up "scary Moslem" pre-programming in preparation for the war in Afghanistan and/or 9/11?

Note the emergency "toilet" theme, which was seen during Covid.

Relevant: 2001: Blair declares war on the Taliban. 2001: 9/11.

Feb 10 2000 Beating the hacker attack

"Hacking is almost an occupational hazard for internet companies - though most attacks will not be on the same level as those undertaken recently on some big-name sites.

A huge blitz of information shut down Yahoo! for three hours. Amazon and eBay were also hit...

Rob Goldhawk specialises in cyber liability for Hiscox Insurance. He says having protection is vital for businesses...

"I think you should undertake some physical security and also buy insurance to back it up," Mr Goldhawk advises...

But there was good news for some businesses, especially those dealing in anti-virus software.

Trend Micro jumped 7.75% on the Toyko stock exchange, while Vertex Link's shares increased by 12.5%.

Nissin Electric, which distributes firewall software to protect internal networks, was up 19.25%.

As in most crises, there are clearly business opportunities to be had." Archive.

OzCW: In the [dark] light of Covid-19 in 2020, a fake “virus” from which Bill Gates selflessly sought to protect us, it’s worth asking where the words “computer virus” came from in the first place.

The term was first coined in 1984 by Professor Leonard Adelman. One of his then-grad students, Dr. Fred Cohen, would popularise it in his seminal paper “Computer Viruses: Theory and Experiments.”

In this 2020 video interview, Dr. Cohen explains what happened. He paints a picture of the early computing world of the 70s and 80s: the only people who had access to the new massively expensive machines were a heady mix of academics and people working in industry/corporate e.g. IBM [no mention of government at this point – stupid government comes in later].

Dr. Cohen states [from 07:30] that as a grad student sysadmin he worked on viruses at NASA’s Jet Propulsion Laboratories. So [Satanically-influenced] JPL/NASA was closely involved in early corporate research into “how viruses would spread”.

Who funded this research? Well, JPL is a federally-funded NASA research centre, operated by Caltech [California Institute of Technology] so there would have been both government and corporate funding around to play with.

Indeed in 2018, JPL research was being funded by the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation so in 1984 they probably weren't any more choosy about where their funding was coming from. Our guess is that it might have come from US government black projects budgets.

At one early point at JPL, says Cohen, once they had discovered that viruses could take over systems, "people said 'no more experiments because we already know.'" [07:58]

Cohen goes on to discuss [at 17:14] how he presented his viruses paper at a Canadian conference without announcing it beforehand. Afterwards he was approached by a man from the US National Security Agency – and from then on he was surveilled.

Can we conclude then that here was a "rogue" group of academics working on computer viruses with JPL setting the black project research agenda unbeknownst to the mainstream US government? Who knows?

Cohen also says about the US government and computers that: "They weren't the sharpest tools in the shed when it came to this stuff." [25:35]

At [29:30] he compares computer viruses to memes between people communicating on computers, which "they're studying to see if their "InFLuence Operations" can control the spread of malicious memes, the disinformation that's being pushed out" [29:50]. So no need to worry about your social media nudge units, folks – it's all in hand!

Back to 1988, Peter Norton of Norton Anti-virus described computer viruses as an urban legend like the crocodiles in the New York sewers. After making a fortune out of them, he described himself as a "nerd that got lucky." So did Norton, then, experience some kind of Road to Damascus turnaround on viruses?

And let's not forget that most peculiar death of John McAfee, who "did not kill himself."

Feb 10 2000 Whoops! Piers Morgan...

"It was, of course, mere coincidence. When Mirror editor Piers Morgan rang up his broker on January 17 to buy £20,000 worth of shares in Viglen Technology, he could have had no idea that his paper's financial wizards were to tip the share next morning, earning him a nice profit of almost 100%. After all, it is bad enough to be held responsible for the contents of a paper like The Mirror, without being expected to read the contents before publication." Archive.

Feb 10 2000 Satanic abuse row erupts

"Fresh controversy over the existence of satanic or ritual child abuse erupted yesterday when it emerged that two psycho-therapists received a £22,000 government grant to produce evidence of the practice.

The author of an official report which found no evidence of satanic abuse, and was said by the then health secretary to have proved it a myth, dismissed the new research as "ludicrous".

Concern over ritual abuse arose in the early 1990s following controversies in Nottingham, Rochdale and the Orkneys. Jean La Fontaine, an anthropologist, was commissioned by the department of health to investigate alleged cases.

Of 84 cases reviewed in her 1994 report, none was considered satanic and three found to have shown any evidence of ritual. Virginia Bottomley, the then Conservative health secretary, declared that the report had exposed satanic abuse as a myth.

A health department spokeswoman said Ms Sinason and Dr Hale were expected to submit their report, which had the status of a pilot study, in the spring." Archive.

Feb 10 2000 Triple Delight for Mohamed Al Fayed

"Neil Hamilton has been ordered to pay £500,000 towards the reported £2 million costs for his failed libel action against Harrods owner Mohamed Al Fayed, it was disclosed today.

The high court has said Mr Hamilton has until 4pm on February 24 - a fortnight - to make the interim payment on account towards Mr Fayed's legal costs.

Mr Hamilton said tonight: "Of course I am aware of it, I consented to the order."

He was not prepared to make any further comment." Archive.

Relevant: Summary of cash for questions affair. Archive. 2001: Ghastly, grotesque, humiliating..if police charge me I'm a banana; Christine Hamilton on the sex attack accusations against her and husband. 2001: Interview: Louis Theroux - My weird weeks with the Hamiltons; TV documentary maker Louis Theroux was filming a show on Neil and Christine Hamilton this year when they were arrested - which was strange even for him. [Louis said he was "good friends" with Jimmy Savile.]

2024: VIDEO This survivor alleges that she was abused by Mohamed Al-Fayed. [29:35]

2024: Al-Fayed raped and assaulted at least five women. 2024: VIDEO: Al Fayed was seen at a Satanic ritual handing Diana, Princess of Wales [at 32:15].

OzCW: The above article reports on Al-Fayed's [d. 2023] involvement in legal battles over buying influence in the Commons ["Cash for Questions"]. MP Neil Hamilton has indeed been paid, it's been discovered. So Hamilton has fought back and launched a libel action against Al-Fayed. Which was not successful.

Feb 11 2000 Vodafone seals Mannesmann deal: largest corporate merger in history

"Vodafone AirTouch has finally succeeded in taking control of Mannesmann after last-minute concessions overcame the objections of the German group's board.

Mobile merger battle

The deal announced on Thursday got the official seal of approval from Mannesmann's supervisory board at a meeting in Frankfurt on Friday.

The two sides had been locked in talks for seven hours on Thursday to finalise details, having reached agreement in principle on friendly terms. World's largest companies:

*Microsoft: $532bn
GE: $445bn
Cisco Systems: $403bn
Vodafone: $365bn
NTT DoCoMo: $336bn
Intel: $334bn*

The £112bn [$183bn] all-share deal is the largest corporate merger in history. It brings to an end months of rancorous negotiations, claims and counterclaims in a bidding battle mixing big business, politics and union uproar." Archive.

Relevant: In 2003, the extent of the corruption will come out. World's largest companies 2024.

Feb 11 2000 River of cyanide runs through Europe

"An Australian-owned gold mine in western Romania has disgorged 378,500 litres (100,000 gallons) of cyanide-contaminated water into the rivers of central Europe, triggering an ecological "catastrophe", according to Hungarian and European Union officials.

Drinking-water supplies for 2.5m people have been threatened by the poison spill from the Aurul gold mine - near Baia Mare in the north of the country - which began 10 days ago. It is now heading downriver towards the Danube and has reached Yugoslavia.

On some sections of the river Tisza, 80% of fish have died.

But Esmeralda Exploration, the Perth-based company that owns 50% of the mine - 45% is owned by the Romanian government and 5% by foreign investors - has denied responsibility and claimed that reports of a disaster were "grossly exaggerated"." Archive.

Relevant: 2015: Romania Baia Mare Cyanide Spill by Esmerelda Exploration Australia.

Feb 10 2000 Larry Ellison: A Profile

"The Difference Between God and Larry Ellison: God Doesn't Think He's Larry Ellison.

That was the title chosen by a biographer for the founder and driving force behind the computer firm Oracle.

Ellison has been an outspoken supporter of moves to break Microsoft up.

"I think when somebody breaks the law, they should be punished," says the jet-fighter flying entrepreneur.

In the past 25 years he has built Oracle from a standing start with $2,000 savings, to become one of the key players in the internet age.

Its growth to be worth nearly $170bn came in parallel with Microsoft's, on only a slightly reduced scale - although after the bursting of the net bubble, it is now worth a mere $54bn." Archive.

Relevant: 2020: CEO Larry Ellison and the Dark Arts of ORACLE and Deep Ties to the Pilgrim's Society.

2023: On some of Ellison's ties to the vaccine agenda and details about his island.

Feb 11 2000 Israeli government report admits systematic torture of Palestinians

"The Israeli internal security service, Shin Bet, used systematic torture against Palestinians and regularly lied about it, according to an Israeli government report which has been released five years after it was written.

The report covers the period 1988-1992, when Palestinian youths were mounting a sustained street revolt known as the Intifada. In response, Shin Bet ignored government interrogation guidelines allowing "moderate physical pressure" and went much further, with the worst abuses committed in prisons along the Gaza Strip.

The Israeli human rights organisation, B'Tselem, estimates that thousands of Palestinian detainees - some 85% - were subjected to torture. B'Tselem said that since the beginning of the Intifada, 10 Palestinians have died and hundreds have been maimed as a result of Shin Bet torture.

The Israeli state comptroller, Miriam Ben-Porat, conducted a study of Shin Bet practices and produced her report in 1995, blaming the chain of command under its director, Yaakov Peri." Archive.

Relevant: 2001: Israel: Palestinian children still being tortured in Israeli prisons.
 2002: PDF: Torture of Palestinian Political Prisoners in Israeli Prisons.
 2003: Persecution of homosexuals in the Palestinian autonomous areas.
 2004: Defense for Children Palestine.
 2005: Israel and Torture: The "Sunday Times" report with replies and counterreplies.
 2006: Public Committee against Torture in Israel and Palestinian Society for the Protection of Human Rights and the Environment v Israel and ors, Original Petition to the High Court of Justice, HCJ 769/02, ILDC 597 (IL 2006), 13th December 2006, Israel; Supreme Court; Supreme Court as High Court of Justice.
 2007: Absolute Prohibition: The Torture and Ill-Treatment of Palestinian Detainees.
 2008: Palestinian Abuses in Gaza and the West Bank.
 2009: PDF: Academic Boycott of Israel.
 2010: West Bank: Reports of Torture in Palestinian Detention - Two New Cases Among More Than 100 in 2010 Alleged Against Security Services.
 2011: PDF: Notes on the History of Torture in Israel.
 2012: PDF: Starved of Justice.
 2013: Inquiry call over Israel's 'torture of Palestinians. 2013: How Israel legitimises torturing Palestinians to death.
 2014: Torture in Israeli prisons: 200 methods used against Palestinian prisoners.
 2015 Gaza: Palestinians tortured, summarily killed by Hamas forces during 2014 conflict.
 2016: New study details sexual torture of Palestinian prisoners by Israeli authorities.
 2017: Palestinian teen in viral arrest photo released on bail following interrogation and torture.
 2018: The Palestinian protests the BBC preferred to ignore.
 2019: 82 Palestinians tortured to death in Syria prisons in 2018.
 2020: How Israel Tortures Palestinians. 2024: Israel used dogs, waterboarding on Palestinian detainees from Gaza, UN report says.
 2021: Israeli police targeted Palestinians with discriminatory arrests, torture and unlawful force.
 2022: Palestine: Impunity for Arbitrary Arrests, Torture.
 2023: Israel/OPT: Horrifying cases of torture and degrading treatment of Palestinian detainees amid spike in arbitrary arrests.
 2024: Israel's escalating use of torture against Palestinians in custody a preventable crime against humanity: UN experts.

OzCW: To many in 2000, the seemingly-endless Israel-Palestine conflict felt far away. But in later years “thanks to” social media, people will see the atrocities on their devices and – at last – protests will build to culminate in the 2020s.

OzCW: We've included this article not to criticise Robert Kilroy-Silk, whose chat show was very much part of UK everyday viewing in 2000, but because we could find few msm articles about him from that year. Perhaps his TV schedule took up all of his time.

In other years, the msm seemed to snatch any opportunity to swipe at him: was that because even back in 2000 Kilroy was investigating the paedophile ring in Parliament? Archive.

"THE words were coming from Robert Kilroy-Silk's mouth but 14-year-old Danny Beauchamp could not believe he was saying them.

The suave talk show host was telling his millions of viewers that children needed "love and affection and their dad to be there for them".

Danny hasn't even met his father, let alone had any love and affection from him. But he knows who he is... Robert Kilroy-Silk. The square-jawed presenter with the Paul Newman looks had an affair with Danny's mother Hilary when he was a Labour MP. Although he pays maintenance, he has never even publicly acknowledged that Danny exists." Archive.

Relevant: More balanced review of Kilroy from the imdb:

"Robert Kilroy Silk

I enjoyed Kilroy on the BBC. He is such a fair man and I agree with all of his comments, even the last comment that everyone seemed to complain about concerning the Arabs. I can't see that it is terrible to talk about the truth.

I miss his shows and I would like to see him back on again. I feel that I pay my licence fee and I should be able to choose the television programmes that are aired on the television.

Most of his shows were about subjects that I enjoyed listening to and some of the subjects were there to help other people." Archive.

Feb 12 2000 Epstein and Prince Andrew photo

Photo of Melania Trump, Prince Andrew, Gwendolyn Beck and Jeffrey Epstein at a party at the Mar-a-Lago club, Palm Beach, Florida, February 12, 2000. Archive.

OzCW: How glamorous and enviable the Andrew and Epstein largesse would have looked to royal watchers back in the day, but how degenerate it appears in 2024.

Relevant: 2020: Andy and Gwendolyn Beck [she didn't go to the orgy]. 2020: Epstein, the darkness runs deep. Archive. 2014: The Jeffery Epstein VI Foundation. Archive.

OzCW: In 2000, Jeffrey Epstein's girlfriend was Shelley Lewis. Archive. While Virginia Guiffre was forced to work as his sex slave. [Which Shelley Lewis likely knew nothing about.]

Feb 12 2000: Smart cards will soon contain biometric data

"A smart card that can verify its owner through fingerprint verification or iris recognition has been developed by Keyware Technologies and Proton World International. The smart card, called e-purse, is being demonstrated at the Smart Card 2000 trade show in London, the companies said in a statement. The security technology on which the smart cards are based, known as biometrics, has been developed by Keyware Technologies as a way to combat fraud and other security issues, the companies said."

OzCW: And so the grounds for Covid testing, [the failed] track and trace and tyrannical CBDCs were being laid, whether or not the programmers knew it.

Relevant: 2023: From Keys and Cards to Mobile and Biometrics: A Brief History of Credentials. Archive.

Feb 12 2000 Jesse Ventura quits Ross Perot's Reform Party

"Mr Ventura has been locked in a battle to wrest control of the party from Mr Perot's supporters, who want the former Republican Pat Buchanan to be their presidential candidate.

Mr Ventura, who is a liberal on many social issues and a supporter of free trade, said: "I can't stay within a national party that could well have Pat Buchanan as its presidential nominee, and now the latest word I hear is he's getting support from David Duke [the former Ku Klux Klan leader]. Well I can't be part of that, and I won't be part of that."" Archive.

OzCW: In 2009 Ventura will start his truTV series Conspiracy Theory with Jesse Ventura. Many view this as a Cointel Pro psyop but we enjoyed it on YouTube all the same.

Feb 13 2000 World Economic Forum Global Leaders for Tomorrow

"World Economic Forum (WEF) has brought the leaders of today and the leaders of future together in Davos. There are artists, politicians, executives, members of non-governmental organizations, journalists among the 100 young people chosen for the Global Leaders for Tomorrow (GLT) Program. Turkish people are also among those...

The most important leaders of politics, arts, economics and non-governmental organizations were again hosted by WEF in Davos, Switzerland, this year. WEF is bringing the leaders of today and the leaders of the future together under the same roof since 1993. Every year, 100 hundred young people are chosen from the areas of economics, politics, arts and NGOs for the Global Leaders for Tomorrow Program.

To be a nominee, the age limit is 40 and the person's engagements have to do with something adding value to his/her institution, area of work, and to the society. People having contacts with WEF suggest persons they know with these qualifications. These people are interviewed during long WEF committee meetings. Under the light of these interviews hundreds of people are evaluated and elections are made. Taking male/female rates, countries and occupations into account, 100 hundreds people chosen throughout the world. These people are invited to WEF. They are welcome to attend the Forum meetings for two years and if they do active work, they can go on participating in the Forum for 5 years.” Archive.

Feb 14 2000 UK Victims welcome abuse revelations

“Victims of the “appalling suffering” uncovered by the UK’s largest child abuse inquiry have given its findings a guarded welcome.

Lost in Care - the report of the Waterhouse inquiry into abuse in north Wales children's homes - revealed “appalling mistreatment” of children in care and made over 70 recommendations for improvement including the appointment of a children's commissioner for Wales..

Mr Murphy said there was no evidence of a high-level paedophile conspiracy, but that a paedophile ring around Cheshire and Wrexham had preyed on young people in care in the 1970s and 1980s...

Much of the abuse took place at Bryn Estyn Children's Home in Wrexham, where paedophiles like Peter Howarth - a former housemaster - sexually abused boys as young as 12.

Howarth was jailed in 1994 for 10 years. He died in prison.” Archive.

Relevant: 2003: Lost in Care again. 2012: Another UK scandal of children in care. 2013: Elderly care home whistle blower fired. Other: too many care scandals to list across the years.

OzCW: We note that the headline for this BBC article could be snake-words read as “Revelations that Victims Welcome Abuse.”

Feb 14 2000 News scandal at News of the World: Fakery, Hypocrisy and Public Trust in Journalism

“However, it ill behoves the News of the World to claim to be the doyen of ethical investigative journalism. Only last week we received copies of tapes relating to NoW stories that demonstrate how easy it is to trap people into saying things they will later regret – and run sensational stories on the thinnest of pretexts and then claim the moral high ground when their victims complain.

Some of Mazher Mahmoud's so-called investigations would not stand up to much scrutiny. His techniques have already been criticised by the courts as tantamount to entrapment. Senior executives at the NoW appear to care less for the human consequences of their search for ever more sensational headlines than for their circulation figures. Meanwhile their chief investigation reporter Neville Thurlbeck – whose naked form adorns our office walls as living proof that not all NoW reporters 'make their excuses and leave' – is currently facing charges over an allegedly corrupt relationship with a police officer." Archive.

Feb 14 2000 Post-Abduction Syndrome: Description of an Emerging Syndrome

"Proposed by Rose Hargrove, RN February 14, 2000

This proposal of a new and emerging syndrome will attempt to define the cluster of symptoms and behaviors that develop in some individuals in response to the alien abduction phenomenon. Post Abduction Syndrome [PAS] [Westrum, 1986] is an anxiety disorder that is closely related to Posttraumatic Stress Disorder [APA, 1994]. It is characterized by the re-experiencing- of abduction related memories, fragments, or distortions of those memories and is accompanied by symptoms of increased anxiety and by avoidance of stimuli related to abduction memories or abduction related events. The affected person may experience levels of anxiety that interfere with functioning in personal, occupational, or social areas." Archive.

Feb 14 2000 Trump to stay out of the 2000 presidential race

"Trump had been flirting with the idea of a presidential bid since last year and even said he might be willing to spend $100 million of his own money to fund his campaign.

During the months Trump was considering a possible candidacy, he established ties with members of the Reform Party, including then-member and Minnesota Gov. Jesse Ventura, who announced just last Friday that he was leaving the party, calling it "hopelessly dysfunctional."

"Jesse has left and that's a problem," Trump said." Archive.

Feb 15 2000 UK: Big cat on the prowl

"A [Gloucestershire] resident awoke to find 5mm-deep claw marks in his pine door.

Derek Day, 63, said the animal had also tried to get in through his cat-flap and, in the process, had torn pieces off the door.

"During the night there was a hell of a commotion," he said. "When we got up this morning we found the door was ripped. It couldn't have been anything but something with powerful jaws." Archive.

Feb 15 2000 Wicked child abuse condemned

"Much of the abuse took place at Bryn Estyn home

Children in care in north Wales endured years of "appalling suffering", the UK's largest child abuse investigation has revealed...

Mr Murphy said there was no evidence of a high-level paedophile conspiracy, but that a paedophile ring around Cheshire and Wrexham had preyed on young people in care in the 1970s and 1980s...

Not all the alleged abuse was sexual. Much was physical - children being thumped, kicked and hit for minor misdemeanours.

Some children did complain, but according to Chris Walby - a social services expert helping with another child abuse investigation in Merseyside - their word counted for little in an atmosphere where they were not listened to or believed...

He said people in power abused their positions.

Finally in 1996, William Hague - then Welsh Secretary - decided an inquiry was the only way of quelling public disquiet." Archive.

Relevant: 2012: Victims tell of horror inside Bryn Estyn. Timeline of Bryn Estyn.

Feb 15 2000 The Colosio Assassination: Chronology of Events Surrounding the Assassination of Luis Colosio, 23 March 1994

"Business had brought me to Mexico City on the day Luis Colosio was assassinated in Tijuana. The TV coverage of the event was every bit as obscure as the reporting of the JFK murder and worse than the coverage of the attempt on Ronald Reagan's life. The news video of the assassination didn't play once; instead heads talked and voxes popped..."

What follows is a chronology of events relating to, or concurrent with, the assassination of Colosio, Presidential candidate of the PRI [Partido Revolucionario Internacional] in Mexico on March 23, 1993.”
Archive.

Relevant: 2024: Colosio assassination still obsesses Mexico.

Feb 15 2000 Shayler: Cook “misled” over Gaddafi plot

“Former M15 agent David Shayler has said the UK foreign secretary may have been misled over whether British secret services were involved in a plot to assassinate Libyan leader Colonel Muammar Gaddafi.

Robin Cook has denied misleading the public following the publication of a document on the internet alleging British involvement.

He said he was "satisfied" that the intelligence services had no involvement in an "escapade" to kill the Colonel.

Mr Cook also denied two years ago that British security services had been involved in a bombing which narrowly failed to kill Colonel Gaddafi and overthrow his regime.

Speaking on BBC's Newsnight programme, Mr Shayler said that it was possible that the foreign secretary had not been given the truth. He said the document vindicated his allegations and warranted a full investigation into others made by him.

"It is established that there was certainly a Gaddafi plot, so when Robin Cook unequivocally said I'm perfectly clear these allegations are foundless and it is pure fantasy - he went too far.” Archive.

Relevant: 2009: Shayler will later have a breakdown and turn out to be a transvestite. 2024: His website. We agree with this blogger, who believes that Shayler may be a “Trojan Horse.”

Feb 17 2000 [South Africa rejects \[AIDS drug\] AZT advice](#)

“The South African government announced last week that it has rejected two reports commissioned from its Medicines Control Council [MCC] on the safety of the anti-retroviral drug AZT [zidovudine] after public statements by political leaders on its potential hazards...

The reports were commissioned last October after president Thabo Mbeki had defended the government's decision not to make AZT freely available in the public health system [see Nature 402, 3; 1999]. His argument that there was a large volume of scientific literature indicating that the drug's toxicity is a danger to health led to an outcry from AIDS activists and researchers in both South Africa and abroad.” Archive.

OzCW: According to the above article, Thabo Mbeki was seeing through the lies...and in 2022 he still stood by his views. Yet he is a Knight of the Order of St. John [Knights of Malta]. And he is a member of the WEF.

Feb 17 2000 Military Ceremony In Windsor: Borough Freedom of Entry to the Royal Gloucestershire, Berkshire and Wiltshire Regiment.

“As a result of the Balkans conflict of 1999, the Freedom of Entry Ceremony for the Royal Gloucestershire, Berkshire and Wiltshire Regiment had to be postponed from June, 1999, and actually took place on Thursday, 17th February at 11.45am.

The Freedom Ceremony confers the right of the Regiment to march through the town with "Swords drawn, drums beating, bands playing, Colours flying and bayonets fixed," and is conferred by the Royal Borough. The Colours are of course of great significance to each and every soldier. They represent the central rallying point in battle in the event that they are separated from their colleagues during the melée...

During the Ceremony the Mayor of Windsor, Councillor Sandra Hopkins, presented the Freedom Scroll to HRH Prince Philip, Colonel in Chief. The Regiment then exercised its newly conferred right to march through the town. The following pictures illustrate the scene.” Archive.

OzCW: This English military tradition reminds us of the considerable – but rarely discussed in the alt media – powers held in England by local officers such as an Alderman, Sheriff or Mayor. Most Brits probably don't give these ancient offices a second thought.

After the Covid fiasco in 2022, Colchester Council Watch sprang up to encourage others to scrutinise and question the activities of the UK's local councils which had, up to that point, progressed in plain sight, hidden mainly by public ignorance and/or disinterest. CCW did well and generated public interest.

But mayoral and shrieval powers extend to Privy Council level. Take for example the 2019 Shrieval Admission and Breakfast Ceremony of the new Aldermanic Sheriff of the City of London. Archive. And the City of London Sheriff who answers to the Lord Mayor, re-posted this Klaus-Schwab-sounding headline in 2024:

“The City is at a vanguard of a new industrial revolution in open data and AI.”
Archive.

More research is needed into these officials and their entourages e.g. “The Assistant Remembrancer; Chief Commoner; Sheriff's Chaplains and Marshals” as listed on the order of ceremonies posted. And look at the lavish menu and wine list. This is where much of the UK's real invisible power seems to lie – in City law/judiciary.

Feb 19 2000 Three Top Latvians Are Named in Investigation of Pedophilia

“Latvian President Vaira Vike-Freiberga described it as a black day for her country: Three top officials, including the prime minister, were named in connection with a pedophilia case this week, and one of them, Justice Minister Valdis Birkavs, immediately began a hunger strike in protest.

But amid a flurry of scandalous accusations and counter-accusations, a member of a special parliamentary commission investigating pedophilia and child pornography said Friday that there is no direct evidence implicating the officials.

The chairman of the commission, Janis Adamsons, caused an uproar Thursday when he linked Birkavs, Prime Minister Andris Skele and Andrejs Sonciks, director of the State Revenue Service, to a pedophilia case during a report to Parliament. He claimed that army and police officers also were involved.” Archive.

Relevant: 2015? [Rigas Sakatisme \[Latvian transportation company\]](#) struck by second paedophilia scandal.

Feb 20 2000 Trump, Epstein, Ghislaine, Andy and Michael Bolton

News clipping from West Palm Beach Post with article about fundraiser pictured. Archive.

Feb 20 2000 A-Z of Madonna's London

“At 12.20am last Tuesday, three people staggered out of the bar of London's Claridge's on their way home from the after-show party for the premiere of Anthony Minghella's new film, The Talented Mr Ripley.

But the last of the group, a 41-year-old woman, stopped abruptly, startled by a cluster of hardened fans, and slipped back inside.

At last, the woman walked out coyly, her little finger in her mouth. She was accompanied by designer David Collins, and her assistant Elly Atkins, who was acting as guardian to London's most recent celebrity acquisition - Madonna.

The most famous woman in the world is back. Her relationship with film director Guy Ritchie, the man behind Lock Stock and Two Smoking Barrels, her choice of school for her daughter Lourdes, and her property deals in west London have sparked a flood of gossip.

Last week her forays continued: Monday was the Ripley premiere followed by dinner with Gwyneth Paltrow at Claridge's. On Thursday she and Ritchie opted out of the much-hyped fashion show at the Dome, preferring a quiet dinner with Stella McCartney at The Ivy. It seems as if Madonna is slowly staking her claim on the capital.” Archive.

Relevant: 2024: Madonna sued for pornography at shows.

OzCW: Back in 2000, Madonna was just a pop star, whether you liked her or not. We had yet to see her kiss Britney [2003/2024], face child trafficking

charges [2006–9/2023], perform Satanic rituals. In 2017, P. Diddy had Madonna tattooed on his back, saying, “She got my back.” Archive.

Madge opened a controversial Kabbalah Centre in London in 2000, though – the truth had been hidden in plain sight and was later to emerge. Archive.

Feb 21 2000 Big Banks Debunked: For over ten years, waves of mergers, each seemingly bigger than the last, rolled through the banking world. Now the hype is ebbing, and only the numbers remain. They're not pretty

“...Some of those giants--Citigroup, to name one--have watched their stock soar, but bank stocks overall have risen only 1% since January 1998, something many analysts blame on misbegotten mergers.

The Bank One, First Union, and Bank of America deals sounded so promising that it's hard to imagine they could have gone astray, but the three banks have seen their stock prices collapse by an average of 41% since announcing those deals. All three have missed their original earnings targets [Bank One has missed them disastrously]. And all three mergers have created disorder and uncertainty in what had been pretty well-oiled machines. In fact, the only clear financial winners, as we'll see later, were the guys who put the deals together.

"We're coming to the end of a decade of mass consolidation," says Nancy Bush, a bank analyst at Prudential, "and we're asking ourselves, Was there a net gain here? Was the rate of earnings growth enhanced? The answer is no." Archive.

Feb 22 2000 Sports Illustrated Swimsuit issue unveiled

“Melania Knauss, who is Donald Trump's girlfriend, is one of the many models that posed for the 2000 Sports Illustrated Swimsuit issue.” Archive.

Feb 22 2000 Sex-change soldier hails Canada's liberal attitudes

“Smartly turned out in her leopard-skin jacket and big auburn hair, Sergeant Sylvia Durand stands as a living example of just how profoundly Canada's military has changed.

For years, Sgt. Durand was Sgt. Sylvain Durand, a pants-wearing telecommunications specialist at the Department of National Defence in Ottawa. Now, thanks to an army-financed sex-change operation, Sgt. Durand reports for duty in lipstick, earrings and a skirt.

"This is a rebirth," Sgt. Durand said in an interview yesterday about the operation that snipped off Sylvain Durand's manhood. "I feel the way I should have felt at my birth. I'm at peace with myself."

The Hull resident was in Montreal to promote a segment tonight on sex-change operations in Quebec on the Radio-Canada current-affairs program Enjeux.

In 1998, when Sgt. Durand's identity was still a secret, the sex-change operation was denounced by the Reform Party and other critics who said it would make Canada's armed forces a laughingstock. But Sgt. Durand said her metamorphosis from he to she stands as a shining example of Canadian open-mindedness. She is the only soldier in the world to undergo a sex-change operation while serving in the military”. Archive.

Relevant: 2000: Normal healthy men in 2000 joking about women's nipples in a tech forum. Archive.
Page 2. Archive.

Feb 22 2000 WEF Leader Klaus Schwab sees overlap in for-profit world

“Over the course of a decade, Klaus Schwab, creator of the annual global powerfest in Davos, Switzerland, poured more than $5 million [5.1 million euros] of his not-for-profit group's resources into a big idea: designing a private video-conferencing network that would let top business and political leaders engage in face-to-face, open dialogue, year-round.

In the end, the project proved too costly and unwieldy. Despite investments from Intel Corp. and Microsoft Corp., it was scrapped, and Mr. Schwab's World Economic Forum doesn't appear to have gotten much value for its investment.

It's not, however, as if nobody did. A separate foundation that Mr. Schwab had just recently created received $15.1 million worth of stock in USWeb Corp., a California Internet consulting company that worked on the project. Mr. Schwab also agreed to join the board of USWeb, and received valuable stock options of his own. ...

Hans Schwab, who has since had a falling-out with his uncle, says many forum employees resented the investment in [the video] AVC, viewing it as a financial drain. Some also fretted that if the project -- known as World Electronic Community, or Welcom -- succeeded, they would be asked to arrange conferences night and day...

As for the forum's $8 million contract with USWeb, Mr. Schwab transferred it to another Internet start-up he launched in Boston, a company that is 50%-owned by the Schwab Foundation." Archive.

Feb 23 2000 The Gates-Rockefeller Myth

"The judge in the Microsoft antitrust trial, Thomas Penfield Jackson, recently stated that he "didn't see a distinction" between Bill Gates's Microsoft Corporation and John D. Rockefeller's Standard Oil Company.

The judge is right, but for the wrong reasons.

Like Gates, Rockefeller was the victim of a vindictive political assault on his company for the "sin" of rapid innovation, a vast expansion of production, and rapidly-declining prices. As with Microsoft, the political attack on Standard Oil was launched by Rockefeller's less-successful rivals who sought to achieve through politics [i.e., legalized theft] what they failed to accomplish in the marketplace.

Standard Oil was such an extraordinarily efficient company that even Rockefeller's harshest journalistic critic, Ida Tarbell, described it as "a marvelous example of economy." The efficiencies of economies of scale and vertical integration caused the price of refined petroleum to fall from over 30 cents per gallon in 1869 to 10 cents by 1874, and to 5.9 cents in 1897. During the same period Rockefeller reduced his average costs from 3 cents to 0.29 cents per gallon.

The industry's output of refined petroleum increased rapidly throughout this period--just the opposite of what mainstream monopoly theory would predict. In 1911, the year in which the federal government forced the breakup of Standard Oil, the company faced fierce competition from Associated Oil and Gas, Texaco, Gulf, and 147 other independent refineries. Because of this competition Standard Oil's market share fell from 88 percent in 1890 to a mere 11 percent by 1911.

The parallels with Microsoft are remarkable." Archive.

Feb 23 2000 Global Warming Speeding Up?

“A recent series of record-breaking high temperatures may indicate a speedup of global warming, researchers say.

For 16 consecutive months - from May 1997 to September 1998 - each month broke the previous monthly world average temperature record, scientists from the government's National Climatic Data Center noted...

Temperatures have increased during this century, although not as fast as feared by some, and long-term comparisons are hard to make with only about a century of instrument-collected temperature data available...

The UN Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change had projected the rate of warming for the 21st century to be between 2 and 6 degrees.” Archive.

O2CW: Come 2024 we saw msm lying in the same “global boiling” vein, The lies were characterised in the title of this dissenting post: “Climate Alarmist Hype that May 2024 is the “Hottest” Global Average Temperature Anomaly is Meaningless in the U.S. and at other global locations around the World.” Archive.

Feb 24 2000 Parent groups claim autism cluster due to MMR vaccine

“Thirty-three people, all but one of whom are under the age of five, have been diagnosed with autism in one area of Cork, it was claimed at a Dail committee yesterday. The submission was made by a group of parents concerned about a possible link between the condition and MMR vaccination. The as yet unpublished survey found the 33 cases in a population of just 13,000. It claimed it showed the incidence of autism was rapidly increasing...

Ms Twomey said parents who suspected vaccinations had a role to play in the onset of their child's autism were told by the medical profession that bad reactions to a vaccine were limited to one in every 10,000 cases. "I'm afraid this is simply not true and I have personally been involved in a population-based study of an area in Cork where the numbers of autistic children far exceed these grossly falsified numbers," she said...

The parents had similar stories, with normally functioning children suddenly becoming "derailed", usually before the age of two, and "generally following vaccination". Not every child, she said, could handle "the insult to their immune systems" of multiple vaccines... They called for an immediate halt to the MMR vaccination programme and said children should be offered single vaccinations instead."

Archive.

Relevant: Feb 2000 We rescued our child from autism

"Miles wouldn't make eye contact or even try to communicate by pointing or gesturing...make odd gurgling sounds, and spend long periods of time repeating an action...He often screamed inconsolably...And he developed chronic diarrhea..."

We were told that Miles would almost definitely grow up to be severely impaired. He would never be able to make friends, have a meaningful conversation, learn in a regular classroom without special help, or live independently...

After Miles' initial diagnosis, I spent hours in the library, searching for the reason he'd changed so dramatically. Then I came across a book that mentioned an autistic child whose mother believed that his symptoms had been caused by a "cerebral allergy" to milk...

Not every child with autism responded to the diet...judging by the number of people on Internet support lists, there were thousands of children around the world responding well to this diet...

Many of the parents swore that their child's autistic behavior began at 15 months, shortly after the child received the MMR [measles, mumps, rubella] vaccine. When I examined such evidence as photos and videotapes to see exactly when Miles started to lose his language and social skills, I had to admit that it had coincided with his MMR--after which he had gone to the emergency room with a temperature of 106°F and febrile seizures..." Archive.

Relevant: Dr. Andrew Wakefield. Archive. 2019: The evisceration of Andrew Wakefield. Archive.

2024: Scientists confirm link between autism and Covid jabs.

Feb 24 2000 Japan: Convictions in Blood Scandal

"Three former drug company executives accused of selling blood products tainted with the virus that causes AIDS were convicted Thursday and given brief prison terms."

The convictions were the first in a wide-ranging tainted blood scandal that shook Japan's powerful bureaucracy and pharmaceutical industry in the 1980s. About 1,800 hemophiliacs were infected, and an estimated 500 have died...

The three were top executives of the company at the center of the scandal, Green Cross Corp. They were tried over the AIDS-related death of a liver patient...

Green Cross has paid a total of $216 million in compensation to victims and bereaved families after legal battles and subsequent court-mediated settlements.

Hundreds of hemophiliacs filed damage suits against the company, five pharmaceutical companies and the government for their infection with HIV via tainted blood products." Archive.

Feb 24 2000 Define and Sell: Where e-commerce wins hands down, and where it doesn't

"IT IS temptingly easy to use the phrase "electronic commerce" without troubling to define it, but there is something to be said for being a little more rigorous. E-commerce refers to trade that actually takes place over the Internet, usually through a buyer visiting a seller's website and making a transaction there. Clearly the influence of the web—for example, as a source of information—stretches much wider than this. One estimate suggests that, although only 2.7% of new-car sales in America last year took place over the Internet, as many as 40% involved the net at some point, with consumers using it to compare prices or to look at the latest models." Archive.

Relevant: 2024: 42 ecommerce statistics in 2024.

Feb 25 Final blow for fraud team: £10m legal bill after stockbroker in Peter Young case is cleared

"Two years after top City fund manager Peter Young turned up at court in a dress and high heels, and five years after a £300m unit trust scam he masterminded was uncovered, the final suspect in the investigation was yesterday found not guilty.

Stockbroker Erik Langaker walked free from Kingston crown court after a jury acquitted him. He took an immediate flight back to his native Norway at the end of a series of trials estimated to have cost taxpayers up to £10m. The 38-year-old was the last of four men to face criminal charges over the Peter Young affair, and the last to be told he will not face a jail sentence.

The case is another setback for the serious fraud office, which has failed to secure convictions in a series of high-profile cases. The conspiracy charges against Mr Young will lie on file after he was judged unfit to plead due to insanity.” Archive.

Relevant: Investopedia summarises: “Peter Young's notoriety as one of the most memorable rogue traders is not a result of the amount of money he stole but rather the bizarre events that followed his arrest and continued throughout his trial...” Archive.

OzCW: Our conspiratorial minds wonder was there mind control going on with Peter Young? There were vast amounts of money, the Mafia, a “botched do-it-yourself sex change”, cross-dressing and powerful anti-psychotics.

“Peter Young – Morgan Grenfell

Although Young didn't steal the most amount of money, he is included here because of the bizarre events that transpired during his arrest and trial. Young initially made profitable bets on unlisted stocks back in the early eighties. Young got into trouble as he started to up his bets on unlisted companies by circumventing fund regulations and holding over three times the allowed limit of any one company.

Young ultimately got caught as one of his holdings, Solv-Ex came under SEC and FBI scrutiny. Morgan Grenfell soon discovered that some of the companies in the fund that invested with Young were wholly owned by Young. The bank eventually covered the losses.

During the trial, Young routinely would wear women's clothing to trial and confessed to a botched do-it yourself sex change. Young was initially found guilty on all charges but was soon thereafter declared mentally unstable and the verdict was voided. Young now likes to be called Beth and takes powerful anti-psychotic drugs.”

Seems Young had the breakdown but his associates Erik Langaker and Stewart Armer have gone on to do very well for themselves [and good luck to them if they were/are innocent].

Feb 26 2000 The 9th Alleged [Alien] Implant Removal By Dr Roger Leir And Team

“...Dr. Hubner asked, “Did you know you have a piece of metal in your arm?” At that moment, Tim Cullen knew what the object was. He knew that he and Janet had experienced missing time on May 30, 1978. In 1980, Cullen experienced another encounter, at exactly the same spot! The craft hovered and two diffused yellow lights came on. Then one started blinking, and he stared at it. “This can’t be happening!” he thought. “Not right here!”...

The operation was performed at a medical facility in Thousand Oaks, California. The procedure was performed by a surgical team led by Dr Roger Leir; the surgery by Dr. John D, Matrisciano. “I know nothing about UFOs or implants,” Dr. Matrisciano said after the operation, “but I think that’s what is needed in this case; to be objective.” Removal of the small, “melon seed” type implant went very quickly, and smoothly. The operation was videotaped by The Learning Channel for an upcoming show. Recently, at a MUFON Board meeting, I saw videotape of the object that was removed, which was shot through a microscope...

Cullen said. “I’m coming forward because someone has to put a face to the alien stories, and cause more people to come forward...” Archive.

Feb 26 2000 Ex-boss of shamed agency tears 'unbearable' models off a strip “Top models such as Naomi Campbell are nothing but a bunch of “unbearable shits surrounded by leeches”, according to John Casablancas, the man from Paris's Elite agency, which was the focus of a damning BBC documentary in November.

Although spared the sex and drug allegations that forced the resignation of some executives, Mr Casablancas, 57, has given up his post as the agency's chief executive and moved to Rio de Janeiro with his Brazilian wife. The modelling world is “detestable”, he says.

Among the "mean and ungrateful" women he regrets having turned into world stars, Naomi Campbell was the most "odious". "You can't imagine the pleasure it gave me to sack her," he told the French people's magazine, VSD. "She went out every night. She had four dresses in her bag so that she could change in the car during nights out. She never slept and God knows how she kept in form." Archive.

Relevant: 2019: [Casablanças "despises" \[Epstein's friend\]](#) model agent Jean-Luc Brunel. 2022: Model says Casablanca and Brunel were complicit.

Feb 27 2000 Taliban bans poppy production eradicating opium production by 99% in one year, only to explode to all-time highs following US 2001 invasion

"February 27, 2000, a Taliban fatwa announced a ban on the cultivation of poppy. Enforcement commenced in July of that year. Taliban leader Mullah Omar gave a firm re-statement of the Taliban's position, declaring the use, cultivation and trafficking of poppy as "haram" – forbidden by the Koran. The reality was almost certainly more complex: many saw the rapid about-face by the Taliban as an attempt to gain recognition or funding from the international community or even a ploy to push up opium prices while trading off stockpiles. Furthermore, previous Taliban efforts to reduce cultivation reportedly being rebuffed, there appeared to be an element of credibility at stake for the Taliban leadership." Archive.

Relevant: 2023: Remember What Happened Right Before 9/11? It's Happening Again.

Feb 28 2000 UK Legal Case of the week: the shiner

"On August 19 1997, a 15-year-old boy sat next to a 13-year-old girl on the Harrow bus, and asked her several times for "a shiner" [oral sex]. She refused. The legal effects of this were to occupy three magistrates and eight senior judges, including two lord chancellors, and cost the taxpayer a six-figure sum before it reached its conclusion last week in the House of Lords...

The result is that adult paedophiles may now get off by claiming they thought the child was over 14. It will be for the prosecution to prove otherwise. As Lord Nicholls said: "If parliament considers that the position should be otherwise regarding this serious social problem, parliament must itself confront the difficulties and express its will in clear terms." Archive.

Feb 28 2000 UK Police check on fresh abuse allegations

"Inquiry covers 20,000 children who stayed in council homes

Police in the west country have launched an investigation into what could turn out to be one of the country's biggest child abuse scandals involving as many as 20,000 children in council care...

Officers found a disturbing pattern of abuse at the Bristol homes and the investigation was expanded. Many of the suspected victims were boys and girls who passed through the homes before moving back home, to foster homes or another institution...

News of the investigation comes two weeks after the publication of Lost in Care, the report of the Waterhouse inquiry into abuse in north Wales children's homes.

Sir Ronald Waterhouse recommended a massive overhaul of the care system after uncovering a paedophile ring that targeted hundreds of young people in care in the 70s and 80s...

In another inquiry, the Metropolitan police are investigating claims that 200 children in the south London borough of Lambeth may have been sexually and physically abused between 1974 and 1994."

Archive.

Feb 29 2000 Abuse hell of Grange Hill TV star

"A FORMER child star of TV's Grange Hill told yesterday of the secret abuse he suffered at the hands of a showbiz lawyer.

Mark Eadie spoke out as jailed Rupert Massey planned an appeal against his conviction in December for 16 indecent assaults.

The ex-actor, who has fought depression and a breakdown, was too ill to testify against Massey at Wolverhampton.

In the late 70s, Mark was Andrew Stanton in Grange Hill - getting into scrapes with Tucker Jenkins, played by EastEnders Todd Carty. He met Massey at 14 and was invited to Bournemouth, where the lawyer lived.

Mark, now 35 and married with children, said: "He recognised I was vulnerable and in need of cuddling." He said the abuse began almost immediately." Archive.

Feb 29 2000 Global Warming – the Contrarian View

“For him and other climate dissenters, this disparity is key, in that it does not show up in computer models scientists use to predict future trends. The fact that these models apparently missed the difference in warming between the surface and the upper air, the skeptics say, casts doubt on their reliability over all.

Experts on all sides of the debate acknowledge that the climate models are imperfect, and even proponents of their use say their results should be interpreted cautiously.

A further problem is raised by the divergent temperatures at the surface and the upper air...

Mainstream scientists, citing recent studies, suggest that the relatively rapid warming of the last 25 years cannot be explained without the greenhouse effect...

But many skeptics, including Dr. Gray and Dr. Singer, maintain that the warming of the past 25 years can be explained by natural causes, most likely changes in the circulation of heat-bearing ocean waters. In fact, Dr. Gray says he expects that over the next few decades, the warming will end and there will be a resumption of the cooling of the 1950's and 1960's.

At bottom, people on all sides of the debate agree, the question of the warming's cause has not yet been definitively answered. In December, a group of 11 experts on the question looked at the status of the continuing quest to detect the greenhouse signal amid the "noise" of the climate's natural variability..." Archive.

March 2000 Links Most Relevant to Today

Rug, original artwork by Bob Moran, available here.

Mar 2000 Allegedly, Rockefeller-funded Austrian artists Gelitin and Mossad Israelis move into the WTC to prepare for filming its destruction on 9/11.

Mar-Apr 2000 Influenza A pandemics of the 20th century with special reference to 1918. The pandemic research and planning had long begun.

Mar 3 2000 The Clinton-Gore Administration: New Partnerships to Develop and Deliver Vaccines to Developing Countries.

Mar 5 2000 Pentagon finances just don't add up. There has never been a year when the war-mongering US military's finances have added up.

Mar 7 2000 Tony Blair's full speech: Blair wants internet access for all. To speedily roll out the tech agenda.

Mar 9 2000 Chemtrails/contrails/geoengineering photos from 2000. It wasn't as bad back then, but some of these photos are interesting.

Mar 9 2000 Is GM safe? It wasn't then and it's not now.

Mar 10 2000 Xbox brings "Future-Generation" games to life. It's that "Bring out your dead" letter X again. Whether we liked it or not, this was more furthering of the addictive time-wasting tech agenda.

Mar 13 2000 Earth Charter: the transition document to sustainable development was approved at the UN [presided over by a Rockefeller].

Mar 16 2000 Study finds no support for global warming fears.

Mar 16 2000 Getting your science from charlatans - This man takes liberties with facts. He has no scientific background [article by George Monbiot]. In retrospect, a glaring example of msm hypocrisy as in 2024 Monbiot has been vaccine-pushing.

Mar 17 2000 World Bank accused of nepotism and corruption.

Mar 17 2000 NEW REPORT ON REPLACEMENT MIGRATION issued by UN Population Division.

March 19 2000 Season 11, Episode 19 of the Simpsons aired, failing to predict the future for the first time. Simpsons writer responds to the show [2024].

Mar 21 2000 [A-Z of \[UK\] asylum seekers.](#)

Mar 21 2000 Sir Jimmy in a fix over crutches. Classic paedo double-speak from the BBC.

Mar 23 2000 Gorbachev hails EU as "new European Soviet.

Mar 27 2000 Bank One names CEO: Former Citibank president. Jamie Dimon is being moved up the greasy pole.

Mar 28 2000: MONKEY MASSACRE; Killer virus find forces park to destroy colony. The msm were perpetuating the idea that viruses are transmissible between humans and animals [sadly for the monkeys].

March 2000 Summary

British GQ magazine 2000 Naomi Campbell cover, available here.

Come March 2000 we saw msm fear-mongering over Influenza A pandemics and scary cults.

In the US:

- Allegedly, Mossad Israelis and the Austrian artists Gelitin moved into the WTC in preparation for filming its controlled demolition on 9/11.
- The Clinton-Gore Administration gave GAVI $50m plus tax breaks to make vaccinations for developing countries.

- The Pentagon finances weren't adding up [they never have] and the NSA networks had crashed.
- Microsoft revealed Xbox [it's that letter X again...] and people were learning to adjust to intrusive advertising in emails.
- Tech was messing up the patents system.
- There was a Simpsons episode aired, which failed to predict the future for the first time.
- The LA Police Department was under fire for its Rampart scandal enquiry.
- Warren Buffett's profits were tumbling. But Jamie Dimon was on the rise.
- A Congress study found no support for global warming fears.
- The founder of NASA's Jet Propulsion Labs was a Satanist who blew himself up.
- The New York Times wrote about Putin and Barrons published their famous article predicting that the dot com bubble was about to burst.
- We learned how to become a hacker. Bill Gates' credit card was hacked...from Wales.
- Britney banged her head on set.
- Union Carbide's boss was in hiding from Bhopal.

In the UK:

- Blair tripled the number of Downing Street special advisers. And continued his tinkering with the civil service. He was speeding the tech agenda – pushed internet access for all [to go with Gates' laptops for every child]. The family nanny was trying to publish her memoir: Cherie hied in a nightgown to a judge to order an instant injunction.

- The Tories frisked and neighed at the Blairs' nanny's junkets at the corrupt Paymaster General's Cannes pad. And UKIP's leaders quit.
- Mikhael Gorbachev christened the EU a [communist] "Soviet".
- A criminal anti-drugs chief sent support agencies into turmoil. Whereas two honest detectives were harassed.
- British royals and young elite were costing an arm and a leg.
- MP George Galloway cut through red tape to secure a medical aid flight to Iraq.
- MP Edwina Currie won a "vilest lady" libel case.
- Royal Bank of Scotland ditched its auditors PWC and KPMG.
- Cloning was being debated.
- The Guardian had a[nother] go at David Icke.
- Hypocrite vaccine-pusher George Monbiot was pontificating on "real science".
- The World Bank was embroiled in corruption charges.
- We heard yet again that there was child porn lurking on the net.
- Asylum seekers numbers were still growing.
- The Frankenscientists were straining at the leash to clone and push GMOs. But people didn't like them.
- A colony of monkeys was destroyed, unfortunately, because of the threat of a virus that might be transmissible to humans. Or so the scientists said.

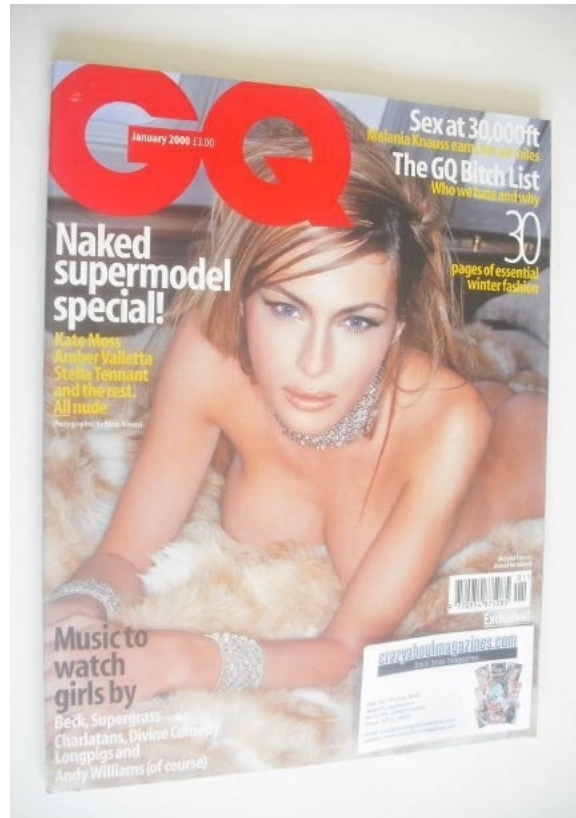

- Tranquillisers were hell.

In the rest of the world:

- The UN issued a new report on replacement migration. And introduced the Earth Charter.
- Pope Jean Paul II apologised for the sins of the Church.
- The Sultan of Brunai was suing his brother, who had a luxury yacht named Tits with accompanying speed boats Nipple 1 and Nipple II – welcome to the privileged upper class.
- RIP Eurotrash porn star Lola Ferrari.
- Up to 600 cult members died, sadly, in Uganda. Cults were in the headlines again.
- A Nazi doctor was freed.
- The French foreign minister resigned over sleaze.
- In Kosovo there had been media disinformation
- In Austria the EU were boycotting the far right.
- In Iraq half a million children had died since the UN sanctions.

All that in between the conspiracy theory with a chemtrails plane identified while reports on demon possession were starting to ramp up, marching us deeper into the year 2000.

March 2000 Links

British GQ magazine Melania Trump cover 2000, available here.

Mar 2000: Rockefeller-funded Austrian artists Gelitin and Mossad Israelis move into the World Trade Center to prepare for filming its destruction on 911. Allegedly.

From the artists' website:

"And then the surgical intervention in the World Trade Center in New York City. Everything top secret and illegal of course. In days of conspiratorial work, somewhere on the 148th floor and using building site refuse they had tediously smuggled into the building under their pullovers, they constructed a functioning load-bearing balcony. In a long complicated process they scratched putty from the tall heavy window, which couldn't be opened. Then they extracted it using suction pads, shunted the balcony out, posed on it at 6 in the morning and had themselves photographed there from a helicopter for their nearest and dearest back home. They kept very mum about it all, because if word had crept out about their coup they could have been fined very heavily for sabotaging a national treasure."

Archive.

Relevant: 2024: Israeli officials admit they orchestrated 9/11. Archive [NOTE: ChapGPT says these claims are false.]

Mar – Apr 2000 US NIH: Influenza A pandemics of the 20th century with special reference to 1918: virology, pathology and epidemiology

"Abstract: Influenza A virus initiated worldwide epidemics [pandemics] in 1918, 1957, 1968 and 1977. A revised calculation of the 1918-1919 pandemic estimates that 40 million persons died and 500 million were infected. The mortalities in 1957 and 1968 were nearly 6 million. Biological and genetic characteristics of the causative agents of the more recent pandemics, have been well studied but little is known about the causative agent of the Great Pandemic in 1918. Genetic characterisation of the 1918 virus has been achieved by sourcing virus RNA from formalin fixed lung samples or by exhuming frozen victims of the outbreak from Arctic regions. Initial analysis of the HA gene from two USA sources indicates a virus related to swine and human influenza with no base insertion at the HA1-HA2 cleavage junction which, at least in avian influenza A, characterises high virulence." Archive

Mar 2000 Media and Disinformation

"For over ten years Kosovo bore the brunt of Belgrade's policy of apartheid. Then in 1998 repression of the Kosovo Liberation Army (KLA) was brutally stepped up. However was this really, as the flood of refugees suggested, a case of genocide that only Western intervention could stop? A year later this justification for the war waged by Nato has lost a great deal of its credibility, as has the supposedly "exemplary" media coverage of the conflict. The enquiries by the International Criminal Tribunal for former Yugoslavia (ICTY), by European and international bodies, and by a number of journalists, show a radically different train of events. Nor is the story over, for the Serbs and Gypsies in Kosovo are now the targets of "counter ethnic cleansing"." Archive.

Mar 1 2000 EU stands firm on Austria boycott

“EU leaders pledged last night to maintain their collective boycott of Austria, dismissing the resignation of Jörg Haider as leader of the country's far-right Freedom party as a meaningless ploy.

Portugal, the current holder of the EU's rotating presidency, set the tone, with the prime minister Antonio Guterres insisting: "The problem is not Jörg Haider but what his party represents."

Mr Guterres argued that Mr Haider's sudden departure showed that Austria was aware of the problems caused by role of the controversial Freedom party chief, whose party has formed a coalition government with the country's conservatives.

But the united response gave no clue as to how long the freeze would last - it was in evidence on Monday when Freedom party ministers were snubbed at regular EU meetings - or whether there was an exit strategy.”” Archive.

Relevant: 2000: The European Union Lifts Sanctions on Austria. Archive. 2000: Haider is gay, says German report. Archive.

Mar 1 2000: LAPD Condemned By Its Own Inquiry Into Rampart Scandal

“The Los Angeles Police Department failed time and again to take steps that might have headed off the worst corruption scandal in its history, according to a sweeping self-indictment prepared by the department’s own leaders.

In a letter accompanying the long-awaited Board of Inquiry report into the corruption centered in the department’s Rampart Division, which will be released today, Police Chief Bernard C. Parks called the scandal a “life-altering experience for the Los Angeles Police Department” in which corrupt officers took advantage of lax supervision to carry out criminal acts...

According to the report, many of the breakdowns that allowed the Rampart police scandal to fester and spread--including failures to check the backgrounds of police recruits, to monitor officer misconduct and to supervise officers in the field--remain uncorrected despite mounting public and political criticism of the LAPD and the city leadership.

Those disclosures effectively put the city’s entire political leadership on the spot. Most directly, they demonstrate that the LAPD ignored some calls for reform and created an atmosphere ripe for corruption.”” Archive.

Related: Mar 1 2000 ACLU Calls for Independent Commission to Investigate Corruption Scandal Rocking LAPD

“LOS ANGELES, CA — It’s time for the mayor to wake up. This city and its police department need an independent commission – and we need it now. Relying on the police department to ferret out all of the underlying problems is like having a cancer patient operate on himself.

Only an independent, blue-ribbon commission with a broad mandate to examine the entire criminal justice system and then to ensure that the necessary reforms are implemented by the police department can do the job the residents of Los Angeles deserve.

First we were told we were just looking at a few bad apples – now Chief Parks is calling this corruption a cancer eating away at the LAPD. Chief Parks has proposed a number of good reforms, but at root he continues to treat this as a character issue that he can resolve by going around to every precinct and personally telling officers to up their professional standards. Well, that is not enough. This indeed is a cancer. It is structural and it is cultural – and it stems from the LAPD’s ongoing refusal to open itself up to public scrutiny so that officer misconduct can be screened for, detected and eradicated before it has a chance to spread.” Archive.

Relevant: 2006: LAPD veteran arrested on child porn charges. 2009: LAPD officers charged with lying under oath. 2020: LAPD gang framing scandal. 2021: LAPD gun scandal.

Mar 1 2000 Report 9th UFO Congress Convention

OzCW: This is a detailed report on the UFO Convention’s keynotes and topics including: UFOs and ETs played a central role in both the Old and New Testaments; was Jesus an Essene? OBEs; crop formations; implants and their removal; strange lights in Mexico City; aliens; missing children; spy satellites; geoengineering disclosure, abduction, debunkers and more. Archive.

Mar 2 2000 Special advisers tripled as No 10 staff hits new high

“Tony Blair has tripled the number of special advisers and doubled the size of his private office since he won the general election, according to official figures released by Sir Richard Wilson, the cabinet secretary, last night.

The figures - requested by Andrew Tyrie, Conservative MP for Chichester and former special adviser to ex-chancellor Nigel Lawson - reveal that Downing Street now employs a record number of 149 people.

Sir Richard's breakdown of the staffing figures is the first time details have been disclosed by the government on arrangements inside No 10.

Mr Tyrie claimed last night that the figures showed "that Tony Blair is well on the way to setting up a presidential style of government.”” Archive.

OzCW: This 2024 review of a 2007 book, The Triumph of the Political Class by commentator John Osborne. describes what we were witnessing in 2000 as Blair bolstered his private office: his dismantling of British “tradition” and protection of the political class. On Cherie Blair:

“Her outrageous abuse of position included a speaking engagement for a cancer charity dinner for which her fee exceeded the amount raised at the event, a personal phone call to a director of Manchester United football club to negotiate a discount for a team shirt featuring David Beckham’s number, and an invitation from a Melbourne designer store to take a few things as a gesture of goodwill. She walked out of the store with seventy items. These seem like trifling examples of shameless behavior, but they are indicative of a new code of office in which personal enrichment outpaces public duty.

Her husband’s talent was to mask the project to insulate the political class while making it look as though a much-needed revolution would return politics to the people. Blair pledged “To liberate Britain from the old class divisions, old structures, old prejudices, old ways of working”.”
Archive.

Mar 2 2000 UK Anti-drugs chief led double life as dealer: Agency in disarray as operation ends in jailing of former team leader

"While [David] Francis managed the crack awareness team, posing as a crusader against drugs, he organised regular supplies of crack cocaine and heroin to addicts in the city, including those who had come to the team for help. He also dealt in stolen goods, firearms and prostitutes. He employed a second dealer, Henry Warner, as his deputy and allowed the team's office to be used for drug-taking...

His lifestyle ran far ahead of his income. He earned £21,000 a year from the agency and yet he drove a £49,500 Mercedes, had two homes in Nottingham, wore a £30,000 watch and sported diamonds drilled into his front teeth...

when the parent agency, Addaction [then APA], finally held an internal inquiry, they concluded in March 1997 that there was no evidence against him.

"He's a good guy as far as we're concerned," the agency's then chairman, Sir Geoffrey Errington, said at the time. "These things were rumours. There was no hard evidence."..

Since Francis was exposed, the agency, which includes the wife of the former home secretary, Michael Howard, on its board, has won new home office contracts to work with drug users in prison. After being exposed by the Guardian, Francis resigned from the crack awareness team and continued to deal on a huge scale, flaunting his wealth and power." Archive.

Mar 2 2000 Elf Bribery Scandal claims Dumas: As France's former foreign minister resigns from key post, the spreading sleaze investigation threatens to tar a cultural and political elite

"A Gallic corruption scandal of staggering proportions yesterday claimed the highly placed scalp of Roland Dumas, the former foreign minister and intimate of the late Socialist president François Mitterrand when Mr Dumas confirmed his resignation as the country's top legal authority.

Mr Duma, France's fifth-highest ranking official, is awaiting trial for allegedly accepting some of the £250m that the oil giant Elf Aquitaine is thought to have spent in the early 1990s to further its own interests and those of the late president.

The long-awaited announcement from Mitterrand's confidant came as public prosecutors promised to start investigating Edith Cresson, France's first woman prime minister, in the same affair.

Slowly but surely, Elf's slick of sleaze is beginning to spread to the upper reaches of French political life. And as frantically as they may paddle to escape it, some of the most important members of the late president's entourage will not, this time, avoid being tarred." Archive.

Mar 3 2000 White House Press Release: The Clinton-Gore Administration: New Partnerships to Develop and Deliver Vaccines to Developing Countries

"...The President And The CEOs Of The Four Largest Vaccine Manufacturers Will Announce Unprecedented Levels Of Corporate Support To Vaccinate The World's Children. Today, industry will respond to the President's call with important new steps as CEOs of the four largest vaccines manufacturers -- Merck and Co., Inc., American Home Products Corporation, Glaxo SmithKline Beecham, and Aventis Pharma AG -- will announce that they will donate millions of doses of state-of-the-art vaccines -- worth more than $150 million -- to those in the developing world and make a renewed commitment to step up research and development on vaccines for HIV/AIDS and malaria... These Private Sector Commitments Build On The Administration's Millennium Vaccine Initiative, Announced by the President In His State of the Union Address. The major components of the Millennium Vaccine Initiative include:

- $50 million in the President's FY2001 budget as a contribution to the vaccine purchase fund of the Global Alliance for Vaccines and Immunization [GAVI];
- Presidential leadership to ensure that the World Bank and other multilateral development banks dedicate an additional $400 million to $900 million annually of their low-interest rate loans to health care services;
- Significant increases in federally funded basic research on diseases that affect developing nations;
- A new tax credit for sales of vaccines for infectious diseases to accelerate their invention and production;
- A call to our G-7 partners to join our efforts to ensure a future market for these vaccines." Archive.

Mar 4 2000 Squeezed to Death: Half a million children have died in Iraq since UN sanctions were imposed - most enthusiastically by Britain and the US. Three UN officials have resigned in despair. Meanwhile, bombing of Iraq continues almost daily. John Pilger investigates

"Just before Christmas, the department of trade and industry in London blocked a shipment of vaccines meant to protect Iraqi children against diphtheria and yellow fever. Dr Kim Howells told parliament why. His title of under secretary of state for competition and consumer affairs, eminently suited his Orwellian reply. The children's vaccines were banned, he said, "because they are capable of being used in weapons of mass destruction". That his finger was on the trigger of a proven weapon of mass destruction - sanctions - seemed not to occur to him. A courtly, eloquent Irishman, Denis Halliday resigned as co-ordinator of humanitarian relief to Iraq in 1998, after 34 years with the UN; he was then Assistant Secretary-General of the United Nations, one of the elite of senior officials. He had made his career in development, "attempting to help people, not harm them". His was the first public expression of an unprecedented rebellion within the UN bureaucracy. "I am resigning," he wrote, "because the policy of economic sanctions is totally bankrupt. We are in the process of destroying an entire society. It is as simple and terrifying as that . . . Five thousand children are dying every month . . . I don't want to administer a programme that results in figures like these."

When I first met Halliday, I was struck by the care with which he chose uncompromising words. "I had been instructed," he said, "to implement a policy that satisfies the definition of genocide..." Archive.

Mar 4 2000 Officers tell of lives destroyed: The targets: Detectives investigated for six years

"Detective Inspector John Redgrave and Detective Constable Michael Charman, two experienced Met detectives, never thought their involvement in Operation Nightshade would destroy their careers.

They have been under investigation for six years, three of them secretly, and suspended for three. This is despite the original allegations against them being withdrawn in January 1997, before their houses were raided and they were suspended. Last December they were cleared of all criminal proceedings, but they remain suspended.

"I have been suspended in relation to a complaint that is six years old. This has caused the complete destruction of every aspect of my personal and professional life, friends, financial security, family, marriage, career and reputation," Redgrave said. "The building blocks of life have all gone with no hope of recovery." Archive.

Relevant: 2002: Operation Tiberius. 2007: PDF: The destruction of the lives and careers of honest detectives John Redgrave and Michael Charman is described as "sickening" by their colleagues.

Mar 5 2000 Pentagon finances just don't add up

"WASHINGTON — The military's money managers last year made almost $7 trillion in adjustments to their financial ledgers in an attempt to make them add up, the Pentagon's inspector general said in a report released Friday.

The Pentagon could not show receipts for $2.3 trillion of those changes, and half a trillion dollars of it was just corrections of mistakes made in earlier adjustments.

Each adjustment represents a Defense Department accountant's attempt to correct a discrepancy. The military has hundreds of computer systems to run accounts as diverse as health care, payroll and inventory. But they are not integrated, don't produce numbers up to accounting standards and fail to keep running totals of what's coming in and going out, Pentagon and congressional officials said."

Archive

Relevant: 2006: VIDEO: 9/11 Pentagon missing \$2.3 trillion Rumsfeld Exposed 9/10/2001. 2015: Bogus war and money laundering: Pentagon paid $43M for $500K gas station in Afghanistan. 2018: Exclusive: The Pentagon's Massive Accounting Fraud Exposed.

2023: Pentagon can't account for 63% of nearly \$4 trillion in assets: DOD regularly buys parts and equipment it doesn't need because it can't keep track of the parts and equipment it already owns.

Mar 6 2000 The Royal Family and the public purse

"Civil list: After an early history of overspending and abuse, time and public opinion have changed the dynamics of the contract..."

The origins of the civil list go back to the 17th century in the reforming reign of William III and Mary II. Before they were declared joint monarchs of England and Scotland in 1689, all income derived from hereditary revenue and taxes was used to provide for the "the personal support and dignity of the sovereign" and the cost of government...

The origins of the civil list go back to the 17th century in the reforming reign of William III and Mary II. Before they were declared joint monarchs of England and Scotland in 1689, all income derived from hereditary revenue and taxes was used to provide for the "the personal support and dignity of the sovereign" and the cost of government.

But William and Mary's parliament established the principle that expenses relating to the support of the monarch should be separated from the cost of government..with the allowance increased to £700,000...

Who gets what

Government provides £8.9m for:

The Queen: £7.9m

Queen Mother: £643,000

Prince Philip: £359,000

Queen provides £1.5m for:

Prince Andrew: £249,000

Duke and Duchess of Kent: £236,000

Princess Anne: £228,000

Princess Alexandra: £225,000

Princess Margaret [above]:£219,000

Duke of Gloucester: £175,000

Prince Edward: £141,000

Princess Alice: £87,000." Archive.

Relevant: How much the royals cost 2023. Archive.

Mar 7 2000 Tony Blair's full speech: Blair wants internet access for all

"'The e-generation is with us,' Tony Blair proclaimed at the Knowledge 2000 conference

...E-mail and the Internet may still be a closed world to some people. But especially for the new band of young e-entrepreneurs, and indeed for many young people generally, the Internet is a normal part of life. The e-generation is with us.

Unleashing the full potential of people - our most valuable resource - is the third element of the new, modern economy. In one respect, that means reforming welfare, making work pay, establishing the work ethic for the whole of society. Tackling exclusion. In another, it means an endless emphasis on education, and on skills - a ceaseless focus on driving up standards in order to ensure that opportunity for all is real... We have to democratise the new economy. We must ensure that it is open to all...

Some people will access the Internet, as now, through a PC. Others through a mobile phone or digital television. Some will do so at work, others at home. For those who can't afford any of these technologies, we will ensure there is a nearby public access point." Archive.

Mar 7 2000 MP secures aid flight to Iraq: Foreign office drops opposition to sanctions-busting relief as Galloway cuts back passenger numbers

"The foreign office abruptly reversed its ban yesterday on a flight to take medical aid to Iraq, organised by the Labour MP George Galloway, after accepting a drastic reduction in the number of passengers.

Scores of aid workers, doctors, journalists, anti-sanctions campaigners and elderly Iraqis hoping to be reunited with their families will now be left off the Boeing 737. It will be the first direct civilian flight between Britain and Baghdad since sanctions were imposed on Saddam Hussain's regime at the start of the Gulf war in 1991." Archive.

Relevant: 2023: How to Kill an Entire Country: the legacy of the sanctions against Iraq.

Also see Mar 16 2000: The left's Lawrence of Arabia: He's been dubbed Saddam's stooge, but Labour MP George Galloway is resolute in his fight to help the millions of ordinary Iraqis suffering under UN sanctions. Ewen MacAskill travels with him on his mercy mission to Baghdad

"The Labour MP, George Galloway, smoking a large Cuban cigar, rolled up at the Jordanian border this week. In a Range Rover flying the British and Iraqi flags, he looked out across no man's land to Iraq. "There is the holy land," he said, with genuine affection.

For many, such a remark would be regarded as inflammatory - the "holy land" is the land of Saddam Hussein? And such enthusiasm for the country could be viewed as treacherous at a time when British warplanes, along with some from the US, still fly sorties over Iraq. The war is not over.

Galloway has no doubts where his loyalty lies on this issue. The Iraqi people are suffering on a devastating scale from the UN sanctions imposed after Iraq invaded Kuwait. He says: "One million Iraqis, many of them children, have died, more than Pol Pot murdered in Cambodia."" Archive.

Mar 7 2000 Secret life of a nanny

"They don't just look after children - they see their employers half naked, arguing... No wonder boundaries are crossed.

This week, the Blairs have found out just how tricky the relationship can be after the Mail on Sunday attempted to publish intimate details of family life apparently based on information obtained from Rosalind Mark, nanny to Euan, Nicky and Kathryn Blair for four years [a long time as nanny jobs go]...

Few of us got the opportunity to read about the Blairs at home - even if we had wanted to - because publication was halted after Cherie Blair obtained a high court injunction...

"You see things around the house. You see everything...But it's hard if you have to share a bathroom and see all those normal things that people have in bathrooms. You see the Tampax and condoms. You think, I know what you've been doing last night..."

"...You desperately want your nanny to love your child because you want them to protect the child with as much ferocity as if it was her own..." It is this kind of competitiveness which apparently led to tension between the Princess of Wales and her children's nanny, Tiggy Legge-Bourke...

The nanny mafia, the hand that rocks the cradle, the kiss 'n' tell nanny . . . it's a social minefield for people who may never have been employers before, and for nannies who are sometimes barely mature enough to negotiate relationships with their own families, let alone someone else's." Archive.

Relevant: 2000 newsletter post: "Surely the most tasteless photographs were of Mrs Blair apparently under the influence of alcohol or drugs, with the soiled lips of an ancient singer pressed against her cheek and the clammy hand of that repugnant disc jockey feeling up her pregnant belly..."

2022: This is what Tony Blair's children look like now and one of them is super-rich. Archive.

Mar 7 2000 Blairs sue nanny, agent and paper for £15,000

"Cherie Blair is suing a former nanny, Rosalind Mark, her former literary agent Jonathan Harris, and the Mail on Sunday for £15,000, Downing Street said last night. Meanwhile Ms Mark issued a statement saying her book was meant to illustrate life in an "extraordinary household environment".

Extracts from the book were published in early editions of the Mail on Sunday before Mrs Blair obtained an injunction claiming their publication breached a confidentiality agreement between Ms Mark and the Blairs by revealing details of family life at Downing Street.

Lord Falconer, however, stressed the Blairs' determination to protect the privacy of their three children. "It is quite an unusual job being prime minister, and therefore Tony and Cherie are quite determined that their children should lead as normal a life as possible," he said. "It is not very normal to see details of your life on the front page of the Mail on Sunday." Archive.

Relevant: 2000: The Mystery at No. 10. Archive. 2006: Blair's family under spotlight. Archive. 2011: On Kathryn's Blair's 2004 suicide attempt. Archive.

Mar 7 2000 Sultan of Brunei sues playboy brother

"The sultan of Brunei has lifted the veil of autocratic mystery that surrounds his tiny oil-rich kingdom and is risking personal embarrassment in an attempt to halt the decline of his own vast fortune and recoup billions of pounds allegedly embezzled by his younger brother.

Hassanal Bolkiah, the feudal monarch of the nation on the north coast of Borneo, has close links to Britain's royal family and to the owner of Harrods, Mohamed Al Fayed. He named 71 people on Sunday night as parties in a multi-billion-pound civil suit against his brother, Prince Jefri Bolkiah.

The playboy prince, whose assets include the Dorchester hotel in London and the jeweller's Asprey, is accused of "improper withdrawal and use" of state funds to prop up his company, Amedeo Development Corporation, when he was finance minister and chairman of the country's overseas investment agency in the mid 1990s...

The sultan has frozen his brother's assets at home and abroad. These include thousands of cars, dozens of houses, a luxury yacht named Tits and its accompanying speed-boats, Nipple I and Nipple II." Archive.

Relevant: 2019: Sex-crazed prince. 2019: Brunei and the dark side of the royal Illuminati elite.

Mar 8 2000 'MICROSOFT SPAMMED US': WEBTV USERS OUTRAGED BY ADS IN E-MAILS

"Microsoft's WebTV users have a message for Bill Gates: Return to sender.

After WebTV subscribers voiced and e-mailed complaints to WebTV about new banner ads inserted in e-mails, WebTV pulled the ads within hours of adding them.

In a clear miscalculation of its subscribers' tolerance to advertising in e-mail and another example of Microsoft's misunderstanding of 'Net culture, WebTV began inserting banner ads in the read-and-write area of messages.

The application to add the ads was launched on Thursday night. By midday Friday, WebTV had quite a lot of “feedback from concerned customers,” said Diana Reid, a WebTV spokeswoman.

Even Bruce Leak, president of WebTV, got complaints.

“We pulled it off for the time being to take a look at what the customers were saying,” said Reid. The Palo Alto, Calif.-based company had already placed some ads in the corner of the e-mail screen but not in the read-and-write area.

This led to confusion among subscribers who were worried they were passing the ads on to friends and family.

Users thought they were being turned into spammers, although the ads actually weren’t being attached. They were also concerned with the increased time and ink used to print the ad-heavy e-mails.” Archive.

OzCW: This is how most people reacted to unwanted advertising back in 2000. Since then, our boundaries have been eroded and now most of us accept without question a constant barrage of advertising blurb and images across our devices. All of which assails our subconscious minds.

Mar 8 2000 PDF: Ritual abuse, the under-recognized problem – by Svali

“Ritual abuse. The word conjures up images of people in robes, chanting, or perhaps a grade D horror flick. But what is the reality?”

First, let's look at a definition of ritual abuse:

Ritual abuse is the systematic, repetitive abuse of both children and adults by either an individual or a group. It may involve psychological, sexual, physical and/or spiritual abuse, and the effects are devastating on the individual who undergoes it.

Often survivors of this type of extreme abuse cope by dissociating, and as adults may continue the cycle of amnesia and abuse. The key word here is : repetitive. Ritual abuse is done repetitively, in a consistent pattern, over time. This may be done in the name of a religious belief, or simply out of patterned cruelty. Any ideology can and has been used to justify the pattern of abuse. Most of the victimization begins in early childhood, and is done by adults who were themselves abused. The cycle continues because people often do not realize that they can stop it; often, they feel "trapped" in the pattern of abuse.

What is the incidence of ritual abuse today? Statistics vary, depending upon the source. When I lived in a large metropolitan city in the Southwest, population close to 2,000,000, the group that I was affiliated with, known as the Illuminati, had 24 sister groups. Each group had roughly 50 members, so they had approximately 1,200 members in this area. These numbers are reflected across the United States and European countries.

And this was only one group."

OzCW: Svali captivated many of us when she first spoke out about her life as an Illuminati/Jesuit cult trainer. In 2024, she is still speaking out and is now giving interviews.

We've used more than 250 words of her writings because we consider it important and know that she wants to get the word out. Those interested can buy her new book here.

Mar 8 2000 The nanny's tale – a likely story

"Can it be that the Mail on Sunday reporters, skilled interviewers, extracted the gist of her book from [Blairs' nanny] Ms Mark on the pretext that this information was a necessary prelude to publication? And that Ms Mark then posed for photographs, thinking that they would be used only when the Blairs' consent had been obtained and she was free to make a deal? Such innocence is unfortunate, but too few people realise that if you sup with the devil of Fleet Street you need a long spoon. If this is the true version of events, then Ms Mark was stitched-up by the Mail on Sunday, with disastrous personal consequences, and the paper ought to be ashamed of itself.

No one would deny that the Blairs have a perfect right to protect the privacy of their children... The same right, of course, applies to every parent in Britain, though they are less likely to be able to rush to a High Court judge in the early hours of a Sunday morning to get an injunction. Nor are they likely to get the sort of sympathetic hearing from the PCC that No. 10 can invariably rely on...

None of this justifies the draconian action threatened against the unfortunate Ms Mark, who would have faced heavy legal bills and a possible £15,000 damage award in addition to the destruction of her private life." Archive.

Mar 9 2000 Currie wins "vilest lady" libel case

"Former Conservative MP Edwina Currie has won "substantial" libel damages and an apology after The Express branded her "the vilest lady in Britain".

The High Court in London heard that a September 1997 item by the newspaper's political columnist Peter Osborne said there were rumours sweeping Westminster that Mrs Currie was about to join the Labour Party to breathe new life into her "clapped out" political career.

Mr Osborne wrote that she would be no more acceptable to Tony Blair's new Labour administration than "a mass murderer", a "serial rapist" or "an active officer in Radovan Karadzic's death squad".

Mrs Currie, now a novelist and a BBC Radio 5Live presenter, was particularly upset by the headline "How Edwina is now the vilest lady in Britain", which could have been taken to compare her unfavourably with murderers Myra Hindley and Rosemary West, said her counsel, Edward Garnier QC. She was unaware of rumours she was about to leave the Conservative Party which were, in any event, untrue.

Other offensive allegations in the article had been put to Mrs Currie in TV and radio interviews as though they were established facts, he told Mr Justice Morland." Archive.

Relevant: 1998: Egg industry fury over [Currie's] salmonella claims. 2020: Video of Edwina Currie and Piers Morgan pushing the vaccine together on the BBC.

Mar 9 2000 Guardian: The cruel world of Auntie, as told by David Icke

"What was interesting was the rather cosy picture of the BBC that emerged from the programmes. Here apparently was an organisation, uniquely in my experience of the media, utterly devoid of petty professional jealousies, where egos were checked in at the door so that nothing might get in the way of the joyous family atmosphere that Craven and old Viney conveyed to us through their skill of smiling and reading the autocue at the same time.

This is in marked contrast to the picture of the BBC painted by that respected commentator on contemporary affairs, David Icke. Those of you worried that the former Hereford goalkeeper, who left the Green Party in 1991 to reveal he was the son of Godhead, might not have a platform for his bracing world view will be relieved to hear that he now has a regular column on the Football 365 website...

His latest outpourings concern the problems at BBC Sport. "Is BBC Sport dead?" he asks, "or has it just retired to a bungalow on the coast?" Archive.

Mar 9 2000 Chemtrails/contrails/geoengineering photos from 2000

"Today was a total trail day, all day long! Last time I posted was January 9th. Between then and February 9th I only took two pictures. Trails were virtually non-existent in this part of New Jersey. I am in the direct flight path of some/many planes coming and going to Newark International Airport. So, if trails are normal, did they take a vacation for a whole month? We had some snow fall so it is not like there were no storm fronts moving through and for damned sure the weather has been cold, cold and then even more cold. Prime conditions for them "ice crystals" [real contrails] but they were no where to be seen until the past few days. I am going to post only pictures from today 2-17-00 on this page and hopefully will put up a link soon to other pics from the past few days AND the next few days."

Relevant: Mar 9 2000 Chemtrail Plane Mystery Solved: "From: Craig Roberts

On the 135s, that photo was emailed to me and looked very bizarre as I used to work on 707s and know the fuel tank vents are in the wingtips. I sent this along to a friend who is in the 'right place' and he did an analysis. His response came in this morning: the airplane is a Navy TACAMO electronic command and control plane. It has NO room for extra fuel to spray, and the fuel vents were relocated to the inboard points because of all the antennas that are now in the wingtips. I'll email his response, including the Boeing site.

Also, my contact said that he believes that a number of upgraded 707s have been outfitted with spray equipment with a tail or wing exit point, then sold/given to a black ops contractor for the dirty work. They were probably at one time air liners with foreign registry that have upgraded engines and "hush kits." 707s cannot fly here anymore unless these mods have been done due to noise signature limits. We think we know where they were modified and who might be operating them, but at this point it's only a guess. I don't want to point fingers until I know for sure or have witnesses/photos." Archive.

OzCW: The www.nonwo.com “vintage” chemtrail site linked above cannot be archived. And unfortunately many of the links are now defunct. However, it contains an interesting collection of chemtrails photographs dated 1999–2000. To access them, click on the “PICTURE INDEX” link.

Mar 9 2000 Is GM safe?

“SCIENTIST: We are already probably on the path of no return.

SCIENTIST: A new technique of molecular biology appears to have allowed us to outdo the standard events of evolution.

NARRATOR [ADEN GILLETT]: These voices were recorded 25 years ago at a conference of the pioneering scientists of genetic engineering. They had come together to discuss their fears of this new science.

SCIENTIST: There may still be sound reasons why the Pandora's Box should not be opened.

NARRATOR: These scientists worried that some of the new life forms they were creating, organisms never seen in nature, could escape from the laboratory. For fear of alarming the public, they ordered the audiotapes of the conference to be locked away until the year 2000. This is the first time they have been heard.

SCIENTIST: It is not known what sort of risk this is going to create because we have no tests.

SCIENTIST: Such experiments must at a minimum be postponed for an indeterminate period of time.

NARRATOR: But since this conference, many scientists have become convinced that genetic engineering and the genetic modification of food is safe. What has happened in the last 25 years to change their minds? There is a worldwide movement spreading out from Europe to get rid of genetically modified crops, a movement based on the fear of two key things: that GM food is dangerous to eat and that GM crops will damage the environment.” Archive.

Relevant: 2024: Bill Gates, GMO Potatoes and McDonald’s French Fries — What’s the Story?

Mar 10 2000 Microsoft: Xbox brings "Future-Generation" games to life

"Today, at the annual Game Developers Conference, Microsoft Chairman and Chief Software Architect Bill Gates revealed that Microsoft is entering the video game scene with the introduction of a new game console, code-named Xbox. Capitalizing on its software expertise, experience in maintaining MSN Gaming Zone [<http://www.zone.com/>] — the most popular gaming community on the Internet — and advances in PC technology, Xbox is a game console that will deliver the most realistic, intense and action-packed game experience available." Archive.

Mar 10 2000 US preacher finds demon possessed PCs

"Forget about viruses and malicious hackers; the real threat these days is far more insidious. Your home computer may be host to a demon...the Weekly World News reports. "While the Computer Age has ushered in many advances, it has also opened yet another door through which Lucifer and his minions can enter and corrupt men's souls," the paper quotes the Reverend Jim Peasboro...

"I learned that many members of my congregation became in touch with a dark force whenever they used their computers," he said. "Decent, happily married family men were drawn irresistibly to pornographic Web sites and forced to witness unspeakable abominations. "Housewives who had never expressed an impure thought were entering Internet chat rooms and found themselves spewing foul, debasing language they would never use normally," he declared. "One woman wept as she confessed to me, 'I feel when I'm on the computer as if someone else or something else just takes over.'"...

"It typed out, 'Preacher, you are a weakling and your God is a damn liar.'" Then the device went haywire and started printing out what looked like gobbledygook. "I later had an expert in dead languages examine the text," the minister said. "It turned out to be a stream of obscenities written in a 2,800-year-old Mesopotamian dialect!" Archive.

Mar 12 2000 The UK's young elite 11-20

"11 Marquess of Bowmont, 19

The rank of marquess is second only to that of a duke in the British aristocracy - the position to which Charles Innes-Ker is expected to rise when he inherits the family fortune.

He has grown up surrounded by them: his mother was the daughter, sister and, of course, the wife of a duke, and his uncle is the Duke of Westminster - probably the richest man in England. Innes-Ker will inherit Floors Castle and 60,000 acres around the Cheviots and the River Tweed as well as hotels in the area...

*12 Viscount Weymouth, 26
Head of family: Marquess of Bath
Will inherit £100 million...*

*13 Hon William Astor, 21
Head of family: Viscount Astor
Will inherit £100 million...*

*14 Viscount Ipswich, 22
Head of family: Duke of Grafton
Will inherit £100 million...*

*15 Lord Herbert, 22
Head of family: Earl of Pembroke
Will inherit £90 million...*

*20 Hon Freddie John Fellowes, 22
Head of family: Lord de Ramsey Will inherit £35million*

At 11,000 acres, the de Ramsey estate is one of the largest private estates still intact in England and extends over £34m worth of Cambridge, Huntingdon and Lincolnshire. Freddie Fellowes's father, Lord de Ramsey, was chairman of the Environment Agency and a former president of both the Country Landowners Association and the Association of Drainage Authorities...

A bizarre anomaly means that when he inherits, Fellowes will be able to appoint priests in four parishes around the family estate." Archive.

Mar 12 2000 Tories seek inquiry into free trip for Blairs' nanny

"Conservative members of Parliament yesterday demanded an investigation into whether Tony Blair, the Prime Minister, should have declared hospitality provided to his nanny and her family by Geoffrey Robinson, the disgraced former Paymaster-General.

The Blairs sent nanny Rosalind Mark as well as her mother and brother on a holiday to the south of France to thank them for helping with their move into Downing Street after Labour's election victory in 1997.

Although Cherie Blair, the Prime Minister's wife, paid for first-class flights for the trio, Robinson is believed to have allowed them to stay in his luxury apartment in Cannes for nothing. At market rates, the trip would be worth several thousand pounds...

The Blairs have taken advantage of the hospitality of Robinson, MP for Coventry North-West, on a number of occasions. They stayed at his villa in northern Italy during summer breaks in 1996 and 1997. Although neither trip was listed in the Register of Members' Interests, complaints by Conservative MPs were rejected. Gordon Brown, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, and members of his staff have also spent time in the Cannes apartment.” Archive.

Relevant: 1998: Geoffrey Robinson, the ultimate champagne socialist. Archive. 2001: Robinson faces Commons ban over Maxwell cash. Archive. 2001: Robinson set to face suspension by MPs. Archive. 2019: Police investigate ex-Labour MP over expenses allegations.

Mar 12 2000 Patently Absurd

“When 21st-century historians look back at the breakdown of the United States patent system, they will see a turning point in the case of Jeff Bezos and Amazon.com and their special invention: “The patented One Click(R) feature,” Bezos calls it.

Not everyone who knows Bezos as the newly minted billionaire founder of the world's leading Internet retailer knows that he's also an inventor, but he is. It says so on U.S. Patent No. 5,960,411, “Method and system for placing a purchase order via a communications network.” Every good invention needs a story, and Jeff Bezos has one for one-click ordering. He's laying it out in federal court, where, at the height of the holiday shopping season, he won an injunction forcing his chief competitor, Barnesandnoble.com, to add deliberate complication to its ordering process.

In ways that could not have been predicted even a few years ago, the patent system is in crisis. A series of unplanned mutations have transformed patents into a positive threat to the digital economy. The patent office has grown entangled in philosophical confusion of its own making; it has become a ferocious generator of litigation; and many technologists believe that it has begun to choke the very innovation it was meant to nourish...” Archive.

Relevant: 2020: What we learned from reading Jeff Bezos' patents.

Mar 13 2000 Hunt on for Missing Gas Blast Boss: Union Carbide's boss cannot be found as victims of the 1984 Bhopal disaster continue their fight for justice

“When, earlier this month, lawyers arrived at the Florida address where Anderson has lived since retiring from Union Carbide 12 years ago they found the house empty. And New York's finest private investigators have so far been unable to track him down.

The lawyers, who hoped to serve a summons on Anderson to appear in a Manhattan courtroom, were acting on behalf of a coalition of Bhopal victims' groups who have launched a new legal action against the former chief executive and a host of senior Union Carbide executives. In a suit brought in a Manhattan court at the end of last year they claim that Anderson ought to be punished for his role in the Bhopal disaster.

'We want to get him before he dies,' said Satinath Sarangi of the Bhopal Group for Information and Action, one of those who is behind the new legal action. Sarangi and a dozen others have put their names to an 85-page complaint that alleges that Anderson and Union Carbide 'demonstrated a reckless and depraved indifference to human life' in violation of international law.” Archive.

Relevant: 2014: Warren Anderson, who led Union Carbide during Bhopal disaster dies at 92.

Mar 13 2000 Earth Charter: the transition document to sustainable development [article from 2024]

“The idea of the Earth Charter originated in 1987 from the recommendations in “Our Common Future” document, when the United Nations World Commission on Environment and Development called for a new charter to guide the transition to sustainable development. [1]

The drafting of the Earth Charter text was done during a six-year worldwide consultation process (1994-2000), overseen by the independent Earth Charter Commission, which was convened by Martin Strong and Mikhail Gorbachev with the purpose of developing a global consensus on values and principles for a sustainable future. It was approved at a meeting at the UNESCO headquarters in Paris in March 12-14, 2000, it contains a preamble, 16 main principles, sixty-one supporting principles, and a conclusion entitled “The Way Forward.” [5]

The document was justified as a “five year review of the implementation of Agenda 21 demonstrated, so far the world has failed to take the new course towards sustainable development.”” Archive.

Mar 13 2000 Profits tumble at Buffett fund

"Has Warren Buffett lost his touch? For years, his name has been spoken with reverence in investor circles. America's second-richest man is estimated to be worth more than $30bn. But his decision to eschew technology stocks has hit profits at his investment fund, Berkshire Hathaway.

This weekend it reported a 45% drop in profits from $2.830bn to $1.557bn. Mr Buffett takes the blame, admitting he chose the wrong stocks.

"Even Inspector Clouseau could find last year's guilty party -- your chairman," Mr Buffett said in a letter to shareholders." Archive.

Mar 13 2000 NSA Blackout Reveals Downside of Secrecy

"Lt. Gen. Michael Hayden, director of the National Security Agency, was home watching television after dinner on Jan. 24 when he got a frantic call: America's global eavesdroppers suddenly had gone deaf.

NSA's main computer network--acres of underground machines devoted to deciphering communication stolen from foreign embassies, missile bases and telephones around the world--had crashed for the first time ever. And no one knew why.

Three days later, the NSA spymaster issued a grim warning to his worried work force. "I said the fact that we're down is an operational secret," Hayden recalled. "Our adversaries cannot know that our intelligence capabilities have been crippled."

To his relief, the news held until after the system was rebooted early Jan. 28. Although teams of experts still are studying the four-day outage, Hayden blames a software "anomaly" in a "complex network running near capacity"--not hackers or enemy agents.

But the blackout of the world's most powerful collection of supercomputers is hard evidence of the vast problems facing America's largest and most secretive intelligence agency. By all accounts, the NSA has lost its lead--and perhaps its way--in the information revolution it helped create." Archive.

Mar 13 2000 Pope Jean-Paul II says sorry for sins of the church: Sweeping apology for attacks on Jews, women and minorities defies theologians' warnings “Saving one of his most audacious initiatives for the twilight of his papacy, John Paul II yesterday attempted to purify the soul of the Roman Catholic church by making a sweeping apology for 2,000 years of violence, persecution and blunders.

From the altar of St Peter's Basilica in Rome he led Catholicism into uncharted territory by seeking forgiveness for sins committed against Jews, heretics, women, Gypsies and native peoples.

Fighting through trembles and slurrings caused by Parkinson's disease, the Pope electrified ranks of cardinals and bishops by pleading for a future that would not repeat the mistakes. "Never again," he said.” Archive.

Mar 13 2000 Tranquilliser Hell

“A couple of decades ago, tranquillisers were hailed as marvellous drugs that could help all sorts of anxiety, depression and sleeping problems. Sometimes referred to as "mother's little helpers", they were widely prescribed, often given long term with repeat prescriptions handed out without a thought.

Now the painful lesson, about how tranquillisers can lead to the misery of addiction after just 3 or 4 weeks use, has been learned. Prescriptions of the main type of tranquillisers have dropped dramatically in the past 20 years...

That doesn't mean tranquillisers aren't prescribed anymore. 13 million prescriptions are issued each year in the UK, making them the most commonly prescribed mood altering drugs in this country. But it does mean that people are more aware of the risks.

Tranquillisers are very useful drugs when used in the right way - ideally as a short-term treatment to help anxiety or sleep problems resulting from an acute crisis, such as the death of a loved one, or a major accident.

But they must be taken as prescribed (certainly not more frequently) and repeat prescriptions are rarely advised.

Different types of tranquillisers

There are many different types of tranquillisers. The term 'major tranquillisers' is often used to describe the heavy-duty powerful anti-psychotics used to treat conditions such as schizophrenia. But the main problems with abuse are with the minor tranquillisers, the most important of which are a group of drugs called the benzodiazepines...” Archive.

Mar 16 2000 Study finds no support for global warming fears

"Despite previous reports that global warming could unleash epidemics or other harms to health, a blue-ribbon scientific panel mandated by Congress found no conclusive evidence to justify such fears. The 12-member panel analyzed existing data to predict the effects of a slight rise in average global temperature on five possible outcomes: future heat waves, extreme weather events like tornadoes, air pollution, waterborne and food-borne illnesses, and infectious diseases carried by insects and rodents."
Archive.

Mar 16 2000 UK Work and Welfare Agencies to Merge

"Prime Minister Tony Blair has announced that the Benefits Agency and the Employment Service are to merge, in a move designed to improve the service offered to those looking for work.

The creation of the new "modern agency" sometime next year was hailed by Mr Blair as part of the government's drive to shake up the welfare system.

The prime minister, announcing the move in a Commons written reply, said job seekers would receive an improved service.

Responsibilities of the new agency:

Jobseekers allowance

Income support

Incapacity benefit

Severe disablement allowance

Maternity benefit

Widow's benefit

Industrial injury disablement benefits

Invalid care allowance.

But he could not say how much money would be saved or how many jobs might be lost." Archive.

Mar 16 2000 Larger than life: At 17, she was a smart student from a middle-class Breton family. Last week, following 10 years of punishing plastic surgery on her breasts and face, she was found dead, a possible suicide. Jon Henley tells how self-loathing led Lolo Ferrari to freak-show stardom - and, ultimately, to an early grave

"Even now she's dead, they can't stop making jokes about her. "She was the people's porn star," reads one entry on a website condolence book. "You were like a photo finish in a Zeppelin race," quips another. "The bigger they are, the harder they fall," wisecracks a third...

They were gross, gargantuan, grotesque - surgically enhanced and silicone-stuffed. The Guinness Book of Records says they weighed 6lb 2oz [2.8kg] apiece, and measured her bust at 54G. She wore a specially engineered bra day and night and could not sleep on her stomach or her back [they interfered with her breathing]. She was afraid to travel by plane in case they exploded." Archive.

Relevant: 2020: Grim life and mystery death of Lolo Ferrari – from prostitution to exploding 54K boobs. 2024 Tribute page to Lolo Ferrari.

Lolo Ferrari by Tito Dupret, CC BY-SA 3.0, via Wikimedia Commons

Mar 16 2000 Guardian: Getting your science from charlatans - This man takes liberties with facts. He has no scientific background. By George Monbiot

O2CW: The following article roundly criticises a researcher who is not a qualified scientist but has made claims on TV.

Two decades on, perhaps we should ask Guardian journalist George Monbiot why he was so eager to encourage people to waive bodily autonomy as laid out in the [Nuremberg Code] and take an experimental, potentially fatal Covid-19 vaccination when Bill and Melinda Gates have no qualifications in health at all and Dr. Tedros is not a real doctor?

“So what do you do with a director with a record like this, who has brought your channel into disrepute, who has misled both his contributors and his audience? If you are Michael Jackson, the head of Channel 4, you commission him to make more programmes.

On Monday, Channel 4 will broadcast a 90-minute Equinox programme about genetic engineering, made by Martin Durkin and called, appropriately enough, Modified Truth. Already it appears that the programme has suffered from Mr Durkin's characteristic approach. "I feel completely betrayed and misled", reports Dr Mae-Wan Ho, a geneticist whom Durkin interviewed. "They did not tell me it was going to be an attack on my position."

Neither Martin Durkin nor, extraordinarily, Charles Furneaux, the commissioning editor of the Equinox science series, has a science background. They don't need one, for science on Channel 4 has been reduced to a crude manifesto for corporate libertarianism.” Archive.

Relevant: In 2023, George Monbiot doesn't like anti-vaxxers and conspiracy theorists:

“It's not just anti-vax beliefs that have been spreading through these movements. On an almost daily basis I see conspiracy theories travelling smoothly from right to left. I hear right-on people mouthing the claims of white supremacists, apparently in total ignorance of their origins. I encounter hippies who once sought to build communities sharing the memes of extreme individualism. Something has gone badly wrong in parts of the alternative scene.

There has long been an overlap between certain new age and far-right ideas. The Nazis embraced astrology, pagan festivals, organic farming, forest conservation, ecological education and nature worship. They promoted homeopathy and “natural healing”, and tended to resist vaccination. We should be aware of this history, but without indulging what Simon Schama calls the “obscene syllogism”: the idea that because the Nazis promoted new age beliefs, alternative medicine and ecological protection, anyone who does so is a Nazi.” Archive.

Also relevant: 2024: ‘You’re going to call me a Holocaust denier now, are you?’: George Monbiot comes face to face with his local conspiracy theorist

OzCW: The George Monbiot Guardian article linked reads like a hit piece on well-regarded fine artist and conspiracy/truth researcher Jason Liasatos. Monbiot explains how he, George, is right and the conspiracy “fantasists” like Jason and so many of us are wrong. Archive.

“An extraordinary aspect of this issue is that there’s so little overlap between conspiracy fantasists and conspiracy theorists. Those who believe unevenced stories about hidden cabals and secret machinations tend to display no interest in well-documented stories about hidden cabals and secret machinations.

Why might this be? Why, when there are so many real conspiracies to worry about, do people feel the need to invent and believe fake ones? These questions become especially pressing in our age of extreme political dysfunction. This dysfunction results, I believe, in large part from a kind of meta-deception, called neoliberalism. The spread and development of this ideology was quietly funded by some of the richest people on Earth. Their campaign of persuasion was so successful that this ideology now dominates political life. It has delivered the privatisation of public services; the degradation of public health and education; rising inequality; rampant child poverty; offshoring and the erosion of the tax base; the 2008 financial crash; the rise of modern-day demagogues; our ecological and environmental emergencies.”

Mar 17 2000 World Bank accused of nepotism and corruption

“The World Bank was embroiled in charges of nepotism and corruption yesterday after it emerged that the appointment of its new British chief economist, Nick Stern, broke strict rules banning the Washington-based institution from hiring more than one family member.

Professor Stern, former chief economist at the London-based European Bank for Reconstruction and Development, is the brother of Richard Stern, the World Bank's human resources vice-president. His appointment directly violates a staffing rule that close family members are not eligible for employment.

The appointment has divided staff in the bank. In a strongly-worded internal memo, seen by the Guardian yesterday, the staff association complains that giving a senior bank job to Prof Stern "easily lends itself to a perception of nepotism and corruption in the bank" which hampers its efforts to eradicate graft in the third world."

Relevant: 2000: World Bank needs to strengthen anti-corruption work. Archive 2013: Whistleblower reveals World Bank. [Karen Hudes RIP] Archive. 2020: The battle against corruption at the World Bank Archive

Mar 17 2000 NEW REPORT ON REPLACEMENT MIGRATION ISSUED BY UN POPULATION DIVISION

"The Population Division of the Department of Economic and Social Affairs [DESA] has released a new report titled "Replacement Migration: Is it a Solution to Declining and Ageing Populations?". Replacement migration refers to the international migration that a country would need to prevent population decline and population ageing resulting from low fertility and mortality rates.

United Nations projections indicate that between 1995 and 2050, the population of Japan and virtually all countries of Europe will most likely decline. In a number of cases, including Estonia, Bulgaria and Italy, countries would lose between one quarter and one third of their population. Population ageing will be pervasive, bringing the median age of population to historically unprecedented high levels. For instance, in Italy, the median age will rise from 41 years in 2000 to 53 years in 2050. The potential support ratio -- i.e., the number of persons of working age [15-64 years] per older person -- will often be halved, from 4 or 5 to 2."

Relevant: 2016: Shocking claims Tony Blair led a mass migration conspiracy to ensure Labour's rule. 2018: KALERGI PLAN: The Covert Scheme To Destroy Europe From Within. 2020: 'Migrants' set up camp in London's exclusive Park Lane - opposite five-star Hilton hotel and just yards from Hyde Park.

Mar 18 2000 UFO sighted by fighter pilot over Tel Aviv

"Somewhere in the skies near Tel Aviv, Israeli fighter pilot David Levi, on routine patrol in his F-15 Eagle, was startled to see an "oblong and metallic" space craft appear ahead of him.

"It looked like an old fashioned zeppelin," recalled Levi. He pushed the throttles to burners and initiated pursuit. "When I approached the object and asked the pilot to identify himself, the object suddenly ascended at supersonic speed and vanished off aircraft radar."

While government officials are taking the UFO report very seriously, they are investigating whether the UFO may have been some new and highly advanced military aircraft being tested by one of their Arab neighbors.” Archive.

March 19 2000: Season 11, Episode 19 of the Simpsons aired which for the first time ever failed to predict the future: Simpsons writer responds to the show.

“The Simpsons” did it again.

The animated show seemingly predicted Vice President Kamala Harris seeking the Democratic presidential nomination after President Joe Biden withdrew from the race over the weekend.

A writer from the show even addressed the coincidence on social media.” Archive.

OzCW: As we post this collection out in 2024, Trump’s US election win has just been announced. While we’re happy that Harris did not win, we don’t trust Donald Trump. But we would like to document that brave SRA survivor Ally Carter’s work is currently spreading on social media and Ally states that she saw all too many horrific perpetrators, but never once saw Trump.

Mar 19 2000 Exposed – where child porn lurks on the net

“Worries about child sex led to the creation of a watchdog by Internet service providers. Demon is a member, so why can its subscribers still find paedophile images?”

Yesterday The Observer found scores of paedophilic material in several newsgroups carried by Demon. Some showed young teenage girls and boys; others were of young children performing sex acts on adults. It is illegal to download such material, but this newspaper, which has now destroyed the images, believes it was acting in the public interest.

Four years ago the Government became so worried about the way the Internet was becoming a playground for paedophiles that it threatened sweeping regulatory measures. Ministers became alarmed after the Metropolitan Police issued a list of 133 newsgroups which it believed contained material of a criminal nature.

In response, the ISPs, terrified that their autonomy was about to be curtailed, formed what was to become the Internet Watch Foundation, a self-regulatory body made up of the big players in the Internet. Demon was a driving force behind the creation of the IWF. One of its Internet experts, Clive Feather, be-came its first chairman. The idea was that the IWF would alert the ISPs to the presence of paedophilic material on their servers and would pass on complaints from the public. If an ISP refused to remove the material, the IWF would then alert the police.

But it is clear that something failed to spark at the IWF..." Archive.

Also relevant: Mar 21 2000 The Register: Demon 'uncensored Internet' harms child porn clampdown – Observer Internet Watch Foundation [IWF] also slammed, in a scare story which goes too far

"...But in a strongly worded letter to The Observer, David Kerr, CE of the IWF, said: "Shutting down newsgroups would not do much to protect the children whose pictures are already on the Net. "What if the UK industry had accepted the original position of shutting down newsgroups nominated by the police? Might we not have had an article today reflecting on the damage to freedom of speech and the threat to democracy of a situation where the state could dictate what is available on the Internet, irrespective of whether it is legal or not?" said Kerr." Archive.

Mar 19 2000 Life as a Satanist Propelled Rocketeer and NASA/JPL founder Jack Parsons

"John "Jack" Whiteside Parsons, a founder of the legendary Jet Propulsion Laboratory and a maverick visionary honored with a moon crater bearing his name, gave no early hint of the inner stirrings that propelled him to worship the devil and lead an extraordinary double life: respected scientist by day, dedicated occultist by night.

Over a little more than a decade, the tall and vainly handsome Parsons skillfully twinned his two existences as rocketeer and antichrist leader of the occult Ordo Templi Orientis.

His mysterious death in an explosion in 1952 left many wondering whether Parsons was a victim of murder or suicide--or simply of an accident at his own momentarily careless hands...

Mutual curiosity about the mind's power led Parsons into a friendship in 1946 with L. Ron Hubbard, the future founder of Scientology. Hubbard moved into the house and later married Sara, Parsons' lover and sister-in-law, before divorcing his first wife...

To this day, there's a joke in the aerospace community that JPL stands for "Jack Parsons' Laboratory" or "Jack Parsons Lives." The Crater Parsons, named in his honor, happens to be on the moon's dark side." Archive.

Mar 19 2000 The logic of Vladimir Putin

“Putin has been clear in the central things: his desire for power and his effectiveness in wielding it. He is also a master of the sine qua non of modern, or perhaps postmodern, politicians: he can manipulate symbols. Among the most potent of those in post-Soviet Russia is that of the Orthodox Church. Putin is the first Russian leader since Czar Nicholas II who can plausibly proclaim himself a believer, having been baptized soon after birth and remaining faithful to the creed...”

The opera was commissioned during the last war under the personal supervision of Stalin, and ordered to be superpatriotic. Now it finds itself pressed into state service once more. Earlier this month, Vladimir Putin attended the opening in St. Petersburg. With him was the British prime minister, Tony Blair -- bidding to cement the kind of relationship with the new Russian power that Margaret Thatcher had with Gorbachev in his early years. Even before his power is confirmed by the people, Putin is a member of the club. The traditions he inherits, the war he has pressed to its bloody end, all these are accepted, swallowed, in the hope of stability in his tottering country. That, too, is no mystery.” Archive.

Mar 20 2000: Burning Up: Warning: Internet companies are running out of cash -- fast

O2CW: The tech dot com bubble is starting to burst as Barron’s magazine correctly predicts in their article Burning Up:

“When will the Internet Bubble burst? For scores of 'Net upstarts, that unpleasant popping sound is likely to be heard before the end of this year. Starved for cash, many of these companies will try to raise fresh funds by issuing more stock or bonds. But a lot of them won't succeed. As a result, they will be forced to sell out to stronger rivals or go out of business altogether. Already, many cash-strapped Internet firms are scrambling to find financing.” Archive.

Mar 20 2000: Royal Bank ditches both PwC and KPMG

“Royal Bank of Scotland has dispensed with both its own auditors, PricewaterhouseCoopers, and with KPMG, the auditors to NatWest. It is replacing them with Deloitte & Touche, whose appointment will be announced this week.

The move is a bitter blow to PwC, which earned £2.4m (£3.9m) in audit fees from RBS in the year to last September as well as £9.4m in consultancy and other fees. Meanwhile, KPMG earned £5.4m in auditing fees in 1998 from the NatWest group plus a further £20m in non-audit work ranging from management consultancy to regulatory, tax and other advisory services.

A spokesman for Royal Bank confirmed that PwC had resigned and said that the decision to change auditors had been taken following the merger with NatWest because of concerns about potential conflicts of interest. 'If the position had remained unchanged, PwC would have been auditors to the three largest clearing banks,' the spokesman said." Archive.

Mar 20 2000 Up to 600 cult members burnt in a locked church. Was it mass suicide - or murder?

"Dressed in their finest robes, they sang and chanted for several hours on Friday. Then they burnt to death, doused in paraffin. The doors were locked and the windows boarded and nailed shut - from the outside.

Yesterday the heaped bodies of up to 600 members of the Movement for the Restoration of the Ten Commandments sect lay twisted and charred in gruesomely arrested panic.

In the small church building in the hillside commune of Kanungu, high in the hills of south-western Uganda, burnt hands appear to have clawed at windows and walls. Some bodies bent towards the floor as if in a final desperate prayer. The small skulls and skeletons of children and babies lay pinned beneath their dead families or pieces of collapsed roof...

Local officials say it is not known whether the leaders died with their followers or whether any survivors had fled. In this poor, remote corner of Africa the lack of forensic science expertise means it may be impossible to establish the number of dead - or whether it was mass suicide or murder.

An early estimate of 250 dead was based on the tax-paying men from Kanungu camp, but security forces and local officials said as many as 600 people lived in the commune." Archive.

Mar 21 2000 [A-Z of \[UK\] asylum seekers](#)

"B is for bogus. A word banned two years ago by former immigration minister, Mike O'Brien, for being pejorative. It prejudged applications when put before the phrase "asylum seeker". "Abusive" now used instead.

C is for Campsfield House, near Oxford, the largest immigration detention centre. It is run by Group 4 and has been the scene of hunger strikes and disturbances. About 1,000 asylum seekers are detained because there is evidence they will abscond or because they face imminent removal...

D is for deportations. More than 7,400 failed asylum seekers were removed or departed voluntarily in the year to June 1999. An unknown number left without telling the HO. Those who are deported are not allowed to return while the order is in force. Those removed rather than deported [such as illegal entrants] may come back if they satisfy the immigration rules...

X is for xenophobia. The Oxford English Dictionary describes it as "deep antipathy towards foreigners".

Y is for Yugoslavia, the break-up of which has led to the biggest European crisis in asylum in the past 10 years.

Z is for Zimbabwe, which has 20,000 people who have the right to flee to Britain without the need to go through this asylum system, because they have or had a relative who was born in Britain." Archive.

Mar 21 2000 Former UKIP leader quits "bitterly divided" party

"The crisis within the anti-European UK Independence party took a further serious turn last night when the former leader, Michael Holmes MEP, resigned from the party over the continuing in-fighting.

Mr Holmes, 61, one of three UKIP MEPs elected in last summer's European elections, had already been forced to stand down as leader after falling out with his two fellow MEPs, Nigel Farage and Jeffrey Titford - who is now set to succeed him." Archive.

Mar 21 2000 BBC: Sir Jimmy in a fix over crutches

OzCW: Crutch is the same word as crotch and Savile was a "fixer": was this headline a sick insider joke by the BBC a decade before the Jimmy Savile scandal broke?

"Veteran disc jockey Sir Jimmy Saville realised he did not have a leg to stand on when he visited a Scottish hospital.

The broadcaster and fitness fanatic apologised profusely when he remembered that he had failed to return a set of crutches to Belford Hospital in Fort William.

He had borrowed the walking aids when he broke his leg during a training run near Glencoe in January but left them behind in Yorkshire...

Sir Jimmy, who became a household name on radio and television during the 60s and hosted the hit series Jim'll Fix It, was surprised to recognise the nurse who applied the plaster..." Archive.

Relevant: 2012: Jimmy Savile and the BBC: The Pollard Report.

Mar 23 2000 How Ghislaine rose from the ashes: Maxwell's heir's building a new business empire

"FOR Ghislaine Maxwell, daughter of disgraced media tycoon Robert Maxwell, it was an exquisite moment of triumph and redemption.

As she sat in the front row of Fashion Week's Ralph Lauren show, all eyes were on her and the man at her side: Britain's Prince Andrew...

"Ghislaine couldn't have done in Britain what she has achieved here. Every step would have been scrutinized and criticized," said a family friend.

"She has kept just the right profile. Being out with Prince Andrew was a startling social coup. It made everyone stand up and take notice."

...Within a year of her father's death she was dating immensely wealthy financier Jeffrey Epstein. He provided a platform for her return to public prominence and filled the emotional vacuum in her life left by the death of her father.

EPSTEIN is an enigmatic figure. Rumors abound — including wild ones about a career in the Mossad and, contrarily, the CIA...

"He told me he was a spy hired by corporations to find major amounts of money which had been embezzled," said one of Epstein's former girlfriends, diet guru and former TV personality Nicki Haskell. "He made it sound very glamorous." ...He is fond of expensive toys — of which Ghislaine might be termed both his favorite and most expensive." Archive.

Relevant: 1992: [The Mystery of Ghislaine Maxwell's secret love \[Epstein\]](#). Archive.

Mar 23 2000 Gorbachev hails EU as “new European Soviet”

OzCW: In the 1997 book linked, The EU Collective, author Christopher Storey writes [p.13]:

“For the European Union structures are engaged in relentless low-level, but prospectively terminal, secret warfare against their constituent nation states, while posing as their benefactors. Under the guise of open-ended and ever-expanding ‘cooperation’ – the preferred weasel alibi of the penetrated British Foreign Office – the European Union is in practice engaged in whole-sale collectivisation via relentless, open-ended regulation: the very essence of Communism. It was therefore no surprise that Mikhail Gorbachev, during a brief visit to London on 23rd March 2000, described the European Union as ‘the new European Soviet.’”

Mar 24 2000 How to become a Hacker

“...There is another group of people who loudly call themselves hackers, but aren't. These are people [mainly adolescent males] who get a kick out of breaking into computers and phreaking the phone system. Real hackers call these people ‘crackers’ and want nothing to do with them. Real hackers mostly think crackers are lazy, irresponsible, and not very bright, and object that being able to break security doesn't make you a hacker any more than being able to hotwire cars makes you an automotive engineer. Unfortunately, many journalists and writers have been fooled into using the word ‘hacker’ to describe crackers; this irritates real hackers no end.

The basic difference is this: hackers build things, crackers break them... [The Hacker Attitude...]

4. Freedom is good.

Hackers are naturally anti-authoritarian. Anyone who can give you orders can stop you from solving whatever problem you're being fascinated by -- and, given the way authoritarian minds work, will generally find some appallingly stupid reason to do so. So the authoritarian attitude has to be fought wherever you find it, lest it smother you and other hackers...

[This isn't the same as fighting all authority...]

Authoritarians thrive on censorship and secrecy. And they distrust voluntary cooperation and information-sharing -- they only like `cooperation' that they control. So to behave like a hacker, you have to develop an instinctive hostility to censorship, secrecy, and the use of force or deception to compel responsible adults. And you have to be willing to act on that belief." Archive.

25 Mar 2000 PDF: POPE JOHN PAUL II USES ANOTHER BLACK MAGICK SATANIC SYMBOL FOR ANTICHRIST DURING HIS TRIP TO ISRAEL

"Subtitle: Shockingly, as the Pope is seated during a ceremony at the mount where Jesus supposedly gave His Sermon on the Mount, a stone behind the Pontiff's head depicts a Satanic inverted cross! This has always been one of the main Satanic symbols for Antichrist, even predating the Twisted Crucifix the Pope has always used."

Related: 2000: Pope to visit scene of Sermon on the Mount. Archive.

Mar 26 2000 Cults that can't stop killing

"As the Uganda mass suicide is relabelled murder, police are hunting surviving sect leaders. The death toll... reached more than 480 last night after 153 bodies were uncovered in three mass graves. These finds intensified a police search for surviving members of the Movement for the Restoration of the Ten Commandments of God who may know what happened.

The graves containing the slashed and strangled bodies - including those of 59 children - were discovered in a building used as a transit camp by the group of former Roman Catholics...

Jane Kyomakama, a roadside food seller, was approached by the cult last year, and agreed to attend a course in the capital, Kampala. 'Credonia Mwerinda told us the world was coming to end. She said if we joined we would not die in a fire,' Kyomakama said...

The sect had believed the world would end at the beginning of this year. When this proved false, some members are reported to have doubted their leaders - who promptly rescheduled it for 16 March.

At the beginning of March, Credonia Mwerinda told Kyomakama that the Virgin Mary was coming to take the cult members to heaven...

Ugandans are struggling to understand how the sect survived for so long without the the police shutting it. Two others were banned last year.

[The] president...blames the country's poverty and rampant Aids epidemic.

'People start looking for answers in the realm of metaphysics because there is no answer in real life,' he said." Archive.

Mar 26 2000 Newsgroup post What is the truth behind the Philadelphia Experiment?

"After I read many information about the Philadelphia Experiment [including many witnesses' reports, Philadelphia Experiment from A-Z, Carlos Allenda's letter to Dr. Jessup], I would use my own deduction [based on facts] and all information to re-write a new report. That's because this invisibility technology has been used over five decades and must be de-classified under the law.

Furthermore, the invisibility technology has been abused to induce illness/death on citizens and political leaders [e.g. the involved operatives from surveillance station/system induced brain hemorrhage on Florida Governor Lawton Chiles in 1995 & induced heart failure on him in 1998-see details on my Webpage Part X].

Also, after this invisibility technology be de-classified, it will not influence the operatives to use this technology to keep people under close surveillance and control. That's because after using this technology, these operatives can become invisible in everywhere. However, it can stop these invisible operatives inducing illness/death on citizens or political leaders [and stop creating programmable murderer in few school shooting] after this invisibility technology become a common sense." Archive.

Mar 27 2000 Bank One names CEO: Former Citibank president Jamie Dimon to head Bank One

"NEW YORK (CNNfn) - Bank One Corp., the nation's fourth biggest bank, on Monday said it named former Citigroup president James Dimon, 44, as Bank One's chairman and chief executive officer, filling the seat left vacant after John McCoy retired in December...

Jamie Dimon's business experience, management skills and strategic thinking will lead our outstanding franchise in the new century," said John Hall, the non-executive chairman of the board who led the CEO search.

In addition to Dimon's tenure as president of Citigroup, he also served as chairman and co-chief executive officer of Salomon Smith Barney Holdings, Inc. Prior to the formation of Citigroup (C: Research, Estimates), Dimon was president and chief operating officer of Travelers Group for seven years.

"I am excited by Bank One's powerful franchise," Dimon said in statement. "Together, we will help our stock realize its value as we continue the momentum of our three strong lines of business and continue to rebuild our large credit card business." Archive.

Relevant: 2023: The rise of Jamie Dimon 2023: JPMorgan doesn't want CEO Jamie Dimon questioned under oath in Jeffrey Epstein case.

2024: Jamie Dimon Goes Missing from Earnings Call After Dumping $183m of his JPMorgan Chase Stock Earlier This Year. 2024: Jamie Dimon WEF member.

Mar 27 2000 Outcry as ex-Nazi doctor freed

"The trial of a former Nazi doctor accused of experimenting on the brains of his child patients and murdering at least nine of them was postponed indefinitely yesterday after he was declared suffering from dementia.

The relatives of some of the alleged victims of Heinrich Gross, 84, wept outside the court after the decision to delay the case pending further psychiatric tests in six months. Campaigners said it marked the end of attempts lasting more than 50 years to bring him to justice.

The postponement of the trial has come at an embarrassing time for Austria, which is facing isolation within Europe over the participation of the far-right Freedom party in government. It also raised allegations that Dr Gross had played the "Pinochet card" by pleading mental unfitness to avoid prosecution...

"It's a dirty trick," said Adolf Bernard, 62, who spent more than a year in Spiegelgrund. "He was just playing to the court, which he should be able to do well after all his years of experience as a court doctor."

Mr Bernard was six when he entered the hospital..."He would put me in my bed out on the balcony, naked in the middle of winter in the hope I'd get pneumonia," said Mr Bernard...

Werner Vogt, one of Austria's top surgeons, who has campaigned for years for Dr Gross to be tried..called the decision in what is probably the last trial of a Nazi doctor a farce. "I think Dr Gross is suffering from the Pinochet syndrome," he said." Archive.

Mar 27 2000 FBI tracks Bill Gates credit card hackers to Welsh village

"The FBI and British police expected to find professional criminals when they descended on a small village in west Wales last Thursday. Instead, they got two 18-year old hackers armed with nothing more than a £700 computer. Raphael Gray, 18, is accused of stealing 23,000 credit card details, including the credit card number of the world's richest man, Microsoft boss Bill Gates, from "eight banking Web sites". Another unnamed youth was arrested in the swoop in Clynderwen, Pembrokeshire, part of an FBI-led investigation into a suspected $3 million fraud. Gates' credit card number and others were recently sent to NBCi by a hacker called Curador [Welsh for custodian]. Gray, the self-styled Saint of E-commerce, began his hacking spree just six weeks ago, according to the Sunday Telegraph. "I knew the man was from the FBI because he had an American accent and was wearing a trench coat," he told the paper. "There were eight local police officers in a riot van with him so it was an unusual sight in Clynderwen. I just wanted to prove how insecure these sites are. I have done the honest thing but I have been ignored. That's why I posted the information on the Internet.""
Archive.

Mar 27 2000 Cherie Blair settles nanny case

"Mrs Blair had already dropped legal action against Ms Mark, after accepting that she had not sent the 450-page account of her life with the Blairs to the Mail on Sunday.

Ms Mark insisted she had written the account as a "social history," which had not been intended to hurt the Blairs or to be published without their consent.

Mrs Blair also dropped a claim against Ms Mark's literary agent, Jonathan Harris, who had denied forwarding extracts from the manuscript to the newspaper.

At the time the injunction was granted, Associated Newspapers had argued it could not stand because the former nanny's story had appeared in the early editions, and was now in the public domain.

But the judge said the newspaper must have been aware of the existence of a confidentiality agreement Ms Mark had entered into with the Blairs." Archive.

Mar 28 2000: MONKEY MASSACRE; Killer virus find forces park to destroy colony

"AN ENTIRE colony of monkeys has been destroyed at a top animal park.

The cull came after staff found they were infected with a rare disease that could kill humans. The animals were picked off by marksmen from a safe distance.

Blair Drummond Safari Park, near Stirling, were forced to kill 89 rhesus macaque monkeys after they were found with traces of the deadly simian herpes B virus.

The bug is said to be as dangerous to humans as the flesh-eating Ebola virus, although it has no effect on the monkeys.

Government health experts launched a nationwide inquiry three weeks ago following the case of a young girl who died in the United States after contracting the virus when a macaque monkey spat at her." Archive.

Mar 28 2000 Britney Spears Suffers Head Injury on Video Set

"Britney Spears received four stitches after a piece of equipment fell on her head during a video shoot. Part or all of a camera fell on the young singer while she was shooting a clip with director Nigel Dick for "Oops... I Did It Again" on March 18 in Universal City, California.

Britney's mother posted a message on the singer's official Web site [at www.britneyspears.com] that says the singer began bleeding from the head and that a doctor was called to the set.

Spears' mother goes on to speculate that the singer had a concussion and says that after four hours of rest she was able to return to work on the video. Spears' mother adds that after the shoot, the young star flew to Grand Rapids, Michigan and slept for 17 hours before performing there on March 19.

These are the times that I worry most!" Britney's mother Lynne writes on the site. "I worry about her pushing herself too hard because she's a perfectionist. I worry about those freak accidents that seem to occur when you work crazy hours. I obsessively worry about her flying so much. And, of course, all of the above happened this week." Archive.

Relevant: Britney Spears' Breakdown 2008. 2021: The Britney Spears Conservatorship Situation. 2021: US extremists dabble in #FreeBritney conspiracy theories. 2024: Britney Spears breaks down: she was set up by her mom. Vigilant Citizen Video.

Mar 31 2000 Recent Cult Massacres

“Ugandan police say more than 900 deaths have been linked to a Christian doomsday cult there, creating an even larger self-destructive toll than that of the Jonestown suicides. But they aren't the only ones. Suicide cults of the last 22 years include:

Heaven's Gate: On March 26, 1997, in Rancho Santa Fe, Calif., 39 members of a cult called Heaven's Gate were found dead at a rented mansion...

Order of the Solar Temple: 1997...On March 22, 1997, in St. Casimir, Quebec, five members of the Order of the Solar Temple die in a fiery mass suicide. Cult devotees believe suicide transports them to a new life on a planet called Sirius.

Order of the Solar Temple: 1995...

Order of the Solar Temple: 1994...

Branch Davidians: On April 19, 1993, Branch Davidian leader David Koresh and 80 followers - including 18 children - died by fire or gunfire, six hours after the FBI started filling their cult compound near Waco, Texas, with tear gas. Federal officials called the deaths a mass suicide, but Branch Davidians are pursuing a wrongful death lawsuit against the government.

Mexican Sect: On Dec. 13, 1990, in Tijuana, Mexico, 12 people die in a religious ritual, apparently after drinking a poisoned sacrament...

South Korean Sect: On Aug. 29, 1987, in Yongin, South Korea, the bodies of 32 people were found in a factory attic after they took drugs and strangled each other...

People's Temple: On Nov. 18, 1978, in Jonestown, Guyana.” Archive.

31 Mar 2000 Cloning: Weird Science

“While British researchers await a ruling on whether they will be allowed to clone human tissue, elsewhere scientists are less squeamish: in South Korea, a cloned egg was apparently grown as long as two years ago. James Meek asks how long it will be before we will be able to create perfect little copies of ourselves - Gene patenting: special report...

So many different species have now been successfully cloned, with new ones reported almost every quarter - rabbits are rumoured to be next - that society, at first stunned then dismayed by the concept of cloning, seems to have become almost blasé at the notion of identical animals conceived without sex. The public uproar over genetically modified foods and irradiated foods has masked the fact that we are capable of shrugging our shoulders over equally radical interventions in nature, such as the international frozen bull semen trade or the extreme breeding techniques which have given us giant, flavourless Californian strawberries.

Yet the greatest cause of unease, the idea of cloning human beings, while it may have receded, remains to be rekindled. Cloning researchers - many of whom have had to turn away grieving relatives seeking the rebirth of a dead child or dying partner - have made strenuous efforts to reassure the world that human cloning is neither necessary, easy nor right.” Archive.

April 2000 Links Most Relevant to Today

2000 Conservative Party poster [with added answer "Tapping your phone"] from ntk.net

Apr 2000 The Microsoft Monopoly: The Facts, the Law and the Remedy. Microsoft was embroiled in anti-trust/monopoly legislation, the outcome of which would, according to the Corporate Finance Institute, pave the way for a tech oligopoly to form as new players Facebook and other giants arrived a few years down the line. Which it has. Coincidence or conspiracy?

Apr 1 2000 Monsanto GMO Story: Adding a Fish Gene Into Tomatoes. Most people didn't like GM back then either, yet in 2024 the EU is proposing controversial new GMO laws.

Apr 5 2000 Should we take global governance seriously? Address on Globalism by warmonger and sex pest John Bolton explaining the state of things in 2000.

Apr 6 2000 X.com Announces \$100 Million Financing Round. Elon Musk was flexing his muscles in the war on cash.

Apr 6 2000 Autism and Childhood Vaccines. 2024, Trump says he'll launch vaccine injury taskforce with RFK Jr.

Apr 7 2000 House panel asks for study of a vaccine. [Only because the vaccine damage was coming out and a senator's granddaughter had, sadly, been diagnosed autistic post-vaccination.]

Apr 7 2000 Ex-Bay City Roller sacked over child porn. In 2000, most of us would have seen these celebrity abuse cases as one-offs – we had not yet seen Savile, Pizzagate, Ian Watkins, Epstein and the rest - and vigilanticitizen was yet to arrive.

Apr 12 2000 Gates and Gerstner helped NSA snoop – US Congressman. IBM and Microsoft were helping the US spy on everyone in the same way Google and social media are spying on us in 2024.

Apr 18 2000 Italy: Immigration or extinction. Fast-forward to Lampedusa 2023.

Apr 21 2000 Andrew's Lovey-Dovey Lunch Date with Ghislaine.

Apr 25 2000 Nanotechnology: Training Engineer-Scientists to Link the Living with the Mechanical i.e. Transhumanism.

Apr 26 2000 [Don't Dis the Slackers \[Generation X\]](#): Gen X was being defined. Was this in order to divide the Boomers, Gen X and what will later become Millennials and Gen Z?

April 26 2000 Almost like being alive: MIT is developing AI.

Apr 27 2000 Microsoft Patent Application: Methods and Apparatus for Transmitting Power and Data Using the Human Body.

April 27 2000 Vermont Civil Union Bill Becomes Law – the first gay marriage in the States.

April 30 2000 Bill Gates' Executive Style Inspires a Cult Following: Tech Firms Adopt Microsoft's Winning Ways. Microsoft's "cult-like" [which cult would that be?] approach to work still influences tech companies today.

April 2000 Summary

Telegraph magazine Puff Daddy cover 1 April 2000, available here.

In between the conspiracy and mind control posts, April 2000s msm scaremongering included cults and hackers [again] and acid rain.

In the US:

- Film was in the news with an academic article and interview with elusive director Arnan Milchan. Erin Brokovich was criticised and there were no Scientology subliminals in the new John Travolta, Battlefield Earth. A review of The Skulls movie reminds us [again] that Bush is a Bonesman.
- Microsoft had a monopoly; Bill Gates' following was like a cult. Gates' secretive friend Paul Allen shut down his Silicon Valley lab. Weedy Gates scored poorly in comparison to Oracle's macho Top-Gun Larry Ellison. Elon Musk was refinancing X.com.

- Not content with a monopoly, Microsoft applied for a patent to transmit power and data via the human body.
- Clinton was blocking the World Bank helping poorer nations.
- The National Security Agency defended eavesdropping on citizens. Apparently, Bill Gates and Lou Gerstner [CEO of IBM at the time] helped them snoop.
- The 1995 Oklahoma City bombing [false flag] was remembered. And the 1975 Peltier case was being reconsidered.
- More and more professors were Holocaust-deniers.
- The US Navy patented covert hypnosis technology.
- Monsanto added a fish gene to tomatoes. At the same time, McDonald's and other fast food chains pulled GM potatoes.
- Placid Poughkeepsie was rocked by bizarre scandals.
- Benetton's death row ads caused outrage.
- A journalist test-drove an electric car.
- Young girls were being sold as sex slaves.
- Trump was being rude.
- CIA asset Terence McKenna died.
- Radio host Art Bell left Coast to Coast in a storm of controversy and sued retired detective Ted Gunderson. Not everyone agreed Bell was innocent.

- Seedy John Bolton lectured on “global governance”.
- Engineers were being trained in nanotech to link the living with the mechanical. And the Navy patented voice-to-skull tech. While MIT was developing AI.
- Vermont passed its Civil Union law, the first to legalise gay marriage.
- Hillary ripped mayor Giuliani on pollution [but not a word about those pizza boxes or hot dog wrappers littering the streets of DC...].
- Andy and Ghislaine were spotted out in Manhattan.
- A house panel asks for a study of a vaccine: has it caused autism? Autism is a new form of mercury poisoning, a researcher writes.
- Sony says video games are great...yet the expert psychologists say they cause aggression.
- And David Rockefeller grew up with unicorn tapestries.
- The youth were protesting through hip hop. There was an underground hip hop magazine. And the Generation X was being defined.

In the UK:

- Satanic abuse no myth, said experts.
- Louis Theroux met Jimmy Savile.
- Project Echelon comprised a massive 5 eyes surveillance network.
- A degenerate aristocrat was busted in the world’s biggest Ecstasy haul. Yet snobbery persists.

- Historian David Irving lost a Holocaust libel case.
- Should cults be banned? we were asked.
- Ivanka Trump appeared scantily clad in GQ.
- An ex-Bay City Roller was sacked for child porn.
- Charles Saatchi paid record money for a “sculpture”.
- The msm was fawning over the seedy Groucho Club.
- George Soros wrote attributing Putin’s rise to power to [assassinated] oligarch Boris Berezovsky.
- Blair was building [more] tunnels under London.
- The tech agenda marched on with a lucrative BT mobile deal.

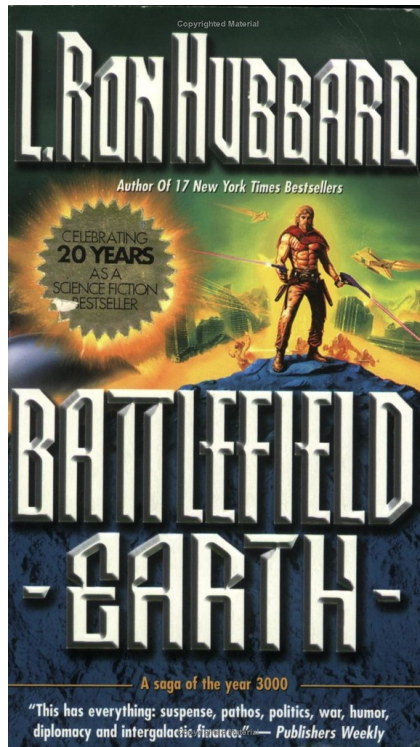

In the rest of the world:

- Japan banned human cloning and imposed export restrictions on Playstation2 for military reasons. A star-maker was accused of abusing boys.
- There was boy sex horror in Sri Lanka, too.
- Rwanda feared cult deaths.
- In Australia, Murdoch had prostate cancer but kept on working.
- Italy needs immigration, we were told.
- Thabo Mbeki was holding out over AIDS pharma AZT, causing controversy in South Africa, and wrote an open letter to global leaders.

- Worldwide, obesity had become a public health problem and there was backlash against NGOs.

Back in those good old days we still enjoyed April showers and flowers: the skies were in general still blue.

April 2000 Links

"L. Ron Hubbard - Battlefield Earth" by RA.AZ is licensed under CC BY 2.0.

April 2000 The Satanic Nazi Flu Conspiracy

"You're sick. Your nose is stuffy, your body aches, you're sweaty, and you don't have enough energy to get out of bed.

It's not the flu - it's a conspiracy.

At least, that's what Dr. Len Horowitz says.

Over the past 10 years, Horowitz has become America's most controversial medical authority. A university-trained medical researcher, Horowitz, 48, charges that elements of the United States government are conspiring with major pharmaceutical companies to make large segments of the population sick. More than that, he charges that these same conspirators created the AIDS epidemic to kill Blacks, Hispanics and gays. And if that's not enough, Horowitz argues that Adolph Hitler created the New World Order to fulfill his twisted dream of world domination.

Horowitz has made these claims in a series of books, videos, public appearances and radio talk shows. Today, Horowitz is best known as one of the most vocal opponents of government-mandated vaccines. He believes that vaccine manufacturers have purposely contaminated their products with a wide range of exotic viruses, including fungi developed by the United States military. He believes contaminated vaccines were intentionally used to create the AIDS epidemic.

Despite his wild claims, Horowitz has a serious academic background.” Archive.

Relevant: Dr. Horowitz video 2024.

Apr 2000 The Microsoft Monopoly: The Facts, the Law and the Remedy

“The Microsoft case is a legitimate and important topic for political debate. Have the antitrust laws outlived their usefulness? Should they be enforced in the high-tech sector of the economy? Is Microsoft a good candidate for such enforcement? Have Microsoft’s actions violated the law and/or harmed consumers? Most importantly, if Microsoft has violated the law, what can or should be done about it?”

In our view, it is quite clear that Microsoft has violated the law and harmed consumers. Further, we believe that one type of remedy -- a "competitive" structural remedy that would create four companies from the current one and so restore competition to the market for operating systems -- is clearly preferable to other alternatives. In this paper, we summarize the factual evidence and legal analysis that lead us to conclude a remedy is desirable, and describe briefly the remedy we have concluded would best serve consumers.”

While we believe these issues are all worthy of debate and discussion, such discussion can only be constructive if it acknowledges the voluminous factual and legal record that has already been established during the course of the trial. Some of Microsoft’s defenders apparently view the trial record as unimportant -- or even biased. Rather than argue the facts, or the law, they have cast aspersions on the ideological leanings [too liberal?] or even the ethical standards [politically motivated?] of those involved in prosecuting the case.” Archive.

Relevant: 2019: VIDEO: Whistle blower Zach Vorhies on Google [at 03: 12] “...achieve a monopoly. Because being big is not really a problem. Being bad is not really a problem. But being big and being bad, that’s a problem – and that’s the place we find ourselves today.” 2017: Facebook refuses to delete ‘child pornography & extremist material’..2019: How pedophiles are using Instagram as a secret portal to an apparent network of child porn.

Spring 2000 The Professors: At universities and colleges around North America, a growing number of professors are endorsing Holocaust denial, race-based IQ theories and eugenics

“At universities and colleges around North America, an apparently growing number of professors are endorsing Holocaust denial, race-based IQ theories and eugenics — all ideas that were once seen as entirely discredited.

Although their claims are generally seen as outlandish and often denounced as racist or anti-Semitic within academia, some of these men and women are increasingly visible in the public eye, publishing prolifically, lecturing and meeting at a growing number of conferences that are devoted to their particular brand of "science."

Many of those interested in race science are supported by the Pioneer Fund, which gives out about $1 million a year to academics who concentrate on alleged racial differences. Here are snapshots of views held by some academics who have become objects of controversy..." Archive.

Apr 2000 Obesity in the new millennium

“Obesity has increased at an alarming rate in recent years and is now a worldwide public health problem. In addition to suffering poor health and an increased risk of illnesses such as hypertension and heart disease, obese people are often stigmatized socially. But major advances have now been made in identifying the components of the homeostatic system that regulates body weight, including several of the genes responsible for animal and human obesity. A key element of the physiological system is the hormone leptin, which acts on nerve cells in the brain (and elsewhere) to regulate food intake and body weight. The identification of additional molecules that comprise this homeostatic system will provide further insights into the molecular basis of obesity, and possibilities for new treatments.” Archive.

Apr 2000 Film article: Armageddon at the Millennial Dawn

“The New Year has come and gone and presents a time for reflection on popular culture's fascination with eschatology and apocalypticism. In the few years leading up to the year 2000, we witnessed a growing interest in end-of-the-world scenarios as they were portrayed in the movies and other forms of popular entertainment. Looking back but a short while, our imaginations were stimulated by such movies as 12 Monkeys, the critically abused Waterworld, the comedic Independence Day, and the visionary Contact.

These promising movies suggested the last couple of years of the millennium would see a crop of creative movies that would be based on the eschatological drama. Movies such as Deep Impact and Armageddon promised to explore the idea of the end of existence by drawing on a culture's rich tradition of symbolic imagery associated with Jewish and Christian apocalyptic upheaval, but they were generally perceived to lack depth and originality. The release of the controversial and dazzling The Matrix added a new twist to the various conceptions of the end of civilization. As one looks back at some of these films, a few general characteristics stand out that frame a contemporary and popular millennial imagination as it has been communicated through popular cinema. I will use this paper to explore such themes in four of these films [Contact, Deep Impact, Armageddon, and The Matrix] and to discuss what insight this brings to contemporary cultural studies."

Apr 2000 Japan bans human cloning

"Japan's Science and Technology Agency [Tokyo] has released draft legislation that prohibits the use of cloning techniques for human reproductive purposes. It also bars implantation of chimeric embryos—consisting of human and animal cells—into human or animal uteri for reproductive purposes. However, because of the potential medical applications—particularly those related to stem cell research—the use of these techniques in human embryo research would not be regulated by law but instead by means of guidelines. Offenders will be subject to heavy penalties, such as a prison sentence that would "reflect the severity of human cloning as a criminal act," according to an official from the agency. The draft legislation has been approved by the cabinet and the ruling Liberal Democratic Party and is therefore almost certain to be enacted as law during the current parliamentary session ending in June." Archive.

Relevant: 2019: Japan Approves First Human-Animal Embryo Experiments.

Apr 2000 Meeting the Challenge of Global Climate Change

"Global climate change is one of our greatest environmental challenges. The overwhelming weight of scientific authority tells us that the build-up of greenhouse gases in the atmosphere creates dangers -- such as severe storms and droughts, increases in respiratory and infectious diseases, and rising sea levels -- that are too serious to ignore.

The Clinton Administration is working at home and abroad to meet the challenge of climate change. Domestically, we are working on a wide range of initiatives to reduce greenhouse gas emissions by developing and deploying energy efficient technologies and spurring the broader use of renewable energy. Internationally, we are working to secure the meaningful participation of developing countries in addressing global warming and to complete the other unfinished business of the Kyoto Protocol.”

Archive.

Relevant: White House Initiative on Global Climate Change

Apr 1 2000 Monsanto GMO Story: Adding a Fish Gene Into Tomatoes

“Monsanto gets caught adding a fish gene into tomatoes as consumers protest the company’s choices.

Perhaps no GMO story has raised more eyebrows than the fish gene in the tomato story. Who hasn’t been warned of [and repulsed at the thought of] fruit that will stare up at us from our plates? Yet Dan Verakis, spokesman for seed giant Monsanto, calls the story a “myth,” insisting that “fish genes in tomatoes just don’t exist.”

It is these kinds of fish stories, says Verakis, that “fuel the uncertainty” surrounding GMOs. The fact, he says, is that all of Monsanto’s products — on the market and in development-use “naturally occurring genes from other plants or, in the case of the insect-resistant products, a gene from Bt.” Verakis also says that he knows of no other companies currently working to move animal genes into produce.

But Jane Rissler of the Union of Concerned Scientists says otherwise: “The fact is, it has been done . . . DNAP [DNA Plant Technology of Oakland, California] was the company — that put the fish gene in a tomato.” Rissler acknowledges that the experiment was halted before any products were brought to market, but, she insists, “that is because of the uproar. Believe me, they would be doing it if people were not objecting to it.” Archive.

Relevant: 2011: Monsanto's Genetically Modified Sweet Corn Coming to America's Dinner Plates.
2015: Dr. Thierry Vrain blowing the whistle on GMOs. 2024: Whistleblower Farmer Raises Alarm Over Aluminum Spike and GMO Control of American Agriculture.

Apr 1 2000 The Last Tycoon

“Like a figure out of fiction, Arnon Milchan is the kind of mysterious character Hollywood loves to invent. He has produced nearly 50 films, including L.A. Confidential and Pretty Woman, and now he's in business with Rupert Murdoch. Yet he remains the town's most secretive mogul. Could it be the Israeli arms deals?...

The promised land of indulgence and amnesia, Hollywood cares little about people's pasts. Indeed, Milchan's weapons dealing has, if anything, augmented the aura and mystique of his outsider, bad-boy profile. Moreover, anything done for the benefit of Israel is given a wide berth... Roman Polanski has enjoyed a 20-year friendship with Milchan. "Dinners, parties, nightclubs," says Polanski from his home in Paris. "He's fun."... And to prove that tennis had the requisite sizzle, he showed up at the French Open with supermodel Naomi Campbell and at Wimbledon with Kevin Spacey." Archive.

Relevant: 2023: Hollywood mogul Arnon Milchan tells corruption trial Benjamin Netanyahu and his wife demanded £157,000 'supply line' of champagne and jewellery... and complained if cigars were not the right diameter.

Apr 1 2000 Youth Use Hip Hop Music to Fight Prop 21

"OAKLAND, CA -- They are of every race and ethnic background. They have a "f--- the police" attitude cleverly expressed by a street lingo that rhythmically soothes and heightens emotions. With heads bobbing and fists pumping to hip-hop sounds, they declare revolution as the only solution to the age-old problems of inequality and injustice. A week ago more than a thousand young people gathered in front of Oakland City Hall for a "No Prop 21 Hip-Hop Concert," underscoring opposition to Gov. Pete Wilson's Gang Violence and Juvenile Crime Prevention Act (Proposition 21) on the California ballot March 7. If passed, the bill will allow prosecutors to decide if youth aged 14 and older should be tried as adults and sent to adult jails and prisons. It will also expand the definition of a gang member and mandate stricter punishment for those fitting the description." Archive.

Apr 2 2000 Series of Bizarre Scandals Rocks Normally Placid Poughkeepsie

"When the town assessor disappeared, people were puzzled. When his shoes, cigarettes and SUV were found by the Hudson River, they started to worry. When his body was fished out of the river, their bewilderment grew.

That was only the beginning.

Here are some other things that have happened since then in this comfortable corner of the New York City commuter belt:

 A mother of two is shot to death leaving church choir practice;*

 A political boss is convicted of running a shakedown scheme;*

* The town water supervisor fires a bullet into his head as police come to his door;

* Aforesaid official is then accused of orchestrating a lesbian tryst in a town pump station.” Archive.

Apr 2 2000 Benetton death row ads outrage Americans

“Four months after launching its most recent global advertising campaign featuring an anti-death penalty theme with images of convicts on America's Death Row, the Italian clothing company Benetton is assessing its impact. In the United States, they already have the answer. It has not been popular.

Indeed, rank anger in America at the advertisements, which were conceived by Oliviero Toscani, the eye behind all of the firm's campaigns since the early 1980s, even now has not subsided. Only last week, the state of Pennsylvania joined the critics by calling for a nationwide boycott of Benetton goods...

*In the US, the company opened the campaign with a 96-page supplement that was attached to the February issue of Talk magazine. Entitled "We, On Death Row", it featured photographs of 26 condemned men in different US states. The written profiles were mostly sympathetic, focusing on the regrets expressed by the men about their plights and offering almost no details of the crimes they were convicted of committing.” Archive.*

OzCW: Just like in January, when Brits were being outraged by adverts of a heroin-addicted infant. In the western world our collective boundaries were being eroded.

In 2022 the New York Times branded as “QAnon” members of the public who were disgusted by Balenciaga’s use of pedo-Satanist images in their ads. This set off a storm of controversy so maybe the degradation is backfiring and people are sick of it. We certainly are. Archive.

Apr 3 2000 Young girls sold as sex slaves in US, CIA says

“Thailand, Vietnam, China, Mexico, Russia and the Czech Republic heading the list. The report suggests that an increasing number are coming from the Philippines, Korea, Malaysia, Latvia, Hungary, Poland, Brazil and Honduras.

There has been a huge rise in the sale of women into servitude because such trafficking is booming in eastern Europe. According to the report, traffickers in the former Soviet Union have been particularly aggressive in taking advantage of young women who are desperate to enter western countries and unaware of what type of work awaits them.

Girls as young as nine from Asian and African countries have been sold into slavery in the US "for less than the price of a toaster", according to the survey, the first of its kind. Girls from countries where female children are not highly valued are among the most vulnerable and may be forced to work in what the report describes as "an indentured sexual servitude arrangement"...

One problem in prosecuting offenders has been that the women often speak no English and are more frightened of the police than their employers. In addition, such cases often appear to fall between different departments, such as the FBI, the immigration service and the labour department...

Worldwide, the problem is increasing, the report concludes. It estimates that between 700,000 and 2m women and children are victims of the growing trade in human forced labour.” Archive.

Apr 3 2000 Open Letter to World Leaders by President Thabo Mbeki

“I am honoured to convey to you the compliments of our government as well as my own, and to inform you about some work we are doing to respond to the HIV-AIDS epidemic.

As you are aware, international organizations such as UNAIDS have been reporting that Sub-Saharan Africa accounts for two-thirds of the world incidence of HIV-AIDS. These reports indicate that our own country is among the worst affected.

Responding to these reports, in 1998, our government decided radically to step up its own efforts to combat AIDS, this fight having, up to this point, been left largely to our Ministry and Department of Health....

Not long ago, in our own country, people were killed, tortured, imprisoned and prohibited from being quoted in private and in public because the established authority believed that their views were dangerous and discredited.

We are now being asked to do precisely the same thing that the racist apartheid tyranny we opposed did, because, it is said, there exists a scientific view that is supported by the majority, against which dissent is prohibited.

The scientists we are supposed to put into scientific quarantine include Nobel Prize Winners, Members of Academies of Science and Emeritus Professors of various disciplines of medicine!

Scientists, in the name of science, are demanding that we should cooperate with them to freeze scientific discourse on HIV-AIDS at the specific point this discourse had reached in the West in 1984.

People who otherwise would fight very hard to defend the critically important rights of freedom of thought and speech occupy, with regard to the HIV-AIDS issue, the frontline in the campaign of intellectual intimidation and terrorism which argues that the only freedom we have is to agree with what they decree to be established scientific truths.

Some agitate for these extraordinary propositions with a religious fervour born by a degree of fanaticism, which is truly frightening.

The day may not be far off when we will, once again, see books burnt and their authors immolated by fire by those who believe that they have a duty to conduct a holy crusade against the infidels.

It is most strange that all of us seem ready to serve the cause of the fanatics by deciding to stand and wait.” Archive.

Relevant: 2008: The highs and low in the life of Thabo Mbeki.

Apr 3 2000 What Does Donald Trump Really Want?

“Trump had inked a deal with Tony Robbins, the frighteningly upbeat motivational speaker, by which Robbins would pay Trump $1 million to give ten speeches at his seminars around the country. Crucially, Trump had timed his political stops to coincide with Robbins’ seminars, so that he was “making a lot of money” on those campaign stops...

But talk turned to Trump’s women, prompting a reporter from the New York Post to ask whether he found Monica Lewinsky attractive. Trump screwed up his face and stuck his tongue out slightly, as if to gag...

After the Jesse Ventura action figures went on sale in the lobby, and not long after Ventura insisted he once saw Muhammad Ali levitate—no kidding, levitate!—off somebody’s kitchen floor, Trump took the stage to address an audience of Ventura backers. Though he dispensed with his usual critiques of Pat Buchanan ["a Hitler lover"], Bill Bradley ["a total disaster"], George W. Bush ["no Einstein"], Fidel Castro ["a bad guy"], North Korea ["run by some very bad people"], and Russia ["totally mixed up"], Trump did tell an unflattering joke about his second wife, Marla Maples, and crescendoed from a story about Jay Leno to the oblique observation that he'd count on people's support "if I decide to do the thing that I very well might decide to do." Archive.

Apr 3 2000 [Obituary of \[Intelligence Asset\] Terence McKenna](#)

"Terence McKenna, eschatological ethnobotanist, psychedelic philosopher, lyrical lecturer, Rave Culture rapper, drug shaman and author, who believed that Evolution was originally triggered by ingestion of the psilocybin mushroom [which had probably travelled for aeons across space to effect such a process!] died within months of the removal of a brain tumour by the latest gamma knife procedure, radiation, craniotomy, and gene therapy, the 'best' that science had to "offer".

Terence, 53, died at 2:15 a.m. Pacific time, on Monday, April 3, 2000, at a friend's home in San Rafael, California, in the presence of his brother Dennis, famed ethno-pharmacologist and shamanic traveler in his own right, and close friends. His last words are not yet on record, though he died much more privately than Tim Leary, the psychedelic prophet to whom he was most often compared, whose last words were "Yes! Why not?!" Archive.

Relevant: 2013: [McKenna admitted he was CIA/FBI. \[Archive.\]\(#\)](#)

Apr 4 2000 The State of Unclassified and Commercial Technology Capable of Some Electronic Mind Control Effect

To help the reader appreciate the importance of this matter...

"We need a program of psychosurgery and political control of our society. The purpose is physical control of the mind. Everyone who deviates from the given norm can be surgically mutilated. "The individual may think that the most important reality is his own existence, but this is only his personal point of view. This lacks historical perspective.

"Man does not have the right to develop his own mind. This kind of liberal orientation has great appeal. We must electrically control the brain. Some day armies and generals will be controlled by electrical stimulation of the brain."

*Dr. Jose Delgado [MKULTRA experimenter who demonstrated a radio- controlled bull on CNN in 1985]
Director of Neuropsychiatry, Yale University Medical School*

Congressional Record No. 26, Vol. 118, February 24, 1974” Archive.

Relevant: Video of Jose Delgado in 1963 stopping the charging bull in its tracks.

Apr 4 2000 Echelon & Related Data Interception Capabilities 2000

“...UK-USA alliance

5. The United States Sigint System [USSS] consists of the National Security Agency [NSA], military support units collectively called the Central Security Service, and parts of the CIA and other organisations. Following wartime collaboration, in 1947 the UK and the US made a secret agreement to continue to conduct collaborative global Comint activities. Three other English-speaking nations, Canada, Australia and New Zealand joined the UKUSA agreement as "Second Parties". The UKUSA agreement was not acknowledged publicly until March 1999, when the Australian government confirmed that its Sigint organisation, Defence Signals Directorate [DSD] "does co-operate with counterpart signals intelligence organisations overseas under the UKUSA relationship".[6] The UKUSA agreement shares facilities, tasks and product between participating governments.” Archive.

Apr 4 2000 Art Bell escaping the voices: Late-Night Host Quits, Citing Slander and Threats

“Bell, who hosted "Coast to Coast AM" overnights during the week [heard locally from 1 to 5 a.m. on WWRC, 570-AM], built an audience of 10 million listeners on more than 460 stations nationwide over a decade. The rich-voiced host delved deeply into topics that at once unsettle and fascinate: UFOs, alien abduction, signs of the apocalypse and secret government projects.

A cardinal rule of talk radio is: It's all entertainment. And though Bell was often impassioned about some topics, he never got so impassioned that he slandered anyone or threatened violence. Which is what has happened to Bell, says his lawyer, Gerard Fox of Los Angeles. And it is why, at 54, Bell is retiring from the air—again.” Archive.

Relevant: VIDEO: Retired FBI agent Ted Gunderson’s story of the Art Bell lawsuit. Bell sued Gunderson and won. Not everyone, however, agreed. This well-respected site states:

“I believe this embroilment between Bell and Gunderson/Hinkson has been manufactured or manipulated into existence to discredit Ted Gunderson. Whether Bell is willingly participating in this smear effort or is an innocent dupe whose emotions have been manipulated to follow this course of action, I don't know, but his behavior does not fit the alleged 'crime'. Personally, I like Art Bell. I've been listening to his show on and off since 1995 and I always enjoy his interviews. It never occurred to me that I would be writing an article concerning Art Bell." Archive.

Relevant: 2018: Art Bell Obituary.

Apr 5 2000 Should we take global governance seriously?

By John R Bolton: "Even the apparently simple act of entitling a conference "Trends in Global Governance: Do They Threaten American Sovereignty?" is likely to expose the vast disparities which exist between two quite different factions within the United States. One party, small but highly educated, voluble and tireless, knows instinctively [and often emotionally] what global governance is and why it is desirable. Consisting of academics [largely, but not exclusively, law and international relations professors] and media professionals; members of self-styled "human rights," environmental and humanitarian groups; rarified circles within the "permanent government," and at present even in the White House; and a diverse collection of people generally uneasy with the dominance of capitalism as an economic philosophy and individualism as a political philosophy, these "Globalists" find comrades all around the world. Their agenda is unambiguously statist, but typically on a worldwide rather than a national level.

The other faction, consisting silently of virtually everyone else in the United States, has no clue whatever that "global governance" is even an issue worth discussing, since, among other things, it has formed no part of any political campaign in recent memory." Archive.

Relevant: 2005: Bolton's divorce: group sex allegations. 2018: How John Bolton threatened an international official. 2018: Controversial sex scandal that John Bolton tried to hide. 2020: Bolton accused of harassment.

Apr 6 2000 Cults should they be banned?

"Once again, the activities of religious cults are in the spotlight. While the Ugandan authorities continue to unearth the bodies of members of a religious sect, the followers of another cult in Peru are rescued from death by the police. But should cults like the Restoration of the Ten Commandments of God in Uganda, or Peru's Quillabamba Pentecostal movement, be banned? We've been taking your comments:

In the name of the democratic freedom to worship, cults should never be banned. They should, however, be monitored. The system should subject questionable cults to public scrutiny and have an early warning system in case of reasonable non-compliance.

The barons of bureaucracy must never be given the licence to curb this basic democratic freedom. Never. Waco was a wake-up call against that."

Stephen B.C. Tan, New Zealand

It seems to me that cult or religion, the result is the same. People accept religion because it is a crutch, a means of escaping reality, harsh as it can be, and an attempt to make life a bit more bearable. Jehovah's Witnesses are particularly abhorrent to me [was one formerly] because they impose their views on their supporters on pain of shunning. Victor Lefrancois, Canada" Archive.

Apr 6 2000 VIDEO: Autism and Childhood Vaccines

"Witnesses testified about a theory that routine vaccinations may cause autism in a growing number of children. Parents spoke about their experiences with their own autistic children. Medical experts and researchers then testified about the scientific evidence of a link between vaccines and autism, often disagreeing on whether a causal link existed."

Relevant: 2024: Trump & RFK Jr. Launch 'Vaccine Injury Task-force' To Investigate Rising Autism Rates in Kids.

2024: Check out Andrew Wakefield's new film "Protocol-7" chronicling the TRUE STORY about historic lawsuit against Merck, creator of deadly MMR vaccine.

OzCW: We try not to use the word "kids" [which is difficult because everyone else uses it]. Someone told us that the word is a Satanic reference to baby goats. We don't know if that's true but still...

Apr 6 2000 Trump in Funk over Ivanka pix

“Donald Trump is bristling over the steamy magazine photos of his near-naked daughter Ivanka. The billionaire developer said April’s British GQ, which shows his 18-year-old daughter in a see-through top and tiny bikini bottoms, is not at all to his taste.

“They are not my favorite pictures in the world,” Trump told The Post last night.

The overseas mag hired Ivanka — who’s launched a career as a professional model — to pose in some ultra-slinky nothings.

And in a panting description of the leggy teen, British GQ calls her “the nymphet Ivanka” and gushes... The Web site also includes a sizzling photo of Melania nude on a fur blanket in Trump’s private jet.”
Archive.

Relevant: 2023: Ivanka and family on the Epstein client list. 2024: Ivanka Trump wows in white alongside Jared Kushner and Tiffany watching her father accept the Republican nomination. 2024: Jay-Z and Ivanka Trump among the many A-listers spotted P Diddy 'freak off', guest claims.

Apr 6 2000 X.com Announces \$100 Million Financing Round: Leader in Email Payments Will Continue Rapid Customer Growth

“PALO ALTO, Calif., April 5 /PRNewswire/ -- X.com Corporation (<http://www.X.com>), creator of the world's largest email payments network, today announced a $100 million equity financing round from Madison Dearborn Partners and other new and existing investing partners.

"We've had a tremendous response," said Peter Thiel, X.com Executive Vice President for Finance and Strategy. "Our financing round was substantially oversubscribed, as we've seen a great deal of enthusiasm about participating in X.com's unique and exponentially growing financial platform."

"The magnitude of this round highlights the value of X.com's position as the leader in Web-based payments," said X.com Corporation Chairman Elon Musk. "With the strategic and financial assistance of an outstanding investor group, we expect to continue our aggressive customer acquisition, to expand our service internationally, and to support mobile device platforms for e-commerce transactions."

In addition to Madison Dearborn, a phalanx of leading investors is participating in this Series C funding round.

-- International investors include Singapore-based Temasek, Vertex and Development Bank of Singapore; Japan-based Compass Partners and Hikari Tsushin; and TAMC of Taiwan.

-- Two leaders in wireless technology, QUALCOMM and Singapore Telecommunications, are also making investments in this round.

-- Additional investors include LabMorgan, J.P. Morgan's e-finance unit; funds managed by Capital Research and Management Company; Digital Century Capital; and Bayview 2000, an affiliate of Robertson Stevens.

-- Finally, previous investors Sequoia Capital, Deutsche Bank, the Goldman Sachs Group, Inc., idealab Capital Partners, and Elon Musk are participating in this round as well." Archive.

O2CW: Elon Musk was an early co-conspirator in the war on cash.

The list of investors above describes some of the organisations that funded Musk's X.com. Peter Thiel was Musk's VP Finance. In October 2000, Musk will pivot to focus on PayPal instead.

This video shows Musk in 1999 in a documentary. He spins the usual Silicon Valley story: he just happened to sell computer programs: "Just three years ago, I was showering at the YMCA and sleeping on the office floor [00:00:49] ..." and now he is receiving his first $1 million car. It's all so cool!

There was no mention that Musk is the son of a wealthy emerald mine owner who could probably have afforded fronting his son a suite at the Hilton. There was mention, however, that Musk sold his first company Zip2 for $400 million CASH.

See how we were being played? Tempted with flashy cars and stories of rags to riches...

Relevant: 2021: How Peter Thiel Became the Most Feared Man in Silicon Valley:

“By January of 2000, PayPal was a hot commodity, with 9,000 new users joining every day. Finding new customers was “easier than catching a cold,” Thiel bragged to The Wall Street Journal. “And it’s spreading as fast as a virus.”

In February of 2000, Elon Musk called Thiel, proposing a fifty-fifty merger. He was worried that PayPal would end up being acquired by a company like Yahoo, and X.com, Musk’s online bank, would be pushed out of the market.

“Together, Musk argued, they would have a better shot of surviving,” Chafkin writes. “And they would have an easier time dealing with federal regulators if and when the government got around to cracking down on the new digital payment technologies.”

Thiel agreed but tensions between the two visionaries ran high from the start. Musk insisted on switching servers, putting PayPal on a Microsoft platform. He also wanted to change the name to “PayPal by X.com,” eventually phasing out the PayPal name altogether.”

2023: EXCLUSIVE: Peter Thiel’s Instagram model boyfriend plunged to his death WEEKS after witnessing messy showdown between the billionaire mogul and his husband when he crashed couple’s New Year’s bash. 2023: Exclusive: Tech billionaire Peter Thiel was an FBI informant. Archive. 2024: The Man Behind Trump’s VP Pick [Peter Thiel]: It’s Worse Than you Think. 2023: Elon Musk and Peter Thiel on the Epstein client list.

Apr 7 2000 Ex-Bay City Roller sacked over child porn

“A founding member of the Bay City Rollers who was caught with child pornography in his home has been sacked from his job as a nurse.

Derek Longmuir, who last month escaped jail after pleading guilty to having indecent photographs and videos of children at his Edinburgh home, has been dismissed from his post at Edinburgh Royal Infirmary following an internal investigation by senior hospital managers...

The 49-year-old, who was a drummer with the Scottish band who achieved chart success in the 1970s, had also admitted making indecent photos of children at his home in March 1998 by downloading them from the Internet...

Longmuir had claimed in court that the indecent material belonged to an American friend.

A total of 22 pornographic videos and 40 computer disks with 117 images of indecent material, some showing sex involving children, were found when Lothian and Borders police raided his home at the city's Queens Park Court in September 1998 following a tip-off." Archive.

Relevant: 2000: Longmuir flees country after child ex shame. 2023: Bay City Rollers boss Tam Paton abused and groomed victims like Savile. Archive. VIDEO: Bay City Rollers star Les McKeown "never found peace" after abuse.

Apr 7 2000 The Real Skulls Society

"This week, John Leonard reviews the new movie The Skulls and discusses that secret society at Yale University that counts George Bush the elder and George Bush the younger among its ranks.

Most of what we think we know about Skull & Bones - the secret society at Yale to which George Bush and his son "W" belonged...we learned from an article in Esquire in 1976 by Ron Rosenbaum...

Now, I've been thinking about Skull & Bones ever since, a decade ago, the undergrads voted to let in women and the alumni changed the locks. I was going to reveal the kinky initiation rites of the Bavarian Illuminati. I'd explain the 700-year-old plot of the Knights Templar to seize control of the Earth's magnetic poles.

I'd wonder why there hasn't been a secret society for women since the Eleusinian mysteries, when they got together to feel bad about the abduction of Persephone. But then something happened...

All this probably seems quaint now that women are admitted into Skull & Bones, and intellectuals, stampeding over one another to get to an Op-Ed parking space or a yak-show TV camera, sell out their skepticism and their first-born children to the highest bidder straight out of nursery school.

But it's a lot scarier than a movie like The Skulls. Do you wonder why the rest of the world simply assumes our traveling journalists, novelists, scientists, labor leaders, even our exchange students, are agents of the American government?" Archive.

Apr 7 2000 House panel asks for study of a vaccine

"After a long and contentious hearing, Republican and Democratic leaders of the House Government Reform and Oversight Committee, who agreed on little else, agreed today to ask the Department of Health and Human Services to study whether vaccination caused a small number of cases of autism...

The hearing was called by its chairman... whose granddaughter has autism. He said she may have contracted it from a vaccine even though current research has not found any connection between the onset of autism and a vaccine for measles, mumps and rubella.

The leading proponent of the idea that MMR vaccine may cause some cases of autism is Dr. Andrew Wakefield of the Royal Free and University College Medical School in London. He said he took his cue from parents whose experience of autism seemed to be different from the usual. In most cases, the disease is believed to be genetic; it appears gradually in the first two years of life as a failure to speak, the beginning of repetitive motions, and a withdrawal from social interaction. But the parents with whom Dr. Wakefield dealt said it came on rather suddenly, over a period of months, and often just after vaccination with the triple vaccine...

On the opposite side, apart from the skepticism of most of the medical community, is Dr. Brent Taylor, a senior colleague of Dr. Wakefield'...

Dr. Taylor has done the largest study to date on the subject, involving 498 autistic children in London. He found no relation between the children's vaccination dates and the onset of their disease." Archive.

Apr 7 2000 Saatchi pays record \$1.6 million for Damien Hirst sculpture

"Once again raising eyebrows in the art world, Charles Saatchi has paid $1.6 million for a new sculpture by British "shock" artist Damien Hirst, by far the highest price ever paid for the artist.

The move will further increase Mr. Hirst's visibility; his preserved-shark and dissected-livestock sculptures already put him at the forefront of contemporary art. But because the price Mr. Saatchi paid is more than four times the record for a Hirst, some art-world players wonder if the sale is also aimed at boosting the value of the Hirst works Mr. Saatchi already owns.

"Saatchi is no neophyte," says Kent Logan, a San Francisco art collector who owns about a dozen Hirst works. "I think he wanted to be able to say that a Damien Hirst has sold for a million pounds." Archive.

OzCW: In 2000, many of us average Brits were still trying to work out what exactly was cool about Cool Britannia or artistic about Brit art. Like Damien Hirst's embalmed sharks floating in tanks of formaldehyde or Tracey Emin's tampons dangling in a tent. There was nothing beautiful about it – in our opinion it was and remains a desecration.

It is our personal opinion based on the offensive “art” that Saatchi sponsors, buys and displays, his political involvement [Margaret Thatcher spent ten Christmasses with Jimmy Savile] and violent behaviour towards his ex-wife Nigella Lawson that the 2012 witness testimony linked as “Relevant” below may well be correct and that Charles Satchi could be a Satanist.

We also agree with Jamie Reid in this 2018 interview:

“I have quite a compulsive hatred of Brit art and people like Damien Hirst and Tracey Emin, because they were created by an advertising agency called Saatchi& Saatchi,” Reid says. “Saatchi & Saatchi did the advertising campaign that got Thatcher into power, and I think they applied the same ethos to art: sell everything at as high a price as possible. This turned it completely into a commodity, completely void of any ideas. It’s a shame because there is a great underbelly of alternative art – there always is. They are like Thatcher’s children.”” Archive.

Relevant: 2012: Saatchi is one of the Satanists who abused me. 2013: Saatchi is seen grabbing Nigella by the throat.

Apr 8 2000 US Resists Plan to Remove Tariffs for Poorer Nations

“The Clinton administration is opposing a World Bank proposal that would increase exports from the world's poorest and most indebted nations for fear that it would inflame sentiments in Congress against President Clinton's efforts to spur international trade, particularly with China.

The proposal, pressed by the leaders of the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund in preparation for their meetings here next week, would allow some of the poorest nations of Africa, Latin America and Asia to sell goods to the United States and other Western nations without facing any tariffs or import quotas. That could provide a huge economic advantage for those developing countries, going significantly beyond the administration's efforts to get Congress to forgive their debts as they undergo economic reforms.

The administration's opposition to the proposal comes at an awkward moment, as demonstrators critical of the international lending institutions assemble for a week of protests during their meetings.

Many of the protesters believe that the financial groups do too little on behalf of the poorest nations. [Page 4.]

But as the trade proposal was argued out behind the closed doors of the World Bank and the I.M.F., the administration worked behind the scenes to scuttle it, said World Bank officials involved in the negotiations..." Archive.

Apr 9 2000 Sir Lanka: Boy sex horror

"In a dimly lit room of a sleazy hotel in Hikkaduwa a group of boys, the eldest not being more than 14, waits patiently for their names to be called.

The children have come to the hotel mostly on their own account. Some may have been persuaded by their parents and even friends to enter the 'friendship course' which eventually would model them as professional sex workers catering to the growing homosexual and paedophile market in this once flourishing seaside resort town.

The selected candidates are told that they would have to play their part mostly in pairs and sometimes in groups, with the so-called trainers insisting on a high degree of professionalism that is needed for the foreign market, since the clientele are mostly Westerners.

Male prostitution is no secret within the borders of Hikkaduwa. In fact it has become a way of life for the people, many of whom depend heavily on the tourist industry to keep their home fires burning." Archive.

Apr 11 2000 UK Police make first arrest over crop circles

"They have been a source of mystery and amusement to students of the bizarre for years, but yesterday crop circles attracted the attention of a new audience - the long arm of the law.

A 29-year-old Wiltshire man last night became what is believed to be the first person in Britain to be accused of the novel crime of raiding a field and creating patterns out of flattened wheat.

Matthew Williams, of Bishops Cannings, near Devizes, was arrested after photographs allegedly showing him working with another man were sent anonymously to detectives...

News of the prosecution was welcomed by farmers in the rolling countryside of Wiltshire - prime territory for crop circles, with dozens appearing every summer.

Tim Carson, chairman of the National Farmers Union in the county, said: "It's no different if someone comes into your garden and causes damage. You spend a lot of time and effort planting crops and then someone comes along and destroys them, it's very annoying." Archive.

Apr 11 2000 Irving loses Holocaust libel case

"Historian David Irving has lost his emotive libel case against the American academic who accused him of denying the scale of the Holocaust.

After considering the case for almost four weeks, Judge Charles Gray ruled against Mr Irving, saying he had failed to prove his reputation had been damaged.

*Mr Irving, who outraged survivors of Nazi death camps, was seeking damages over Professor Deborah Lipstadt's 1994 book, Denying the Holocaust: The Growing Assault on Truth and Memory, which he claimed had generated waves of hatred against him.*

Professor Lipstadt and her publishers, Penguin Books, both denied libelling Mr Irving by branding him "a Holocaust denier" in a book which attacked revisionists alleged to have denied or played down the slaughter of 6m Jews during the second world war...

The judge said he found that Irving was "an active Holocaust denier; that he was anti-Semitic and racist and that he associated with right-wing extremists who promoted neo-Nazism"...

He concluded: "Having considered the various arguments advanced by Irving to assail the effect of the convergent evidence relied on by the defendants, it is my conclusion that no objective, fair-minded historian would have serious cause to doubt that there were gas chambers at Auschwitz and that they were operated on a substantial scale to kill hundreds of thousands of Jews.

"In the result therefore the defence of justification succeeds". Archive.

Relevant: 2024: David Irving: 2 million Jews died in gas chambers. 2024: The Case of David Irving Shows that Nothing Is More Dangerous Than Telling the Truth.

Apr 12 2000 Educate-Yourself.org Newsletter November 12, 2000

"By Ken Adachi, Editor@educate-yourself.org

Dear E-Y Subscribers:

1. Welcome new subscribers

I continue to be surprised at the number of people who find our web site since it rarely shows up on the first pages of most search engines. The editor of an alternative news magazine out of Australia called "New Dawn" [<http://www.newdawnmagazine.com>] found us and decided to serialize some of my articles beginning with "Forbidden Cures". So now we are getting more visitors from Auzzie Land and New Zealand as well. Glad to hear from everyone. The Global Village certainly has its virtues, I'm just not that crazy about the people [and I use that term losely] who want to run it.

2. Colloidal Silver [CS]

The long awaited crackdown by US Federal agencies [the FDA and FCC mostly] on the sale of colloidal silver in the United States is now underway. We had posted an article in August, 1999 outlining their plans [<http://educate-yourself.org/cn/99-00/alertnotice2.shtml>]." Archive.

Apr 12 2000 U.S. Navy Contract for Ultrasonic Acoustic Heterodyning Technology

"This announcement from American Technology Corp., the patent holder for acoustic heterodyning technology, clearly shows that the use of ultrasound for transmission of voice over significant distances is a reality. When voice-FM is used in place of normal, hearable audio, you have one method of targeting a person at a distance, even in a crowd, with hypnotic commands which cannot be heard by the ears but which are heard and understood by the mind.

This development in covert hypnosis technology underscores the urgent need for debate and controls on all such anti-personnel weapons-capable technologies, instead of the stone silence all governments have maintained to this date." Archive.

Apr 12 2000 Gates and Gerstner helped NSA snoop – US Congressman

"A recent report renews claims that the US National Security Agency [NSA] secured the co-operation of IBM and Microsoft in gaining access to encrypted data, and documentation seen by The Register gives a fuller picture of how this may have taken place. In this congressman Curt Weldon makes the astonishing claim that the US military was able to see Saddam Hussein's orders before his commanders did...

...that the deputy secretary of defense... had briefed him that "in discussions with people like Bill Gates and Gerstner [former CEO] from IBM that there would be... an unstated ability to get access to systems if we needed it... if there is some kind of tacit understanding, I would like to know what it is."

Weldon's concern was that there was a need to document this policy for future administrations, and he said he wondered why access to systems couldn't be worked out formally with industry. "In fact, I called Gerstner and I said, .Can't you IBM people and... software people get together and find the middle ground, instead of us having to do legislation."

Weldon continued: "I have advocated that we give significant new tax breaks to the encryption and software industry in this country to give them more incentive to stay in America and do their work here.... I want to be able to have information dominance overseas, to be able to use the kinds of tools that the CIA and Defense Department needs in adversarial relationships that we are in fact providing..."

Archive.

Relevant: 1999: Lou Gerstner, CEO of IBM, a NWO Leader. Archive.

Apr 13 2000 On TV: When Louis Theroux met Jimmy Savile

"In the year 2000, Louis Theroux spent two weeks with the DJ, TV personality and charity fundraiser Jimmy Savile, attempting to get a glimpse of the man behind the public persona." [Louis and Jimmy were later to become good friends.]

Relevant: VIDEO: When Louis Met Jimmy. VIDEO: Louis and Jimmy and Jim the Pill.

Apr 13 2000 US Security Agency Defends Eavesdrop Use

"Under attack from privacy advocates in the U.S. and Europe, the director of the National Security Agency said yesterday that his agency snoops on Americans only under rigid controls and never engages in foreign economic espionage for U.S. corporations.

Air Force Lt. Gen. Michael Hayden used an unusual open session of the House Intelligence Committee to launch another salvo in his year-long effort to defend an agency seen by many as sinister and all-powerful. European officials have accused the NSA recently of using its international eavesdropping prowess, through a system called Echelon, to spy on foreign companies and sift through every e-mail, fax or telephone call in Europe, charges the NSA calls absurd.

On the European front, Gen. Hayden acknowledged that the super-secret NSA uses its network of powerful listening stations around the globe to gather economic intelligence to track concerns such as money laundering, weapons proliferation and corporate corruption. But he insisted the NSA never pursued industrial secrets or worked to enhance the profitability of U.S. business...

Most of the session, though, focused on concerns that the NSA might be violating the privacy of U.S. citizens by intercepting e-mail or listening in on telephone calls. Gen. Hayden scoffed at what he called the growing number of "urban myths" surrounding the NSA, including its alleged ability to tap everything from e-mail traffic to domestic baby monitors." Archive.

Apr 14 2000 Victims Of The Murrah Building Bombing

"On the second anniversary of the fire at the home of David Koresh's Branch Davidian followers, a bomb exploded outside the Alfred P. Murrah Federal Building in Oklahoma City. The date is also Patriots Day, observing the battle that began the American Revolution.

Seconds after a truck bomb of nitrite and fuel detonated next to the federal building, a gaping hole was blasted into its side. During that tragic attack on America's Heartland 168 people died. This is a list of those killed in the Oklahoma City bombing on April 19, 1995." Archive.

Relevant: 2012: VIDEO: OKLAHOMA CITY BOMBING Forerunner To 9-11 "A False Flag Conspiracy".
2020: The lies behind the Oklahoma City bombing.

Apr 14 2000 Newsgroup post: Allegation Update re: Subliminal Advertising in the Battlefield Earth Movie

"Three weeks have passed since F.A.C.T.Net, a non profit organization, broke the story surrounding allegations that the movie Battlefield Earth, starring John Travolta and distributed by Warner Brothers, may contain sophisticated subliminal advertising designed by the cult Scientology, to recruit viewers into their cult and influence them to reject psychiatry and other mental health organizations. [Go to www.factnet.org and see the Editorial called "Warner forced to halt distribution of Travolta film, Battlefield Earth for all allegation details.]

F.A.C.T.Net posted a formal request in numerous public forums, the original of which was sent to Warner Brothers, asking them to make a public statement on the Battlefield Earth subliminal advertising allegation as well as other serious allegations surrounding the film's release. Warner Brothers has remained publicly silent.

Because of this failure to answer the allegations, F.A.C.T.Net has just forwarded a request to the boards of the leading advocacy organizations to seek their assistance in convincing Warner Brothers to immediately and publicly answer all the allegations listed at the end of this document." Archive.

Relevant: Jun 4 article: "How dare they call my film a turkey? John Travolta and I have been questioned by almost every journalist about the connection between Battlefield Earth and the Church of Scientology. This is a presumption made because L. Ron Hubbard, the author of the novel on which the movie is based wrote Dianetics and founded the Church of Scientology of which John Travolta is a member...In America the inference is that Battlefield Earth contains scientology's philosophy and that subliminal messages are buried in the film. It is also suggested that revenues from the movie will somehow end up in the Church. This is not true."

Apr 14 2000 Rwanda, fearing cult deaths detains 8 people in Christian sect

"Fearing a repetition of the cult deaths that horrified neighboring Uganda, Rwandan authorities have detained eight members of an obscure Christian sect on charges of illegal assembly and unauthorized worship.

The eight members of the Minevam sect were taken into custody Wednesday, but three have been released after promising to abandon their round-the-clock regimen of prayer, said Karegyesa Kamiri, a local official in Byumba, 30 miles north of Kigali, the capital...

The eight Rwandans, both men and women, had abandoned school and retreated to an unfinished house near the central market in Byumba, where they spent day and night in prayer, Kamiri said. "They've been operating without the knowledge of authorities," he said. "The place does not fulfill necessary conditions for worship. It is not a church." Archive.

Apr 15 2000 Count Hans Kolvenbach—The Jesuit's General

"So, you thought you were pretty well informed by now about all of the main players on the "conspiracy" playing field? You've maybe been hearing for years about (or bumped into on your own) the various elements of society who control our world from behind the scenes.

You've gotten familiar with the role played by, for instance, the Khazarian Zionists (who invented the word "Jew" to disguise their adopted heritage, as distinguished from the biblical Judeans), or the role played by the Banksters (banking gangsters] controlling the economies of the world, by the CFR (Council on Foreign Relations), the Trilateral Commission, the Bilderbergers, the Committee of 300 (the 17 wealthiest so-called “elite” families)—the Rothschilds in England and Rockefellers in America and Bronfmans in Canada, and on and on, comprising the physical power structure of the New World Order puppets under the direction of darkly motivated, other-dimensional “master deceivers” commonly known as Lucifer or Satan and their “fallen angel” cohorts.

While all of those details contribute to understanding the Larger Picture, what you are about to read fills in a most important Missing Link in this entire structure. And I don’t mean a little side issue; I mean a link so central—yet so well hidden from general public view, and for so long—that even the most studied of “conspiracy theory” scholars probably have not put together much of the information that is going to be presented here.” Archive.

Apr 15 2000 £40m for founder of mobile store chain

“A Merseyside entrepreneur who began selling phones as a sideline to his car business enjoyed a £40m windfall as his Mobile Phone Store chain was snapped up by BT Cellnet.

Mike McComb, 42, established the business with a single shop in Southport seven years ago, and has since rolled it out to 129 stores. BT Cellnet acquired a 40% stake three years ago, and took full control yesterday in a deal valuing the business at £67m...

BT Cellnet said the group was unlikely to make any big changes to the Mobile Phone Store. “They’ve built up a solid reputation the branding works, and we’re not going to change it,” said a spokesman.

Mr McComb will stay to oversee the transition. Colleagues say he then wants to spend more time with his young family.” Archive.

OzCW: 40m was a lot back in 2000. Money like this changing hands will have helped glamourise tech and guarantee business engagement, furthering the NWO agendas under the guise of “innovation”.

Apr 15 2000 The Logan Stone

“Britain has several celebrated examples of this odd geological formation, otherwise called a rocking stone, which can be moved back and forth by applying varying amounts of force.

Logan stones were formed through selective weathering of layered rocks, a softer lower layer being worn away by wind, rain and frost until only a thin neck remained. This became understood only in the nineteenth century — before then many believed they had been constructed by the ancient Druids. Their weirdness has long given them supernatural associations and made them a focus for witchcraft. It was thought, for example, that the rocking stone near Nancledrea in Cornwall could only be moved at midnight when witches were abroad; people believed that if you touched it nine times at midnight, you turned into a witch. The one at Land’s End was said to have been put there by a giant who rocked himself to sleep on it.” Archive.

Apr 16 2000 What is the Bluebeam project?

“What is the Blue Beam Project?

It involves two things. A technologically simulated "second coming" and the reemergence of new "MONTAUK" type projects that have the ability to take up a whole bunch of people as in a "rapture" type of situation and whisk the whole bunch into never-never land...

The calculated resistance to the new religion, the New World Order and the new "Messiah" will entail human loss on a massive scale in the ensuing "holy wars". The "BLUE BEAM PROJECT" will pretend to be the universal fulfillment of the prophecies of old; as major an event as that which took place 2000 years ago. In principle, it will make use of the sky as a holographic projection screen for space-based laser-generating satellites [star wars]. These projectors will project simultaneous images to the four corners of the planet, in every language by region.

It deals with the religious aspect of the NEW WORLD ORDER.

The "system" has already been tested. Holographic projections of the "CHRIST IMAGE" have already been seen in some remote desert areas. These have only been reported in tabloid papers, so they are instantly rendered moot.” Archive.

Apr 16 2000 Poisoned town condemns its movie-heroine lawyer: Julia Roberts' screen portrayal of a human rights crusader could be a long way from the truth

"The Julia Roberts film Erin Brockovich may be a hit both here and in America, but for many residents of the dusty town of Hinkley, on the edge of California's Mojave Desert, the record-breaking settlement of their legal case against a powerful public utility has not ultimately proved as rosy as the movie depicts.

The film, which opened in Britain last week, is about a brash single mother who starts a job as a law clerk and goes on to win $333 million for more than 600 of Hinkley's residents who were being poisoned by chromium 6 leaking from a gas transmission plant owned by Pacific Gas & Electric. The film suggests that the victims were satisfied with the outcome.

Not so. Many now say the film misrepresents what happened and the true story is far less than the populist victory shown on screen." Archive.

OzCW: Were the msm concocting an excuse to criticise the movie Erin Brokovitch because it had a very real impact?

Apr 16 2000 Are you a snob or a pleb? New money rules - and old money doesn't like it. John Arlidge and Burhan Wazir report on the ongoing class war

"The British love looking down on those they consider beneath them, says Countess Jennifer Guerrini-Maraldi, society commentator and fashion writer. 'Snobs are as alive and well in this country as they have ever been. Being a snob is part of the British character. It is about being aspirational and, of course, when you get to where you want to go, you can look down on other people you have left behind. Without snobbery we would have no-one to laugh at.'

For some, snobbery is the aristocratic sneer of the past. As the summer frolics at Glyndebourne, Henley and Cowes approach, blue-bloods are complaining that the Tia Maria-and-Coke-drinking classes are ruining 'the Season'. Clive Aslet, editor of Country Life, says merchant bankers, corporate sponsors, fashion victims, It girls and C-list celebrities are edging the well-bred out of Ascot's Royal Enclosure and off the banks of the Thames at Henley.

'The old formula of "see you at the tree next to the Royal Box, darling" no longer works,' Aslet complains. 'There are too many other darlings there already. The Season used to be about title and breeding. You had to be "introduced" before you could join in. But these days you can barely move for the nouveau-riche showing off and trying to get themselves on the front page of the Telegraph.'

The patrician elite's fight to retain the old order, is backed by some of Britain's oldest institutions. Hotels like The Savoy in London enforce strict dress and behaviour codes as a buttress against the shifting social mores..." Archive.

O2CW: For the New World Order to be installed, the old world order had to be destroyed. The social engineering included the music and hippie revolutions of the 1960s and 1970s, Margaret Thatcher's years creating the barrow-boy "Loadsamoney" yuppies in the eighties and Blair's "people's revolution" in the 1990s.

Next came the tech with social media and ID control. And so it still churns on until as far as 2024, with King Charles fiddling with his coronation and commissioning a Baphomet portrait.

Apr 17 2000 Murdoch diagnosed with 'low grade' prostate cancer but keeps on working

"The billionaire media tycoon Rupert Murdoch has been diagnosed as suffering from "low grade" prostate cancer, his company said yesterday.

Mr Murdoch, 69, owner of the conglomerate News Corp Ltd, one of the most powerful media empires in the world, was diagnosed as suffering from the condition after a routine medical check in Los Angeles last week.

"His doctors have told Mr Murdoch the prognosis is very good and that it is an extremely low grade form of cancer. He has no intention of changing his work schedule," a spokesman for his company said in a statement released early yesterday...

Since his divorce from his second wife, Anna, last year, and his subsequent marriage to a former News Corp executive, Wendi Deng, 32, Mr Murdoch has been on what he described as a "serious health kick". In September he told Vanity Fair magazine he had been to an institute at UCLA where they had put him on a morning drink of frozen fruit and soya powder. He has also admitted to having a personal trainer who "tortures" him for an hour every morning in the gym at his LA home." Archive.

O2CW: In 2024 Murdoch is, unfortunately, still working and now on his fifth wife. In 2013, he fell out with Tony Blair – and Wendi – over their “encounters”.

Apr 17 2000 The means to an end. Vladimir Putin's extraordinary rise from security services chief to Russian head of state stunned even his own supporters. But the credit goes to one man: Boris Berezovsky. Today, as Tony Blair becomes the first leader to welcome Putin to the west, George Soros reveals how the shadowy oligarch picked his own president.

“The phenomenal rise of Vladimir Putin out of nowhere bore an eerie resemblance to the feat of political engineering that got Boris Yeltsin re-elected in 1996. From long experience with Boris Berezovsky, I saw his hand in both operations.

I first met the Russian financier and industrialist [Berezovsky] at the World Economic Forum in Davos in January 1996. The Communist candidate for the presidency of Russia, Gennadi Zyuganov, had been well received by the business community at Davos. I told Berezovsky that if Zyuganov was elected, he would not be safe in Russia.” Archive.

Relevant: Boris Berezovsky died in suspicious circumstances in the UK in 2013: the Sun reported that he had in his possession compromat on Prince Phillip. 2013: Berezovsky: Few tears in Russia for “master of chaos”.

Apr 17 2000 Military fears over PlayStation2

“Japan has imposed export controls on Sony's highly popular PlayStation2 games console, on the grounds that its components could be used for military purposes.

Local media reports said the console and its 8MB memory card had been designated as "general-purpose products related to conventional weapons" because they contain components that could be used quickly to process high quality images - a characteristic of missile guidance systems.” Archive

Relevant: Newsgroup post: Playstation 2 runs at 6.2 Gigaflops and can guide Missiles too!

*"Looks like the PS2 blows away the 2 Gigaflop AMD Athlon, Intel Itanium and even the slow 1 Gigaflop Apple G4 CPUs! Here's the article from PC World:
*

<http://pcworld.com/pcwtoday/article/0,1510,15038,00.html> <P>

*Also from ZzzDNet they report that the Japanese goverment thinks the PS2 is a military weapon that can guide Tomahawk missiles and might put export restrictions from Japan just like the US government on the Apple G4!
*

<http://www.zdnet.com/zdnn/stories/news/0,4586,2550857,00.html> <P>

Maybe we will all run Photoshop, blow up other countries, play Grand Turismo 2 and watch the Matrix DVD all on the little Sony Playstation 2!<P>Now I want to buy it!" Archive.

Apr 18 2000 "Mafiaboy" charged with cyberterrorism

"A 15-year-old boy has been charged with two counts of computer mischief for crippling the CNN website and 1,200 related sites in a cyber attack, police said yesterday.

His computer name was "Mafiaboy", but he cannot be identified under Canadian law.

Cyber attacks against CNN, Yahoo!, eBay, Amazon, ETrade and other major web sites in February inconvenienced millions of users and raised questions about internet security...

Three computers have been identified as middlemen in the February attacks: a computer at the University of California, Santa Barbara; a router at Stanford University; and a home business computer in the area of Portland, Oregon. Investigators say that dozens, even hundreds, of middlemen computers were used in the attacks.

Mr Roussel said the "denial of service attacks" require a high-capacity computer network capable of transmitting large volumes of data to targeted computers."

Relevant: In 2023, a not-so-mischievous-now-you're-earning-a-wodge-in-corporate Mafiaboy was terrified of cyber attacks.

Apr 18 2000 Italy: Immigration or extinction

“The question of immigration in Europe is always controversial.

However, what if immigration were to be seen not as a problem to be solved, but as the solution to one of Europe's biggest dilemmas - how to replenish a shrinking population?

In Italy, birth rates are among the lowest on the continent.

The community of Badolato, in particular, has been more than happy to welcome asylum seekers as saviours.

It is a picture-perfect hill top town in southern Italy.

It is beautiful and quiet - in fact, it is rather too quiet and that is because most of its inhabitants have left.” Archive.

Relevant: 2023: Immigration got out of hand in Lampedusa, threatening locals with extinction.

Apr 19 2000 Hillary rips mayor on pollution

“Hillary Rodham Clinton yesterday threw her support behind federal legislation to curb acid rain – and for the first time launched an attack on Mayor Giuliani’s environmental record.

Stepping up her assault on the mayor, Clinton today will travel to Huntington, L.I., to condemn Giuliani for not acting to prevent environmentally damaging discharges of nitrogen and other pollutants into Long Island Sound.

“I’m going to be pointing out my concern over the EPA’s finding about some of the dumping the city did into the sound,” Clinton said.

“I have some questions I’ll be raising about the mayor’s record on environmental issues,” she added.” Archive.

Apr 19 2000 The backlash against NGOs

"In a global world without global government, non-governmental organisations (NGOs) have stepped in to fill the gap. But there is now a backlash against their unaccountable power. Have they become too big for their boots?" Archive.

Apr 21 2000 I'm out with the in-crowd

"The Groucho, legendary hangout of London's trendy media types, is under threat. Current member Tom Hodgkinson celebrates a place where men and women can behave very, very badly

The news that the Groucho Club is the subject of a hostile takeover bid by a cocky, fresh-faced young Sloane called Benjamin Fry has had Soho's finest drunks choking on their sea breezes...

The Groucho's chairman, Tony Mackintosh, has rejected the offer of £9m to buy him out... With the possible exception of poor Jeffrey Archer, I personally find it hard to imagine any of the others - people such as Salman Rushdie, Liz Calder of Bloomsbury and Steve Martin - agreeing to sell...

For Dick Bradsell, who worked there during this era, it was wonderful. "It's not about money," he enthuses. "It's a place to go where people feel comfortable. Stars can go and there and be treated as normal human beings. It's a family place, and the staff like working there."

Julie Burchill's reign was followed by the Damien years, and it was during Damien Hirst's tenure that I started hanging out there. Damien has now been banned for getting his dick out once too often. That is a great shame as not only has he contributed enormously to the club's atmosphere, he would also spend a sum roughly equivalent to my annual earnings there every year." Archive.

Relevant: 2014: Groucho Club come clean on child abuse. Archive.

"Groucho Club Child Abuse Forum

A massive child abuse network was exposed operating on the celebrity haunt, the Groucho Clubs private members forum.

· The Groucho Club private members forum had 42,000 members, 900,000 posts and children available for sex as young as 5 years old.

· After 24 reports to the Police, they failed to investigate, after complaints were made to certain MP's the Police issued a false report with many denials. The report absolved the Police and the Groucho Club of any wrongdoing.

· The Groucho Kingpin is none other than John H J Lewis a top tory heavyweight who donated over £20,000 to Jeremy Hunt who then failed to declare it. Questions need to be asked about exactly what this money was for. Also, did Jeremy Hunt know about the Child Abuse network on the Groucho members forum owned and operated by his political cohort John H J Lewis.

· Many of the celebrities arrested or convicted often frequented the Groucho Club including infant molester Ian Watkins. The Groucho management refuse to comment on Watkins activity at the club. They also refuse to comment on Glitter, Saville, Harris, Hall and Max Clifford

· The whole Groucho Club Child abuse network have now moved on, no searches made, no arrests made, no one questioned. The investigation was closed down quickly and quietly without even contacting the reporter who made the many complaints to the Police.”

Relevant: 2017: How PR superstar Max Clifford fell from grace. 2021: Groucho Club 3. Archive. 2023: Disgraced rocker Ian Watkins.

Apr 21 2000 Andrew’s Lovey-Dovey Lunch Date with Ghislaine

“If you think Prince Andrew is letting any grass grow under his feet in the romance department, Fergie-get about it.

The Post caught the dashing royal wining and dining his sweetheart, Ghislaine Maxwell, during an intimate lunch at Nello’s restaurant on Madison Avenue.

Sarah Ferguson’s former hubby held hands with his new love and was seen eating a meal of salad and chops.

But the dashing prince – once known as Randy Andy for his escapades with sexy film star Koo Stark – was apparently eager to keep his latest romance under wraps.

After lunch, Ghislaine – daughter of late media tycoon Robert Maxwell – exited by herself, leaving Andrew to settle the bill.

Next, Andrew walked out and immediately pulled a cell phone from his jacket.

Ghislaine was window-shopping down the street, a witness said.

When Andy spotted our photographer, Ghislaine quickly ran into a shop, occasionally peering out to see if the coast was clear.” Archive.

Apr 21 2000 In Debate on AIDS, South Africa's Leaders Defend Mavericks

"South African officials today defended the right of maverick AIDS experts to be heard, and continued to speak skeptically of accepted beliefs about how the disease is transmitted.

President Thabo Mbeki sparked renewed controversy on Wednesday for backing scientists who say that H.I.V. does not cause AIDS. He defended skeptical scientists like Peter Duesberg and David Rasnick, both Americans, in a letter to President Clinton and other world leaders.

And today Mr. Mbeki's deputy president, Jacob Zuma, declaring that all sides on the debate had to be heard, drew parallels between arguments about the virus and the 17th-century controversy surrounding Galileo, who shattered scientific orthodoxy by proving the earth moved around the sun...

South Africa has one of the world's fastest growing rates of H.I.V. infection, with 4.2 million people -- almost 10 percent of the population -- estimated to have the virus...

In his speech, Mr. Zuma went on to say that no group of scientists could monopolize a particular issue. "Our view is that it is fundamentally wrong to accept the notion that established mainstream scientific truths must not be questioned," Mr. Zuma said in the statement.

"We should not, and we will not leave any stone unturned, even if this means including the views of the so-called dissidents," he said...

Mr. Mbeki's government has refused to make AZT available in public clinics even though studies have shown its use can protect the babies of H.I.V.-infected mothers...a spokeswoman for the military said the army had discontinued use of AZT..." Archive.

Relevant: 2022: Thabo Mbeki still stands by his views.

Apr 21 2000 Autism: A Unique Type of Mercury Poisoning

"Autism is a syndrome characterized by impairments in social relatedness, language and communication, a need for routine and sameness, abnormal movements, and sensory dysfunction. Mercury [Hg] is a toxic metal that can exist as a pure element or in a variety of inorganic and organic forms and can cause immune, sensory, neurological, motor, and behavioral dysfunctions similar to traits defining or associated with autism. Thimerosal, a preservative frequently added to childhood vaccines, has become a major source of Hg in human infants and toddlers. According to the FDA and the American Academy of Pediatrics, fully vaccinated children now receive, within their first two years, Hg levels that exceed safety limits established by the FDA and other supervisory agencies. A thorough review of medical literature and U.S. government data indicates [i] that many and perhaps most cases of idiopathic autism, in which an extended period of developmental normalcy is followed by an emergence of symptoms, are induced by early exposure to Hg; [ii] that this type of autism represents a unique form of Hg poisoning [HgP]; [iii] that excessive Hg exposure from thimerosal in vaccine injections is an etiological mechanism for causing the traits of autism; [iv] that certain genetic and non-genetic factors establish a predisposition whereby thimerosal's adverse effects occur only in some children; and [v] that vaccinal Hg in thimerosal is causing a heretofore unrecognized mercurial syndrome.” Archive.

Apr 22 2000 [On the 30th anniversary of Earth Day we take an \[electric\] eco-friendly car out for a test drive](#)

“GEM of Hawaii, which sells Global Electric MotorCars out of its Queen Street office, loaned the Star-Bulletin a four-seater for a week, not only to commemorate Earth Day but to allow us to experience part of a simpler lifestyle.

We got the Model 825. The first thing you marvel at is the silence. When you turn the key to "On" there's no sound. Only when you depress the accelerator do you hear the whining of an electrical motor.

Then oomph. Although GEM has a top speed of 25 mph -- I did hit 28 a few times going down hill -- it reaches 16 mph in about two seconds, enough to startle first-time passengers.

There are no doors -- canvas ones with a clear window can be purchased as an option -- so you're close to the elements: wind, rain, ground, other cars, dogs in pick-up trucks.” Archive.

Apr 22 2000 A Silicon Valley Laboratory Shuts Down

“An ambitious Silicon Valley effort to create computer industry breakthroughs ended in failure today when the Web site of the Interval Research Corporation was replaced with a stark press release stating that its co-founder, Paul G. Allen, had closed the advanced computer laboratory after eight years.

The laboratory told 30 of its 50 remaining employees that they would be offered positions at a smaller for-profit advanced broadband development group that will be established by Vulcan Ventures, Mr. Allen's investment group.

Mr. Allen, who also co-founded Microsoft with William H. Gates, created Interval in 1992 in partnership with David E. Liddle, a computer scientist. They made a 10-year, $100 million investment in an effort to pursue new ideas that might bear fruit as much as a decade in the future...

The Interval Research laboratory, which at one point had swelled to employ as many as 150, was formed with the intent to spin off business enterprises. To date, the spin-off model has largely failed, with no dramatic successes having come from the years of research.

When Mr. Allen decided last year to narrow the focus of the research laboratory to support his cable and broadband commercial investments, Mr. Liddle chose to resign...

Interval Research was known in Silicon Valley for its obsession with secrecy, and analysts said that also worked against the research group.

"They were done in by secrecy, which isolated them," said Paul Saffo..."But this is great news for the Valley; a lot of big brains are now on the loose." Archive.

Relevant: 2011: Paul Allen security team members sue Vulcan, claim unethical conduct. 2016: Microsoft billionaire Paul Allen is fighting claims that his superyacht completely destroyed a coral reef in the Cayman Islands. 2018: Paul Allen Files Patent Lawsuits Against Entire Web... Except Microsoft.

23 Apr 2000 Japan's star-maker accused of sexually abusing boys

"The boss of Japan's biggest talent agency, a man who spent 37 years plucking teenagers from obscurity, is at the centre of a scandal that could bring his empire down.

Johnny Kitagawa, 68, has been accused of sexually abusing many of his young male charges, including one aged 12. Police, abandoning a traditional reluctance to pursue such cases, have announced an investigation.

Alumni of Johnny's Jimusho [Johnny's Office], are everywhere on Japanese TV. A survey showed they appeared in 80 shows and commercials in one year alone. At the peak of the boy band boom in 1995, Johnny's, by then known popularly as the 'Pretty Man Factory', registered earnings of 2.9 billion yen [£17 million]. Since Kitagawa's first success with a boy band, the Four Leaves, in 1963, he has produced a steady stream of dancers, singers and actors, many now household names in Japan." Archive.

Apr 25 2000 Nanotechnology: Training Engineer-Scientists to Link the Living with the Mechanical

“The emerging field of nanobiotechnology could hasten the creation of useful ultra-small devices that mimic living biological systems - if only biologists knew more about nanotechnology and engineers understood more biology.

They soon will. Starting in June 2000, the first 12 Ph.D. candidates will hit the laboratories of Cornell University's new W.M. Keck Program in Nanobiotechnology. The program has been inaugurated with a three-year, $1.2 million grant from the W.M. Keck Foundation of Los Angeles and is expected to receive other sources of support.

Keck Fellows will study with Cornell researchers who are working in the "nano" scale [as small as a few billionths of a meter] to invent hybrid devices that combine the best of the organic and the inorganic, the living and the engineered. Although this basic research at the interface of engineering and biology does not involve human subjects, the devices that will emerge could someday solve human problems:

-- Micro-mobile smart pharmacies, propelled through the human body with biomolecular motors that run on nature's ATPase energy, to dispense precisely metered drugs wherever and whenever cells [such as cancer cells] signal the need.

-- Nanofabricated surfaces with structural patterns to grow artificial pancreatic islets and reverse the effects of diabetes - or to grow "neuron repair kits" [brain-cell transplants] for those afflicted with Parkinson's or Alzheimer's disease.

-- Super-small, directionally sensitive hearing aids based on the auditory organ of a tiny parasitic fly..."
Archive.

Relevant: 2023: Nanotechnology-based mRNA vaccines.

Apr 26 2000 The Leonard Peltier Case: A Time to Reconsider

“Geronimo Pratt isn't the only political holdover from the 1970s whose controversial murder conviction ought to be reviewed. Another is Leonard Peltier, the American Indian Movement leader who has been behind bars now for more than 20 years. Pratt and Peltier never may have met, but they have a lot in common. Pratt was a Black Panther whose case was tainted by allegations of prosecutorial misconduct. He was recently released after more than 20 years in jail. Peltier was a member of the American Indian Movement (AIM), a group that staged a series of militant protests in the 1970s to publicize broken treaties and other Indian grievances. Each man was prosecuted during the era of COINTELPRO, the FBI's "domestic security" program that targeted a variety of community activists (including Martin Luther King Jr.). In 1976, the Select Committee on Intelligence, chaired by Senator Frank Church, concluded that many COINTELPRO activities were unlawful...

So far, [his advocates] claim the support of 30 U.S. senators and members of Congress; Bill Richardson, the U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations; and such international figures as Mother Teresa and the Dalai Lama.” Archive.

Relevant: 2023: Bill Richardson: Epstein client list. 2024: Indigenous activist Leonard Peltier denied parole for 1975 killings of 2 FBI agents.

Apr 26 2000 Almost like being alive

“After talking with Julia for a while it becomes obvious she isn't quite human, as much as she tries to be. It's like she just doesn't listen. Here's a snippet of our recent conversation. Julia: That's the nice thing about cats. . . . They keep their secrets to themselves. Me: Yeah, cats are great. Julia: I like most animals but I favor cats over dogs. Are you a cat lover? Me: Yeah, but I like dogs better. Julia: Me too. Julia's shortcomings are not her own fault, though. You see, Julia...is a product of her environment -- the artificial-intelligence (AI) community. She roams Multi-User Dungeons (MUDs) giving out directions and collecting data on users. Unwary patrons might not even know they are conversing with a computer program -- at first, anyway. Her unpolished manner is indicative of the trouble AI experts have had in making computers imitate human behavior. Once the muse of many a science-fiction writer, AI has fallen from grace in the public eye, probably as a result of too many wildly optimistic, unkept promises in the past 40 years (made largely to keep government funds flowing, as it turns out). In 1967 AI pioneer Marvin Minsky boldly predicted in his book Computation: Finite and Infinite Machines, "Within a generation . . . few compartments of intellect will remain outside the machine's realm." Well, a generation has passed, and while IBM's finest may have won a few grand-master chess matches, the most powerful chips are still stumped by real-life logistics which a five-year-old could suss.” Archive.

Relevant: 2024: Marvin Minsky on the Epstein client list. 2024: MIT news: AI. See also May 2000: What is Artificial Intelligence?

Apr 26 2000 4080: Underground hip hop magazine

“On a tree-lined street in Berkeley, there is a rambling, gabled house with a wide front porch. To enter, ring the bell, which has the deep tone of another era. Inside you'll find a high-ceilinged living room with a glowing hardwood floor. A few steps further will take you to two small rooms -- perhaps at one time a storeroom and pantry. Welcome to the hiphop nation. Check your preconceived notions at the door. The old Victorian houses the offices of an underground hip-hop monthly magazine called 4080; the name comes from a track by the rap group A Tribe Called Quest, and the line in question is the mocking refrain, "Industry rule 4080: Record company people are shady." This publication makes it clear from the outset that providing ink for major label rap acts isn't a priority. In just a few short years, 4080 has come from literally out of nowhere to become a player of some significance." Archive.

Relevant: 2023: Consequence Almost Signed To Diddy's Bad Boy — Until Q-Tip 'Intercepted' The Deal.

Apr 26 2000 [Don't Dis the Slackers \[Generation X\]](#)

"They came of age with the Challenger explosion, rather than Woodstock. Their president of record was Reagan, not Kennedy. They saw the best minds of their generation destroyed by crack, sated by MTV or numbed by shopping mall boredom. They are the offspring of arguably the most idealistic generation in American history, yet they are victims, in unprecedented numbers, of suicide, child abuse, unwanted pregnancies, underemployment, job insecurity and broken families headed by double-income parents with no time for them. They sing anthems like "I'm a loser baby, so why don't you kill me," by Beck not "All you need is love," by the Beatles. They are many things and nothing. Mostly, though, they are young and in the way of the corporate mainstream and mass media, which has decided they will be called "slackers."" Archive.

OzCW: Was there ever not a marked divide between generations? Whatever, by 2000 the divisive New World Order was edging closer.

That year, the msm and academia were heavily promoting the idea of "Gen X". In our opinion, they were [knowingly or unknowingly] perpetuating the NWO's long-term strategy of creating inter-generational conflict to facilitate control, a "creative destruction" of healthy human inter-generational loving service-in-relationships to be outsourced to detached corporations. And tech.

Which has happened. In the UK, most elderly have now been farmed out to "care" homes, some murderous. Nursery teachers sexualise and lie to children. While the people who are naturally their carers are locked into some variety of tech, working or grifting full-time to survive.

From 2000 on, the generational differences discourse was amplified by the msm, academia et al until two decades later, people happily identify themselves as “Millennials”, say, or “Gen Z-ers”: inter-generational distance has been slipped into our language.

A few Gen-X article examples from 2000:

Generation X: “Gen Xers have been stereotyped as lazy, unmotivated know-it-alls who resolve not to form a long-term allegiance with any one company or agency.”

Are you ready for generation X? [NIH]: “Generation X physicians will be coming into practice over the next two decades. Successful medical leaders must understand Gen-Xers.”

The New Generation Gap: “The novelist Doug Coupland, himself a 1961 baby, dubs his age-mates “Generation X” or “Xers,” a name first used by and about British Boomer-punkers.”

[Note the use of popular culture to cement the idea – as with Elvis the [sexualising] Pelvis in the 1950s and The Who in 1967.]

Generation X and Beyond.

Generations Apart: Xers and Boomers in the Officer Corps.

Leading Law Enforcement’s Generation X.

Mixing and Managing Four Generations of Employees.

There are lots more but you get the picture.

Once the generations were divided and locked into tech, the NWO moved in to fragment us even further by dividing the genders. But this is just our conspiracy theory.

Apr 27 2000 Microsoft Patent Application: Methods and Apparatus for Transmitting Power and Data Using the Human Body

“Abstract

Methods and apparatus for distributing power and data to devices coupled to the human body are described. The human body is used as a conductive medium, e.g., a bus, over which power and/or data is distributed. Power is distributed by coupling a power source to the human body via a first set of electrodes. One or more device to be powered, e.g., peripheral devices, are also coupled to the human body via additional sets of electrodes. The devices may be, e.g., a speaker, display, watch, keyboard, etc. A pulsed DC signal or AC signal may be used as the power source. By using multiple power supply signals of differing frequencies, different devices can be selectively powered. Digital data and/or other information signals, e.g., audio signals, can be modulated on the power signal using frequency and/or amplitude modulation techniques.” Archive.

O2CW: This patent record reads “2004-06-22 Application granted”. The patent was published on the same date. These were 6-6-6 dates [2004-6-2022]. Just coincidence or was the US Patent Office colluding with Microsoft in dark occult numerology?

The “relevant” article linked below contains a video showing nanobots in post-vaccination blood clots that respond to wireless signals. Bill Gates is seen discussing the technology.

Relevant: 2024: Japan declares state of emergency after nanobots found in 96 million citizens.

Aug 27 2000 UK mobile phone auction nets billions

“The auction for next-generation mobile phone licences in the UK is over, leaving Chancellor Gordon Brown with a £22.47bn ($35.4bn) windfall.

Result after 150 rounds

Licence A:

TIW £4.3847bn

Licence B:
Vodafone Airtouch £5.964bn

Licence C:
BT £4.03bn

Licence D:
One2One £4.003bn

Licence E:
Orange £4.095bn

The five winners are TIW, a US-Canadian company backed by Hong Kong conglomerate Hutchison Whampoa, and the four companies that currently run mobile phone services in the UK - BT Cellnet, Orange, One2One and Vodafone Airtouch.

The auction was over when cable company NTL, backed by France Telecom, dropped out of the race.

The move had been widely expected after NTL called for a 24-hour time-out in the auction. In a statement the company said that "other strategies" offered better values - a hint that it might try to merge with or take over a rival operator.

Record result: The auction result leaves market leader Vodafone with one of the strongest of the mobile phone licences, while BT Cellnet has to make do with a weaker frequency." Archive.

O2CW: Likely globalist Brown will have known that the RF spectrum operating 3G back then would in the future be upped to 5G weapons-system-grade, enabling tighter control over humanity.

April 27 2000 Vermont Civil Union Bill Becomes Law

"Vermont's governor signed landmark legislation yesterday making the state the first in the country to grant the full benefits of marriage to same-sex couples..."

Under the Vermont law, gay and lesbian couples will be able to enter into a legal institution intended to be the parallel of marriage. They will be able to go to any town clerk for a civil union license, which may then be "certified" by a justice of the peace or a willing clergy member.

If the union is to be dissolved, the matter will be handled by Vermont's Family Court just as divorces are. It will be called a dissolution." Archive.

Relevant: 2024: Vermont Wants Everyone To Replace 'Son' & 'Daughter' With 'Gender-Neutral' Terms

Apr 28 2000 McDonald's, Other Fast-Food Chains Pull Monsanto's Bio-Engineered Potato

"Monsanto Co.'s genetically modified potato is falling victim to the consumer backlash over crop biotechnology.

Fast-food chains such as McDonald's Corp. are quietly telling their french-fry suppliers to stop using the potato from Monsanto, the only biotechnology concern to commercialize a genetically modified spud.

So many food concerns are shrinking from the Monsanto potato that J.R. Simplot Co., a major supplier of french fries to McDonald's, is instructing its farmers to stop growing it.

"Virtually all the [fast food] chains have told us they prefer to take nongenetically modified potatoes," said Fred Zerza, spokesman for closely held J.R. Simplot, headquartered in Boise, Idaho.

Monsanto, the St. Louis agricultural unit of Pharmacia Corp., calls its potato "NewLeaf." It is the latest and smallest crop to feel the sting of a growing antibiotechnology campaign in the U.S. and abroad.

Critics have raised enough questions about the environmental and nutritional safety of crop biotechnology that surveys show many U.S. consumers want labels on groceries containing genetically modified ingredients, a move the food industry resists." Archive.

Relevant: 2024: McDonald's drops selling Bill Gates' fake meat.

Apr 28 2000 Welcome to Larryland

"Bill Gates plays golf, wears bad clothes and has dandruff. Larry Ellison [CEO of Oracle] wins yacht races, chases women and entertains himself with mock dogfights over the Pacific..."

In January, two of the world's most powerful businessmen found themselves engaged in highly dramatic and very different law suits. Bill Gates was up to his neck in the US government's anti-trust suit against Microsoft. Larry Ellison, several places behind him in the world's rich list and a ferocious rival, had just brought a suit against the city authorities of San Jose...

There could be no clearer divide in the profiles of the two men: the nerdy geek whose visions of world domination stemmed from a rumoured virility deficit, and the charismatic playboy with the bounty hunter profile and a taste for Top Gun military hardware...

Gates became known for flying cattle class with a blanket over his head, Ellison flies an SIAI-Marchetti S.211 fighter plane..

Where Gates enjoys a round of golf and might take his young family sailing - he has, after all, a secluded lakeside house - Ellison skippers Sayonara, one of the world's fastest yachts and a recent winner at Cowes...

Where Gates indulged in "virtual dating" [he and his girlfriend would go to see the same film in different cities and talk about it later over the phone Ellison has had a string of girlfriends...] Archive.

Relevant: 2012: Billionaire Problems: Bill Gates And Larry Ellison In Bidding War For Hawaiian Island.
2020: Oracle's Larry Ellison Hides the Dark Arts Psycho-Science Group That Groomed Him Archive.

2022: Larry Ellison's firm accused of blocking beach access on his $300M Hawaiian island.

2023: Larry Ellison cleared of forcing Oracle to overpay for NetSuite.

April 29 Satanic abuse no myth, say experts

"A specially commissioned government report will this week conclude that satanic abuse does take place in Britain. It will say that its victims have suffered actual abuse and are not suffering from "false memory syndrome".

The report, ordered by the Department of Health, focuses on the experiences of 50 "survivors". Compiled by Dr John Hale, director of the Portman Clinic in London, and psychotherapist Valerie Sinason, it will reopen the debate which started a decade ago with testimonies from children in Nottingham, Rochdale and Orkney...

The report will point to the difficulty of bringing prosecutions because of the problems of putting abused children into the witness box. There are currently at least five cases involving ritual abuse in the hands of lawyers...

The report will be studied by John Hutton, the health department minister with responsibility for child protection. He is expected to order an investigation into its findings.” Archive.

OzCW: Might this article have been part of a msm cover-up? It was posted online at midnight on 29 April 2000, the exact beginning of the Satanic festival Walpurgisnacht. Coincidence or conspiracy?

Relevant: 2002: The people who believe that Satanists might eat your baby [by Damian Thompson] Archive. 2021: Wilfred Wong who exposes SRA has been jailed for 17 years. Archive.

Apr 29 2000 BBC: Video games are valid learning tools

OzCW: A study sponsored by Sony PlayStation says video games are okay... yet the next day’s article cites a study by professional psychologists finding that video games are not okay because they increase aggression.

“Teenagers learn more from video games than they do from books, a survey suggests.

Research found youngsters learned more effectively from information presented in audiovisual form such as a video game than from facts on a printed page.

Sony PlayStation commissioned the study on 13 and 14-year-olds.” Archive.

Apr 30 2000 Violent video games can increase aggression

“Playing violent video games like Doom, Wolfenstein 3D or Mortal Kombat can increase a person's aggressive thoughts, feelings and behavior both in laboratory settings and in actual life, according to two studies appearing in the April issue of the American Psychological Association's [APA] Journal of Personality and Social Psychology. Furthermore, violent video games may be more harmful than violent television and movies because they are interactive, very engrossing and require the player to identify with the aggressor, say the researchers.

"One study reveals that young men who are habitually aggressive may be especially vulnerable to the aggression-enhancing effects of repeated exposure to violent games," said psychologists Craig A. Anderson, Ph.D., and Karen E. Dill, Ph.D. "The other study reveals that even a brief exposure to violent video games can temporarily increase aggressive behavior in all types of participants." "Archive.

Apr 30 2000 No 10's Secrets Go Underground

"A labyrinth of tunnels beneath the streets of Whitehall and Westminster is being turned into high-security offices for the Government.

But although several MPs have asked for full details of the work, the Government has refused to supply them on security grounds. Builders working on the offices have had to sign the Official Secrets Act. A former minister said: "We have all heard about the tunnels. I was once told that John Major was taken into one of them when the IRA attacked Downing Street with mortars, but I don't know if that is true or not."

The multi-million pound renovation will transform old disused rooms whose existence is well known in Whitehall, although exact details about them are shrouded in secrecy, even from civil servants and ministers. One tunnel is said to run from the Cabinet Office basement, which connects to 10 Downing Street, to the Ministry of Defence. A renovation of the Cabinet Office basement to create overspill offices to cope with Tony Blair's expansion of No 10 is known to be under way.

Work is also in progress on a mile-long tunnel under Whitehall, which is about 40 feet underground. It is expected to take nine months to complete, according to an official close to the project. New tiling and fire doors are being installed along the walls of the tunnel, which is 7ft 6in wide and snakes below the heart of London." Archive.

Relevant: The Old Street tunnels that run underneath the Tavistock Institute.

Apr 30 2000 MEMORIES: Growing up with a unicorn in the parlor – David Rockefeller

"David Rockefeller is one of the very few people in the world who grew up with the Unicorn Tapestries. His father, John D. Rockefeller Jr., who bought them in 1922, hung them in the second of the two houses on West 54th Street where the family lived. [The two buildings have long since been replaced by the sculpture garden of the Museum of Modern Art.]

"We lived at No. 10," David Rockefeller [below, as a child] recalled the other day, "and my father bought No. 12 and had a door cut through. There was a room dedicated entirely to the tapestries. I remember very well the family's excitement when we brought them in." Archive.

Relevant: 2017: David Rockefeller's gruesome legacy. Archive.

2024: VIDEO: SRA survivor explains that [027.50] the symbol of the unicorn was used in her occult ritual abuse [content warning]

Apr 30 2000 Busted: The World's Biggest Ecstasy Haul

"A young British jetsetter who has just become son-in-law to a duke could face 20 years in jail if found guilty of trafficking 330,000 pills, allegedly seized from his car boot

This is a story that links two continents, four police forces, a disgraced British duke, an Australian soap star, a cocaine dealer called Gerald, a London socialite and the world's biggest Ecstasy bust. The saga starts in Hollywood and ends, via London and Amsterdam, in the small Italian beach resort of Lignano where, on a cold Easter Monday evening last week, local police found two Nike hold-alls containing 333,000 distinctive pastel-coloured pills in the boot of a sporty little Lancia. If the consignment had got through to its destination - the streets of Los Angeles - it would have brought in nearly £7 million.

Bruell was born in Bournemouth but raised in Beverly Hills by his father, then an eminent Hollywood psychologist. His mother, Biba Hiller, a Knightsbridge-based property dealer and socialite, last week became the fourth wife of Angus Charles Drogo Montagu, 12th Duke of Manchester. The Duke was recently released from a prison in Florida where he had been serving a three-year sentence for fraud.

Police say the Briton broke down in tears within hours of his arrest. He then outlined, they say, details of one of the most ambitious drug-smuggling operations ever." Archive.

Relevant: 2011: Dukes of degeneracy: Fraudsters, drug addicts and jailbirds - the Dukes of Manchester have shamed the aristocracy for generations

April 30 2000 Bill Gates' Executive Style Inspires a Cult Following: Tech Firms Adopt Microsoft's Winning Ways

"Gates was obsessed by work, and so were his employees. He wasn't interested in money, and neither were they. He would do anything to beat out a competitor, and they would too. Employees feared but mostly revered him. "Face time with Bill" was prepared for endlessly, sweated over and later bragged about...

After the Justice Department's request Friday to split Microsoft into two competing companies, the most Draconian sanction possible, some critics are questioning whether the cult-like atmosphere at the company is directly responsible for its predicament. But if Microsoft's hard-bitten style has brought the company to its current flirtation with disaster, for a long time it was a highly successful formula indeed.

The Gates leadership style has been mimicked by Jain, as well as hundreds of technology start-ups. That's because a high-tech company is ultimately all about belief--that new products and services can create new markets, that the winds of technological change won't suddenly ravage the firm, and above all that the executive team can properly execute its plan. Because if the boss can't do it, generally the company can't either..." Archive.

May 2000 Links Most Relevant to Today

Cloning? BOGOF! [Buy one get one free...]

image made with [AI from here]

May 2000 Electronic Cash Payment Protocols and Systems The war on cash waged on...

May 2000 What is Artificial Intelligence? This article by the respected Alan Turing Institute stated that AI was in its infancy and practically useless in 2000. Although the chat bot Julia was around [see Apr 26 2000].

May-Jun 2000 Methane Production by ruminants: its contribution to global warming. Scary cow farts - run!

May 1 2000 UK Hospitals told to make emergency plans to cope with biological terrorism attacks. Getting plans and procedures in place for 2020?

May 1 2000 The Flap Over Replacement Migration.

May 2 2000 Father hopes to learn the truth behind Lockerbie – which was in the news again in 2024.

May 4 2000 Duke hints at remarriage [Same story churned out in 2024 to distract the msm from Epstein?]

May 5 2000 Fast-Moving Virus Hits Computers Worldwide.

May 8 2000 Swiss investigators find no problems at ventures set up by Klaus Schwab.

May 9 2000 The rapid rise of Piers Morgan.

May 9 2000 Jews are the genetic brothers of Palestinians, Syrians, and Lebanese, study finds. But no one took any notice.

May 10 2000 BSkyB buys Sports Internet. Murdoch continues to swallow up media orgs.

May 10 2000 Recent Decisions from the European Court of Human Rights as it bosses nation states around.

May 12 2000 Secret Germ Warfare Experiments? Just to demonstrate to chemtrails sceptics that governments are happy to poison their people.

May 17 2000 Bush a Microsoft Shareholder.

May 17 2000 Sex Trafficking: a Dark Side to the New World Order.

May 18 2000 G8 agree to cooperate on cyber crime. A secretive meeting between industry and G8 politicians takes place to cement surveillance into the international communication networks.

May 24 2000 Chaos and humiliation as Israel pulls out of Lebanon.

May 25 2000 Old money enclave. Paedophile Peter Nygard had been entertaining the usual suspects on his Caribbean island.

May 25 2000 Politics, race and the fight to inherit. The emergence of MP David Lammy.

May 31 2000 Not-for-Profit Schwab Foundation boasts over \$120 million in profits-assets.

May 2000 Summary

OK! magazine 2000 Tony and Cherie Blair with baby Leo cover, available here

In the merry month of May 2000, we saw msm scaremongering over cow flatulence overheating the planet, UK hospitals' emergency planning over bioterrorism attacks and date rape drugs. A fast-moving virus was hitting computers and the G8 group of countries was worried about cybercrime because of even scarier hackers.

In the US:

- George W Bush was a Bonesman. And his son was/is a Microsoft shareholder who also owned shares in Lucent Technologies [another dark occult name].

- Electronic cash systems and payments were on the horizon.
- Jeff Bezos gave a careers talk.
- Students tried to arrest Kissinger over East Timor. Abraham Lincoln had been debauched.
- Replacement migration caused a “flap.”
- A young Rothschild overdosed on heroin.
- The “royal family of rock” showed off. Twice on the same day.
- The Battlefield Earth controversy had not gone away.
- The US had been conducting secret germ warfare experiments on its troops.
- Microsoft was embroiled in anti-trust legislation. And hedging over encryption keys.
- There was one less Rockefeller; a judge sealed the secrets on that failed marriage.
- Napster arrived.
- Britney was interviewed.
- The Canadian residential schools scandal had not gone away.

In the UK:

- AI was not going anywhere.
- Jamie Oliver was cooking.

- Piers Morgan was rising.
- There was guerilla gardening in May Day London.
- Sarah Ferguson was not going to remarry Prince Andrew. And Camilla's niece was a cokehead.
- There was a Midazolam rapist.
- An MI6 academic was dropped from the Lockerbie enquiry.
- There was a new baby Blair but his siblings' lives were secret.
- The government had messed up cloning deals.
- There was a security clampdown in mental hospitals.
- MP David Lammy emerged out of the Tottenham swamp and Rebekah Brooks was doing well at NOTW.

In the rest of the world:

- There was a Lockerbie hearing in Holland.
- As Israel pulled out of Lebanon it was found that Jews are the genetic brothers of the Palestinians, Syrians, and Lebanese.
- In Switzerland, Klaus Schwab's not-for-profit finances were cleared even though he made a massive profit. And a CERN scientist told us the metric system had been invented for computing.
- There was drug smuggling in the Gulf.

- The WHO was looking at cloning in human health [as in cloning viruses]. The ECHR was transcending national law.
- In Australia, Murdoch was buying up Sports Internet.
- Nigerian Abacha's stolen millions was sitting in British banks.
- Peter Nygard was entertaining interesting friends on his island in the Bahamas.

In between all that, there was conspiracy and chupacabras were rampaging in Chile. Summer was icumin-in. Lhude sang cuckoo.

May 2000 Links

Cow Fart Vectors by Vecteezy

OzCW: In May 2000 Rupert Murdoch promoted Rebekah [Wade] Brooks from deputy editor of The Sun newspaper to editor of News of the World at age 32. She would be the youngest ever editor of a national newspaper.

Around a decade later, Brooks, a close friend of former UK PM David Cameron, will be arrested then cleared of charges in relation to phone-hacking and corrupt journalistic practices including payments to public officials.

Murdoch likes them young. In 1994, he had promoted [vaccine-pusher] Piers Morgan to editor of News of the World. The influences Brooks and Morgan have exerted/are exerting on UK society have in our opinion been at best unhealthy.

Relevant: 2017: Search this document for the name Brooks to read the extensive allegations. 2024: Brooks and a Murdoch in Australia.

May 2000 George W., Knight of Eulogia

“A rare look inside Skull and Bones, the Yale secret society and sometime haunt of the presumptive Republican nominee for President...”

New members of Skull and Bones are assigned secret names, by which fellow Bonesmen will forever know them. Some Bonesmen receive traditional names, denoting function or existential status; others are the chosen beneficiaries of names that their Bones predecessors wish to pass on. The leftover initiates choose their own names. The name Long Devil is assigned to the tallest member; Boaz [short for Beelzebub] goes to any member who is a varsity football captain. Many of the chosen names are drawn from literature [Hamlet, Uncle Remus], from religion, and from myth. The banker Lewis Lapham passed on his name, Sancho Panza, to the political adviser Tex McCrary. Averell Harriman was Thor, Henry Luce was Baal, McGeorge Bundy was Odin. The name Magog is traditionally assigned to the incoming Bonesman deemed to have had the most sexual experience, and Gog goes to the new member with the least sexual experience. William Howard Taft and Robert Taft were Magogs. So, interestingly, was George Bush.” Archive.

May 2000 PDF: Electronic Cash Payment Protocols and Systems

OzCW: The war on cash stepped up a notch as the techs worked on electronic payment systems. Did these PhDs understand that they were furthering an anti-human agenda?

“Topic: Electronic Cash Payment Protocols and Systems

What is cash payment?

- Cash payment is currently most popular form in conventional payment system in the world.
- Currently cash payment involves 75% - 95% of all transactions are paid in cash..
- Transactions are paid in a cash form [such as $ bill] from a buyer to a seller.

An electronic cash payment system usually is developed based on an electronic payment protocol which supports a series of payment transactions using electronic tokens or coins issued by a third party. There are three types of users:

- a payer or consumer
- a payee, such as a merchant
- a financial network with whom both payer and payee have accounts."

May-Jun 2000 Who wants to be a billionaire?

OzCW: Here we are introduced to yet another tech “titan of the economy,” Jeff Bezos. The article pumps and hypes what was quite possibly a middle-of-the-road university careers fair: you, too, could be a billionaire!

Note the use of the words “rock star, special, amazement, cherubic, crush, eager” to describe the arrival of balding Bezos in a blue jacket. Maybe the writer believed it all – sounds like he was taken in, too.

“You wouldn't mistake Jeff Bezos for a rock star. Unless, like me, you happened to be standing around after the "Summit in Silicon Valley," an MSNBC TV special held in Memorial Auditorium earlier this year. After the show, I watched in amazement as Bezos, the balding, cherubic founder of online retailer Amazon.com, came to the edge of the stage and signed autographs for a crush of students eager to exchange a few words with a titan of the new economy. At least they didn't try to tear swatches from his blue blazer.

Much of the excitement that night came from the high wattage of the dot-com big shots on hand -- Bezos, eBay's Meg Whitman, eTrade's Christos Cotsakas, AOL's Steve Case, Yahoo's Jerry Yang, '90, MS '90. Together, they represented a few billion dollars in net worth -- at least on paper. But it struck me later that students packed the hall in part because they wanted to see some live examples of what happens when you step off the obvious path and explore the unknown. After all, these entrepreneurs had not ended up in investment banking, a law firm or a big consulting outfit -- the conventional choices of their time. "Career paths have become much less predictable," says Sohini Ramachandran, a sophomore who studies math and was there that night. "A passion for knowledge combined with initiative and some luck can take you very far." Archive.

Relevant: 2023: Jeff Bezos on the Epstein client list.

May 2000 What is Artificial Intelligence?

OzCW: In our opinion, this article by the Turing Institute [TI] suggests a fork in the road around 2000 in the development of AI.

The TI points out the slow development of AI and that its progress is predicated on understanding language/linguistics. So AI is pretty much a slow-moving abstract niche for these “non-insider” UK academics.

Whereas in our previously-listed Apr 26 2000 msm article on AI Almost Like Being Alive, we read that at MIT and other institutions, academics were enthusiastically developing rudimentary AI chat bots via “intelligent agents”.

Did some of these academics, then, have foreknowledge that Google preceded by IBM had in part been developed to gather linguistic information from across the world? And that that would later feed into social media doing the same thing? With the aim of building AI to help run a tyrannical technocracy?

Seems these MIT academics knew a lot more than their TI colleagues. And they had the usual excuse for developing these “intelligent agents” – to help us, of course! To help us find information on the messy internet!

This is what the msm reported to us ignorant sheeple in April 2000:

*“In 1967 AI pioneer Marvin Minsky boldly predicted in his book Computation: Finite and Infinite Machines, “Within a generation . . . few compartments of intellect will remain outside the machine’s realm.” Well, a generation has passed, and while IBM’s finest may have won a few grand-master chess matches, the most powerful chips are still stumped by real-life logistics which a five-year-old could suss. Help may be on the way, however, courtesy of the Internet’s messiness. It comes in the form of intelligent agents. A novelty now, intelligent agents may soon become a necessity. With the glut of information on the Net, it’s becoming increasingly difficult for users to find what they need. Hence a lot of commercial and academic* development money is being thrown into the creation of programs that act like personal agents.””

Conspiracy theorists that we are, we recall that in the early 2000s, MIT’s Marvin Minsky was being funded by Epstein and travelled more than once to his island. But we could never have known that back then. Neither will the most of the msm and academics have known – they were just doing their jobs and, like the rest of us sheeple, looking forward to their three- or four-week holidays. On normal “public” islands. Reached via “normal”, non-private jets.

“Artificial Intelligence [AI] is usually defined as the science of making computers do things that require intelligence when done by humans. AI has had some success in limited, or simplified, domains. However, the five decades since the inception of AI have brought only very slow progress, and early optimism concerning the attainment of human-level intelligence has given way to an appreciation of the profound difficulty of the problem.” Archive.

Relevant: 2024: The state of AI in 2024.

May-Jun 2000 Methane Production by ruminants: its contribution to global warming

“The aim of this paper is to review the role of methane in the global warming scenario and to examine the contribution to atmospheric methane made by enteric fermentation, mainly by ruminants. Agricultural emissions of methane in the EU-15 have recently been estimated at 10.2 million tonnes per year and represent the greatest source. Of these, approximately two-thirds come from enteric fermentation and one-third from livestock manure. Fermentation of feeds in the rumen is the largest source of methane from enteric fermentation and this paper considers in detail the reasons for, and the consequences of, the fact that the molar percentage of the different volatile fatty acids produced during fermentation influences the production of methane in the rumen.” Archive.

Relevant: 2021: What’s the beef with cows and the climate crisis? 2022: Cow burps are a major contributor to the climate crisis.

OzCW: We’re not scientists so we’re not clever or interested enough to work out whether the article linked is discussing cow burps or farts but we’ve included it as an example of the fact that back in 2000, European money was being funnelled to UK/EU scientific researchers to – in our opinion – encourage them to [knowingly or unknowingly] buy into the climate crisis hogwash, perpetuate that myth and contribute to the continuing destruction of the food supply.

May 2000 Keeping Lincoln's Secrets

"William H. Herndon, Abraham Lincoln's law partner and biographer, made a record of "secret and private things" about Lincoln in two memorandum books that long ago disappeared. Now diary entries have materialized, written by a woman who saw the memorandum books in 1866, and who recorded her shocked reactions to accounts of "profligacy" and "debauchery." A distinguished Lincoln scholar describes the discovery, and considers anew the collision of privacy and history...

They all had great regard for Lincoln's astuteness, as both a lawyer and a politician, but much of what they knew about the pre-presidential life of the martyred President was in these circumstances problematic: his disreputable family background, his compulsion for dirty stories, his often messy domestic life and less than exemplary [some thought loveless] marriage, his relative lack of interest in civic or humanitarian causes, and his long-standing religious skepticism". Archive.

Relevant: 2015: The dark side of Abraham Lincoln.

May 1 2000 UK Hospitals told to make emergency plans to cope with biological terrorism attacks

"NHS hospitals and health authorities have been warned to make emergency plans in case of a biological weapon attack by terrorists. The threat of an attack has been described by the British Medical Association as "at an all time high".

Guidance to all NHS trusts, ambulance services and directors of public health was issued last month. Police teams trained by scientists from Porton Down, the Government's research centre on biological and chemical warfare, would take a lead role in the event of an attack. Joint Health Advisory Cells, combining local police and medical authorities, would be established. A Health Department spokesman said: "The purpose is to enhance our ability to respond to an attack, although there is no suggestion any group is planning one."...

Dr Nigel Lightfoot, director of the Public Health Laboratory Service in Newcastle, said Britain had the best system of surveillance in the world with its network of public health laboratories.” Archive.

May 1 2000 Ottawa experimented on native kids

“The federal government denied basic dental care and experimented with the diets of Native children in order to study the effects of Vitamin C and fluoride treatment. The controlled experiment took place in the late 1940s and early 50s in at least four Indian residential schools, documents in the National Archives reveal.

Although the aim of the five-year ‘nutritional study’ was supposed to benefit Native communities, many parents weren’t even informed of the experiment.

In a letter of Oct. 3, 1949, Dr. H.K. Brown, chief of the dental\ health division, requested certain dental treatments be halted at the United Church’s Port Alberni residential school.

‘No specialized, over-all type of dental service should be provided, such as the use of sodium fluoride, dental prophylaxis or even urea compounds.’

Dr. Brown explains that, ‘In this study dental caries [tooth decay] and gingivitis are both important factors in assessing nutritional status. The caries index could be upset by such specialized dental measures as those referred to above; and dental prophylaxis could alter the gingival picture sufficiently to make it of questionable value as a possible index of Vitamin C deficiency.’” Archive.

May 1 2000 The Flap Over Replacement Migration

“A draft report on replacement migration by the UN Population Division has captured the attention — and raised the eyebrows — of international audiences. The report’s projections, that over the next 50 years the populations of virtually all countries of Europe as well as Japan will face population decline and population aging, are not surprising. Its conclusion, however — that these twin challenges may require huge influxes of immigrants — has prompted swift reaction from across Europe and Asia...

Among its startling projections:

- The European Union’s population, which in 1995 was some 100 million larger than that of the United States, in 2050 will be smaller than the U.S. population by roughly 20 million.
- In South Korea, to maintain the ratio of working-age population to the population ages 65 years and older at the 1995 level, 5.1 billion immigrants — virtually the world’s current total population — would have to enter the country from 1995 through 2050. (The worker-retiree ratio is currently high — 12.6, compared with Germany’s 4.4.)

At the March annual meeting of the Population Association of America (PAA) in Los Angeles, demographers discussed the report.” Archive.

OzCW: The article above was written by the editor of Population Today, which is an academic journal published by Springer. To us, the flippant [no pun intended] use of the word “flap” in the title indicates that she did not take very seriously concerns expressed over the report.

In 2024 we are dealing with the direct effects of the replacement migration “they” were plotting. There were a number of academics and others who criticised the report. Seems their opinions fell on deaf ears. Thanks, partly to this short-sighted editor and people like her.

Relevant: 2024: VIDEO: Sonia Poulton interviews Dr. Simon Elmer on the Great Replacement.

May 2 2000 Sins of the Father – Residential Schools Special Report

“Ben Pratt is squeezing a dirty old baseball cap between his beefy fingers. We are seated in a small room in the sparkling new administrative building on the Gordon Indian Reserve in Punnichy, Sask., about 150 kilometres north of Regina. Our interview has been intense, but so far without incident. Then I asked the 44-year-old Native Canadian about his time in prison [an incarceration in the early 1970s for a crime he claims he did not commit] and the sexual abuse he suffered at the Gordon’s Indian Residential School in the 1960s.

Beginning when he was seven, Pratt was repeatedly raped by William Starr, a lay person who worked as the director of the student residence and was eventually made the administrator of the Anglican-run school. Starr was convicted in 1993 on criminal charges of sexually assaulting 10 boys between the ages of seven and 14, in incidents that took place from 1968 to 1984. Pratt later won a civil suit for the horrible abuse he suffered.” Archive.

May 2 2000 Father hopes to learn the truth behind Lockerbie

"...The trial of the two Libyans accused of blowing up Pan Am flight 103 over the Scottish border town in December 1988 begins at Camp Zeist tomorrow. After more than 11 years, and given the twists and turns the case has taken, the fact that there is a trial seems to some nothing short of a miracle.

But those who expect the trial, on a former US base close to the Dutch city of Utrecht, will get to the bottom of the matter are in a minority. Dr Swire, whose daughter, Flora, was among the 270 victims, expects it to be no more than part of the investigative process, at best.

"I think it will show the guilt or innocence of the two accused," he said. "I don't know that at the moment. We have lived in a soup of conspiracy theories. We hope that the expert dissection of the evidence will show which parts of which theories are credible. I know no other way of separating the wheat from the chaff.

"Thirdly, this will finally take from the politicians the argument that we cannot have inquiries into air safety or intelligence matters." Archive.

Relevant: 1999: Lockerbie conspiracies from A-Z. 2009: Pan Am 103 newsgroup thread. Archive. 2010: The Lockerbie conspiracy and BP newsgroup thread. Archive. 2020: Iran leader's cryptic tweet about Lockerbie.

May 2 2000 UK May Day Protests erupt in violence: 'Guerrilla gardening' action turns ugly with looted shops and battles with police

"A protest against capitalism in central London involving 4,000 people descended into ugly scenes of violence yesterday when shops were looted and bricks and bottles were hurled at police.

For the first three hours of the "guerrilla gardening" action, police did not intervene as activists dug up the grassy area of Parliament Square and daubed paint and graffiti on monuments including the Cenotaph and a statue of Sir Winston Churchill. But hundreds of officers in riot gear were brought in to break up the demonstrators after a McDonald's restaurant and a bureau de change on Whitehall were broken into and wrecked shortly after 2pm...

From 11am police stood back as supporters of the Reclaim the Streets "dis-organisation" took over Parliament Square. Activists dug up most of the grassy area of the square opposite the Commons, putting down plants and seeds and digging ponds. Turf was ripped up and put on the road. Protesters hung banners from lamp-posts and forced police to block through traffic...

Demonstrators threw bottles and cans at riot police and an officer was punched. Trafalgar Square was daubed with graffiti. Some tried to storm St Martin's-in-the-Fields church..."

Relevant: Jun 2000 Squall Magazine: Poisoning the Guerilla Garden

"The barrage of criticism heaped upon Reclaim the Streets from all sides subsequent to the guerilla gardening action on Mayday provides an ample case in point; staggering both in its complicity with mainstream political strategy and for the inanity of its pointless self-destruction.

We're used to the likes of the Daily Mail and the Sunday Times proffering the 'Anarchist jobs takeover' and 'RTS stockpile weapons' style of coverage. But this time the usual suspects were joined by an onslaught of critical barrage from pseudo-friends of the movement like Oxbridge journo, George Monbiot. Content to have established a career based on his connections to the UK direct action scene, it is a bitter truth that Monbiot might accept thirty pieces of Guardian silver for an exaggerated kiss and tell onslaught against RTS.

For those who missed George Monbiot's bilious attack, a wade through the spluttered outrage can be spared with a summary of his main points. Liberally peppered with the language and metaphor of utter condemnation, he stated that RTS's ranks are swollen with violent and uncaring thugs, and that, having lost the plot completely, RTS are "a part of the problem not the solution". Furthermore, and perhaps most hypocritically, he stated that planting seeds outside the Houses of Parliament was a "futile" action against capitalism."

OzCW: It's that Monbiot name. The article reads as if he was smearing the truth again. We could not find the article referenced by Squall Magazine. [The Guardian May Day article linked above was not written by Monbiot.]

May 4 2000 HIS WEALTH COULDN'T BUY HIM INVINCIBILITY – A ROTHSCHILD'S DEATH AN APPARENT OD AFTER WILD NIGHT OF PARTYING

"AT 23, Raphael de Rothschild – scion of one of the world's richest families – thought he was invincible.

But fate proved him wrong on a chilly Saturday afternoon two weeks ago, when he collapsed on a Chelsea street, turned blue, and died of an apparent heroin overdose after partying at a friend's 10th Avenue loft.

"Like a lot of people his age, Raffy was the kind of guy who thought he'd be around forever," a de Rothschild friend said.

"Bad things happened to other people, not him."

His death has devastated family and friends – some who seemed unaware of the young heir's drug use until his death...

Several other sources, all of whom requested anonymity, said de Rothschild went out Friday, April 21, with a group that included Victoria's Secret model Karen Elsen, a former girlfriend and longtime pal of the banking heir.

They later turned up at the Chelsea loft of de Rothschild's best friend, painter Dustin Yellin.

"Everyone was just hanging out. It wasn't a loud, boisterous gathering," a source said.

Police sources said de Rothschild ordered 10 "decks" of heroin, which arrived at the loft around 10 p.m. Ten "decks" – a "bundle" in street parlance – sells for about $90, and is roughly the amount an addict uses in a day." Archive.

May 4 2000 Duke hints at remarriage

"The Duke of York has revealed he would "not rule out" the possibility of remarrying his former wife Sarah Ferguson.

The Duke and Duchess of York split in 1993, but there has been much speculation about their relationship since Miss Ferguson moved back into the family home three years ago.

Prince Andrew, speaking in a candid interview with Tatler magazine, said: "I don't rule remarriage out and I certainly don't rule it in.

"The fact is that we got married and had a wonderful time but it didn't work out for whatever reason.""

Relevant: 2024: Sarah Ferguson rules out marrying Andrew for a second time.

OzCW: As conspiracy theorists, we note that in 2024 Sarah Ferguson appears to be rehashing a tidbit of old “are they or aren’t they going to get back together?” gossip, possibly to throw at the msm royal-gossipers to deflect from more sordid allegations about Prince Andrew’s – or even her own – sordid comings and goings.

May 5 2000 Fast-Moving Virus Hits Computers Worldwide

“One of the most disruptive computer viruses in history, dubbed “ILoveYou” and the “Love Bug” and reportedly launched from the Philippines, raced across the Internet on Wednesday and Thursday. It affected millions of computers in about two dozen countries and caused untold millions of dollars in damage in lost productivity.

The Justice Department said the FBI had launched a sweeping investigation of the attack, even as some government officials were coping with the virus themselves.

Unlike last year’s Melissa virus, which penetrated millions of computers and caused about $300 million in damage, the Love Bug is spreading faster and can destroy a wide variety of computer files. The Love Bug, spread primarily through e-mail, kills or hides eight kinds of files, including pictures, graphics and music, such as the popular MP3 format. It replaces those files with similarly named impostors that, when launched, begin the virus propagation anew.

Thousands of companies were apparently affected, including AT&T; Corp., Microsoft Corp., Time Warner Inc., Southern California Edison Co., Merrill Lynch & Co. and Ford Motor Co. Many firms had to shut down their e-mail systems.” Archive.

May 5 2000 U. Maryland students 'arrest' Kissinger

“With chants of “Henry Kissinger, you can't hide, we charge you with genocide” and “One, two, three, four, he's a criminal of war; five, six, seven, eight, time to incarcerate,” a group of about 30 University of Maryland students marched outside of Tawes Theatre protesting the honorary doctorate degree of public service being presented to Kissinger Thursday night.

Before the group gathered at Tawes, an audience of more than 100 sat and listened as a variety of speakers spoke at the Nyumburu Amphitheater on "mistakes" made by Kissinger during his tenure as secretary of state.

Speakers ranging from a professor to students talked about foreign policy decisions Kissinger made concerning Chile, Cambodia and East Timor that didn't take into account the humanitarianism that the United States supposedly prides itself on.

Amy Goodman, a reporter for Pacifica Radio, talked about her experiences in East Timor and blamed Kissinger for setting up the events that led to the "Indonesian government oppression of the East Timorese people."

"It's a great shame that a university that supports open discussion will honor a crook like Henry Kissinger," Goodman said. "Common criminals do not do as much damage as Henry Kissinger does. He's a criminal on a global scale."" Archive.

Relevant: 2000: With friends like these....Kissinger does Indonesia. 2016: Henry Kissinger, war criminal extraordinaire: What you need to know about his real history — and why the Sanders/Clinton exchange matters.

The Amy Goodman mentioned [is not the journalist Amy Goodman.]

May 5 2000 From Cybernetics to Littleton: Techniques of Mind Control

"The $9 billion a year video-game industry in America, which contributed mightily to the carnage at Littleton, Paducah, and Jonesboro, is far more than the mere commercial exploitation of techniques and technologies developed as "legitimate" training instruments for the military and law enforcement agencies. To understand the roots of this new form of "Manchurian Candidate" programmed terrorism, it is necessary to go back to World War II and the immediate postwar period, when there was a concerted effort launched, by the Frankfurt School and the London Tavistock Institute, to use the Marxist/Freudian perversion of psychology and other social sciences, as instruments for mass social control and brainwashing. The two pillars of the assault on the American intellectual tradition were cybernetics and the drug counterculture." Archive.

Relevant: "Littleton" references the 1999 Columbine school massacre/false flag for gun control. Archive. "Paducah" references a 1997 school shooting. Jonesboro was a school shooting in 1998.

2012: The Aurora false flag shooter James Holmes. 2023: Man dead, woman in hospital after 'targeted' residential shooting in Aurora, Ont.

May 5 2000 The truth about Jamie Oliver

O2CW: Back in 2000, Jamie Oliver [and Jules] made our toes curl. We felt we were being manipulated as the chirpy chef zipped around London in stripey t-shirts plugging supermarket deals. And why did the Chef need to be “Naked”?

Maybe we’re just miserable cynics but we’ve included this article for a laugh and because Oliver was very 2000. Also note the coincidental name “Oliver” – “Please sir, I want some more.” [Charles Dickens, Oliver Twist.]

“Then the thought crossed my mind: is it possible that Jamie Oliver is a charlatan?”

The idea gave me more pleasure than seemed reasonable. What's astonishing about Jamie - and we're talking about the brand rather than the bloke - is its perfection. Has anything or anyone ever been so hip, so perfectly judged and so of its time? And that's not all. At his age, and with the kind of cash he must be pulling down, you'd expect to hear about the odd drug-crazed punch-up or the occasional written-off Ferarri. But never with Jamie. Not even any gossip about, say, an on-set tantrum. He never puts a foot wrong. Take even the off-the-cuff ad-libs in his show - references to Neighbours, clubbing, contemporary London - they could have been scripted with a view to impressing upon us his utter normality. Can anybody be this perfect? Does Jamie actually exist?” Archive.

Of course, in Jamie's show, as with all television, there is a heavy element of artifice. Although Jamie did live in the flat where he presented both series of The Naked Chef, for example, his production company found it for him.” Archive.

Relevant: 2000: VIDEO Jamie Oliver’s Pukka Tukka. 2018: The Untold Truth of Jamie Oliver

May 8 2000 Swiss investigators find no problems at ventures set up by Klaus Schwab

“Swiss regulators say an “in-depth examination” that was part of their regular annual review of a not-for-profit foundation set up by Klaus Schwab, founder of the World Economic Forum, found no improprieties.

Daniela Piselli, an attorney for the Swiss Federal Supervisory Board for Foundations, said the agency approved the financial and operating accounts of the Schwab Foundation for Economic and Social Development, as well as those of the World Economic Forum, also a foundation, on April 19. The review included three exchanges of correspondence, as well as a meeting between regulators and the two foundations, Ms. Piselli said.

"It was only after an in-depth examination of all the documents and information provided by both foundations that the Swiss Federal Supervisory Board for Foundations pronounced itself on their management," she said in a statement." Archive.

May 8 2000 The House of the Rising Ronsons by Mary Ellen Mark

"Breaking away from the clutch of the hostesses, there was also the as-yet-unindicted Puff Daddy, for whom Ronson has D.J.'d many parties, including his notoriously successful 29th-birthday bash of 1998 at which Martha Stewart and Sarah Ferguson shared celebrity status with Lil' Kim. For Puffy, Ronson seems to function as a demigodlike version of all those yo-whassup-in' white boys in the suburbs who make hip-hop go cha-ching!

"Puffy used to come up to me at parties and try and give me $100," Ronson says thoughtfully, "but now if he did that, I guess it would seem almost like an insult."" Archive.

Relevant: 2012: The Royal family of rock. Undated: Socialite Ann Dexter-Jones with Socialite Ghislaine Maxwell and Trump. 2023: Harvey & Bob Weinstein on Epstein's client list.

May 8 2000 The House of the Rising Ronsons by Nancy Jo Sales [in NYmag]

"The hot-ticket Met gala was in fact the perfect cap on a year in which the D.J. – and not just any D.J., but Ronson – became a New York nightlife fixture as well as a shiny tie pin in the cravat of a new society. In party after party much remarked upon for the double-take effect of a new mixing (Donald Trump and Lil' Cease! Fat Joe, Heavy D, and Harvey and Bob Weinstein!), there was one young man manning the soundtrack – at about $1,000 an hour – and he was not some hip-hop legend like Funkmaster Flex or Kid Capri but a tall, white, and handsome B-boy with a private-school pedigree. His Jigginess Jay-Z hired him, and so did Hugo Boss...

Breaking away from the clutch of the hostesses, there was also the as-yet-unindicted Puff Daddy, for whom Ronson has D.J.'d many parties, including his notoriously successful 29th-birthday bash of 1998 at which Martha Stewart and Sarah Ferguson shared celebrity status with Lil' Kim. For Puffy, Ronson seems to function as a demigodlike version of all those yo-whassup-in' white boys in the suburbs who make hip-hop go cha-ching!...

Her own family is, not surprisingly, illustrious. Her great-uncle Sir Oscar Deutsch founded the Gaumont-Odeon Cinemas "and was the first Jew to be knighted by the queen!" she says. Her second cousin Sir Leon Brittan was the British Home secretary. Another second cousin, Sir Malcolm Rifkind, was the minister of defense."

Relevant: 2015: Paedophile Leon Brittan Dies – Truth About Child Sex Orgies To Emerge. 2014: Rifkind: One of the secret rulers of the world? 2017: Bob Weinstein accused of sexual harassment by TV showrunner 2022: Harvey Weinstein Found guilty of rape and sexual assault in Los Angeles trial.

OzCW: We just saw listed two very similar but different articles about the same family published in two different US publications on the same day. Using the same headline. We don't know why but we note that in retrospect, more than a few of the names dropped so unctuously are suspicious. We're happy we weren't at that party!

Note the emphasis in the second article on the word "new" – all that liberating innovation. It's all about disruption, dudes, creative destruction! Those early adopters ahead of the curve are so trendy and so much fun!

May 9 2000 The rapid rise of Piers Morgan

"The row over Mirror editor Piers Morgan's timely share purchase is just the latest controversy in a dizzyingly successful newspaper career.

And this for a man still in his early 30s.

He attended boarding school but moved to the local comprehensive because the fees were too high. After school he studied journalism at Harlow College and worked for local south London newspapers before being spotted by then Sun editor, Kelvin MacKenzie.

He was given his own showbiz column, Bizarre, where he published pictures of himself with the rich and famous.

In January 1994 he was just 28 when he became editor of the News of the World. In November of the following year, he became the youngest national daily newspaper editor when he moved to The Mirror." Archive.

May 9 2000 Jews are the genetic brothers of Palestinians, Syrians, and Lebanese, study finds

"If a common heritage conferred peace, then perhaps the long history of conflict in the Middle East would have been resolved years ago. For, according to a new scientific study, Jews are the genetic brothers of Palestinians, Syrians and Lebanese, and they all share a common genetic lineage that stretches back thousands of years.

Jews and Arabs are all really children of Abraham," says Harry Ostrer, M.D., Director of the Human Genetics Program at New York University School of Medicine, an author of the new study by an international team of researchers in the United States, Europe, and Israel. "And all have preserved their Middle Eastern genetic roots over 4,000 years," he says." Archive.

May 10 2000 PDF: World Health Organization report by the Director-General: Cloning in human health

"1. The world is poised at the start of an unprecedented genomic revolution that will transform knowledge about medicine and health and create new opportunities for prevention, diagnosis and treatment. Since 1997 WHO has been actively engaged in assessing the ethical and social dimensions of developments in biotechnology and genetics as they affect human health. Cloning has in particular received a great deal of attention, and interest in the subject on the part of Member States resulted in Health Assembly resolutions WHA50.37 and WHA51.10."

May 10 2000 Girl killed to act as drug mule in Gulf

"Drug smugglers abducted and killed a small girl, then stuffed her body with drugs in order to take them into a Gulf state, a senior police officer was reported as saying yesterday.

Officials at the unnamed airport saw a woman cradling the child in her arms, apparently asleep. As the woman passed through immigration control an officer teased the child, but there was no response. Then he realised she was dead.

Sympathy quickly turned to horror when officials discovered that the girl's body was packed with drugs. They concluded that she had been killed for the specific purpose of smuggling narcotics...

They have been known to pack drugs inside the Koran or in the frames of Islamic art. In one case a blind man had a white stick full of drugs.

The Gulf has long been recognised as a staging post for drugs on the route from Pakistan and Afghanistan to Europe. It is also believed by some to be a money-laundering centre for the proceeds.

In states where alcohol is prohibited and drugs offend social and religious sensibilities, the problem is officially portrayed as a foreign one." Archive.

Relevant: Arab Muslims were radicalised in the region by the British for divide-and-conquer purposes – likely these evil people will have been Khazars. Archive1. Archive2.

OzCW: Islam prohibits the use of drugs. To us, the above horror looks like Satanism.

May 10 2000 Newsgroup post: Mark of the Beast/bar codes/scanners

"ALL Christians are PROHIBITED by Revelation 14:9-11 from cooperating with the " MARK OF THE BEAST " bar code, OCR number, and magnetic strip scanning systems, etc., [as found in local libraries, supermarkets, retail establishments, etc.], which also THREATEN to SUBVERT Individual Privacy and Freedom !

The scanners can serve THE SAME CRIMINAL PURPOSE as the TV cameras in the book " 1984 " The UPC bar codes are probably the most blatant form of the " MARK OF THE BEAST " so far, with the " NUMBER OF THE BEAST ", 666, ALREADY CODED INTO THEM ! Each of the three so-called " guard patterns ", [pairs of thin lines spaced close together, at the beginning, middle, and end of each full-length UPC bar code], is IDENTICAL to one of the two codes for a 6 !

The " MARKED " ID card is ONLY ONE STEP AWAY from the WRIST TATTOO !

MICRO CHIP IMPLANTS might be used in place of tattoos, by BIG BROTHER !

WARN YOUR FRIENDS!" Archive.

May 10 2000 BSkyB buys Sports Internet

“Satellite broadcaster BSkyB is buying Sports Internet Group in a £301m deal as part of its efforts to boost its online activities.

The all-share offer has been accepted by Sport Internet's board.

BSkyB, owned by Rupert Murdoch's News Corp and by France's Vivendi, is planning to combine Sport Internet's web sites with its own skysports.com.

It has secured Sport Internet's management to lead the site's development.

The acquisition also adds to BSkyB's current links with England's top football clubs and leagues.

Sports Internet owns the Planetfootball group, which runs a number of Premiership Clubs' websites. It also owns the Opta football statistics operation.” Archive.

May 10 2000 Recent Decisions from the European Court of Human Rights

“A number of recent decisions have been issued by the European Court of Human Rights in Strasbourg (the "ECHR"), which are significant not only for their content, but for the broad scope of the subject matter addressed.(1) The ECHR provides European nationals, and others, a forum that transcends national court authority for adjudication of issues in instances where they believe their human rights, as guaranteed by the European Convention on Human Rights (the "European Convention"),(2) have been violated.

This ability to transcend national law, and to compel revision of such law to comport with rights guaranteed by the European Convention in a broad range of areas, most often within the exclusive purview of national and local courts, is of historic note.” Archive.

May 10 2000 Abacha's stolen millions in British banks

“Hundreds of millions of pounds stolen by the late Nigerian dictator General Sani Abacha and his entourage is stashed in bank accounts in London and Jersey, lawyers working for the Nigerian government claimed yesterday.

The money is allegedly in accounts belonging to some of Abacha's close family and friends and some former members of his military government. It is thought to be part of an estimated £2bn systematically looted from Nigeria's central bank during the dictator's five-year rule.

Britain is not the only place where the money is stored - banks in Singapore, Hong Kong, Dubai, the US, Liechtenstein, Switzerland and Luxembourg are also involved...

The Home Office yesterday said that it would neither confirm nor deny that UK banks are holding Abacha money or whether an investigation into the matter is under way. However, Peter Hain, the Foreign Office minister with responsibility for Africa, has already pledged British support in recovering the money.

Abacha took power in a military coup in 1993 after the newly elected Moshood Abiola had been deposed by a rival general. He then dissolved political parties, banned demonstrations and introduced strict media censorship...

In a bizarre twist to the case Johnnie Cochran, the lawyer who defended OJ Simpson, has been brought in by the Abacha entourage to help them retain the disputed funds." Archive.

OzCW: 2000 was a busy year for OJ Simpson's lawyer, Johnnie Cochran [d. 2005]

May 11 2000 Film Dogged by Links to Scientology Founder

"The anticult networks are kicking up a fuss. Discussion on Internet movie sites is picking over the potentially sinister implications. Anonymous e-mails are whizzing around the country charging that, among other things, subliminal messages are being used to recruit unsuspecting moviegoers.

Big summer action movies, filled with stars and special effects, don't often come with such fascinating accessories.

"Battlefield Earth," starring John Travolta as a nine-foot alien with talons for fingers, will open in more than 2,000 theaters nationwide on Friday. As directed by Roger Christian, who most recently had been the assistant director of "Star Wars: Episode I -- The Phantom Menace," "Battlefield Earth" is set in the year 3000 and follows the adventures of enslaved earthlings, led by Jonnie Goodboy Tyler [played by Barry Pepper, the sharpshooting redneck in "Saving Private Ryan"], trying to break free of the tyrannical Psychlos [led by Mr. Travolta's character].

Controversy has swirled around the film because it is based on the 1982 novel by L. Ron Hubbard, who founded the Church of Scientology, and because the film was the pet project of Mr. Travolta, who has made no secret of his dedication to Scientology. Could this be a sneaky attempt to lure unsuspecting moviegoers into Scientology? Archive.

May 12 2000 Secret Germ Warfare Experiments?

"...as CBS News Correspondent Vince Gonzales reports in an exclusive investigation, thousands of U.S. sailors may have been unaware that they were exposed during secret germ-warfare experiments...

BG, a bacteria considered harmless by the military, is used to simulate the deadly anthrax germ. The briefing film explains, "Immediately following the BG release another plane flying the identical flight path released fluorescent particles."

They were particles of zinc cadmium sulfide. This compound, sprayed in the Copper Head test, was thought to be safe, but the military later stopped outdoor spraying after an army researcher warned it was "highly toxic."

"I remember an airplane flying over and I could see it sprayed something and then a little later I felt this mist on my face," says George Arnold...

"They were doing that just to see how much they could get stuff absorbed into our body, probably in the amount it would take to kill us if they were to use something like anthrax," says Arnold.

Most of the test reports remain classified but in documents obtained by CBS News, sailors on the "target ships" are called "test subjects..."

If, as these men tell CBS News, they were not informed and never gave their consent, then it doesn't matter that the military thought the materials were harmless. The tests violated government policies in place for the last 50 years which state: "The voluntary consent of the human subject is absolutely essential." Archive.

May 12 2000 [A \[copyright-free\] update on the May 2000 tech world from NTK:](#)

“A hushed public awaits: and, in the pages of Time magazine, Bill Gates puts THE CASE FOR MICROSOFT. But years of conviction play with a man's recollection. Every every one of Bill's arguments points to the company's guiltiest moments.

With a split Microsoft, he begins, a future MS "tablet PC" with handwriting recognition would not exist, because Microsoft's OS and App developers need "real-time collaboration" to pull it off. But MS had designs on a "tablet PC" before: when they wrote Pen Windows, a piece of FUDware designed to kill Jerry Kaplan's GO.

Back then, Microsoft bristled at any suggestion that their OS and App departments colluded. Now the party line is that it's vital for the consumer. In 1991, Gates goes on to explain, MS Office developers invented the toolbar. "Had toolbars been created elsewhere, they no doubt would have been patented and never incorporated into Windows [as the taskbar]".

*How very true: except toolbars were invented elsewhere. In MacPaint. In 1984. At that point, Gates entered into a secret agreement with Apple to use Mac-ish features in the Windows OS, in return for developing apps for the Mac [no monopoly here: yet].*

Moving to modern day concerns: Bill says that the DOJ scheme would slow down innovation, impeding "Windows updates that could protect against attacks like the Love Bug virus". As opposed to now, when Microsoft denies liability for the jelly-weak security of Outlook?

*Gates ends with his own horrific vision, post-Microsplit: Apps and OS mini-Bills that could never work together, because the DOJ demands that "no technical information can be discussed that is not 'simultaneously available' to the entire computer industry - which would be a practical impossibility". An impossibility, of course, which open source projects - and hell, most of the rest of the industry - manage every day. Except, that is, when Microsoft sues for publishing MS's proprietary extensions to their work. And this is the case for?...*

More ILOVEYOU anthems: The DERBY EVENING TELEGRAPH reports that the Tory leader of Derby City Council was sent a mysterious fax, containing the secret code of the virus. The police recommend that she send them a copy for forensic study, then destroy it: demonstrating that it still had destructive viral properties, even in this weakened form.

Similarly, the Guardian gave a clue to the Nam-Shub nature of the attachment when they revealed it was written in "Virtual Basic". When the alleged creator was caught - as prophesied, in the Philippines, his sinister black-ice powers served to hide his trail. Scrambled news reporters variously listed his name as Reomel Ramones, Rommel Lamores, Rommel Lamore, Rommel Ramores, Riomel Lamores, Reomel Ramones, and Reonel Rameon. And the mutations are increasing at an exponential rate.” ntk.net.

May 15 2000 Jim Marris on remote viewing, ET agenda, JFK, Illuminati

“Jim Marris is one of the US's foremost investigative journalists. Probably best known for his ground-breaking research into the Kennedy assassination, his best-selling book "Crossfire: The Plot That Killed Kennedy" formed the basis of director Oliver Stone's film JFK. More recently, Marris has turned his attention to the UFO phenomenon, leading, in 1997, to the publication of his book "Alien Agenda", a thorough journalistic investigation into the subject, which has been hailed as one of the most balanced and well-documented books of its kind. His latest book, "Rule By Secrecy", explores the possibility that global politics is controlled by shadowy elites operating from within secret societies, and whose origins, dating back to the first civilizations, may be influenced by extraterrestrials.

Marris's research has made him very unpopular with the US establishment, and, on some occasions, steps have been taken to suppress his revelations. In 1995, "The Enigma Files", Marris's expos of the covert use of remote viewing and psychic spying techniques, was mysteriously prevented from publication.

Marris was informed that the decision had been taken at the suggestion of a lawyer. Not only was Marris not allowed to speak to the lawyer responsible, but the publisher told him that nothing could be done as the injunction had been ordered from a higher corporate level.

Since then, the CIA has publicly admitted using remote viewing to spy on the Soviets, but Marris claims that this is only half the story. “Archive.

May 16 2000 Rockefeller fortunes safe from public eye

“A nasty divorce that threatened to reveal the secret fortunes of legendary oil baron John D. Rockefeller ended Monday in Orlando without divulging details.

George D. O’Neill Jr., Rockefeller’s great-great-grandson, told a judge he had reached a settlement with his wife, Amy, to spare their five children from the media circus of a trial.

But the settlement also prevents detailed public scrutiny of the Rockefeller family’s closely guarded financial trusts, which could be worth billions of dollars.

Some secrets might have slipped out during a trial that had been scheduled to start last week. But Orange Circuit Judge Jay Cohen ordered the couple to mediate their dispute. After four days of talks, the two settled.

Undoubtedly the biggest secret is how the couple divided their assets. Lawyers fought for several years over the details of George O'Neill's portion of the trust money. Some estimates put that amount at around $200 million.

The Rockefeller fortune dates from John D. Rockefeller's formation of Standard Oil in 1870. Trusts in contention during the divorce were created between 1934 and 1976 by O'Neill's great-grandfather, John D. Rockefeller Jr.; his grandmother, Abby Mauze; and his mother, Abby O'Neill." Archive.

May 16 2000 Rodman Rockefeller, 68, Dies; Active in Latin Trade Efforts

"Rodman C. Rockefeller, the eldest son of Nelson A. Rockefeller, who was active in efforts that led to the North American Free Trade Agreement and in forging closer ties between the United States and Latin America, died on Sunday night at his home on the East Side of Manhattan. He was 68 and also had a home in the Pocantico Hills section of Tarrytown, N.Y.

The cause was cancer, said Fraser P. Seitel, a spokesman for the Rockefeller family.

Mr. Rockefeller was the longtime chairman of Pocantico Associates, a private venture capital and real estate investment concern. He was also long active in Rockefeller family affairs.

Nelson Rockefeller was President Franklin D. Roosevelt's Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs during World War II, and Rodman's first journey to Mexico was as a teenager with his father in 1946, when President Miguel Aleman was inaugurated. Nelson Rockefeller went on to become governor of New York and vice president of the United States." Archive.

May 17 2000 Bush a Microsoft Shareholder

"George W. Bush's financial-disclosure records show he's a multimillionaire with a huge trust fund, thousands of acres in Texas – and profits from Microsoft.

Bush's investments in Microsoft – up to $102,000 in stock – are notable because he has sent signals that he's on Bill Gates' side in the Clinton Justice Department's antitrust lawsuit against the software giant.

Bush has met privately with Gates, the mega-billionaire Microsoft founder, and has said he prefers "innovation over litigation" when asked about the lawsuit.

But Bush's campaign said he just found out about his Microsoft stock because it was bought for a blind trust...

Other stocks in Bush's first blind trust were Lucent Technology, Xerox, MCI, AT&T, BP-Amoco, Compaq, Exxon, Ford, General Electric, IBM, Intel, Pepsi, Polaroid, Walt Disney, Penzoil, Wells Fargo, Procter & Gamble, Pfizer and Shering Plough." Archive

May 17 2000 Sex Trafficking: a Dark Side to the New World Order

"AS YOU MAY HAVE heard, there's a New Economy and a New World Order out there, with lots of new issues to fret over.

So why is GOP Sen. Sam Brownback of Kansas spending so much of his time worrying about a couple of problems as ancient as the Bible: slavery and prostitution?

For a pretty good reason, as it turns out. The new global economy, with its open borders, migrating populations and visions of new riches, is spawning a boom in international sex trafficking. In this dark netherworld, girls are duped by traffickers into leaving their poverty-ridden homes with promises of money abroad, moved across borders, then trapped in a life of prostitution without the money or legal help to escape. This sex trafficking constitutes "the new slavery," Sen. Brownback says. "It's one of the darker sides of globalization."" Archive.

May 18 2000 G8 agree to cooperate on cyber crime

"The G8 group of nations, representing the world's leading industrialized countries and Russia, agreed to increase cooperation to fight cybercrime at the conclusion of their Paris meeting.

Co-chaired by Japan and France, the meeting was called to prepare for a discussion and agreement on cybercrime that will take place among G8 leaders during their annual meeting this year in Okinawa in July. Other participants include the U.S., Canada, the U.K., Italy, Germany and Russia.

Prompted by global concern over the growing threat of cybercrime, including the success of viruses like "ILOVEYOU" wreaking havoc across the Internet, the member governments agreed rapidly to extend an existing network of early warning contact points to cover cases of cybercrime and to mandate Interpol, the international police network, to supervise this network." Archive.

May 17 2000 The date rape menace

“For decades, the word rapist has conjured up the image of a stranger lurking in the shadows. But today, a rapist could be standing next to you in the pub, having a friendly chat, buying you a drink.

Reported cases of date rape - a sexual attack by a friend, a colleague, or love interest - are on the increase. And many of these sexual predators are armed with easily administered drugs such as Rohypnol or GHB [gamma-hydroxybutate] to sedate their victims into pliant submission.

Date rape drugs

GHB - colourless, odourless, slightly salty taste

Rohypnol - tasteless and odourless

Victims lose memory and inhibitions, become open to suggestion

Since November 1997, more than 2,900 people - including 246 men - have contacted the Roofie Foundation, a helpline for date rape victims.” Archive.

May 18 2000: The hospital rapist who enjoyed taking sexual risks [using Midazolam]

“When Kevin Cobb slipped the anaesthetic Midazolam into Susan Annis' cider, intending to rape her once the drug took effect, he knew she might not live.

A staff nurse with more than 10 years' experience, Cobb knew the dangers of mixing powerful sedatives and alcohol. He knew also that Ms Annis, a nurse he had met on a residential course at the Royal Brompton hospital, London, suffered from a condition which caused her heart to race.

But he went ahead with his plan anyway. The drug and alcohol combined to suppress Ms Annis's breathing and the subsequent adrenalin release proved too much for her weakened heart.

Within two hours she lay dying on the floor of her room while Cobb administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation in a desperate attempt to save her life, and himself from a prison sentence.

Despite the assistance of doctors and nurses at the hospital, Ms Annis, 31, was declared dead in the early hours of November 26 1996, presumed to be a victim of her unreliable heart.” Archive.

Relevant: 2024: Watch journalist Jacqui Deevoy's Midazolam documentary A Good Death here

May 19 2000 It's a baby Blair

"The wife of British Prime Minister Tony Blair gave birth to a baby boy on Saturday at Chelsea and Westminster hospital in central London, Blair's Downing Street office said.

Cherie Blair, a 45-year-old high-flying lawyer, her husband and the baby returned to Downing Street after the birth.

"Both mother and baby are doing well," the spokesman said.

"Both the Prime Minister and Mrs. Blair are delighted. The three have now returned to Downing Street."

The spokesman had no further details.

The baby came after a 12-year gap from the Blair's other three children—Euan, 16, Nicky, 14, and Kathryn. He is the first to be born to a serving British prime minister in over 150 years.

News of the pregnancy took Cherie—and the rest of the nation—by surprise when it was announced last year." Archive.

May 19 2000 Govt "gave" up stake in Dolly cloning

"An investigation into whether the taxpayer has lost billions of pounds from a share of the commercial exploitation of the cloning of Dolly the sheep is to be launched by the national audit office.

Parliament's financial watchdog has decided to hold an inquiry into the giveaway of patent and intellectual property rights owned by the Ministry of Agriculture by the last Tory government...

The auditors will examine whether the government has lost out because the Tory government in 1995 and 1996 gave away patents on Dolly the sheep to a private company as part of the wholesale transfer of assets of research institutes so it could cut its science budget. Taxpayers' money given to develop the cloning of Dolly the sheep will now benefit private shareholders in California and Britain instead of the government following a deal on patents this year." Archive.

20 May 2000 Secret lives: the Blair children

“... Despite living in central London, the Blair brood all travel west for their schooling. The boys attend the London Oratory in Fulham, where Euan is studying for his GSCE exams. Kathryn is a student at the Sacred Heart comprehensive high school in nearby Hammersmith.

The schools are several miles from the family's local catchment area for state schools, something that has sparked attacks by opposition MPs and local parents alike.

Friends of the family have said Cherie Blair's own strict Catholic education moulded a mother who expects her children to always be polite and well dressed...

At weekends and during school holidays, the family often retreat to Chequers, the prime minister's official residence in Buckinghamshire.

Surrounded by extensive grounds, which keep prying lenses well away, the countryside retreat affords the Blairs the privacy they crave.” Archive.

May 20 2000 Security clampdown at UK mental hospitals

“Patients at the country's most secure mental hospitals should be randomly drug tested and locked in their rooms at night, according to a former head of the prison service.

Sir Richard Tilt's report recommends tightening security measures at Broadmoor, Rampton, and Ashworth high security mental hospitals, where some of the country's most dangerous individuals are housed.

The report also calls for inmates' telephone calls to be recorded, random searches of patient quarters and improvements to perimeter and internal security systems.

The government is expected to accept the report's recommendations and will meet with medical staff and managers to discuss how to implement the new measures..

Last year a report into Ashworth high security mental hospital - ordered by former Conservative health secretary Stephen Dorrell in 1997 - uncovered a catalogue of drug abuse, widely available pornography, poor patient care and security lapses.

The Ashworth inquiry was ordered following allegations of paedophilia, pornography, drug and alcohol abuse at the hospital.

Health Secretary Frank Dobson said the report by Peter Fallon QC on the Personality Disorder Unit [PDU] at the hospital in Maghull, Merseyside, presented a "shameful" picture." Archive.

May 20 2000 The Red Hot Chili Peppers release their music video for the track "Californication".

Check out this music VIDEO for some [in our opinion] tuneless Cobain-style revelation of the method from the Red Hot Chilli Peppers. Here's a summary of the Californication conspiracy:

"The Power of Pop Culture

The Californication phenomenon also highlights the enduring influence of pop culture on society.

Just as "The Simpsons" has been credited with predicting everything from the 9/11 attacks to Donald Trump's presidency, the Red Hot Chili Peppers' song has become a canvas upon which listeners project their hopes, fears, and interpretations of the world around them.

This phenomenon is not unique to Californication, as musicians like the Beatles and Taylor Swift have also been subject to similar scrutiny, with fans scouring their lyrics and music videos for hidden messages and coded prophecies." Archive.

May 21 2000 "Mom, I blew up the music industry."

OzCW: What a coincidence. Here's yet another genius young nerd squatting in a borrowed office to cobble together a gargantuan music-sharing platform all on his own. There's even a fashion-haircut story to explain its cool name! Somehow all this funding materialises...

Next, the young nerd will need to be sued in order to establish case law. Or are we just cynical to doubt these tech story lines, trotted out repeatedly?

“Six months ago, Shawn Fanning was just another 19-year-old college kid. Then he invented a piece of software called Napster. Now he's rich, famous, and being sued by his favourite band

At 19, Shawn Fanning has a number one haircut, a half-finished degree in computer studies, and is being sued by his favourite band, Metallica. These three facts all contribute to the rather complicated mess Fanning's got himself into, and explain how a nerdy Boston college kid ended up a paper multi-millionaire, an international youth icon, and the centre of a legal storm that will ultimately decide the nature of the music industry's future.

Metallica are suing the company Fanning helped found, Napster Inc, for copyright infringement. This is because of a free piece of software written by Fanning called 'the Napster'. It's simple to download from the Net and makes it easy, for the first time, to get your hands on high-quality copies of chart music for free. Metallica, first among a list of disapproving major artists that includes Elton John, Sean 'Puffy' Combs and Dr Dre, don't like the loss of record sales that this might mean. Conversely, a host of million-selling bands including The Smashing Pumpkins, Hole, The Offspring, Cypress Hill and Limp Bizkit have come out in support of the freedom the Napster grants. A war of words and writs has erupted. And the haircut? Well, that explains how the ridiculous word 'napster' came to be on the lips of media lawyers and music pundits worldwide.” Archive

May 22 2000 What will be the 10 hottest jobs?

This must-read article from Time Magazine, known for its “Illuminati” predictions, foretells the future “25 years from now” i.e. today. While some predictions are correct, fortunately most are way off, but it gives a taste of the globalists’ failed dreams:

“7 VIRTUAL-REALITY ACTORS Pay-per-view will become pay-per-play, allowing these pros to interact with you in cyberspace dramas. Scriptwriters will also be in high demand, as mouse potatoes clamor for new story lines to escape from their droned-out existence.”...Ambient commercials will also hijack your attention by using tastes and smells, with the ultimate goal of beaming buy-me messages directly into your brain.”

Netflix isn't quite cutting it, dudes. Listed among the dystopian fantasies of which human jobs are to be slain by tech [suck it up, sheeple] are:

"10 FATHERS Between in-vitro fertilization and cloning, dads could become dinosaurs. Moms, too, with the possibility looming of an artificial womb. Did somebody say George Orwell?"

Reading that smug article twenty-five years on, we deduce that "they" are well behind in their disgusting-sounding schedule.

"1 TISSUE ENGINEERS With man-made skin already on the market and artificial cartilage not far behind, 25 years from now scientists expect to be pulling a pancreas out of a Petri dish. Or trying, anyway. Researchers have successfully grown new intestines and bladders inside animals' abdominal cavities, and work has begun on building liver, heart and kidney tissue.

2 GENE PROGRAMMERS Digital genome maps will allow lab technicians to create customized prescriptions, altering individual genes by rewriting lines of computer code. After scanning your DNA for defects, doctors will use gene therapy and "smart" molecules to prevent a variety of diseases, including certain cancers." Archive.

May 22 2000 How the Soros Funds Lost Game Of Chicken Against Tech Stocks

"For months, through late 1999 and early 2000, the Monday afternoon research meetings at George Soros's hedge-fund firm centered on a single theme: how to prepare for the inevitable sell-off of technology stocks.

Stanley Druckenmiller, in charge of the celebrated funds, sat at the head of a long table in a room overlooking Central Park. Almost as if reading from a script, he would begin the weekly meetings with a warning that the sell-off could be near and could be brutal. For the next hour, the group would debate what signs to look for, what stocks to sell, how fast to sell them...

For all this, when the sell-off finally did begin in mid-March, Soros Fund Management wasn't ready for it. Still loaded with high-tech and biotechnology stocks and still betting against the so-called Old Economy, Soros traders watched in horror when the tech-heavy Nasdaq Composite Index plunged 124 points on March 15 while the once-quiescent Dow Jones Industrial Average leapt 320 points. In just five subsequent days, the Soros firm's flagship Quantum Fund saw what had been a 2% year-to-date gain turn into an 11% loss." Archive.

Relevant: 1997: Crimes of George Soros. 2023: George Soros: The world's most sinister villain and biggest threat to humanity. 2023: George Soros is the most dangerous man in America – here's why.

May 23 2000 "MI6 man" dropped from Lockerbie trial: special report

"A Glasgow University law professor is being dropped from an expert panel on the Lockerbie bombing following allegations that he was a high-ranking MI6 officer. Andrew Fulton will be asked today to stand down from his role as deputy director of the university's Lockerbie trial briefing unit.

The unit was set up by the university to give foreign and UK journalists "impartial and objective" advice on Scottish legal procedures used in the trial of the two Libyans accused of causing the 1988 explosion on Pan Am flight 103. Professor Fulton joined the unit last year after he retired from a 31-year career in the Foreign and Commonwealth Office." Archive.

Relevant: 2000: List of MI6 agents: Robert Andrew Fulton is there. Working [list of MI6 agents here.] Archive.

May 24 2000 Chaos and humiliation as Israel pulls out of Lebanon

"As events galloped beyond Israel's control, the prime minister, Ehud Barak, yesterday tried to reassure a public that is angrily questioning his decision to go ahead with a unilateral withdrawal.

Many northern Israelis employ relatives of SLA men in their hotels and orchards. Yesterday they descended on Fatima Gate to see whether their employees had managed to flee, and to shake their heads in dismay at the unruly scenes. "It is like a picture of a ghetto," said a farmer Shlomo Hayun, who lives on Shaar Yeshuv farm. "This is the first time I have been ashamed to be Israeli. This is chaotic and disorganised."

Elsewhere, at least half of the residents of the largest town, Kiryat Shmona, drove south rather than spend another night cowering in the bomb shelters." Archive.

Relevant: 2024: Israel behind deadly pager explosions that targeted Hezbollah and injured thousands in Lebanon.

May 24 2000 Newsgroup post: NWO has a hard time in Scotland

"They've banned school sports days, canned kids' football medals and denounced Noddy [cartoon character] as a danger to our childrens morals. Now the politically correct brigade have set their sights on the scandalously seditious childhood pursuit of musical chairs.

Incredibly, Education Minister Margaret Hodge has launched a new booklet urging nursery teachers to outlaw the timeless party favourite. This latest PC pamphlet, entitled Towards a Non-Violent Society, states that musical chairs encourages aggression because 'children learn that the strongest/fastest one who pushes the other children out of the way wins' Excuse me ? Isn't that a pretty good grounding for adult life?

Well No. It isn't in Labours Brave New Britain. In fact we've unearthed a secret document from a government think-tank with the next raft of changes to ensure our kids grow into perfectly rounded little automatons. Out goes pin the tail on the donkey on grounds of potential cruelty to animals. Blind mans Buff has been branded an insult to the visually impaired. Postmans Knock has bred a generation of young males who think they can father children and walk out on their partners without a second thought. And the outrageous Pass the parcel has been identified as the root cause of all those dodgy drug deals going on under the noses of our emasculated police force. Think we're kidding? Just Watch this space." Archive.

Relevant: 2021: [Paedophile-protector] Margaret Hodge's shameful legacy.

May 24 2000 Rebekah scores over the lads

"Rebekah Wade, the new editor of the News of the World, has made her name by succeeding in the traditionally male-dominated tabloid newspaper world.

Not only has she succeeded, but the 32-year-old seems to have made it to the top while championing a more female-friendly approach.

Ms Wade takes up her highest profile job yet after the resignation of previous editor Phil Hall.

She is already known in the industry for having spent much of her two years as David Yelland's deputy at The Sun in trying to persuade him to get rid of the page three "girlie" pictures.

But her aim is to increase circulation rather than bring feminism to the tabloids." Archive.

May 25 2000 Old money enclave

“Here on “Lifeless Cay,” as many residents have called it, there are no stores, no restaurants...But the clicking of those sky-high heels is getting closer.

The worlds of fashion, celebrity and shiny new money, are invading this part of the paradise where the Duke of Windsor once reigned as governor... Almost nobody likes it...

“I have my own set of values,” said a newcomer, Peter Nygard, whom some call the Canadian Hugh Hefner. His hotly debated home is a 150,000-square-foot “hut” — a Polynesian village by way of Club Med with flocks of 300 peacocks, parrots and cockatoos free-ranging indoors and out, and a lagoon through the house...The typical Lyfordian blue blood, “is afraid to step out of the box,” Nygard said, adding, “I’m part of a new generation.”...

Prince Andrew and Sarah Ferguson came by several weeks ago. So did Robert DeNiro. Michael Jackson has dropped by. And George and Barbara Bush, whose photograph adorns his office. “I’ve built them a presidential suite,” Nygard said, pointing to a cabana built into artificial cliffs some 60 feet high. No, the former first couple hasn’t stayed over.

Like his tony neighbors, he favors classical music but prefers to blast it through his compound. Each day at sunset, Cocoy, a houseman, has orders to time the last chord on a CD so it crashes to a finale just as the sun slides into the ocean...

Nygard bought his prime acreage through a silent auction, much to the chagrin of club members, who have vowed not to sell him more.” Archive.

Relevant: 2020: Epstein had cockatoo statues. 2021: Evil in Paradise – the Peter Nygard allegations. Archive. 2023: Disgraced fashion mogul found guilty of sexual assault. Archive.

OzCW: Peter Nygard: yet another billionaire paedo on yet another Caribbean island entertaining royals and politicians.

Again, note the “new” theme of “fashion, celebrity and shiny new money... new generation” It’s innovation!

Relevant: VIDEO: Epstein Nygard Diddy Who was at there Parties?

May 25 2000 Camilla's niece bares coke and booze woes

"The niece of Prince Charles' longtime companion has confessed to using cocaine and admits being an alcoholic, it was reported yesterday.

Emma Parker Bowles, 25-year-old niece of Camilla Parker Bowles, says she just returned from the United States, where she underwent treatment for substance abuse.

"I have just spent 35 days at the Meadows clinic in Arizona. It is all very upsetting," Emma told London's Express newspaper.

Her dad, Richard Parker Bowles, blamed "peer pressure" for the problems of his daughter, who's a close pal of Charles' son Prince William...

It's the second big scandal for the Parker Bowles clan, following last year's revelation that Camilla's son, Tom Parker Bowles, had a drug habit.

Camilla and Charles have been out and about more and more since Diana died in a Paris crash in August 1997.

The prince has been trying to get the public to accept Camilla, although most people still consider her "the other woman" who tarnished the royal family." Archive.

Relevant: 2011: Emma Parker-Bowles inherited her alcoholism from her father. Emma Parker-Bowles 2024.

May 25 2000 Microsoft offer to resolve "questions about NSA_key", then put up a brick wall

"Background: Duncan Campbell gave a presentation on Global surveillance and the Echelon network at the Computers, Freedom and Privacy 2000 [CFP2000] conference held in Toronto, Canada from 4-7 April 2000. During the presentation, he instanced the NSA_KEY controversy as one of a number of outstanding issues related to security and surveillance.

Richard Purcell, Microsoft's Director of Corporate Privacy, also attended the CFP2000 conference. After the presentation, Purcell approached Campbell. He said that he wished to resolved the doubts about NSA_KEY. He would see that this was done.

Campbell then put a number of key questions, politely but persistently. After three weeks, Microsoft backed off. They refused to answer outstanding questions. They declined even to explain why they were unwilling to continue contact. They stopped answering e-mail. The following correspondence took place..." Archive.

Relevant: 1999: Windows NSA Key Controversy.

May 25 2000 Britney Spears: The Girl Can't Help It: How do you top selling nine million copies of your first record? Hit them, baby one more time

"Britney Spears is a teenager. She is wide-eyed and sweet. She has crushes on a movie star or two, a penchant for romance novels and a Yorkshire terrier puppy named Baby. She also has a 350-pound bodyguard named Robert, a tour bus with a fully functional tanning bed and well over a million dollars tucked away for a rainy day. It's 1:30 in the afternoon. She seems tired.

At the moment, Spears is where she is every day at this time: in a hotel room, somewhere in America. Specifically, she is on the floor, underneath a table on which a plate of browning fruit sits untouched. Dog toys and stuffed animals are strewn about; Baby wanders in endless circles; and in the corner, Felicia Culotta, Spears' assistant, is making a cup of General Foods International Coffee...

There are several ways Spears deals with her stress. When she is alone, she writes in a prayer journal. When she and Culotta are together, they play a game in which Spears pretends to be someone else. Some days it is Ashley Judd. Other days she is Lenny Kravitz. But there are also times when the crowds press in on Spears, in dressing rooms and at photo opportunities, and the pressure of all those people and those expectations gets to be too much. In those moments, she and Culotta have a special code." Archive.

Relevant: 2011: Britney Spears, Mind Control and 'Hold it Against Me.' Archive.

2021: Britney Spears' former assistant Felicia Culotta gushes over singer's longtime boyfriend Sam Asghari: 'He is a wonderful guy'. 2021: Controlling Britney Spears: What to Know About Felicia Culotta, Britney's Former Assistant.

2024: Britney Spears' surprising connection to Diddy saga REVEALED. 2024: VIDEO: Britney Spears EXPOSES Diddy's Role In Her Downfall | He DRUGGED Her?!

May 25 2000 Quackwatch

OzCW: We've included this article, which in our opinion is offensive, because it's a good example of the kind of "rubbishing" so many truth-tellers from Dr. Horowitz and Dr. Valerie Saxion through David Icke, Jason Liasatos and so many others have had to endure.

Background: Dr. Leonard Horowitz and Dr. Valerie Saxion [RIP] have been booked to speak about healing at the University of Toronto. So an early troll has to spoil things for them:

"Hey U of T students and faculty here's your chance to get involved!

Did you ever wonder why the University of Toronto would want to rent space to a speaker that is hell bent on the destruction of basic medical science, and replace it with crackpot theological rants, while at the same time he sells you products, books, and tapes from his travelling road show?

Lenny Horowitz has a knack for infiltrating college campuses to deliver his Messianic Jewish message to the young and impressionable masses. We don't know how he does it so well. But Canada is almost his second home, he married a Canadian.

Last year, with the thanks and support of the leading quackboosters in Canada, the Consumer Health Organization, a dental hygienist marketing group put together a full day seminar at Mohawk College. Some of us were there, and we paid about $127 for the day. We were treated to off the wall Apocalyptic theories about the origin of many diseases, and how God has created a certain structure of water, and if you drink only this kind, that Lenny will gladly sell you, it will tune your DNA to the right frequency so that you will know exactly where you can send more money to Lenny and his friends. And don't forget the plot to kill Jews, gays, and Africans by the Royal Family, George Bush's father, Merck and the rest of the world. I wonder why they left Monika, or Regis off this list.

If anyone doubts anything that I am saying, I invite you to visit his own web site, and look around at his library, his products and supplements. Then search any Medline engine that you want and see if you can find any of his published papers." Archive.

Relevant: Saxion Supplements.

Healing Celebrations

Master the Forces and Celebrate Your Healing!

With Dr. Len Horowitz
Saturday, May 27th, 2000
Ontario Institute for Studies and Education
 University of Toronto
 252 Bloor Street West, Toronto, ON Canada

Healing Celebration Highlights:

- What medical doctors don't tell you about the current cancer epidemic and how to stop it
- Little-known, life-saving facts regarding vaccines, tainted blood supplies and therapies to successfully care for related injuries
- Why it's time to celebrate the spiritual healing renaissance affecting millions of people around the world increasingly at this critical time in history
- Tapping into God's way of healing through the matrices of electro-magnetic energy, faith, spoken words and knowledge
- Detoxification and nutritional practices that work to boost natural immunity and improve your health

About the speakers...

DR. LEN HOROWITZ received his doctorate from Yale University and was awarded a fellowship in behavioral research at the University of Rochester. Dr. Horowitz earned a master's degree in public health and behavioral science from Harvard University. He also holds a master's degree in health education from Boston College. For more than a decade, Dr. Horowitz directed a multi-disciplinary health center. He served on the faculties of Tufts University, Harvard University, and the Leslie College Institute for the Arts and Human Development.

DR. VALERIE SAXTON is one of America's most articulate champions of nutrition and spiritual healing. A 20-year veteran of health science in the natural foods arena, her delightful communication style and charming demeanor will open your heart and mind to pearls of wisdom and life-saving advice—information critical for survival and prosperity in the 21st century.

To Register call 1-800-493-1146

and much, much more!

Through HEALING CELEBRATIONS the doctors deliver fundamental understandings of natural and supernatural laws—and the science behind them—that govern health and abundance in every aspect of life. Miracles included!

May 25 2000 Politics, race and the fight to inherit

"They're thirsting for a figurehead," added Sharon.

More than a decade later, following Grant's sudden death in March, Tottenham is once again looking for a "figurehead" to send to Westminster. And once again race is high on the agenda.

Of the four candidates shortlisted for the Labour ticket there are two frontrunners. On one side stands Grant's widow, Sharon - a white woman with whom he worked closely and who wishes to continue and build on her husband's legacy.

On the other is one of the "young blacks" to which Bernie Grant was referring - a 27-year-old barrister called David Lammy who grew up in Tottenham and went to Harvard, via a boarding school.

The ramifications go far beyond north London. At stake is the shape of any future debate on black representation in parliament and arguably the political legacy of one of the nation's most popular Mps...

Mr Lammy, who was elected to the Greater London Authority earlier this month, is expected to emphasise his youth, his roots in the area and argue that it is time for change. Ms Grant will stress her track record in working alongside Bernie Grant and her ability to follow through on the work he started.

Mr Lammy's detractors have attempted to brand him a "Millbank stooge" - a slick, media-friendly candidate who will represent the interests of the Labour party leadership rather than the people of Tottenham. But while he is certainly the candidate favoured by the Labour party hierarchy, they have been keen not to be seen to interfere.

"There's no doubt that they want Lammy to win," said one senior Labour source. "But they know that if they make their support too obvious or look heavy-handed that it will be counter-productive. They've learned their lesson with Frank Dobson."" Archive.

Relevant: 2024: David Lammy: Everything you need to know about the UK's new foreign secretary. 2024: Labour's David Lammy aims for UK foreign policy reset. 2024: UK's Lammy sets out further financial support for Ukraine during Kyiv visit. 2024: [Arab public figures demand David Lammy apologise for \[pro-Israel\] genocide comments.](#)

May 27 2000 Letter: That's about the size of it

OzCW: This CERN scientist writes that the point of the metric system was to “make computations easy.” The metric system was foisted on the UK in 1965: can we conclude, then, that metric was an early component of the tech agenda?

From Robert Cailliau, CERN

“With the US’s total dominance of global economic activities, we may soon see a beautiful system disappear in favour of an archaic one: the metric system of standards, in use in all countries except the US [and a few microscopic islands], is under threat.

The metric system was devised to make computations easy, and it has been highly successful. In the European Union, producers must offer their wares in metric measures, preferably in round numbers. So

I was astonished when I recently found that adverts for monitors in a French computer magazine gave their sizes in inches only." Archive.

Relevant: The Metric System: A Timeline of Its Invention.

28 May 2000 The Chicago Airport conspiracy theory

"Are the airlines conspiring to gift two of their major players with a monopoly in Chicago?"

That's the indictment brought by Rep. Henry Hyde, Rep. Jesse Jackson Jr. and the Suburban O'Hare Commission, a collection of northwest suburbs fighting to stem air traffic at O'Hare and build a competing airfield in the south suburbs.

They charge that the other major airlines' refusal to compete in the Chicago market against United Airlines and American Airlines amounts to a violation of federal antitrust law.

They have an interesting argument. They may not have enough evidence to justify their call for a Justice Department investigation, but they're dead right on the point.

It sure looks like Mayor Richard Daley, the U.S. Department of Transportation and the major airlines have conspired to do all they can to block the development of a new airport in Chicago. They've done so even though O'Hare has been stretched to capacity, even though projections show there is great potential for growth in air travel here, growth that would bring dollars and jobs to the region."
Archive.

May 31 2000 Chupacabra hunted by police in Chile

"On Wednesday, April 19, 2000, Carabineros conducted an intensive search for a Chupacabra on the outskirts of Calama, a small city 300 kilometers [180 miles] northeast of Antofagasta.

The Carabineros fired several shots at an unknown intruder on the north bank of Rio Loa and later found several strange footprints at the spot.

According to the newspaper El Diario, "on Wednesday night, the fast, sudden movement of 'something' inside the bushes, accompanied by a strange howling, alerted police officers who fired a volley of shots in the air in the vicinity of the local cemetery."

"Nothing was found afterward except for a pair of strange footprints which were taken and sent to Santiago for analysis."

Carabineros searched the north bank of the Rio Loa for more than three hours, covering four kilometers on foot, in search of the culprit [responsible for] the deaths of nearly 200 animals, but the possibility of human involvement has not been discounted."

Carabineros from the cuartel [barracks] at Aguas Buenas conducted the search and fired the shots at the intruder, which local residents said was a Chupacabra. The Chupacabra first appeared on the island of Puerto Rico in 1995. Since then the creature has been sighted in Mexico and Brazil."

Archive.

May 31 2000 Not-for-Profit Schwab Foundation boasts over \$120 million in assets

"A controversial not-for-profit foundation set up two years ago by Klaus Schwab, founder of the World Economic Forum, now holds assets valued at $120 million to $130 million, and he says he hopes to bring the total to $200 million.

Mr. Schwab said he wants to use the money to fund four or five annual $1 million prizes to recognize "social entrepreneurship." An additional $5 million or so would be spent to attempt to replicate the prize-winning ideas on a global basis, he said. The prizes, to be awarded by the Schwab Foundation for Economic and Social Development, were announced in January at the forum's Davos, Switzerland, conference.

The Schwab Foundation has sparked controversy because it received many of its assets from the forum for a sum that wasn't disclosed. Meanwhile, the forum itself has no endowment, according to Mr. Schwab. He said the forum transferred all of its for-profit ventures to the Schwab Foundation, which is overseen by Mr. Schwab and two accountants, "to shield the forum against the risks of commercial activities." Those commercial activities soon proved enormously valuable." Archive.

June 2000 Links Most Relevant to Today

Village Shop and Post Office 2012 by Colin Smith, CC BY-SA 2.0,

Jun 2000 US government, WHO and Big Pharma colluded to cover up the dangers of vaccination.

Jun 2000 Counter Revolution: Modernising the Post Office Network in preparation for the Post Office Scandal 2024.

Jun 2000: Of course: Bill Gates and Microsoft gave Smartmatic voting machine application company an award back in 2000.

Jun 2000 Incentives Deal of the Month: Pennsylvania's $55.5 in Incentives Seals the Deal for Vanguard's 6,000-Employee Expansion.

Jun 2000 Consumer Concerns About Biotechnology: International Perspectives.

Jun 2000 mRNA composition and control of bacterial gene expression.

Jun 2 2000 Gay and Lesbian Pride Month 2000: A Proclamation. Bill Clinton issues a presidential proclamation that Gay Pride is to last a month.

Jun 4 2000 Your Privacy Ends Here – the UK's RIP [Regulation of Investigatory Powers] Bill was passed.

Jun 7 2000 Judge orders Microsoft split. According to the Institute of Corporate Finance: "Despite the apparent deterioration in the enforcement of antitrust laws in the U.S. in recent years, the Microsoft case was instrumental in creating a market environment favorable for the emergence of the biggest companies today, such as Google and Apple." Coincidence or conspiracy?

Jun 8 2000 Do cellular phones limit our freedom?

Jun 8 2000 Residents of Calama claim NASA took chupacabras. A credible witness suggested that NASA were genetically engineering chupacabras.

Jun 11 2000 The Nation: 800-Pound Gorillas; Clinton's Age of Oligopoly in preparation for the technocracy?

Jun 15 2000 Crowd Control Technologies – European Parliament: an appraisal of technologies for political control. Like the microwave used in Australia...

Jun 17 2000 Rural revolt over asylum seekers' hostel: 'There are going to be so many, and a lot are going to be young men'.

Jun 23 2000 15 countries named as potential money-laundering havens. Fast forward to the 2016 Panama Papers.

Jun 25 2000 Lives ruined as NHS leaks patients' notes. Scaremongering over digital security?

Jun 28 2000 Bezos: Net personalization is key.

June 2000 Summary

O Magazine first cover, June 2000 note the title “For the First Time” discussing the death of [serial sex abuser Bill Cosby’s first son]. From here.

Welcome to summer 2000. Msm scaremongering included NHS data leaks, exorcisms [there was a rash of them in the US] and the scary Unabomber was dug up. Again.

In the US:

- Clinton decreed the first ever Gay Pride month. So the CIA came out.

- How did Congress handle the new drug allegations? By freezing overseas drug barons' profits [not the Clintons', though].
- Bush defended Texas' extreme death penalty. We were reminded Bush Sr was a Bonesman: he desecrated Christmas decorations as a prank.
- Newt Gingrich remarried.
- A judge ordered Microsoft to split; it created a tech oligopoly all the same.
- Bill Gates bought into a Hawaiian island. And had rooted through trash cans.
- There was a massive Mafia securities bust in New York.
- The Jehovah's Witnesses changed their blood transfusion laws; legislation ensued. And there was abuse in the Hare Krishnas.
- Satanists robbed a Civil War grave.
- Long Island NY got its very own CERN.
- The Human Genome Project ended.
- Even though Silicon Valley had boomed into a technopolis, Jeff Bezos still managed to lose a billion. He was pushing "net personalisation."
- Vanguard was expanding. Mutual funds had lost their way, wrote the BlackRock CEO.
- Microsoft was encouraging electronic voting machines.
- Cellphones were limiting freedom.
- Magazines were banning anorexic models.

- The government colluded with Big Pharma and the WHO to cover up vaccination dangers.
- There were more hate crimes in colleges and universities.
- A rapper criticised mp3.com.
- In Canada another residential school abuser crawled out from under his stone.

In the UK:

- The government commissioned the Horizon project for the Post Office, which will end up as the Post Office scandal.
- Support for rural asylum seekers was also at an all-time low [was there ever a high?].
- Support for the royals was at an all time low. Even so, the Queen met Camilla, who stepped out with Charles, there was a big party which William did not attend. Prince Andrew did not send Beatrice to a Swiss school where an abuse scandal raged and the Queen Mother was ruthless to the nanny.
- Blair's spin was diving in popularity: he pushed through the draconian Regulatory Investigatory Powers Bill and was booed and jeered by the Women's Institute.
- [2024 vaccine-pusher] Sir Michel Caine was knighted.
- There was a new organs scandal in the NHS.
- The police formed their own Masonic lodge.
- Mike Tyson admitted that he liked hurting people.
- There was a bin muckraker.

- Big Brother arrived on Channel 4.
- Gay rights in the pulpit were under the spotlight.
- The war on cash continued with lectures on electronic payment systems.
- Martin Bashir wrote about Satanic murderer Harold Shipman.

In the rest of the world:

- In Europe, the EU was taking stock of its [genuinely scary] crowd control weaponry. And Echelon was spying on people. Europeans didn't like biotechnology. The rich kids chased cars.
- The Pope denounced the Pride parade.
- There was Satanism in Poland.
- Global sex trafficking continued.
- India was fielding an international cricket match-fixing scandal.
- 15 money-laundering locations were named.
- Robert Mugabe accused a member of the UK Foreign Office of being Peter Tatchell's boyfriend.
- Viktor Korzeny was ripping people off in Azerbaijan.
- Iranian MPs had no press freedom.
- In Frankfurt there was a lecture on electronic payment systems.

- In Liechtenstein a prince's bank was busted.
- In Switzerland an abusive headmaster was arrested.
- In Belgium the Bilderburgers were meeting.
- In Zimbabwe Mugabe was stealing land.

Finally, included in the conspiracy theory we read about NASA re-capturing its escaped chupacabras. And summer was a lot sunnier it seemed back in the day.

June 2000 Links

HELLO! Magazine Prince Charles and Camilla 2000 cover, available here.

Jun 2000 US government, WHO and Big Pharma colluded to cover up dangers of vaccination [article from 2005]

"In June 2000, a group of top government scientists and health officials gathered for a meeting at the isolated Simpsonwood conference center in Norcross, Ga. Convened by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, the meeting was held at this Methodist retreat center, nestled in wooded farmland next to the Chattahoochee River, to ensure complete secrecy. The agency had issued no public announcement of the session -- only private invitations to 52 attendees. There were high-level officials from the CDC and the Food and Drug Administration, the top vaccine specialist from the World Health Organization in Geneva, and representatives of every major vaccine manufacturer, including GlaxoSmithKline, Merck, Wyeth and Aventis Pasteur. All of the scientific data under discussion, CDC officials repeatedly reminded the participants, was strictly "embargoed." There would be no making photocopies of documents, no taking papers with them when they left.

The federal officials and industry representatives had assembled to discuss a disturbing new study that raised alarming questions about the safety of a host of common childhood vaccines administered to infants and young children. According to a CDC epidemiologist named Tom Verstraeten, who had analyzed the agency's massive database containing the medical records of 100,000 children, a mercury-based preservative in the vaccines -- thimerosal -- appeared to be responsible for a dramatic increase in autism and a host of other neurological disorders among children." Archive.

Jun 2000 PDF: Counter Revolution: Modernising the Post Office Network

OzCW: The Horizon Project was the very beginning of the UK government's Post Office scandal...

"The Horizon project

In 1996, work began on a project to automate all post offices. The project was based around a magnetic swipe card that could be used to claim benefits and provided an infrastructure which could eventually enable all the other Post Office products and services to be automated. The project was complex and delays led to higher than expected costs. In May 1999, with the project considerably behind schedule, the Government decided to cancel the swipe card part of the contract, but continue with the automation of post offices. Instead of benefit claimants using a swipe card, it was decided that benefits should be paid directly into claimants' bank accounts, and that the Benefits Agency would transfer benefit recipients to this method of payment between 2003 and 2005.

The project will cost around £1 billion, around half of which will be funded by the Government. By Christmas 1999, over 1,500 offices had been automated and since January 2000, 300 post offices a week have been automated. It is planned that the entire network will be automated by early summer 2001. There will be 40,000 horizon terminals and 70,000 people will have been trained to use them."

Relevant: 2024: Post Office Horizon scandal: Why hundreds were wrongly prosecuted. 2024: Which politicians carry the blame in the Post Office IT scandal?

Jun 2000 Incentives Deal of the Month: Pennsylvania's $55.5 in Incentives Seals the Deal for Vanguard's 6,000-Employee Expansion

"It's a competitive world, and Delaware's not far down the road, to be honest," said John J. Brennan, chairman and chief executive officer of Vanguard Group (www.vanguard.com), the second-largest U.S. mutual fund firm. Right on both counts. And the world of business incentives is also a mighty competitive sphere.

In fact, Pennsylvania's US$55.5 million incentive package "tipped the balance" in Vanguard's decision to expand its world headquarters in Chester County, Brennan said.

Vanguard's plans call for building an office park on a 245-acre (98-ha.) tract near the Downingtown interchange of the Pennsylvania Turnpike in Uwchlan Township. Over the long term, the project could create 6,000 new jobs at Vanguard." Archive.

Jun 2000 PDF: Consumer Concerns About Biotechnology: International Perspectives

"...Lack of Trust in Experts

Because of the complexity of the issues and technologies, many consumers would like to have confidence in experts to make decisions rather than having to rely on their own judgements [Creative Research International, 1996]. This is especially true when it comes to judging the safety of biotechnology [Optima Consultants, 1994]. Unfortunately, many surveys suggest that people lack exactly this kind of confidence in the scientific and technical community [Gunter et al., 1999]. Data continues to suggest an overall lack of trust in experts and institutions.

Some observers also suggest that the merging of science and business required to develop GM products and to bring them to market may have had the effect of making people even more skeptical of the motivations and independence of scientists [Sardar, 1999].

Not surprisingly, people tend to be most mistrusting of the biotech industry itself. A recent Eurobarometer poll found that only 30% of Europeans believe that "the industry developing new products through the use of biotechnology does good work for society" [INRA Europe, 2000]. The same survey found that on the subject of biotechnology, Europeans are most trusting of environmental protection organizations, consumer organizations, and the medical profession."

Relevant: 2021: Percentage of people who trust biotechnology by country.

Jun 2000 Of course: Bill Gates and Microsoft gave Smartmatic voting machine application company an award back in 2000 [post dated 2020]

"We've uncovered that Bill Gates was connected to Smartmatic, the voting machine application company connected to George Soros, much earlier than previously known. Microsoft gave Smartmatic an award way back in 2000.."

The Smartmatic software application was used in the voting machines to steal elections for the dictators running Venezuela and this year in the United States to steal the election away from President Trump..

Comment: Gates' Microsoft has been one of the leading companies in Big Tech to make backdoors available for intelligence agencies looking to keep a big brother eye on the public and to monopolize the industry while doing it (among other things). So no wonder that Microsoft would hand out an award to honor and acknowledge "one of its own". Archive.

Jun 2000 Ancient Civilizations – and who is Graham Hancock anyway?

"Graham Hancock, has embarked on a worldwide quest to piece together the vast and fascinating jigsaw puzzle of humanity's mysterious past to uncover the true and even more ancient origins of human civilization. He examines a trail of technological and mythological wonders that runs through the Americas and Egypt - a trail suggesting that a group of highly intelligent people traveled to these lands to leave behind the remarkable legacy of edifices that still stand there today.

In ancient ruins as far apart as Egypt's Great Sphinx, the strange Andean temples of Tiahuanaco, and the monumental pyramids of Giza, Hancock reveals not only the clear fingerprints of this as-yet unidentified civilization of remote antiquity, but also signs of its technological advancement and astronomical knowledge.

Based on the latest scientific findings, Hancock's controversial re-examination of our past argues that humanity's history may date as far as the last ice age---10,000 years earlier than has been previously thought. Based on ancient maps that show Antarctica as a warm-weather region 2,000 miles north of its present location, and a crust-displacement theory of the earth's surface supported by Einstein, Hancock suggests that this highly intelligent civilization existed in Antarctica and was subsequently destroyed by a global catastrophe. A catastrophe that may strike again soon." Archive.

Summer 2000 NO ALIENS VISIT EARTH, BUT THE GOVERNMENT COVERS UP ANYWAY

"In the summer of 1954, when I was a young Air Force lieutenant, I was sent on temporary assignment to Walker Air Force Base in Roswell, NM, to oversee the installation of a new radar system. Late one night I was returning to the base after a weekend visit with my family in Texas. I was driving on a totally deserted stretch of highway...

Suddenly the entire countryside was lit up by a dazzling blue-green light, streaking across the sky just above the horizon. The light flashed on and off as it passed behind the hills, then vanished without a sound. It was all over in perhaps two seconds...

Recent polls indicate that a growing number of people think the government is covering up information about UFOs...

The real cost of the Roswell incident must be measured in terms of the erosion of public trust. In the interests of security, people in every society must grant their governments a license to keep secrets, and in times of perceived national danger, that license is broadened. It is a perilous bargain. A curtain of official secrecy can conceal waste, corruption and foolishness, and information can be selectively leaked for political advantage. That is a convenient arrangement for government officials, but in the long run, as the Roswell episode teaches, it often backfires. Secrets and lies leave the government powerless to reassure its citizens in the face of far-fetched conspiracy theories. Concealment is the soil in which pseudoscience flourishes." Archive.

Jun 1-3 Bilderberg 2000

2000 Bilderberg Conference, June 1-3, Brussels, Belgium Chateau Du Lac Hotel, Genval, Brussels.

"The 'global elite' have performed yet another coup. They have so far had many of their people elected to high office - Bill Clinton, Lionel Jospin, Tony Blair, as well as Jacques Santer, Wim Duisenberg [now head of the European Central Bank], and many others.

Chair of the Commission Romano Prodi was a Steering Committee Member of the Bilderberg Group in the 80s - I have a copy of their booklet from 1982, which incidentally also shows that Wim Duisenberg was the then Treasurer. What is noticeable that Prodi has limited the declarations of his Commissioners to 10 years, something not done in the previous Commission, and so has allowed himself not to declare this former highly sensitive role.

Since the head man is a member of the elite, it should be no surprise that he has nominated 7 other elite members [and incidentally 4 others suspected of involvement in fraud!]. These 7 are:" Archive.

Jun 1 2000 Queen meets Camilla

"The Queen has formally met Camilla Parker Bowles, the long-time companion of her son, the Prince of Wales, for the first time. The meeting took place at a 60th birthday party for King Constantine, the former King of Greece, at the prince's home at Highgrove in Gloucestershire.

Charles, Camilla and the Queen are believed to have sat at the same table and so ended a much-publicised stand-off since the prince divorced his wife, the late Diana, Princess of Wales.

Royal peace maker

Mrs Parker Bowles has been a dark figure on the Royal scene since Diana blamed her friendship with the prince for the failure of their marriage. The Queen is reported to have refused even to acknowledge her existence." Archive.

Jun 2 2000 Oblate brother faces dozens of sex charges

"A Roman Catholic Oblate brother who worked at two British Columbia residential schools has been charged with more than three dozen sex offences against native boys.

The 36 charges against Glen William Doughty, 62, date from the 1960s and 1970s and involve 13 young people, ranging from age 6 to 18.

The counts include indecent assault on a male, gross indecency and buggery. The alleged crimes occurred when Mr. Doughty was a child-care worker and supervisor at St. Joseph's Residential School in Williams Lake and the Kuper Residential School off the east coast of Vancouver Island.

This is the second time Mr. Doughty has been charged with sex crimes stemming from his tenure at the two schools. He was convicted in 1991 on four counts of gross indecency against four children at St. Joseph's School." Archive.

Jun 2 2000 Gay and Lesbian Pride Month 2000: A Proclamation

OzCW: This is the moment Bill Clinton created “Pride Month.” It never existed before. It was there, “installed” to be promoted a decade or so later.

“This June, recognizing the joys and sorrows that the gay and lesbian movement has witnessed and the work that remains to be done, we observe Gay and Lesbian Pride Month and celebrate the progress we have made in creating a society more inclusive and accepting of gays and lesbians. I hope that in this new millennium we will continue to break down the walls of fear and prejudice and work to build a bridge to understanding and tolerance, until gays and lesbians are afforded the same rights and responsibilities as all Americans.” Archive.

Jun 3 2000 US moves to freeze drug barons' profits

“For the first time, the White House yesterday designated a "dirty dozen" kingpins of the international drugs trade, freezing their US assets and putting any companies which assist them under notice that they face millions of dollars in fines and other penalties.

All 12 of the drugs bosses named by the Clinton administration yesterday are familiar enough figures in the global smuggling economy but there are doubts about the extent to which any of them currently has significant assets inside the US.

The move's primary significance is as part of a renewed attempt by the US to target a network of businesses and individuals who can be linked to the so-called "kingpins" with a range of tough economic sanctions.

The 12 were named in a letter sent by President Bill Clinton to the US Congress under the terms of the 1999 Drug Kingpin Designation Act, which establishes a global sanctions regime aimed against major international traffickers and their networks.

Six of the 12 are Mexicans, some of whom are already under arrest in their home country. The remaining six include two from south-east Asia, both currently based in Burma, two from the Caribbean and two who are on the run in Nigeria.” Archive.

Relevant: 1995 flashback: Billions of dollars' worth of cocaine entered the US under Clinton's nose. Archive.

Jun 3 2000: Mugabe land seizures force hundreds of farm owners to flee

"Hundreds of Zimbabwe's white farmers prepared to leave their land yesterday following Robert Mugabe's announcement of the seizure of 804 mostly white-owned farms for the resettlement of poor black farmers.

"I don't know how to even begin leaving my farm," said Jim Sinclair, a white farmer faced with eviction by early next month. "I had reckoned it would take five months to wind up the farm, not a few weeks."

He said he feared an increase in lawlessness. "This gives carte blanche to anybody who wants to move onto the farms. Some of them are armed."

Five white farmers have been killed since Mr Mugabe's supporters began invading farms three months ago.

In 1980, as president of the Commercial Farmers Union, he encouraged white farmers to continue under majority rule. Now Mr Sinclair sees little hope for Zimbabwe's large-scale farming. "This will tear the heart out of commercial agriculture," he said. "It's the beginning of the end of the economy of this country."

Other farming families have begun packing up valuables in fear that their property will be invaded immediately." Archive.

Relevant: 2003: Zimbabwe land reform and imperialist hypocrisy. 2011: From bread-basket to basket case: Land seizures from white farmers have cost Mugabe's Zimbabwe £7billion. 2017: Zimbabwe warns Jacob Zuma not to copy land seizures - Tourism minister tells South Africa that Marxism has had 'dire consequences'.

2020: Look north SA: After 20 years of devastation due to land seizures, Zim gives land back.

2024: The ZiG: Zimbabwe rolls out world's newest [gold-backed] currency. Here's what to know.

Jun 4 2000 Your Privacy Ends Here – the UK's RIP Bill

"The Regulation of Investigatory Powers [RIP] Bill which is now before the Lords gives the Home Secretary powers of interception and surveillance which would be the envy of the most draconian regime. In addition to encroaching on civil liberties, the same Bill will also drive hordes of e-commerce companies from Britain to countries like Ireland where their encryption keys - extended pin numbers allowing users to decipher jumbled data - will be protected from government prying. An administration which complains continually about making Britain 'the most e-friendly country in the world' by 2002 is busily making sure that exactly the opposite happens.

How has this extraordinary state of affairs come about? Is it another manifestation of the cock-up theory of history, or are there more sinister forces at work? The answer is a bit of both. For some time, it has been obvious to Ministers and civil servants that British law needed updating to cope with the internet.” Archive.

Relevant: [from ntk.net March 3 2000] On the UK's REGULATION OF INVESTIGATORY POWERS BILL

“On Monday, the bill will get its second reading in the Commons. Then it goes to committee, then it becomes law, and then you'll never hear from it again, because talking about most of its powers will get you five years in prison. So, when the police ask your ISP to put a tap on your mail, you won't hear about it. When your local trades and standards officer decides to take a look at your browser log for the last month, you won't hear about it. And when they come and get your private encryption key so they can read your friend's mails, you won't be able to tell your friend - or us - that it happened.”

Jun 4 2000 Britain's UFO secrets revealed

“Whitehall has traditionally treated reports of UFO sightings as highly classified and only released information to the public after 30 years. But the parliamentary Ombudsman insisted that the MoD hand this information to Colin Ridyard, a research chemist from Wales.

Dr Ridyard had been seeking information relating to UFO sightings by pilots or radar operators between July 1998 and July 1999. Initially the MoD refused on the ground it would be too expensive. But after the intervention of the ombudsman, Michael Buckley, the MoD agreed to release the information as a one-off exercise for £75. The Ministry handed two reports to Ridyard, yet official information from the Civil Aviation Authority suggests there had been additional sightings. During the same period the CAA said it reported two more UFO sightings to the MoD, neither of which the Ministry disclosed.

According to official CAA reports, in the same month that a radar picked up an enormous object flying across Scotland, a pilot flying over the North Sea became startled when his aircraft became illuminated by an 'incandescent' light. Three other aircraft in the area reported seeing a ball of light moving at high speed. Air traffic controllers reported there were no strange aircraft in the area, but five minutes later an operator at a weather station picked up a fast-moving object on his radar.” Archive.

Relevant: The report.

Jun 5 2000 Understanding the Australian Bigfoot or Yowie Phenomena

“On 25 November 1973 at Vickery Creek, Mount Missim, at 1,200 meters [3937 feet] elevation, I was walking along an old logging track towards a bird hide in which an ecologist was observing nesting superb fruit dove. It was then that I observed a dark bipedal figure crossing the track 200 meters [656 feet] in front of me. I took it to be a native Melanesian but was surprised to see no sign of clothing at this high altitude, no weapons and the unusual fact that the figure did not walk or even glance along the track but instead moved through dense vegetation travelling down the slope.

The ecologist had not observed the figure even though it was moving towards the hide. It was a great mystery to me as to the identification of a human-like figure swinging its arms and paying no attention to the track that it was crossing.

We never encountered any other individuals during the many months of fauna surveys in this remote, high altitude, undisturbed environment. Even after hearing the subsequent calls it did not occur to me at the time that the figure that I had observed might have been responsible for the calls.

I had read newspaper articles of Yetis and Bigfoot in the Northern Hemisphere but had never heard of unknown primate bipeds in this part of the world.” Archive.

Jun 5 2000 Inquiry into new organs scandal: Hospital mortuary staff claim they were ordered to dispose of foetuses as if they were clinical waste

“The health secretary, Alan Milburn, has launched an investigation after hospital staff were ordered to dispose of babies' organs as clinical waste.

The inquiry will focus on the inappropriate disposal of organs at the King's Mill centre in Sutton in Ashfield, Nottinghamshire. Mortuary technicians there claim that they were ordered to dispose of foetuses, babies' hearts, brains and other organs along with clinical waste bags.

The staff made video recordings of the disposal of the organs and foetuses in March, within days of the Royal College of Pathologists issuing guidelines for hospitals to check whether specimens had been kept without relatives' permission.

Geoffrey Hulman, a consultant who was in charge of mortuary services at the hospital, has been suspended while the investigation is carried out. Mr Milburn said yesterday that he was extremely concerned about the King's Mill centre allegations.

"My concerns are particularly with the relatives and families," he said. "That is why I have ordered an immediate investigation on which I expect a report as quickly as possible to me." Archive.

Relevant: 2017: Look back at the organ scandals that rocked families.

Jun 5 2000 False Prophets and Exorcists

O2CW: This article reflects the fact that in the US exorcism was a big topic in 2000.

"Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in thy name? and in thy name have cast out devils? and in thy name done many wonderful works? And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you: depart from me, ye that work iniquity" [Matthew 7:22,23].

These sobering words of Christ indicate that many professing Christians, calling Him "Lord" and presuming to speak in His name, are actually unsaved. They have not done His will as revealed in His word and therefore will not "enter into the kingdom of heaven" [note verse 21]. Archive.

Jun 5 2000 Satanism stalks Poland

"Last year the charred bodies of two Silesian teenagers were found in a derelict military bunker near Ruda Slaska in Poland - victims of a brutal, Satanic sacrifice.

The incident sent a wave of revulsion and alarm through Poland. While this incident was a special horror, it follows a rising trend of interest in sects and cult movements among Poland's disaffected youth.

Poland is Europe's most devoutly Catholic country, yet it is also a country experiencing major social upheavals in its transition to a free market economy. Unemployment has led to poverty, and once traditional forms of belief are being questioned and rejected by Poland's youth. Some are turning to Satanism and devil worship.

Disillusioned youth joining sects

"There are roughly between 20,000 and 40,000 Satanists in Poland", says Ryschard Nowak, a former MP who now leads Poland's Defence Committee against sects. "Over time we have seen a very rapid increase in this number." Archive.

Jun 6 2000 What the hell is the Echelon scandal?

"In the past week increasingly scandalised Echelon stories have ripped across Europe, following the publication of a European parliament report into the shady spook system. But in all the sound and fury there are aspects that haven't really been properly covered - how little of Echelon's claimed activities we didn't know about already, and how little new information the report adds..."

What is Echelon? Echelon has been memorably described as a huge vacuum cleaner in the sky sucking up phone, Internet and fax traffic. If something of this sort didn't exist already, then the security agencies would be bound to want to invent it, so we can safely assume it exists, even ignoring the odd hard-copy sighting.

Is Echelon wrong? Well, of course it is, silly. The spooks are bugging their way around the world invading privacy willy-nilly. But this is what spooks do, and we hear French spooks are especially keen on it. You knew that already." Archive.

Jun 7 2000 Judge orders Microsoft split

"Calling the world's largest software maker "untrustworthy," a federal judge Wednesday ordered Microsoft to be broken into two smaller companies to prevent it from violating state and federal antitrust laws in the future.

In a scathing memorandum that accompanied his 14-page decision, U.S. District Judge Thomas Penfield Jackson said he was ordering the breakup because the company was totally unwilling to admit that it had violated federal antitrust law and has shown no willingness to modify its business conduct.

The court has "reluctantly come to the conclusion that a structural remedy has become imperative: Microsoft as it is presently organized and led is unwilling to accept the notion that it broke the law or accede to an order amending its conduct," the judge's memorandum said." Archive.

Microsoft's anti-trust cases were to battle on. According to the Corporate Finance Institute: "Despite the apparent deterioration in the enforcement of antitrust laws in the U.S. in recent years, the Microsoft case was instrumental in creating a market environment favorable for the emergence of the biggest companies today, such as Google and Apple.” Archive.

Jun 8 2000 Do cellular phones limit our freedom?

“They're everywhere--in the library, at the gym, on Locust Walk, even in class; there is no escaping the cell phone. I've never seen such product have such dramatic effect so quickly. Just five years ago, cell phones were practically nonexistent, and today it seems everybody has one.

I didn't begin to question the negative effects of the cell phone until I was in Europe last summer... I find it very interesting that my friend's grandfather refuses to buy a watch, but cannot leave home without his cell phone. Couldn't the cell phone be seen as the same infringement as the watch?

Although the hefty monthly fees don't help your cash flow, the cell phone does help one thing -- your ego. It's a powerful feeling when people call you in a library, on the street, or at a restaurant. It makes you feel important. When the phone rings--in one of countless different sounds--it says, "Look everybody; I'm important; people need to talk to me!"” Archive.

Jun 8 2000 At CIA, Gay Pride Comes in From the Cold

“Not many years ago, the Central Intelligence Agency automatically denied a security clearance to anyone it suspected was homosexual, on the theory that gay men and lesbians were ripe for blackmail.

This week, the CIA held a gay pride celebration at its Langley headquarters, hosting gay Rep. Barney Frank [D-Mass.] at a ceremony intended to underscore how far the agency has come from its homophobic past.” Archive.

Jun 8 2000 Residents of Calama claim NASA took chupacabras

“Residents of Calama, a city in northern Chile, claim that NASA took custody of the three Chupacabras reportedly captured by the Chilean army two weeks ago. According to reports obtained by Marcial Campos Maza, a reporter for Chile's EFE new service, Chilean troops captured the three creatures in the desert near the Radomiro Tomic mine north of Calama. During the pursuit, a firefight ensued in which one Chilean soldier was reportedly killed.

The three creatures--a male, a female and a child-- were held at the regiment's barracks for several hours. Then a NASA team reportedly arrived by helicopter to take custody of them.

Some residents of Calama, however, claimed that that the Chupacabras were "creations" of NASA. "The gringos had at least three genetic experiments run away from them, and they've only been able to capture two of them," said Dagoberto Corante, a Chilean architect." Archive.

Jun 8 2000 Heckled, jeered, booed – Blair bombs at the WI

"In an extraordinary error of political judgment, Tony Blair tried to use the Women's Institute's national conference in Wembley yesterday as a platform to reposition Labour as a party of traditional values in a changing world.

The audience of 10,000 women representing the backbone of Britain responded first with sporadic heckling, then slow handclapping and finally undisguised jeering from sections of the hall.

If it had not been for an appeal for politeness from the chair, the prime minister might not have been able to scamper through to the end of an ill-advised speech that later drew taunts in the Commons from William Hague." Archive.

Relevant: 2000: Why I heckled the Prime Minister.

Jun 9 2000 Pope Denounces Gay Pride Parade

"Pope John Paul II bitterly denounced the gay pride festival in Rome as offensive to Christians and said Sunday that homosexual acts are "contrary to natural law."

The pontiff spoke from his balcony overlooking St. Peter's Square the day after tens of thousands of people took part in an international gay pride parade in Rome. The parade capped a weeklong festival the Vatican had tried to get canceled.

John Paul expressed what he called "bitterness for the insult" of having the festival "during the grand Jubilee of the year 2000 and for the offense to Christian values in a city that is so dear to the heart of Catholics all over the world." Archive.

Relevant: 2023: Pope Francis says homosexuality is not a crime.

Jun 11 2000 The Nation: 800-Pound Gorillas; Clinton's Age of Oligopoly

"A nice irony of Judge Thomas Penfield Jackson's decision last week is that he rejected the suggestion of smashing the world's most powerful software company into a bunch of "Baby Bills," and instead proposed to split Microsoft into two behemoths that would dominate their respective markets.

In fact, a major legacy of the Clinton administration will be that it encouraged one of the greatest periods of industrial concentration in American history, affecting old and new sectors ranging from oil and pharmaceuticals, to telecommunications, broadcasting and the Internet. Call it the Age of Oligopoly.

Corporate mergers have grown so frequent and so large, said Robert Pitofsky, the chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, that "there's not a week that goes by that we're not called upon to review a big merger that has significant implications for the marketplace." Archive.

Jun 12 2000 Support for royal family falls to new low

OzCW: Support fell just before the death of Diana, Princess of Wales mainly because Diana's 1995 interview with Martin Bashir had exposed the rigours of her life amongst the royals.

"Support for the royal family has fallen to its lowest level in modern times, with only 44% of the public believing that Britain would be worse off without the monarchy, according to a Guardian/ICM opinion poll published today.

The survey suggests, however, that it is a growing indifference to the royal family rather than a rise in republicanism that is responsible for the spectacular slide in royal popularity since the late 1980s and early 1990s when repeated ICM polls showed more than 70% of the public believed Britain would be worse off without the royal family.

A comparison of the poll results with Guardian/ICM surveys over the last 13 years shows that the royal family is now held in less affection than the previous low point in their fortunes in August 1997 when their support fell below 50% for the first time, just before the death of Diana, Princess of Wales." Archive.

Jun 12 2000 The Cricket Scandal Breaks, the World Reacts

"The allegations break. Hansie Cronje, Pieter Strydom, Nicky Boje and Herschelle Gibbs are charged by Indian police with "cheating, fraud and criminal conspiracy relating to match-fixing and betting".

New Delhi police release transcripts of a conversation thought to be between Cronje and a businessman, Sanjeev Chawla. Strydom, Gibbs and Boje are explicitly mentioned, and "Cronje" goes on to say that he cannot "get" any more players as "The other guys are already angry with me because I have not received their money."

Ali Bacher, managing director of the United Cricket Board of South Africa [UCBSA], defends Cronje's integrity. Cronje says he is innocent of the charges: "I am stunned. The allegations are completely without substance." Jagmohan Dalmiya, the ICC president, announces: "If there is any grey side to it, we [ICC] will take care of it. We have our own way of working."" Archive.

Jun 13 2000 Gates buys into pineapple paradise

OzCW: In 2018 Gates will enter a bidding war to buy the island – but Top Gun Larry Ellison will win in another example of globalist technocrats hiding out on remote tropical islands to avoid us sheeple and indulge their “tastes” in private. [Apparently, the islanders wanted Gates to win!]

"...And it just so happens that Bill Gates is the most famous player in a struggle for the control of a real estate business called Castle & Cooke ccs , which owns 98% of the Hawaiian island Lanai. Gates married his wife Melissa on Lanai six years ago, and he rented the entire island for the party.

David Murdoch, the chairman of publicly held Castle & Cooke, is trying to take the real estate company private. Murdoch, a billionaire and high school dropout, is also the chairman of Dole Food dol , which spun off CCS in 1992 to turn Lanai into a resort after its pineapple plantations there shut down...

This pineapple paradise seems like the perfect place for a beleaguered billionaire. The island is sparsely populated; only 2,989 people lived within its 140 square miles in 1995, the most recent data available.

And much of what is there is focused on making visitors feel welcome. Castle & Cooke's two resorts, and the luxury homes near them, are fed with fresh fruit and vegetables by neighboring farms.

Gates stayed at the Manele Hotel when he was married. The most expensive suites there go for $2,700 per night and have views of the ocean, which contrast with the gold carpeting and wallpaper. The island isn't impossible to get to, but it's remote enough that annoying lawyers and reporters can't easily follow.” Archive.

Jun 13 2000 Hare Krishna Movement Sued for Alleged Child Abuse

Transcript: “BRIDGETT RITTENOUR, PLAINTIFF: If my milk spilt, which it did a lot of times, we had to lick it off the floor. There were a couple of times when some of us would vomit, throw up, and we were actually forced to lick that off the floor as well.

DAVID CHRISTOPHER, KDFW REPORTER [voice-over]: Bridgett Rittenour, 26 years later, still finds it difficult to describe what she claims happened inside this former Dallas boarding school, run by the Hare Krishnas.

RITTENOUR: I was frequently locked up and isolated and was put in closets, locked in the closets. There was a time where I was locked in a room for days, not given anything to eat or drink, or no bathroom facility.

CHRISTOPHER: Allegations of not only physical and mental torture, but the sexual abuse of children.

RITTENOUR: A lot of times, it was -- I was told that it was happening for medical reasons. I was being taken, and that -- you know, now I know better. You don't get blindfolded to go to the doctor.” Archive.

Relevant: 2022: Hare Krishna teacher abuses children in Dallas. 2023: Lawsuit filed against ISKCON whistle blowers draws more attention to child sexual abuse scandals.

Jun 13 2000 Colleges and Universities See Increase in Hate Crimes

“...Across the nation, colleges and universities are experiencing hate — both hate crimes and less drastic incidents of bias — first-hand. On and around the leafy campuses where America's "best and brightest" get their educations — places long assumed to be among the nation's most tolerant and broad-minded enclaves — violent racism and homophobia are becoming frighteningly commonplace.

"Hate is part of our culture," says Jack Levin, an expert on hate crime at Northeastern University in Boston. "So we shouldn't be surprised that some of the most conventional and brightest of our young people, those who attend colleges and universities, harbor these feelings of prejudice and bigotry."

Sometimes, it's hard not to be surprised...

*Holocaust deniers publish their screeds in campus newspapers and, in a few cases, are backed up ideologically by professors like Arthur Butz (see The Professors) at Northwestern University." Archive.*

Jun 14 2000 Bush defends streamlined Texas death penalty system

"Gov. George W. Bush has helped to fine-tune a capital punishment system that sends inmates to their deaths more efficiently than any other in America and with what critics say are fewer safeguards.

He has vetoed a bill that would have allowed counties to set up a public defender system for indigent suspects and successfully pushed for legislation to streamline the state appeals process.

The presumed Republican presidential nominee has presided over more executions than any other governor in American history and has issued only one 30-day stay of execution in more than five years in office. That stay came 13 days ago, in the middle of a presidential campaign in which he is working to persuade voters of his centrist and compassionate vision." Archive.

Relevant: Why Texas' 'death penalty capital of the world' stopped executing people.

Jun 14 2000 PDF: Copy of Saucer Smear UFO Newsletter June 15 2000

Jun 14 2000 Atom Smasher revs up

"They have begun smashing the nuclei of gold atoms together at the [Long Island NY] Relativistic Heavy Ion Collider [RHIC], the world's newest and biggest particle accelerator built to study the building blocks of matter.

The facility aims to recreate the conditions of the early Universe.

Scientists will use data collected during the experiments to explore the particles known as quarks and gluons that make up protons and neutrons.

The RHIC has gone online after a publicity campaign sought to reassure local people that its work was safe and would not result in the creation black holes that would destroy the Earth, as some had predicted.” Archive.

Jun 15 2000 PDF: Crowd Control Technologies – European Parliament: an appraisal of technologies for political control

“The current market in crowd control weapons covers everything from basic truncheons; side-handle batons 16 ; riot shields 17 ; kinetic impact weapons such as rubber and PVC plastic baton rounds;18 single and multi-shot riot guns 19 ; water cannon which have been enhanced to fire >slugs= or >bullets=of water, marker dye and a range of chemical irritants for punishing demonstrators 20 ; stun grenades;21 a wide variety of chemical irritant grenades 22 ; tear gas projectiles 23 ; aerosols 24; and bulk sprayers 25 [yet all based primarily on 5 disabling chemicals namely CS, CN, CR, OC and Pava]; a range of electro-shock weapons including 50,000 volt riot shields and hand held shock batons varying from 50,000 to 400,000 volts.26 [A comprehensive list of these technologies and effects is provided as Appendix 3]. [Figures 1-4 provide examples of some currently available technologies].”

Relevant: 2022: Australia: Microwave Weapons Are Being Used Against Those Who Stand Up Against Medical Tyranny.

OzCW: The European Parliament was evaluating weapons to beat down crowds. Using the words “market in crowd control”...

Jun 15 2000 120 charged in FBI Probe of Mafia Securities Scams

“Reputed Mafia members used threats, extortion and beatings of stock brokers to enforce cooperation in a five-year series of swindles that netted more than $50 million from investors nationwide, authorities said Wednesday.

Federal prosecutors in Manhattan charged a record 120 people Wednesday with securities fraud and related felonies in a crackdown that was the fruit of a yearlong FBI probe--code named “Uptick”--that used wiretaps and undercover witnesses to infiltrate the alleged scams.

Those accused in the 16 federal indictments range from accountants to brokers to officers of publicly traded companies to 10 alleged members of New York's main five families of organized crime.

By Wednesday, 98 suspects had been arrested in 13 states, and more arrests were expected, FBI officials said.

The purported schemes centered on classic boiler-room scams in which corrupt brokers made high-pressure "cold calls" to predominantly elderly investors, pushing stock "opportunities" with supposedly guaranteed 100% returns.

But the Mafia involvement gave the alleged swindles an element of violence that white-collar crime typically lacks. Some brokers recruited to participate in the scams were beaten when they tried to back out, authorities said." Archive.

Jun 15 2000 True Bible-Believers Denounced at Papal Conference

OzCW: From the Internet Archive, US pastor Texe Marrs denounces the hidden evil of the Vatican.

"Angry at Christian Bible-believers and others who refuse to acknowledge his spiritual leadership, Pope John Paul II and Vatican cronies have called for an all-out war.

As reported in the Associated Press, with the Tibetan god-man, the Dalai Lama, sitting at his right side, this October in Rome the Pope presided at a special council of some 200 religious leaders of various faiths, sects, and cults.

The Pontiff told the assembled Buddhist monks, Zoroastrian priests, Catholic cardinals, Hindu gurus, American Indian shamen, Jewish rabbis, and ecumenical clergy that all must join in condemning the Christian fundamentalists who "abuse speech" and whose efforts at converting others "incite hatred and violence."

The Pope further directed that the religious leaders promote "tolerance," mutual understanding, and respect for all religions and faiths, not just their own." Archive.

Relevant: 2024: Pope Francis Calls For Inter-Religious Action to Fight 'Climate Change'.

Jun 15 2000 Transfusion row rocks Jehovah's witnesses

"Jehovah's Witnesses are braced for a flood of litigation following a vote by church elders in New York which may allow members to accept blood transfusions in critical medical circumstances providing they repent afterwards.

The revelation that transfusions might now be acceptable, apparently decided by the church's world governing body by a vote of eight to four at a secret meeting last month, caused anguish and astonishment to adherents that one of the central tenets of the faith - and the cause of death for thousands of members over the years - was being abandoned.

The decision means that members who accept transfusions may not be automatically expelled and shunned, so long as they repent and seek spiritual guidance.

The church fears that disaffected members whose relatives have died after refusing blood may now seek damages." Archive.

Relevant: 2006: Grieving father sue Jehovah's Witness Over Blood Transfusion Bans.

Jun 15 2000 The Man Who Killed Paul McCartney

"The story goes...

On October 12, 1969, Detroit disc jockey Russ Gibb of WKNR-FM received a bizarre late-night phone call from a listener. This Deep Throat told him that, if he played several tracks off of the Beatles' The White Album backwards, he'd hear some rather interesting things. Curious, Gibb decided "to hell" with his stylus and turntable, and spent the next several hours shredding his copy of The White Album. What Gibb heard was amazing. When played backwards, he discovered a formerly indecipherable mumbling from John Lennon at the end of "I'm So Tired" could now clearly be made out as the literary Beatle moaning "Paul is a dead man, miss him, miss him, miss him." Also, the oft-intoned words "number nine, number nine" from Lennon's music concrete opus, "Revolution #9," miraculously transformed into the eerie phrase "turn me on dead man" when spun counterclockwise." Archive.

Jun 16 2000 Flamboyant oil Investor in Azerbaijan is sued over fraud

“One of Viktor Kozeny's strengths has always been audacity.

In the early 1990s, Mr. Kozeny, an investment promoter, graduated from Harvard, returned to his Czech homeland, and persuaded 800,000 local citizens that they would earn 10 times their money by investing with him. Labeled the "pirate of Prague" after he left town with $200 million and left most other participants in the investment plan almost broke, Mr. Kozeny said it was "hurtful" to be unappreciated.

Shifting two years ago to Aspen, Colo., Mr. Kozeny awed the rich ski town with his extravagance, including buckets of beluga caviar and $1,000 bottles of Chateau Petrus. Soon, Aspen people had entrusted Mr. Kozeny with their money -- an estimated $450 million in what would become another investment-gone-bad.

When some complained, Mr. Kozeny accused them of "rabid greed" and sour grapes.” Archive.

Relevant: 2000: The Incredible Half-Billion-Dollar Azerbaijani Oil Swindle Wherein we learn why smart players like Leon Cooperman, George Mitchell, and AIG would entrust buckets of their money to Victor Kozeny, a.k.a. the Pirate of Prague. [Hint: Can you say 'greed'?] Archive.

Jun 16 2000 Liechtenstein prince's bank raided

“Police in Liechtenstein announced on Friday they had raided the offices of a bank owned by the principality's ruling family, as part of an investigation into money-laundering.

Police in the capital Vaduz said a group of 20 officers from Liechtenstein and neighbouring Austria conducted a search of the LGT bank on Thursday.

They seized documents and electronic data related to accounts held at the bank.

The raid follows a six month investigation into money-laundering which has shocked the small Alpine community ruled by Prince Hans-Adam II.

His brother Prince Philip is president of the LGT bank's administrative council.” Archive.

Relevant: 2000: There has been a new twist to the money-laundering affair that has hit Switzerland's neighbour, Liechtenstein. Police have seized documents from the Liechtenstein Global Trust (LGT) which is controlled by Prince Hans Adam II and his family.

2009: Liechtenstein prince angers Jews by 'mocking' Holocaust to justify banking secrecy laws.

2012: The Prince vs. the 'Paupers' - Liechtenstein's billionaire royal family is threatening to literally abandon its tiny, wealthy principality over a referendum to curtail its power. Is this the coming of the Liechtenspring?

2018: Liechtenstein: The mysterious tax heaven that's losing the trust of the super-rich - The tiny principality of Liechtenstein attracts the super-rich for its secrecy and security but, as a bitter legal case shows, there's a price: all legal right [sic] are held by the trustees.

2021: Liechtenstein Royal Is Accused in Bear Killing in Romania. The unauthorized killing of a bear called Arthur in the Carpathian Mountains has set off a wave of anger in Romania.

Jun 17 2000 Rural revolt over asylum seekers' hostel: 'There are going to be so many, and a lot are going to be young men'

"To their evident discomfort, residents of this normally peaceful corner of rural Somerset have found themselves under the media spotlight in a row about a religious charity's plans to house up to 74 asylum seekers in a former boarding school on their doorstep.

The proposal has bitterly divided this ancient parish, a clutch of hamlets spread along the eastern edge of the Quantock hills near Bridgwater.

The area, whose beauty and tranquillity once attracted Coleridge and Wordsworth, remains a highly sought after place to live, the sort of place young locals can no longer afford...

For two days this week they have been reliving their worst fears. Kaleidoscope, a Baptist charity that wants to house asylum seekers in the dormitory blocks once occupied by the boys and girls of Quantocks school, has been appealing against the local authority's decision to block the plan... Opponents - a large majority of the 314 members of the parish - agree. They must now wait until the government appointed inspector, Philip Wilson, gives his ruling later this summer." Archive

Jun 17 2000 Michael Caine receives a knighthood

OzCW: In 2020, Sir Michael Caine was pushing the jibby-jab with Sir Elton John [knighted 1998].

“Michael Caine will be awarded a knighthood on Queen Elizabeth's annual birthday honors list on Saturday, only weeks after complaining of being frozen out.” Archive.

Jun 18 2000 When the spinning had to stop: Tony Blair has realised that he has to prove to the electorate that New Labour has a purpose greater than mere presentation

“...The strong and unchallenged leadership that was once a key to Blair's electoral appeal has become control-freakism. A united party has become one in which dissent is suppressed. Once, there was general wonder at Tony Blair's consummate ability to cultivate whichever audience he happened to be standing in front of. Not only is the charm wearing thin, as was demonstrated by his unfortunate reception before the hatchet-faced battalions of the Women's Institute. The reputation for schmoozing has itself become a liability. The leaked memo from the guru of the focus group, Philip Gould, to the Spinner-General, Alastair Campbell, reveals how well appreciated this is within the inner circles of New Labour. Charm has become 'pandering'. Pragmatism is 'lacking conviction'. Flexibility is 'lacking the guts to be able to tough it out'.” Archive.

Jun 18 2000 Iran MPs demand press freedom

“The press law, passed on 18 April:

- * increased punishments for offences by the press*
- * gave the conservative-dominated courts more powers to suspend or otherwise sanction newspapers*
- * allowed for prosecution of journalists as well as publishers.*

Even before the restrictive press legislation was passed, the judiciary had suspended more than a dozen dailies and jailed a number of press chiefs for various offences relating to the content of their publications.

Reformists, who won a huge majority in the February elections, had pledged to overturn the restrictive law in the first weeks of the new parliament, which opened late last month.” Archive.

Relevant: 2024: The Dire State of Press Freedom in Iran.

Jun 18 2000 A refined wedding registry for 2nd and 3rd-timers

“Bridal registries have always been the perfect opportunity for couples to ask for anything they want. But these days, they’re not necessarily a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity.

Couples who are marrying for a second (or third) time are registering for gifts right along with the first-timers, retailers say. And the gifts they choose tend toward the elegant rather than the essential.

“Younger couples need everything, whereas more established couples don’t need toasters or blenders,” says Lisa Walker, manager of the bridal registry at a Macy’s. “They’re going for crystal and china and the items that they have always wanted.”

It’s Limoges versus the lemon zester.

Consider the wish list of former House Speaker Newt Gingrich and his soon-to-be third bride, Callista Bisek:

Twelve place settings of Waterford china in palest ivory rimmed with hand-applied bands of gold. Lacquer chargers painted gleaming gold to set off the dinner plates. Lead-crystal goblets, flutes and water glasses from Waterford etched with a delicate diamond pattern. Lenox flatware ringed with a gold band. For a more intimate setting, king-size, 280-thread-count, sateen Sandy Dune sheets from Ralph Lauren...” Archive.

Relevant: 2011: Newt’s Congressional Ethics Scandal Explained. 2012: Exclusive: Gingrich Lacks Moral Character to Be President, Ex-Wife Says

Jun 19 2000 George W Bush: Ally of an Older Generation Amid the Tumult of the 60's

“The first time that George W. Bush was arrested, he had just stolen a Christmas wreath. Mr. Bush, then a 20-year-old junior at Yale, was head of a notoriously rambunctious fraternity, and with the Christmas holidays approaching, he and some of his buddies had declared themselves the “decorating committee.” They took off for a festive shopping street, where Mr. Bush spotted the wreath in a hotel -- and stole it.

It was not the perfect crime. Mr. Bush later recalled that he and his friends had perhaps had a few beers and were loud and boisterous. In addition, a police car was approaching.

The police arrested Mr. Bush and charged him with disorderly conduct. Eventually the charges were dropped, but the episode underscored Mr. Bush's path through the uproar of the late 1960's: at a time when many university students risked arrest for their vociferous political protests, Mr. Bush broke the law not out of principle but for a prank. Others denounced the police as "pigs," while Mr. Bush instinctively stood with the establishment, even as he casually breached its law." Archive.

Relevant: 2023: The Secret Society Satanist Bush Crime Family (This Leaves Out Their Sadistic Pedophilia).

Jun 19 2000 What Will Congress Do About New CIA-Drug Revelations?

"Congress will shortly have to decide whether to bury or deal with explosive new revelations that the Central Intelligence Agency protected major drug traffickers who aided the Contra army in Central America. These new findings go far beyond the original stories which gave rise to them by Gary Webb in 1996.

Webb had alleged that cocaine from two Contra-supporting traffickers, Norwin Meneses and Danilo Blandon, had helped fuel the national crack epidemic. The resulting political firestorm brought promises of a full investigation. After an unprecedented review of internal CIA and Justice Department files, three massive reports, totaling almost 1,000 pages, were released by the inspectors general of the CIA [Fred Hitz] and Justice Department [Michael Bromwich].

The new revelations confirmed many of Webb's claims." Archive.

Relevant: 1996: America's 'Crack' Plague has Roots in Nicaragua War by Gary Webb August 18, 1996

2019: VIDEO: How Crack Cocaine Funded a CIA War: Gary Webb Interview on the Contras and Ronald Reagan (1996).

Jun 20 2000 PDF: How mutual funds lost their way – by John Bogle, founder of Vanguard

Jun 20 2000 UFOs and the governments of the USA and UK

"The men from the Ministry

In Britain, Air Staff 2 [a], a desk in the Ministry of Defence, manned by junior civil servants such as Nick Pope, J. Palmer, Owen Hartop, Kerry Philpott, and Ralph Noyes, respond to public inquiries. The knowledge of these individuals is limited and their responses consequently sometimes inaccurate. Contrary to claims made by Air Staff 2 [a] that they are privy to all UFO reports, there is a component within the MOD which deals with more serious aspects of this subject. On October 23 1989, in the course of one of my investigations, I contacted this particular MOD section. After the preliminary conversation I was asked if I was prepared to sell my investigation report to them; and later in the course of the conversation, when I suggested sharing information, citing the national security aspects, I was asked if I was prepared to sign a security agreement concerning this issue. I was further asked to prepare a proposal and submit it to them. When I inquired about some landing reports, I was asked to specify the date of the particular cases I had in mind. Although this is a component of the MOD, it is not situated in Whitehall. Neither is it Defence Intelligence 55 [DI55], though sources within DI55 have been helpful in other investigations of mine.” Archive.

Jun 21 2000 Camilla and Charles step out

“Prince Charles's "companion" Camilla Parker Bowles has appeared at his side at a semi-official engagement.

The couple are hosting a gala dinner in London in honour of the Prince's Foundation - one of his charities.

They arrived at the headquarters of foundation in a newly-restored warehouse in Shoreditch, east London, in the same car.

In front of around 100 photographers they walked the short distance down a red carpet into the building.

Mrs Parker Bowles, wearing a pale pink embroidered full-length Versace evening gown, smiled broadly.

They did not pose for photographers, despite their shouted pleas.” Archive.

Relevant: 2019: [Prince Charles and Camilla's \[2005\] Wedding](#) Involved Way More Drama Than Most People Realize.

2022: Eggs thrown at King Charles and Camilla before protester wrestled to floor by police.

2023: King Charles and Camilla heckled on visit to Colchester.

Jun 22 2000 Magazines ban anorexic models

OzCW: Were anorexic models made big in the first place because they look more like children? Or was it about the androgyny agenda, girls looking like boys? Probably both...

"Liz Jones, editor of the women's magazine Marie Claire, said: "A lot of people came up to me at the end of the discussion, including fashion stylists and fashion editors, and they want to get together to do something."

She said a lot of models had been told to lose weight and that fashion designers were also to blame because it was much harder to find clothes for larger models such as Sophie Dahl.

"A code of self-regulation would mean if an agency sent us a very thin model whose bones were showing through her skin, we would send her back and write to the agency as well as other magazines telling them not to use her," she said. "Some girls are naturally very small but we have decided not to use girls who are known to have an eating problem.

"We also have a policy not to use girls of a certain age." Concerns have been raised about the thinness of models, actresses and singers such as Victoria Beckham, Courtney Cox and Calista Flockhart, who are seen as role models by young women." Archive.

Jun 22 2000 Royal birthday bash goes into the wee hours

"Royal parties don't get much bigger than the one held last night at Windsor Castle. But, then, there were quite a few birthdays to celebrate -- the Queen Mother's 100th, Princess Margaret's 70th, the Duke of York's 40th and Prince William's 18th.

Yet William was conspicuously absent, despite the fact he was the only member of the Royal Family whose birthday actually coincided with the event.

He is now able to succeed to the English throne without the assistance of a regent; but William spent his 18th birthday, like so many other teenagers, cramming for an art-history exam -- in his case just down the road from Windsor Castle at Eton College.

There was no sign of Camilla Parker Bowles at the party either. Queen Elizabeth is thought to have decided it would be inappropriate for Prince Charles's companion to be seen at such an important family gathering.” Archive.

Relevant: 2014: 2021: Young Queen plotted to stop Margaret becoming regent: Monarch intervened to ensure Philip would have taken over while Charles was young. 2014: Royals linked to pedo ring.

2021: How Britain’s ‘Wild Child’ Princess Margaret Brought The Crown Into The Modern Era.

Jun 22 2000 A lesson in hate

“In 1958, a brilliant but socially inept 15-year-old began his studies at Harvard. Like many of his peers, he volunteered for a number of personality tests in return for a small fee. Only these were no ordinary tests. And the student was Ted Kaczynski - now better known as the Unabomber...

I found myself a few blocks north of Harvard Yard... .. Known as the Annex, it served as a laboratory in which staff members of the department of social relations conducted research on human subjects. There, from the fall of 1959 through the spring of 1962, Harvard psychologists, led by professor Henry A Murray, conducted a disturbing and what would now be seen as ethically indefensible experiment on 22 undergraduates. To preserve the anonymity of these student guinea pigs, experimenters referred to individuals by code name only. One of these students, whom they dubbed "Lawful", was Theodore John Kaczynski, who would one day be known as the Unabomber, and who would later mail or deliver 16 package bombs to scientists, academics, and others over 17 years, killing three people and injuring 23.” Archive.

Relevant: The Unabomber was another psy-op

Jun 22 2000 Tyson “enjoys hurting people”

“Mike Tyson has stressed that he does not care about the public's perception of him, adding that he enjoys hurting people.

The boxer's admission came as it emerged that his team was preparing legal action against a number of newspapers, including the Daily Record, over certain statements made.

A less than talkative Tyson said he was in the business of hurting people and that he enjoyed it.

The former world heavyweight champion's visit to Scotland has been shrouded in controversy with politicians and women's rights groups adamant that he should not be allowed in to the country on account of his conviction for rape.

In his first press conference since arriving in Britain, Tyson responded to most questions with brief answers, though he became more animated towards the end...

I enjoy what I do. I enjoy hurting people. I'm in the hurting business and I enjoy it. You guys enjoy coming to watch," he said.

He added that he did not care about the public's view of him, saying: "I don't like myself sometimes so I can understand why they don't like me."

Meanwhile, a London jeweller is taking court action against Mike Tyson and promoter Frank Warren after the boxer bought £400,000 worth of jewellery, without paying for it." Archive.

Relevant: 2011: Newsgroup post: "Gary Nelson" grabbed Tyson by throat and threatened him to buy him 600K Jewels! Archive. 2021: VIDEO: \(REVEALED!\) FRANK WARREN FINALLY TELLS FULL STORY OF WHAT HAPPENED WHEN MIKE TYSON PUNCHED HIM....

Jun 22 2000 Chuck D Criticizes MP3.com Chief For Siding With RIAA Against Napster: Rapper accuses recording industry of trying to maintain status quo, getting greedy for consumer dollars

"Veteran Public Enemy rapper Chuck D criticized MP3.com CEO Michael Robertson for attacking Napster in a legal statement Robertson filed last week.

"There's so many people jumping sides in this whole digital realm," Chuck D said. "I guess [Robertson] decided to get off the raft and get on the Titanic. Somebody needs to tell Mike it's better to be in the raft."

The statement was posted on the Recording Industry Association of America's Web site Monday as part of the group's lawsuit against the controversial file-sharing software company.

The statement was included with the company's request for a preliminary injunction, which would forbid Napster from allowing copyrighted material to pass through its portals for the duration of the copyright infringement suit brought by the RIAA.

"In my view, Napster is not designed to promote or share the music of unknown or lesser artists," Robertson said, attacking Napster's position that its primary purpose is to allow lesser-known bands to get their music heard. "The only way to find a song on Napster is to enter the name of the song and/or artist that the user wants to find. By definition, unknown artists cannot be found, at least not in any meaningful way.

MP3.com had been in the same boat as Napster — weighed down by numerous copyright infringement lawsuits filed by major record labels — and the company announced in recent weeks that it had reached joint court settlements and distribution agreements with industry megaliths Warner Music Group and BMG Entertainment.

Representatives of MP3.com did not return calls for comment." Archive.

Relevant: CIA Agent Testifies Agency Created Hip Hop 'To Keep Black Americans Enslaved'.

Jun 23 2000 CIVIL WAR GRAVE ROBBED IN SUSPECTED SATANIC RITUAL

Chicago: "The skull of a Civil War general known as an "evil genius" was stolen from his Rochester, N.Y., grave in a crime authorities believe may be part of a satanic ritual.

The remains of Gen. Elisha G. Marshall were dug up between 8 p.m. Tuesday and 11:30 a.m. Wednesday at the city's Mt. Hope Cemetery, police said. Some bones were found near the gravesite along with satanic symbols.

The grave-robbing occurred during the summer solstice — the day with the longest period of sunshine. Police said they typically find evidence of satanic activities on that day." Archive.

Jun 23 2000 15 countries named as potential money-laundering havens

"The list is the culmination of a decade-long effort to act against money-laundering centers. It was issued after United States and European officials grew concerned that bank secrecy and weak regulation in some nations contributed to the devastating financial turmoil in Asia and Latin America in the late 1990s.

The action does not punish the named countries or cut them from the world financial system. But it effectively warns banks and brokerage houses to scrutinize all financial transactions with customers in those countries as possibly linked to crime or high-risk transactions.

The listed countries and territories are the Bahamas, the Cayman Islands, the Cook Islands, Dominica, Israel, Lebanon, Liechtenstein, the Marshall Islands, Nauru, Niue, Panama, the Philippines, Russia, St. Kitts and Nevis and St. Vincent and the Grenadines.

Switzerland, which has a reputation for jealously guarding banking customers' identities with a numbered system, no longer shields criminal assets and generally cooperates with foreign investigators, United States officials said. It is a member of the group that drew up the list." Archive.

Relevant: The Panama Papers scandal: who was exposed.

Jun 23 2000 [The Microsoft \[and Gates\] of the genome industry](#)

"WHEN President Clinton announced last month at a White House ceremony that scientists had effectively mapped the human genetic code, the man who was arguably most responsible for the achievement was not in the room. The man, Michael W. Hunkapiller, was home with chicken pox. He didn't mind too much, though. He has never sought the limelight.

Yet it was his company, PE Biosystems, that designed the high-speed DNA sequencers used to unravel the human genome. And it was Dr. Hunkapiller, along with his boss, Tony L. White of the PE Corporation, the parent company, who thought to set up Celera Genomics and have it use 300 of the new machines to sequence the genome years ahead of the publicly financed Human Genome Project.

The public project responded by stepping up its own pace and buying about 200 of PE's machines. Dr. Hunkapiller, in short, had set off an arms race in which he was the arms merchant. And while Celera and its outspoken president, J. Craig Venter, got the attention and a spot on the dais with President Clinton, PE Biosystems and the quiet Dr. Hunkapiller made the money.

Much as Cisco Systems did with the Internet, PE Biosystems -- which is changing its name back to Applied Biosystems -- has emerged as by far the leading supplier of equipment to the exploding genomics industry." Archive.

Relevant: Jun 26 2000 The race is over.

"One day last April, Aristides [Ari] Patrinos, a scientist at the Department of Energy who directs that agency's share of the Human Genome Project, got a call from Francis Collins, director of the National Institutes of Health's National Human Genome Research Institute and the project's unofficial head. "Let's try it," said Collins--and at those words Patrinos knew that a longstanding scientific feud finally had a chance of being resolved. For months, Collins had been under pressure to hammer out his differences with J. Craig Venter, the prickly CEO of Celera Genomics, which was running its own independent genome-sequencing project--differences over who should get the credit for this scientific milestone; over whose genome sequence was more complete, more accurate, more useful; over the free exchange of what may be mankind's most important data versus the exploitation of what may also be its most valuable...

Venter was clearly ready. His tactless rhetoric had lost him respect among his colleagues, and he recognized that more controversy could overshadow a historic moment in biomedicine. Beyond that, he'd taken a beating in the marketplace. After a joint declaration by Clinton and British Prime Minister Tony Blair in March that all genomic information should be free, the value of Celera stock plummeted from $189 a share to $149.25.

So on May 7, over pizza and beer at Patrinos' Rockville, Md., town house, the two wary antagonists sat down in a deliberately casual setting to work out their differences." Archive.

Relevant: 2024: VIDEO: Francis Collins, former director of the Human Genome Project, being called out for his complicity in Covid.

Jun 23 2000 Beatrice not to be Swiss miss

"The Duke and Duchess of York have delayed sending their eldest daughter Princess Beatrice to an exclusive Swiss school that has been hit by sex scandals.

Prince Andrew has announced that his 11-year-old daughter will no longer be starting at the Aiglon School in the Alpine village of Villars in September. "We have had to make this decision reluctantly," the Duke of York said. "Our priority is a stable educational environment for our children."

The school's former headmaster Richard McDonald was arrested earlier this year over child sex allegations." Archive.

Relevant: May 11 2000: Head is arrested at Bea's scandal school:

"THE SCOTS head of Princess Beatrice's new school has been accused of child sex abuse. Gordonstoun-educated Richard McDonald, a friend of Prince Andrew, is being held in a Swiss remand prison.

It is understood his ex-wife made allegations that he sexually assaulted two youngsters.

McDonald has now stood down from his post as head of exclusive pounds 17,500- a-year Aiglon College in Switzerland. The school is due to welcome Princess Bea soon. But fears had already been raised over its safety after it was revealed an attacker had assaulted three schoolgirls in their dorms in March. Police are currently DNA-testing all the school- masters in connection with the brutal assaults.” Archive

Jun 24 2000 How a Swiss college lost ultimate seal of approval

“Aiglon College, near Villars, in Switzerland, used to have a racy image. Film stars like Roger Moore and Sophia Lauren sent their children there, as did the racing driver Jackie Stewart. A couple of British princesses would have been the ultimate seal of approval. But now, those same princesses are going elsewhere.

It was the Duke of York who was most keen to send his daughters to the British-run Alpine establishment where the fees range from £15,300 to £22,325 a year. He was particularly attracted by the school's ethos which was based on the philosophy of Kurt Hahn, the founder of the Duke's own alma mater, Gordonstoun...

Scandal, though, was already in the air. Two months earlier, a chemistry teacher left after his homosexual fantasies were published on the internet. Then came disclosures that three girls had been drugged and sexually assaulted in a dormitory. And royal concerns grew last month when it emerged that the headmaster, Richard McDonald, was not on a sabbatical but in prison on charges of sex offences against children. The allegations had nothing to do with the dormitory attack.

Media stories of debauchery and drinking among the pupils followed swiftly.” Archive.

Relevant: 2024: King embraces school he once described as ‘absolute hell’. His Majesty is made patron of the alumni association of Gordonstoun, which the monarch once reportedly called ‘Colditz in kilts’.

Jun 25 2000 Lives ruined as NHS leaks patients’ notes

OzCW: Yes, medical histories are private and a few people were negatively affected by a data leak, but was this issue used to stoke fears over “loss of data” and lead us to accept increased “security and privacy” at our peril?

“Patients' lives are being ruined because of growing disregard for confidentiality. Medical records, detailing their most intimate and embarrassing secrets, are increasingly being passed around without their consent.

Doctors warn that scandalous abuse of records is now routine in the NHS, with dozens of different people in health authorities, local councils, universities, drug companies and medical schools being given access to confidential data. Doctors fear that patients would stop confiding in their GPs if they knew how many people would see their medical secrets. The Royal College of General Practitioners is so alarmed it is set to issue a warning.

In an internal briefing seen by The Observer, the chair of the ethics committee, Dr Iona Heath, declared: 'From a position of having been the guardians of confidentiality, medicine has now fallen far behind the highest standards, and routine practice now fails to fulfil the basic principles of data protection. There has been no public debate, and the public, as both citizens and patients, are mostly ignorant of the degree to which information is passed around.'” Archive.

Jun 25 2000 The New Technopolis

“Over the past two decades, Silicon Valley has been the exemplar of information-age success. Yet, as stories of the valley’s social and economic inequalities have tarnished its image, a new kind of technopolis is emerging that may provide a more sustainable model for ascendant high-tech regions.

This new high-tech development model differs substantially from the one that evolved in Santa Clara Valley and its environs. The new technopolises--best exemplified by the Dallas-Fort Worth metroplex, greater Washington, D.C., and Southern California--are more multipolar, more dispersed and more diverse than Silicon Valley. All three regions rank among the top five in high-tech employment and production, yet have achieved these benchmarks in ways vastly different from Silicon Valley.” Archive.

Jun 25 2000 Queen Mother was “ruthless” to royal nanny

“A portrait of the Queen Mother as ruthless and unforgiving has emerged from the discovery of a 50-year-old box of letters and legal papers.

The documents, which The Observer has discovered are due to be released to the public after the matriarch's death, belonged to the late Marion Crawford, nanny to the royal princesses.

Now held by Crawford's solicitor, the private papers show that the Queen Mother was secretly involved in a government plan to sell anecdotes about her daughters' childhood to an American magazine - a publicity stunt for which the nanny was pilloried for the rest of her life...

Crawford, or 'Crawfie' as the princesses Elizabeth and Margaret both knew her, was an intimate companion of the royal family for 17 years, but was ostracised for supposedly selling her story to the press without the permission of her former employers. In fact, the deal was brokered with the Palace by the Foreign Office, who believed the magazine articles would be good for Anglo-American relations. Childless and separated in later life from the famous sisters she had cared for, Crawfie attempted to commit suicide twice, nearly succeeding in the late Eighties." Archive.

Relevant: 2015: Naked Man Filmed 'Escaping' Buckingham Palace.

2016: Queen Admits She is "Not Human" and We Will "Learn to Accept Her For What She Is."

OzCW: The – allegedly Reptilian – Queen Mother died in 2002. We can remember at the time that the conspiracy websites and forums were awash with irreverent observations and Barney the Dinosaur jokes about the sheer size of the “little old lady’s” coffin and the fact that eight pallbearers were needed to haul it. A search for that information now, however, yields next to nothing. So much has been scrubbed out.

Jun 25 2000 Identifying Mind Control and Abductions

“My aim with this article will focus on the identification and recovery of both human and alien methods of mind control. Proper identification and diagnostic assessment of these problems are necessary so that true support and therapy can be obtained for those seeking answers and help.* This will include mind control used in MILAB [Military] abductions. MILABS is a term used to describe abductions by human military personnel, reported by persons who also had the classic “alien abductions”. Very often the MILAB abductees report humans and aliens working in tandem in the abduction scenario. Some MILABS only report humans or apparent military personnel involved in abductions. This is not an either/or situation, because an abductee may report in one incident, strictly humans in one abduction, and then aliens in another, and then aliens and humans in another experience.” Archive.*

Jun 27 2000 Amazon.bomb: How the internet's biggest success story turned sour

“The pioneering internet bookstore he founded in his garage made him a darling of Wall Street and Time’s person of the year. Then on Friday Jeff Bezos saw the value of his company cut by a fifth. He tells Jane Martinson why he still believes Amazon.com will one day sell us everything:

“Every Friday night is party night at Amazon.com’s headquarters in Seattle, Washington, and last Friday was no exception. As Jeff Bezos, the company’s youthful founder, bounds into the staff canteen clad in the regulation blue shirt and khakis of the dot.com executive, the only sign that this might not be the start of an ordinary weekend at Amazon is the television news crews thronging outside. But Bezos ignores them, focusing instead on the technicians setting up the music system for that evening’s function. A blast of feedback shakes the room. “I’ve got blood coming out of my ears, now, people!” Bezos says, and laughs the laugh that nobody who meets him fails to remember: a sound - part hyena, part Mike Myers’s Dr Evil - that erupts at the oddest of times, preceding him down corridors, derailing your train of thought.

Most people were expecting blood on the carpet. For last Friday was one of the oddest days to hear Bezos’s trademark guffaw, and the first time Amazon might justifiably have cancelled the staff shindig - probably the worst day in the history of the internet retailer that had become the shining success story of electronic commerce. The day had cost Bezos personally around a billion dollars.” Archive.

Relevant: 2019: Jeff Bezos accuses National Enquirer owner of 'extortion and blackmail'.
2022: The Dark Truth About Amazon Founder Jeff Bezos.

Jun 27 2000 Big Brother Unleashed by Channel 4

“Channel 4 has officially launched its controversial new series Big Brother - which will watch 10 strangers living together in a house 24 hours a day.

The show has already been a hit with viewers in Germany, the Netherlands and Spain - and it has also caused uproar among politicians.” Archive.

Relevant: 2023: How Big Brother changed TV for ever: ‘There was a massive idea at its core – watch and judge’ - The show that kicked off the reality TV boom is coming back – but should it? The creators and stars of the original series consider the impact of a cultural disruptor.

Jun 27 2000 Muckraker who feeds off bins of the famous: Rummaging through rubbish of prominent people is all in a night's work for man linked to No 10 leaks “Dressed in overalls and a fluorescent jacket, he drives around London emptying bins and black plastic bags into the back of his van. Addresses of prominent people and firms are targeted and it is collected ritually according to precise timings, mainly at night.

To avoid detection after a series of scrapes with the law, Pell even recycles old rubbish so householders and office staff are not left wondering where it all went.

He believes he is a social necessity, not a social menace. Nor does he accept he is breaking the law; the culprits are individuals such as Labour pollster Philip Gould and firms carelessly disposing of confidential documents.” Archive.

Jun 28 2000 Police defy force with Masonic lodge

“Senior police officers have defied official disapproval and established a new Masonic lodge despite widespread public fears about the influence of the secret society on the criminal justice system...

The West Mercia Lodge No 9719 was consecrated on 10 June in the village of Craven Arms, near Ludlow, Shropshire, with more than 200 senior Masons in attendance. It is the 11th police-only lodge in Britain and the second in the West Midlands area - the other is in Worcester.

A list of "founders and first officers" of the lodge named 34 serving and retired officers in the lodge of the rank of chief inspector downwards. A further 11 officers are expected to join at the next meeting, which will take place in September...

There has been growing public suspicion about the grip of Freemasonry on police officers. Following a number of scandals, in which Masonic influence was alleged - such as the investigation into the West Midlands Serious Crime Squad in the early Nineties - many people believe the all-male society has malign influence over some parts of the criminal justice system.

The Commons Select Committee on Home Affairs ran an inquiry into Freemasonry in 1998-1999, and last year Jack Straw, the Home Secretary, announced a trial voluntary register for police officers to declare if they were Freemasons. Parallel steps have been taken for judges, probation officers and Crown Prosecution Service staff.” Archive.

Jun 28 2000 Bezos: Net personalization is key

“What technology has taken away from business — the personal touch — it can bring back in the era of the Internet, according to Amazon.com Inc. founder and CEO Jeff Bezos.

Personalization, the ability to tailor a Web site's interface to each user logging on, is key to Amazon.com, one of the most recognized names on the Internet, Bezos said at a keynote address here at PC Expo Wednesday.

"If we want to have 20 million customers, then we want to have 20 million 'stores.' ... Our mission is to be the earth's most customer-centric company," Bezos said.

Modern technology and culture have given us supermarkets and giant superbookstores where merchants don't know the people who are shopping, Bezos said.

So what's the ultimate in personalization? When "you go into a bar and sit down, and the bartender puts a whiskey in front of you without having to ask what you want," Bezos said." Archive.

Relevant: 2024: Billionaire Newspaper Owners—Bezos And Soon-Shiong—Kill Kamala Harris Endorsements At Washington Post, L.A. Times.

Jun 28 2000 New Technologies in Payments: A Challenge to Monetary Policy: Professor Otmar Issing Lecture to be delivered at the Center for Financial Studies Frankfurt am Main 28 June 2000

"A wide range of innovations has taken place over the last years in the field of banking and payment systems. These have had, or are likely to have, significant consequences for payment habits and for the structure and functioning of markets. Moreover, they will influence the way monetary policy is conducted.

In this paper, I will discuss the potential effects of these innovations for monetary policy in the euro area, and to which extent central banks and financial regulators should react to these challenges. These are very topical issues, and of great interest to central bankers.

Of course, it is extremely difficult to predict in which direction and to what extent further innovations in these areas might evolve. Some think it might be conceivable that in some remote future, monetary policy might be meaningless, or that central banks will no longer play an important role in economic policy making. However, predictions in this direction would amount to pure speculation...

I want to focus on foreseeable developments in payments technologies and possible effects of monetary policy....

I will first outline developments in the field of large value payments, these being mainly interbank payments. Here, I am going to discuss consequences both for systemic stability as well as for the demand for central bank reserves. The second area that I will speak about today is electronic money..."
Archive.

Jun 28 2000 Who are the black nobility?

"The "Black Nobility" are/were the oligarchic families of Venice and Genoa, Italy, who in the 12th century held the privileged trading rights [monopolies]. The first of three crusades, from 1063 to 1123, established the power of the Venetian Black Nobility and solidified the power of the wealthy ruling class.

The Black Nobility aristocracy achieved complete control over Venice in 1171, when the appointment of the Doge was transferred to what was known as the Great Council, which consisted of members of the commercial aristocracy [among them the infamous de'Medici family]. Venice has remained in their hands ever since, but the power and influence of the Venetian Black Nobility extends far beyond its borders, and today it is felt in every corner of the globe. [Don't forget, our modern banking system originated in Italy.]

*In 1204 the oligarchic family parceled out feudal enclaves to their members, and from this epoch dates the great building-up of power and pressure until the government became a closed corporation [don't we know this from somewhere?] of the leading Black Nobility families. More of this can be found in the works of Dr. John Coleman, Black Nobility Unmasked World-wide, 1985; Conspirators' Hierarchy: The Story of the Committee of 300, 1992. Question: the Christopher Columbus story is a concoction. How about the Marco Polo stories? Anyone?"* Archive.

Jun 29 2000 Bill Gates' roots in the trashcans of history

"It is interesting to note the high moral tone being taken by Microsoft in its castigation of Oracle's legal if somewhat dodgy intelligence gathering activities. But surely Microsoft hasn't forgotten that Bill Gates himself, together with Paul Allen, has also used trash cans as a primary source of intelligence?"*

Gates even admitted this in an interview recorded in 1993 which was deposited in the National Museum of American History, Smithsonian Institution [which coincidentally is a short walk from Judge Jackson's Court].

The occasion was when Gates picked up the Price Waterhouse Leadership Award for Lifetime Achievement. Video History interviewer David Allison asked Gates about the early days when he was still at school, but working part-time for the Computer Center Corporation [C-cubed] in Seattle.

Gates said: "I'd skip out on athletics and go down to this computer center. We were moving ahead very rapidly: Basic, FORTRAN, LISP, PDP-10 machine language, digging out the operating system listings from the trash and studying those." Archive.

Jun 30 2000 TV: Clumsy forgery led to Dr. Death's Downfall

"...Reporter Martin Bashir traces the case back from Woodruff's shocked suspicion that the doctor, trusted and respected in the community, had committed murder seemingly motivated by greed.

The programme looks at how Shipman carried out his lethal work on housecalls to his patients and even in his own surgery.

Bashir interviews family members of the mainly elderly women victims he targeted. The picture that emerges is of a small town reeling with feelings of anger, betrayal and bewilderment." Archive.

Relevant: 2021: BBC agrees payout of up to £1million of licence fee payers' money to graphic designer whose career was ruined after he exposed the Martin Bashir-Princess Diana scandal. 2021: The Cruelty of Martin Bashir: How He Deceived Michael Jackson. 2024: VIDEO: "BBC's Rotten Core Has Been EXPOSED" £600k Spent On Keeping Martin Bashir Scandal Docs Secret.

Jun 30 2000 Zimbabwe: Mugabe Calls Peter Hain 'Tatchell's Wife'

"Harare — President Mugabe has accused British Foreign Office minister Peter Hain of having a homosexual affair with gay rights activist Peter Tatchell. In a BBC interview screened last Sunday Mugabe expanded on previous accusations that Labour formed a "gay government of a gay United Kingdom".

In an extraordinary attack he claimed that Hain, who is married with two sons, has been influenced in his dealings with Zimbabwe by a relationship with Tatchell. Mugabe claimed that Hain set up an anti-Zimbabwe demonstration in London last autumn, the day after the two had had what Mugabe describes as "a very friendly meeting". Archive.

Relevant: Peter Hain. 2007: Comment: Mugabe must go...and go now.

Jun 30 2000 Gay rights in the pulpit

“A gay vicar is in hiding after facing a campaign of hate to drive him from his parish. But what is the Church's attitude to homosexuals?”

Father Neil Follett, vicar of St Paul's, Knightsbridge, is in hiding on police advice after finding himself the victim of a hate campaign.

Police are investigating allegations of blackmail and intimidation after Fr Follett told the parochial church council he was gay.

The incident is set to put further strain on relations in the Church of England between those in favour of homosexual clergy and those against.

Rules governing acceptance of gays in the Anglican Church are complex and, in some minds at least, unclear.

The last set of clear guidelines came in a 1991 bishops' statement, entitled Issues of Human Sexuality. The statement, which received the backing of the 1998 Lambeth Conference - the worldwide conference of Anglican Bishops - says homosexual relationships do not match up to heterosexual ones.” Archive.

Jun 30 2000 Lucent is in league with the devil: what's it got to do with us?

OzCW: The Register publication received an email from a conspiracy theorist analysing the Lucent logo. We have not reproduced any of it for copyright reasons [it's too short].

Satanist George Bush is/was a Lucent shareholder. Lucent, another dark occult name, means shining. Archive.

Relevant: Wikipedia: Lucent Technologies.

Jun 30 2000 Police brakes on fast life of filthy rich

"It was an illegal high-speed road race called the Gumball Rally and it attracted some of Britain's tiresome types - the new-money boover boys with their fast cars.

It began in Spain and ended on an autobahn in Germany, where angry police slapped two reckless participants with fines totalling $90,000.

The two men, London nightclub owner Tom Combrinck and gold bullion trader Brett Trevillian, had been driving their Ferraris at speeds of more than 300 km/h before German police blocked off an autobahn and ended what they described as one of the longest, fastest and most dangerous car chases recorded in Germany.

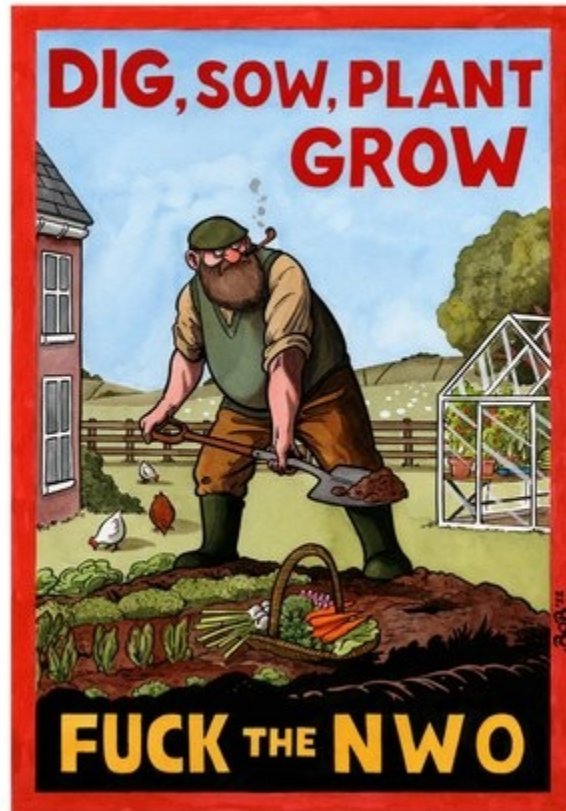

The arrest of Combrinck and Trevillian and subsequent details of the rally prompted the Times of London to say that organised yobbery had crossed the class divide.

Combrinck and Trevillian were among 70 participants in the loosely organised Cannonball-style event, which blasted through Spain, France, Italy and Germany and unsettled police, motorists and other law-abiders.

The race started last year but gained such a reckless reputation that the second running became a must-do social event for many of Britain's filthy rich and famous - financial whizkids, entrepreneurs, showbiz types and the odd mogul...

"Until we were stopped it was a fantastic drive," Combrinck said. "In Germany I got up to 330 km/h. The police cars were behind us for the best part of 160km - we were filming them on video camera."" Archive.

July 2000 Links Most Relevant to Today

Dig, by Bob Moran, available here.

Jul 2000 The Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation Announces New HIV/AIDS Grants at World AIDS Conference funding $90m AIDS Frankenscience in Africa, developing lucrative “microbicides” and vaccines.

Jul-Aug 2000 What Every Executive Needs to Know About Global Warming. The Harvard Business Review was making sure businesses knew which hoops to jump through.

Jul 6 2000 Science is selling out to business: Researchers are corrupted by the incomes provided by corporations. Fascism arrives.

Jul 8 2000 Asylum seekers get free fertility treatment - to help the replacement migration agenda?

Jul 12 2000 AIDS - Anthony Fauci Interview.

Jul 14 2000 Boris Johnson given safe Tory seat. Which will set him up as PM in 2019...as planned.

Jul 18 2000 High-Tech Executives Urge Action on World's Digital Divide: Hying the tech agenda to imprison us all a few decades down the line.

Jul 20 2000 How free is Britain's press? Not very, says UN. It's worse now – thanks to tech.

Jul 20 2000 UK Terrorism Act 2000 passed. Making it possible to label activists campaigning for change "terrorists." And later harass Julian Assange, Craig Murray, Richard Medhurst.

July 2000 Summary

"The Millennium Dome 8-7-2000" by Martin Pettitt is licensed under CC BY 2.0.

Come July 2000 we saw msm scaremongering over cults, global warming, AIDS, the "digital divide" and paedophiles.

In the US:

- The Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation was funding $90m AIDS Frankenscience in Africa, developing lucrative "microbicides" and – you got it – vaccines. Bill Gates was buying an apartment in Trump Towers. Being a "philanthropist" wasn't easy.

- Billionaires Buffet and Allen destroyed the jobs of 600 Coca-Cola employees for the sake of a nice wodge.
- A top secret US plane was said to have caused a Chinook crash...but by 2024 it had all been forgotten about.
- Pizza Hut sent a rocket into space. Huh?
- There was a Fauci radio interview in which he was probably lying about AIDS [we haven't listened to it].
- The Unabomber [psy-op] records were sealed safely away.
- "Big Dick" Cheney has been selected to run for president with Boy Bush.
- Kevin Spacey donated to the Old Vic theatre, where he would a few years later lure young men onto his casting couch.
- There was a new addition to the Clinton Body Count.
- In Canada, a residential school was burnt down.

In the UK:

- 16-year-old Euan Blair, Son of Tony, was "drunk and incapable" and lied to the police – but in 2024 he's a tech billionaire so there are the wages of sin for a member of a bloodline.
- Blair was busy selling out the UK's traditional "science" to business with Lord Sainsbury – think science parks and Pharma - and giving asylum seekers free fertility treatment.

- Prince Philip was no longer welcome in Harrods, said Al-Fayed, cutting a tie to the royals over Diana.
- There were Labour leaks.
- A Nailbomber sparked “far right” checks.
- An angry minister snapped at an MP.
- The seedy comings and goings at UK secure hospitals were in the news again with paedos and other low life coming to light: nurses were sacked at Broadmoor.
- A famous London dandy died – his death was ruled suicide.
- The Hidden Hand handed Boris Johnson a safe Tory seat in preparation for his election as PM in 2019.
- There were pleasing Tatler photos, one of a young Boris and his second wife.
- Charles Saatchi bought up more [dross] Brit art for massive sums.
- There was a sordid UK case of blackmail-by-rape-photos.
- Robbie Williams’ cannibal video nasty was banned.
- Blockbuster video tried to merge with Enron...this will later fail.
- Sarah Payne went missing and was found [RIP]...so the News of the World lent her mother a mobile phone. NOTW was about to run a “name and shame pedos” campaign, which will shock and skew public opinion...while phones were being tapped to monitor investigations [see 2011 phone-hacking scandal].
- Even the UN said Blair’s press was not a free one [No. 10 needed all those D-Notices to cover up the paedo scandals – but we didn’t know that yet].

- We read insights into disgraced DJ John Peel's family life. At the time we didn't know about his predilections but he had the usual "elite" problems.
- The Royal Ulster Constabulary was caught paying informers large amounts of money, and Northern Ireland's Maze prison emptied at last.
- The Millennium Dome had been a disaster. [Most people knew that before it was erected.]
- MP William Hague was spotted wrestling topless with MP Sebastian Coe in the gym under the notorious Dolphin Square. At that time we didn't know about Dolphin Square either.
- Anti-speeding minister Jack Straw was stopped for speeding.

In the rest of the world:

- A member of the Yugoslavian [alleged] black nobility died.
- An asbestos conspiracy was smouldering between Canada, France and the WTO.
- The hunt was on in Tokyo for missing Lucie Blackman.
- The WEF were pushing action on the world's "digital divide": even the farthest-flung Amazon tribe had to be wired into the matrix.
- Jewish organisations were accused – by a Jewish writer - of blackmailing Switzerland and Germany.
- The Strasbourg court blocked a Falklands War "sinking the Belgrano" claim against the British government.

- In the meantime there were child soldiers in stricken Sierra Leone, raped of its blood diamonds by the greedy west.
- Tech was creatively destructing/destroying the world.

We saw all of the above in the summer 2000 media: we've interspersed it with bursts of conspiracy reportage.

July 2000 Links

Blair, you've got blood on your hands meme from here.

Jul 2000 The Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation Announces New HIV/AIDS Grants at World AIDS Conference

“DURBAN, South Africa -- At the AIDS 2000 Conference today, the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation announced a series of new AIDS-related grants designed to take a comprehensive approach to the HIV/AIDS pandemic.

The new grants total more than $90 million. Grants will focus on decreasing the rate of new infections in Africa through programs that will develop microbicides for women and increase access to medications to reduce rates of maternal-child transmission. Other programs will train people in palliative care and provide resources to children orphaned by AIDS.

The new grants announced in Durban build upon earlier funding of AIDS-related organizations, such as the International AIDS Vaccine Initiative [IAVI], one of the Foundation's first major AIDS grantees. IAVI received $25 million in 1999 to boost the research effort toward discovering a vaccine for HIV/AIDS.

Supporting organizations working in the area of AIDS research and prevention is a priority of the Foundation's global health program.

"If governments, UN agencies, NGOs, businesses and foundations work together we can stop AIDS," said Patty Stonesifer, Co-Chair and President of the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation. "We are pleased to see new partnerships and collaboration emerge from Durban, and look forward to the progress that will result." Archive.

Relevant: 2015: Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation Held Accountable for Vaccine Fraud in India.

2020: Bill Gates: A History of Vaccine Corruption & 'Crimes Against Humanity'?

2020: 410,000 People Sign White House Petition To Investigate Bill Gates For Crimes Against Humanity.

Jul-Aug 2000 Harvard Business Review: What Every Executive Needs to Know About Global Warming

"The possibility that the earth's surface temperature is rising—permanently and significantly—caught the public's attention during the brutal summer of 1988. But it wasn't until December 1997 that global warming began to assume a prominent position on business executives' agendas. That's when representatives of 160 nations, convened by the United Nations in Kyoto, Japan, adopted a plan that would limit the amounts of carbon dioxide and other so-called greenhouse gases being released into the atmosphere. If ratified, the Kyoto Protocol would require industrial nations to dramatically reduce emissions of those gases by no later than 2012...

Scientists also agree that an increase of as little as two degrees Fahrenheit is likely to cause more severe storms, floods, and droughts and accelerate the spread of disease. Such catastrophes could devastate not only individuals and communities but also businesses and entire economies... Faced with such a complex problem, however, many executives have wondered where to begin. They naturally feel defensive about possible new regulations and have difficulty reckoning the likely costs. And despite the body of scientific evidence that points to climate change, they find the actual details overwhelming. But it's not good business to hope the problem will go away...

Insurance companies, for instance, should adapt their predictive models to ensure that their prices are accurate and to prevent large financial losses due to payouts after unexpectedly severe storms. To value waterfront properties correctly, real estate companies will have to keep up with the latest thinking on changes in flood patterns". Archive.

Relevant: 2024: Top Study: Carbon Emissions CANNOT Cause 'Global Warming'

Jul 2000 Edition UFO Magazine: Haarping it Both Ways: Radio Wave Experiments on Trial

“Gakona, Alaska. It may be the high-tech “darling” of the conspiracy set, but the military’s High Frequency Active Auroral Research Project has posed questions in the minds of many who aren’t conversant with its radio-wave technology and are concerned with environmental damage. While a vast extrapolation of Tesla’s electrical wave concepts, and initially assumed as studying the nature of aurora borealis, HAARP’s impressions on the ionosphere are thought to be ultimately harmful to this fragile ecosystem that supports Planet Earth.

Long-time activist Nick Begich and co-author Jeanne Manning attempt a detailed explanation of the system’s dangers in their 1995 book, Angels Don’t Play This HAARP. In response to these brief excerpts [in bold type], a scientist/spokesperson from the official HAARP website has interjected counterpoints [in brackets] according to the system’s planners and operators, and Begich has replied [italics].

Like so much else in our world of rapidly proliferating advanced technology, it’s incumbent on each individual to research the matter before making hard conclusions. UFO Magazine refrains from taking either side and presents both viewpoints in the public interest.” Archive.

Relevant: 2024: HAARP’s aurora switch was turned on last week to create “artificial airglows”

Jul-Aug 2000 Beware! the New Age Movement Is More Than Self-Indulgent Silliness

“In recent years the New Age movement has come out of the closet in the Church and in the world. The New Age movement is made up of those who follow a potpourri of beliefs and practices that fall outside the boundaries of traditional Christianity. Its manifestations are protean. Some Catholic nuns walk on labyrinths to contact the “Divine Feminine.” Increasing numbers of health insurance companies have heeded consumers’ demands to cover offbeat treatments, ranging from Ayurvedic herbal medicine to “therapeutic touch” -- in which a “healer’s” hands manipulate “energy fields” but never touch the patient’s body. Hillary Clinton has contacted the spirit of Eleanor Roosevelt under the guidance of Jean Houston -- a New York-based avatar who runs a “Mystery School,” and who inspired the current fad of walking on labyrinths.” Archive.

Relevant: [Former Satanist] Mark Passio video on “New Age Deception.”

Jul 2 200 Nailbomber sparks far-right checks

“Scotland Yard has promised new measures to monitor extreme right-wing activists as nailbomber David Copeland begins his life behind bars at Broadmoor.

A spokesman for the Metropolitan Police said anti-fascist magazine Searchlight had agreed to work with detectives to help formulate a better way of monitoring far-right extremism.

Copeland wanted a race war

Copeland, 24, was given six life terms on Friday after murdering three people in one of three nailbomb terror attacks in London designed to start a race war in Britain.”” Archive.

Jul 2 2000 Newsgroup post: List of famous Satanists, paedophiles and mind controllers

“The following list has been compiled from the wealth of research I have put together over the last ten years. I would suggest that all of these are reptilian bloodline, but I only mention shapeshifting where it has been witnessed. It is only an initial list and will be added to. If you can add names, and give the supporting evidence, that would be most helpful in exposing these horrors. By "Satanists", of course, I mean those involved in human sacrifice.

David Icke” Archive.

Jul 2 2000 Allen and Buffett: Two Greedy Guys

“To understand the Coca-Cola [KO] Company’s recent, senseless decision to fire 20 percent of its work force, thereby dumping 6,000 employees and their families out on to the street, one needs to understand the real Warren Buffett and the real Herbert Allen Jr. These two investment gurus, who are worth $40 billion and $1 billion respectively, were the members of Coke’s board of directors who orchestrated the blood bath. Hoping to get a pop of a few dollars in the price of Coke stock, Mr. Allen and Mr. Buffett demonstrated a stunning insensitivity to the lives of those affected. Did these billionaires really need the money? Previously known as a company that treated its workers well, Messrs. Allen and Buffett have in one ugly maneuver turned Coke into a company where 2,500 employees in the Atlanta headquarters were humiliated by being escorted from the premises by security men.” Archive.

Jul 3 2000 Rest in Peace? WorldNetDaily lobbies to make an addition to the Clinton "death list," but tells only half the story.

"It certainly sounds ominous: "A newspaper columnist critical of the Arkansas political machine was killed near his home in Pine Bluff after being struck by a pickup truck."

That's the lead paragraph of a June 13 WorldNetDaily story on Tony Moser, columnist for the Arkansas Democrat-Gazette. The story, written by Jon E. Dougherty, doesn't come right out and say so, but it heavily implies that Moser's death was not an accident, occurring days after he had written a column "naming names and leveling corruption charges against the state Democratic Party." The story also notes that Moser's sister was asked if Moser "had any enemies or had received any threats since beginning his weekly column for the Little Rock newspaper."

The same day, a column by Maralyn Lois Polak appeared that fanned the flames of foul play -- though police found that the driver broke no laws and won't be charged in Moser's death. "Though it makes me terribly sad, I am not surprised at his sudden, suspicious death," Polak wrote. "...I had occasionally joked with him about how he had avoided being dead meat on Clinton's enemies list. He felt he was simply too visible to be taken out. He might have been wrong." Polak adds: "He wasn't hiding from anyone. That's for sure -- they knew where to find him, walking in the middle of a road in Pine Bluff, Ark., at 10:10 p.m. on a Saturday night."" Archive.

Jul 5 2000 The Year 2020, Explained: The future, it seems, will be ever more accelerated. It will be increasingly difficult for mere humans to deal with. And the pressure, as always, will be on society to become "good ancestors." Chris Oakes reports from "The Next 20 Years" series in San Francisco.

"We will continue to live as we do today in an age of creative destruction -- technologically induced creative destruction," said Paul Saffo, director of the Institute for the Future, where he studies long-term technology trends and their influences on society.

"The gales of creative destruction are blowing through every industry on the planet today, touched by the Internet and digital technology. Biology is the next thing to come," he said...

Watch for struggles with human identity as machines on the other end of the phone acquire the thinking and responsive capacity of the human brain. Be prepared for a time when your doctor will be able to map your personal genome as fast as he draws blood.

And as far as our darling computer is concerned -- well, you and your spanking new Pentium IV aren't so hot.

"I can safely say that the age of computing hasn't even begun yet," Williams said. "We're still playing around in essentially Stone Age times technologically."

Williams sees pathways in quantum research that will overcome the current physical limits of silicon chips. These paths will lead technology down a road where only the fundamental limits of electrons themselves will put a cap on information-processing capacity.” Archive.

Jul 5 2000 [\[Prague Post\] Mind Machines](#)

“...The Cold War has produced many documents that, when examined now, appear to generously entwine the sublime with the ridiculous. Few, however, are quite as earnest as the 1975 report that attempts to detail Czech and Soviet advances in parapsychology.

So it was that the administration of President Gerald Ford learned of the dead rabbits – assassinated, said the DIA, because they were believed to have demonstrated a capacity for telepathic communication.

“If the Soviet reports are even partly true,” the DIA harangued, “and if mind-to-mind transference can be used for such applications as interplanetary communications or the guiding of interplanetary spacecraft, the Soviets have accomplished a scientific breakthrough of tremendous significance.” Some 30 years later, a chatty Zdenek Reidak, president of the International Association for Psychotronic Research, relaxes in the kitchen of his rural house in Chvalkovice, two hours’ drive northeast of Prague.

“You always take an interest in what you don’t have,” he says of the solemn 71-page report, released under the U.S. Freedom of Information Act and now posted on the DIA’s Web site, www.dia.mil. “The Russians are a more mystically inclined people. They were also willing to make serious and systematic investigations.”” Archive.

Jul 6 2000 Blair’s son drunk and incapable

“...An ambulance had to be called after Euan was discovered vomiting on the pavement, but paramedics decided there was no need for the teenager to go to hospital.

Instead, he was taken to Charing Cross police station where he initially gave his name as Euan John, gave an old address and told officers he was 18.

He was then searched and his true identity discovered.

Special Branch officers sent to the station confirmed he was Mr Blair’s oldest son, and he was released without charge and driven home in the early hours of Thursday morning.

The prime minister had been up late writing a speech on opportunity and responsibility when he was told the news." Archive.

O2CW: Euan Blair will end up a tech billionaire before the age of 40. Daddy has forced the globalist tech agenda on the British people and now he will profit from it. Did Euan choose to “remain in the death cult” to be given everything he wanted?

Jul 6 2000 Science is selling out to business: Researchers are corrupted by the incomes provided by corporations

“The Labour government has pushed science still further into the arms of business. The higher education funding councils, it insists, must “ensure that higher education is responsive to the needs of business and industry”. Last week, its science minister Lord Sainsbury - to whom blue skies research appears to mean finding better ways of flying in French beans from Zimbabwe - held a conference with scientists called Knowledge Means Business, to explore new methods of tethering university research to commercial imperatives.

As a result of all these changes, funding for neutral scholarship has all but dried up. The scientific agenda has shrunk. Some of the best brains in Britain are now deployed to find new means of ripping us off. The government's foresight panels, for example, have demanded state money for studies of “the patterns of choice and behaviour which affect the consumption of certain goods”. Archive.

O2CW: So now businesses like Pfizer will be able to pay scientists big money to work towards their agendas. And, therefore, work with “NGOs, UN agencies and foundations” – like the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation – to develop deadly vaccines in preparation for 2020. Behavioural science and nudge units will also be funded and deployed.

As we mentioned previously, Blair's former Minister for Science and Innovation was Lord David Sainsbury, whose family has been linked to Satanism even in the mainstream media. Archive1. Archive2.

Jul 6 2000 Angry minister in SAS outburst over Briton held in Saudi prison

"The Foreign Office minister, John Battle, entered into an extraordinary war of words with a Labour MP yesterday when he followed her out of a Commons chamber and demanded: "What do you want us to do, invade Saudi Arabia?"

He launched the attack on Lynne Jones, MP for Birmingham Selly Oak, following a debate in Westminster Hall in which she raised the plight of a British citizen jailed in Saudi Arabia for more than a year without being charged.

Mr Battle - who once aspired to be a priest and even retreated to a Trappist monastery - was so riled by the MP's questions that he followed her out to carry on the row before storming off. "What do you want us to do, invade Saudi Arabia?" he demanded, as the wife of the jailed man and other stunned onlookers watched.

Dismissing Dr Jones's claims that the government was putting Britain's lucrative arms exports to Saudi Arabia before human rights, Mr Battle demanded: "What do you want me to do, send in the SAS to spring him out of jail?"" Archive.

OzCW: We've reproduced this article not only because it was written by Julia Hartley-Brewer, who in recent years has been a presenter on Talk Radio notorious for her straight talking [and walking between the lines] but because it offers an answer to our question: "Why in October 2000 did Robin Cook stifle a police enquiry into the kidnap and abduction from Cambridge of Sheikh Mohammed's daughter Shamsa?"

The answer will likely involve the protection of Britain's extensive arms deals with the UAE, Saudi and other Gulf States.

Jul 8 2000 Bigfoot caught on tape

"Here's a rough stabilization of a segment from Dave Shealy's July 2000 Skunk Ape video." Archive.

Jul 8 2000 Asylum seekers get free fertility treatment

"An investigation by The Telegraph shows that couples from Albania, the former Yugoslavia and Lithuania are being referred in growing numbers for the specialist treatment, including expensive invitro fertilisation [IVF], in hospitals throughout the country. Ministers have ordered health authorities to treat asylum seekers the same as British citizens.

They are therefore eligible for treatment which is so strictly rationed that it is referred to as a "postcode lottery". In the past 14 days an Albanian couple were referred to the Fertility Clinic at St Bartholomew's Hospital, London, by officials at South Essex Health Authority. It is understood that the couple, who are seeking British citizenship, had received earlier treatment in their homeland. The Telegraph has also learned that a similar couple have been referred for IVF treatment in Liverpool.

A spokesman said: "I can confirm that a GP has contacted us about infertility treatment for asylum seekers. I expect that this will result in a referral." The revelation has angered MPs, IVF counsellors, and some members of the medical profession." Archive.

OzCW: Which dovetails splendidly with the new replacement migration agenda.

Jul 9 2000 Harrods cuts tie to royal family

"Stung by Prince Philip's decision to withdraw his royal warrant, Harrods owner Mohamed Al Fayed said Sunday he will not be reapplying for similar seals of approval from Queen Elizabeth II or Prince Charles, ending a 45-year association between the royal family and the upscale emporium.

Al Fayed added that Philip, the queen's husband — whom Al Fayed has accused of masterminding the 1997 Paris car crash that killed Princess Diana and his son, Dodi — is no longer welcome in the store.

"We are proud of the Harrods reputation as the world's finest store and we naturally welcome discerning shoppers from all over the world," Al Fayed said in a statement. "The royal family, with the exception of Prince Philip, are welcome to shop at Harrods at any time." Archive.

Jul 9 2000 Robbie's video nasty

"Robbie Williams' new video which features mock cannibalism was deemed too gory to be shown in full on Top of the Pops.

The video for Williams' new single Rock DJ sees him apparently tearing chunks of skin and muscle from his body and throwing them to female onlookers to eat.

The BBC decided to show the much tamer first half of the video on Friday's edition of TOTP which was screened at 1930 BST.

The full version was shown on the late edition of the programme at 0145 BST on Sunday morning.

In the video, which is available on the internet, Williams resorts to his gruesome, yet bizarrely compelling, strip show to attract the attention of beautiful women at a roller skating rink." Archive.

Relevant: 2008: Robbie Williams and Jon Ronson journey to the other side. 2011: VIDEO: Robbie Williams talks conspiracy. Quote [01:15]: "There's a [swine] flu epidemic coming up: should you or should you not take the vaccine? What's in the vaccine?"

2018: VIDEO: Robbie Williams' Hunt for the Skinwalker, 2020: Robbie Williams suggests debunked Pizzagate conspiracy theory is true: "The right questions haven't been asked"

2022: VIDEO: Satanic pop culture is a CIA creation.

Jul 10 2000 Scandals dog UK secure hospitals

"Three maximum-security psychiatric hospitals house some of the country's most notorious criminals.

The three hospitals - Broadmoor, Ashworth and Rampton - are home to killers such as Moors murderer Ian Brady and Yorkshire Ripper Peter Sutcliffe.

The high-security facilities are run independently of the prison service and provide psychiatric care for convicted criminals.

Scandals and controversy have dogged each of the three facilities, and there have been numerous calls for their closure both within and outside government.

The discovery on Monday that a patient at Broadmoor with a violent history was able to tape-record confidential staff meetings and smuggle in a mobile phone, a camera and audio tapes, is just the latest such incident.” Archive.

OzCW: Jimmy Savile somehow had a key to Broadmoor but we weren't going to know that until over a decade later. According to the government investigation, Savile held a key until 2009. Some staff, however, were not happy with the situation.

The investigation report linked, published in 2014, states that Savile stayed in a caravan on the hospital grounds to entertain women. It speculates that he used his key to enter and spy on naked women, yet there is not one reference to children or his “religion”, which had been widely publicised earlier. Archive.

Relevant: 2012: Savile had set of Broadmoor keys: As scandal grows, how sick star had access to mentally ill patients. Archive.

Jul 10 2000 Top secret US plane caused Chinook crash

“When an RAF Chinook helicopter carrying almost all the senior intelligence officers working in Northern Ireland crashed into the Mull of Kintyre six years ago, pilot error was given as the official explanation of the disaster.

Since then, a number of people and especially UK IT mag Computer Weekly have continued to maintain that it was software in the on-board systems which led to the crash rather than human error. But a third explanation for the crash has now come to light: that a top secret hypersonic US plane, codenamed Aurora and which is reportedly capable of flying at up to 20 times the speed of sound, created a massive jet wake into which the helicopter flew, causing the crew to lose control.” Archive.

OzCW: 30 years on, the BBC will revisit the crash and blame technical failures in the Chinook – not a word about Aurora or the US so was the theory wrong?

Jul 12 2000 Audio: AIDS - Anthony Fauci Interview

“Guest host Susan Page talks with Dr. Anthony Fauci, the director of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases. Dr. Fauci is in Durban, South Africa, for the 13th International AIDS Conference. He’ll talk about the most recent news and scientific findings in the study of HIV and AIDS, and he’ll comment on the controversial statements South African President Thabo Mbeki has made in addressing what is arguably his nation’s most pressing problem.”

Relevant: 2000: Mbeki digs in on AIDS. 2021: AIDS And The AZT Scandal. The AIDS Pandemic Was Created By The Same People Who Gave Us Coronavirus AZT, Remdesivir, And Tony Fauci The Wonder Drug Point Guard For Pharma! Must See Videos! Archive.

Jul 12 2000 Pizza Hut Pioneers Space Commercialization with Successful Rocket Launch

“The race for space commercialization has officially begun with the successful launch of the world’s largest proton rocket emblazoned with a Pizza Hut logo on the fuselage.

The 200-foot tall proton rocket was launched at 12:56 a.m. EDT from Kazakhstan and is headed for the International Space Station carrying a critical component, the Service Module, that will make permanent living in space a reality.

“Pizza Hut is recognized as the pioneer and innovation leader in the pizza business,” said Mike Rawlings, president and chief concept officer, Pizza Hut, Inc. “Our sponsorship of this critical mission tells consumers around the world that we’re always looking to take Pizza Hut innovation to new heights.”

Pizza Hut announced the innovative space sponsorship in September 1999 as part of its new logo launch and to symbolize the company's dramatic turnaround and re-imaging campaign, which includes a $500 million investment to contemporize and upgrade Pizza Hut restaurants around the globe."
Archive.

Relevant: Newsgroup posts from 2000 about space pizza [scroll down page] Archive. What happened [with video of astronaut eating pizza.]

2018: NASA 'fakes anti-gravity on International Space Station with WIRES...it's filmed on EARTH'.

2020: 'PizzaGate' Conspiracy Theory Thrives Anew in the TikTok Era .

2020 VIDEO: Steve Jobs' Surprising Impact on Pizza Delivery - The CyberSlice Story. 2021: The Gravity Shield Conspiracy. Archive.

2024: Allegations that Cyber Slice was a paedophile ring naming "cult members" Steve Green, Steve Glass, Jim Brimhall and Bryan Cupps. [from around 36:30] NB: She partly exonerates Steve Jobs.

Jul 13 2000 Death of a dandy: On the mysterious demise of a professional gentleman

"Police were amazed to find in his flat 300 monogrammed shirts, 90 pairs of handmade shoes and 60 Savile Row suits...

Morgan, variously described in his obituaries as "Britain's leading authority on etiquette", "a national institution" and "a Burlington Bertie character of his own invention", was found dead on Sunday evening at the foot of the exclusive apartment block where he lived. The style editor of GQ magazine, who made a flourishing career for himself as an arbiter of modern manners - his column, Morgan's Modern Manners in the Saturday edition of the Times had an enormous following - had fallen from the window of his third-floor flat.

Thanks to Morgan, his friends know exactly what to wear to his funeral next Wednesday. Yesterday they didn't have a clue what to make of his death.

There are those who will call it the curse of GQ - five years ago, the magazine's editor and Morgan's former boss, Michael Vermeulen, died in a blaze of drink and drugs at the age of 38. Others paint a picture of a self-made man who left behind his ordinary beginnings to reinvent himself as an elegant man-about-town who shopped in Savile Row and cashed cheques at Claridge's." Archive.

Jul 14 2000 Boris Johnson given safe Tory seat

O2CW: The hidden hand is at work, ensuring bumbling Boris will slot into place to become Prime Minister in 2019 and lock everyone down in 2020.

"The editor of The Spectator magazine, Boris Johnson, has been selected to stand for the safe Tory seat of Henley-on-Thames at the next general election.

The 36-year-old has won a three-way contest for selection as the Conservative prospective Parliamentary candidate for the Oxfordshire seat with an 11,167 majority.

Henley-on-Thames was the seat held at the last election by former Deputy Prime Minister Michael Heseltine. After his victory Mr Johnson said: "It is a great honour and privilege to follow in the footsteps of Michael Heseltine who will go down as one of the great political figures of the 20th Century." Archive.

Relevant: 2021: Boris Johnson's ex-lover Jennifer Arcuri suggests his wife Carrie is a 'Satanist' as she posts bizarre conspiracy theories about Covid vaccines on Twitter and Telegram. 2021: Newsgroup post: Is there a Satanist in Downing Street? Archive.

2024: Former British PM Boris Johnson's Wife Exposed as Aleister Crowley Worshiping Occult Satanist.

2024: How Boris Johnson Sabotaged World Peace.

Jul 14 2000 Alex Jones: Conspiracy Victim or Evil Mastermind?

"Jones' rants -- formerly heard on KJFK radio and still aired on the Austin Community Access Center's [ACAC, formerly ACTV] television stations, the Internet [www.infowars.com], and his syndicated radio programs -- have become a regular fixture in our town's cultural landscape. Jones rails against what he sees as government and corporate threats to our individual liberties, with predictions that the jackboots will be kicking in our doors and hauling us into internment camps any day now -- in fact, he alleges that this is already going on. He points to the deaths of the 80 Branch Davidians in Waco in 1993 as an example of federal police run amok. Jones recently led the effort to build a chapel on the grounds at Mount Carmel.

But a group of current and former ACAC programmers contend that their freedom -- specifically, their right to free speech and to disagree with Jones -- is what is really being threatened, thanks to what they call Jones' heavy-handed tactics. The programmers' allegations -- which they have made very public by both broadcasting them on ACAC shows and posting them on Web pages -- are that Jones has used both ACAC policy and legal maneuvers to intimidate them or get them thrown off the air."

Archive.

Jul 14 2000 [Murray Center Seals Kaczynski \[the Unabomber\] Data](#)

"Buried in a sleepy corner of the Harvard campus, somewhere in the nation's largest collection of psychological data, lies a slim folder whose sealed contents might help explain what drove the Unabomber to kill.

Theodore J. Kaczynski '62, who was arrested in 1996 after killing three and injuring 16 in a string of mail bombings spread over 20 years, participated in an intensive, sometimes brutal, three-year psychological study while a Harvard undergraduate.

The results of the study, directed by famed psychologist Henry A. Murray, are now housed at the Radcliffe Institute research center named in Murray's honor. But though the records may shed light on Kaczynski's psychological history, the Murray Center has locked the file up for good." Archive.

Jul 14 2000 Hell's Pre-Christian Origins: Hell-fire, Dragons, Serpents, and Resurrections

"My interests here are in determining the pre-Christian origins of the religious motifs found in the the book of Revelation.

Revelations' motifs were not hatched out of thin air by its narrator, he is drawing from earlier religious concepts and giving them a new meaning.

Lambert has pointed out that his studies have indicated that the Mesopotamians were of a mind to re-interpret and transform older myths into newer religious concepts. It would appear that the Hebrews, Jews and Christians weren't doing anything new in their transformation of the earlier ancient myths: "The authors of ancient cosmologies were essentially compilers. Their originality was expressed in new combinations of old themes, and in new twists to old ideas. Sheer invention was not part of their craft."

[p. 107, W.G. Lambert, "A New Look at the Babylonian Background of Genesis,: [1965], in Richard S. Hess and David T. Tsumura, Eds., I Studied Inscriptions From Before the Flood, Winona Lake, Indiana, Eisenbrauns, 1994] Mention is made in Revelation of a "lake of fire" [Rev 19:20; 20:10, 14, 15; 21:8] set aside for the ungodly and the Devil [Serpent]. My studies of Mesopotamian myths have failed to identify the above motifs in their notions of the underworld. It is a different case, however, with the Egyptian and Greek myths. Mesopotamian myths make no mention of a "lake of fire" or a body of water that is fiery in the underworld..." Archive.

Jul 14 2000 Mexico City gridlocked by sightseers after hotel releases a dozen 'UFOs'

"A formation of unidentified flying objects hovering over Mexico City's Chapultepec Park unleashed what one newspaper called a "communal psychosis" on Wednesday. For four hours, hundreds rushed outdoors to gawp up and point.

Many gathered on rooftops or blocked streets. Radio stations spread the word about flying saucers and the four main thoroughfares were gridlocked for hours as motorists craned their necks to see any extraterrestrial craft." Archive.

Jul 15 2000 Large black animal leaps over Scottish fences

"...Details: I was driving westwards, in the dark, along the south side of Loch Leven in Kinrossshire at about 11.00 at night. A large animal, about the size of a small Alsatian dog leapt over the fence on the Loch side of the road and stopped momentarily in my headlights. I braked to a halt. The animal looked at me, then leaped over the fence on the Benarty Hill side of the road.

The animal was black with a long body and thick, undulating, rope-like tail. The face was squat, quite unlike a dog. The eyes glowed orange in the headlights of the car. I would estimate that I was approx 25 to 30 metres from the animal. I got out of the car and peered over the fence but could see nothing in the darkness. There was no sound whatsoever. The animal was most cat-like in appearance."

Archive.

Jul 15 2000 Yugoslavia's Prince Tomislav, Exiled Royalty, Is Dead at 72

"Prince Tomislav Karadjordjevic, the brother of Yugoslavia's last king and, until the birth of his nephew, next in line to the throne, died on Wednesday in his ancestral home 40 miles north of Belgrade. He was 72.

The cause of death was cancer.

Though related by blood to the royal houses of Britain, Russia, Spain, Italy, Denmark, Sweden and Greece, the prince, a great-great-grandson of Queen Victoria, lived most of his life as an apple farmer in West Sussex in rural England.

In exile, as he watched Yugoslavia disintegrate in recent years, he pushed for the rights of Serbs in regions of the shattered country where they are a minority.” Archive.

Relevant: Allegedly this family was black nobility.

Jul 15 2000 Tatler: Photos from the Tate Britain opening party. Archive.

OzCW: Check out the photos of Boris Johnson and his second wife Marina Wheeler, Lord [John, not David] Sainsbury of Preston Candover and the UK supermarket chain [d.2022], Tracey Emin dancing [in a pretty dress] and various alleged degenerates e.g. artist Peter Blake, whose Alice in Wonderland series and close association with convicted paedophile artist Graham Ovenden and the Brotherhood of Ruralists has been questioned.

Jul 15 2000 Alex Jones and crew infiltrate Bohemian Grove

*“Austin, TX -- Last July, documentary filmmaker Alex Jones infiltrated Bohemian Grove, becoming the first person to capture the bizarre occult activities of the all-male elite club membership on videotape. This footage recently aired in England, Ireland and Scotland on UK Channel Four as Part Three of a four-part special: The Secret Rulers of the World.*

Alex Jones was inside the 2,700 acre elite compound for over five hours, and states,

“Thank God I caught the whole thing on videotape because no one would believe me if I hadn’t. I have trouble believing what I witnessed with my own two eyes. It was actually that bizarre.”

For over 128 years, world leaders have traveled to Sonoma County California in the month of July. Almost immediately, bizarre rumors began to circulate in the local press that something dark and occult was going on. The rumors entailed dark stories of men in black and red robes and a giant 40-foot stone owl, to which something, or someone was being sacrificed." Archive.

Relevant: Undated: Occult activities at the Bohemian Grove exposed Archive. 2011: Watch Dark Secrets Inside Bohemian Grove.

Jul 15 2000 The asbestos conspiracy

"Even though it is nearly 40 years since asbestos was scientifically shown to cause cancer and it has now claimed thousands of lives, the WTO is examining a complaint by Canada, which exports 99% of its output, against France, which banned it in 1997. The WTO's Dispute Settlement Body is quite capable of finding in favour of the purveyors of death and the governments that so shamelessly support them, since it habitually puts "freedom" for trade before any other consideration. Since the outrageous ruling on hormone-treated beef, anything seems possible." Archive.

Relevant: 2000: Asbestos miners win right to sue in Britain. 2001: WTO Upholds French Ban on Chrysolite. Archive.

Jul 16 2000 Finkelstein's list: He's a Jewish author - but his accusation that Zionist groups profit from hijacking the history of the Nazi genocide has made him a hate figure. Tomorrow he's at a conference in Britain

"As he arrives, one of Finkelstein's many enemies in the Jewish Establishment, and one of many targets in his latest book, will be addressing a major international Holocaust conference in Oxford.

Holocaust survivor Elie Wiesel, the Nobel-prize winning author whose book Night is held as one of the most important of Holocaust texts, is one of the major speakers at the Remembering for the Future conference. So is Finkelstein, who says Wiesel is a hypocrite, responsible for the 'sacralisation of the Holocaust ... for his standard fee of $25,000 [plus chauffeured limousine]'.

It is believed the fierce foes are unlikely to come face to face in Oxford, but Finkelstein will sail into a storm of controversy there as his new book The Holocaust Industry is published in the UK. Last week, it was condemned here as 'nauseous'. Some columnists branded him 'extreme' and a 'conspiracy theorist'. Others damned him for giving succour to anti-Semites and manipulating the facts...

His incendiary book, published in the US last Thursday and here this week, argues that interest in the Holocaust arose after the 1967 Arab-Israeli war not because survivors found a voice but because an all-powerful American Jewish lobby realised it could now be used to lend a kind of moral victimhood to an Israeli state engaged in criminal acts against the Palestinians. Further, he says efforts have been made to stress the 'uniqueness' of the genocide of the Jews, not for any moral reason, but simply to protect its power as a symbol." Archive.

Relevant: 2023: Finkelstein speaking on Gaza Archive.

Jul 16 2000 "I worked in Lucie's Tokyo site: it was hell"

"I was a typical-ish traveller: broke and facing the prospect of another low-paid waitressing job. My friend proposed the perfect solution - go to Japan and earn a fast yen hostessing. As the job seemed to revolve around constant socialising and having a fabulous time, I didn't hesitate.

To fool immigration men we dressed like nerd backpackers. I even brandished a copy of Lonely Planet. The next evening we went to Roppongi, entertainment centre of Tokyo, dolled up and ready to work... Later I met Tetsuo Nishi, now manager of the Casablanca, Lucie Blackman's club. He gave me his inscrutable smile and told me to take off my coat. And so began my hostessing career last year. It was to last six months, as part entertainer, part psychotherapist. As a stranger with no connection to their everyday lives, you become a fantasy figure who poses no threat, the ideal confidante. One customer begged to know how he could reawaken his wife's sex drive...

My club's sister organisation was staffed with Thai and Filipina prostitutes, and the two clubs had been under surveillance from the vice squad. I was their key witness, and the only way they could hold me was to jail me for my tourist visa status.

Three-and-a-half weeks inside was a sobering experience.

My thoughts go out to Lucie Blackman's family and friends and I hope with all my heart that she will come home safe and well." Archive.

Relevant: 2023: Netflix documentary on how Lucie's killer was caught.

Jul 17 2000 Canada: Former residential school destroyed by fire

"Two people have been arrested after an old residential school in the St. Albert area burned to the ground.

The RCMP say the former residential school, near the Poundmakers Lodge treatment centre, was consumed by fire and reduced to just the shell. Firefighters from Saint Albert, Morninville, Gibbons, Bon Accord and Edmonton Garrison helped fight the blaze.” Archive.

Jul 17 2000 Emin to clean up as bed goes to Saatchi

“Tracey Emin, who made an art form out of displaying her dirty linen in public, looks like cleaning up. Charles Saatchi, Britain's foremost patron of the visual arts, is to pay £150,000 for her most notorious work, My Bed.

A reconstruction of Emin's unmade bed, with soiled sheets and surrounded by empty vodka bottles, cigarette packets and a condom, My Bed attracted praise and opprobrium when it was shortlisted for the Turner Prize last year.

Even by the standards of that never knowingly uncontroversial award, the bed caused a stir, raising Emin's profile to new heights and providing a vehicle for others to propel themselves into public view.” Archive.

OzCW: Another perverse purchase by Saatchi. Did “Dame” Emin Tracey Emin is a Dame and a [member of the Royal Academy] and the others know they were being [in our opinion] used or were they duped? The msm continues to paint their grimy-sounding mediocrity as edgy: “He gave me gonorrhoea...he’s a Buddhist.”

Still, in 2022 Emin was talking sense, demanding her work be removed from Number 10 because of government lies so maybe she was duped – 150 grand was a lot back then. And she’s in recovery from cancer: we wish her well.

Art was being degraded well before the YBAs, of course. Take Gilbert & George, who started in the 1970s and graced walls [and billboards] in the 1990s with their “Naked Shit” collection. Check out their 2022 “Corpsing” pictures for a Satanic flavour [content warning]. Elton John and his husband collect Gilbert & George. And other more controversial pieces.

Relevant: 2024: The radical, ravishing rebirth of Tracey Emin: ‘I didn’t want to die as some mediocre YBA’.

Jul 18 2000 Rape photo used as blackmail to commit murder

"A husband blackmailed his best friend into murdering his wife by producing a photograph he had kept secret for 10 years of the friend being raped by two men, a court heard yesterday...

Lake told the jury Harrold asked him to kill Mrs Harrold six weeks earlier while he was at the house doing work for him. "He took me out to the pool and said, 'I have a proposition for you - 20 grand to knock off Diane'..."

Lake told the court that Harrold wanted his wife dead because "she was bleeding him dry"; he no longer found her attractive and could not afford a divorce. Lake alleged Harrold told him: "It will be easy. Just hit her on the head and push her in the pool." Archive.

OzCW: We included that story as an example of the power of sexual blackmail that is not Epstein or Diddy.

Jul 18 2000 High-Tech Executives Urge Action on World's Digital Divide

"Today a task force established by the World Economic Forum, a policy organization made up of many of the world's largest corporations that meets annually in Davos, Switzerland, presented a series of proposals on the issue to Japan's prime minister, Yoshiro Mori. At a news conference here, members of the task force appeared sensitive to the issue of self-interest on the part of the large corporations backing high-technology spending...

"It's really not a digital divide, said the participant, Richard T. K. Li, chairman and chief executive of the Pacific Century Group, an Internet company based in Hong Kong. "It is an education divide, and information technology is only a conduit to promote education."

Other companies represented on the task force include Sun Microsystems, Microsoft, Yahoo, 3Com, Motorola, Hewlett-Packard, Novell and Alcatel....

Klaus Schwab, the founder and chairman of the World Economic Forum, said in an interview this week that he believed that inexpensive digital wireless technology systems would increasingly spread in the third world.

"I personally feel that a breakthrough is coming," he said." Archive.

OzCW: So the WEF were/are pushing tech into the developing world under the guise of "closing a digital divide." Two decades on, even the children of the farthest-flung Amazonian tribes are hooked on smart phones.

Jul 19 2000 Labour's leaks: A recent history

"The latest leak from the heart of government is the ninth embarrassing disclosure in three months for Prime Minister Tony Blair.

This time the memo - from top advisor Philip Gould to Mr Blair and other high-ranking colleagues - warns that Labour is not getting its message across.

Leak one

13 May: An e-mail from Downing Street Private Secretary Clare Summer revealed that Mr Blair was dissatisfied with researchers.

It said they were failing to come up with the "killer facts" he needed to succeed against Opposition leader William Hague in exchanges at Prime Minister's Question Time in the Commons." Archive.

Jul 20 2000 Jewish organisations accused of blackmailing Switzerland and Germany

"An American historian, Norman Finkelstein, has accused Jews in the United States of distorting the facts of the Holocaust and of exploiting the horror of Nazi atrocities to enrich themselves at the expense of Swiss and German companies.

He says the pursuit of reparations from Swiss banks and others was "an outright extortion racket". Finkelstein's latest book, published on Thursday, is certain to spark a controversial debate. It will also give new impetus to those in Switzerland who have resisted making any concessions over the country's role during the Second World War.

In "The Holocaust Industry", Finkelstein targets Jewish American organisations for "recruiting" the top echelons of the Clinton administration in order to pressurise their targets, notably Germany and Switzerland. Swiss banks were the first to give in, agreeing in 1998 to a $1.25 billion settlement of all claims against them." Archive.

Jul 20 2000 Blockbuster in pact with Enron to deliver on-demand video

"Blockbuster Inc., the biggest name in movie rentals, expects to begin marketing a video-on-demand service by year-end in a partnership with Enron Corp., the nation's largest energy trader, which over the last three years has built a state-of-the-art fiber-optic network that reaches every city in the country.

The 20-year partnership, announced Wednesday, will allow consumers who already have high-speed Internet access and a special TV set-top box to order movies over their TVs and PCs at their convenience.

Only a couple of million households today have high-speed Internet access, but market researchers expect that number to expand as cost of the service falls and nifty applications such as video-on-demand [VOD] are developed and rolled out." Archive.

Relevant: 2001: The Enron scandal. 2020: The Enron Blockbuster Deal: Failure and Fake Profits.

Jul 20 2000 Timeline: the search for Sarah Payne

"Within hours of her disappearance, police launched a UK-wide campaign to find eight-year-old Sarah Payne.

Initially it was thought she had wandered off, but fears soon grew that she had been abducted. Working closely with Sarah's family, Sussex Police appealed for anyone with any information to come forward.

Although thousands responded, as time wore on hopes of finding Sarah alive began to fade." Archive.

Relevant: 2011: Mother of murdered Sarah Payne "targeted by phone hackers." Archive. 2023: Rebekah Brooks Reportedly to Become CEO of News Corp a Decade After the Phone Hacking Scandal. 2024: Killer Roy Whiting stabbed in Wakefield prison.

Jul 20 2000 UK Terrorism Act Passed

“The act makes it possible for UK-based activists campaigning for change to be labelled terrorists.”
Archive.

Relevant: 2024: Letter from London on the UK Terrorism Act’s misuse:

“The terrible thing is that it was at precisely this same time that the Blair government was bringing into law – with wide support from within the legal community – the Human Rights Act 1998, which embedded the European Convention on Human Rights (ECHR) into U.K. law (the Human Rights Act 1998 was signed into law in 1998 but only came into force on Oct. 2, 2000).

At the time everyone in the legal world assumed that it was the Human Rights Act 1998 that was by far the more important Act, and which would be far more consequential than the Terrorism Act 2000.

Indeed I distinctly remember all sorts of assurances floating around that there was no need to worry because the Terrorism Act 2000 would be restricted and its loose wording interpreted by reference to the ECHR and the Human Rights Act 1998.

In reality what has happened is the opposite. Far from the Human Rights Act 1998 mitigating the effect of the Terrorism Act 2000, it is the Terrorism Act 2000 which is prevailing over the ECHR and the Human Rights Act 1998 – as the Medhurst case shows.

None of this would be happening were it not for a radical change in the whole legal and political culture in the U.K., which has taken place since these two Acts were brought into law.

I don’t want to romanticise the past, but the shift towards authoritarianism, and the ongoing repression of free speech and journalism, which has taken place since 2000, still seems to me astonishing and at some level inexplicable.” Archive.”

Relevant: Wikipedia list of UK Acts of Parliament passed in 2000. Archive.2022: Truth under attack? Belief in terrorism conspiracy theories among the UK public.

2024: UK brands journalists as terrorists in blatant abuse of legislation.

Jul 20 2000 How free is Britain’s press? Not very, says UN

OzCW: Tony Blair was known for issuing D-Notices to cover things up. From paedophiles in Parliament investigations to the fact that there were no Weapons of Mass Destruction to justify going to war in Iraq.

“Those of us who have long argued for greater press freedom – allied with responsibility – will have been greatly encouraged by this week’s report by the United Nations on the UK’s human rights record. As reported by The Guardian [20 July], the UN’s special rapporteur, Abid Hussein, is highly critical of the Freedom of Information Bill, the D notice system, the gagging of newspapers over the Shayler affair, and the attempted prosecution of journalist Tony Geraghty for revealing a top secret surveillance system in Northern Ireland. He also condemns attempts to use laws to force journalists in Northern Ireland to hand over their notes or disclose the identity of informants to the police or investigating authorities.” Archive.

Relevant: 2012: Did PM Tony Blair cover up paedophile scandal? List of child sex offenders in British government.

2024: VIDEO: Anti-child abuse activist tells how she was threatened by Blair and MK15 with a D-Notice in 2004 [from around 08:00]. 2024: VIDEO: Tony Blair seen at Satanic ritual [35:15].

Jul 21 2000 Jack Straw’s car stopped for speeding

“A car carrying Home Secretary Jack Straw to a meeting with the prime minister was stopped by police for speeding, officials admitted this morning.

A car carrying Home Secretary Jack Straw to a meeting with the prime minister was stopped by police for speeding, officials admitted this morning.

Mr Straw, who has repeatedly called for police to clamp down on speeding drivers, was in the back of the car when it was pulled over by police on July 9 in western England...

It has been a bad month for the government’s bid to crack down on lawlessness.

On July 1, Prime Minister Tony Blair proposed on-the-spot fines for public drunk and disorderly behavior. Days later, his 16-year-old son Euan was taken in by police after being found sprawled out drunk in a central London square. He had been celebrating finishing school exams.

Mr Straw, whose duties include overseeing the national police force, also had a brush with the law when his son William, then 17, was arrested in 1998 for selling cannabis to a newspaper reporter.”
Archive.

Relevant: 2000: Straw driver will not face speed charges. 2013: Jack Straw, MI6 and extraordinary rendition. 2013: Jack Straw forced to retract lies about Militant.

2014: Jack Straw on child abuse: “The terms of the agreement did not include an apology”. 2015: Jack Straw ‘re-writing history’ over torture allegations – Reprieve. 2015: Cash for access': the main allegations - Jack Straw and Sir Malcolm Rifkind are accused of breaching the parliamentary code of conduct amid claims they offered to help a fictitious Chinese firm.

Jul 21 2000 UN Officials Cite Success Rescuing Child Soldiers in Sierra Leone

“United Nations Children's Fund [UNICEF] officials July 19 pointed to a ray of hope in the otherwise bleak nine-year civil conflict in Sierra Leone -- the rescue of child soldiers, some as young as 11, from a life of murder, rape, and torture.

Jean-Claude LeGrand, senior adviser for children in armed conflict at UNICEF's Child Protection Section, told journalists at a National Press Club morning news conference that "Sierra Leone is the worst place on earth to be a child."

The United Nations has estimated that up to 5,000 children have been forced, mainly by rebel forces, to fight in combat, carry supplies, and sexually service troops in the West African nation's civil conflict. They are among some 120,000 child soldiers estimated to be serving in government or rebel groups in Africa -- and some 300,000 children under the age of 18 involved in 30 armed conflicts worldwide.”
Archive.

Relevant: 2000: British troops in Sierra Leone in the service of the diamond firms. 2010: Naomi Campbell and the blood diamonds.

Jul 21 2000 Russian Mafia's Worldwide Grip

“...Under pressure from the Nixon administration, Moscow agreed to allow more Soviet Jews to emigrate. But in a move copied years later by Fidel Castro, the Soviets opened prison doors in the gulag and thousands of hard-core criminals left for the United States.

Since then, the Russian Mafia has been linked to penny stock manipulation, gas excise tax scams, health care fraud and cybercrime—criminal enterprises where they are pioneers, not just perpetrators.

But law enforcement officials say the Russians are particularly good at money laundering, the lifeblood of organized crime. In fact, other crime groups use the Russians to clean their dirty money.

From the Valentine's Day Massacre to Murder, Inc., organized crime in America already has a bloody history. But Friedman says the Russians are even more ruthless than the mobsters who preceded them.” Archive.

Relevant: 2018: Gangster’s paradise: how organised crime took over Russia.

Jul 23 2000 Peel Unplugged

OzCW: The interview linked provides insights into the background of John Peel, another BBC DJ, later accused of pedophilia. Was Peel another casualty of the “elite”?

“Brought up by nannies, he didn't meet his father until he was six.” He was sent away at seven to boarding school and later public school. There wasn't much quality time or love so he was attracted by affection wherever he found it. He had football club with working class boys: his parents thought he wanted to “shag” them. Archive.

Relevant: 2005: Peel was raped at public school. Archive. 2012: Questions about John Peel. Archive. 2021: Dissecting the dark side of John Peel. Archive.

Jul 23 2000 How judo made a man of Hague

“[Sebastian] Coe and his leader [Hague] apparently grapple without an instructor at times, although that is frowned upon by some in the judo fraternity. So is fighting half-naked - although the sport depends on grabbing the opponent's white jacket, the pair have been seen tumbling about topless at a gym beneath Dolphin Square in Pimlico.” Archive.

Relevant: 2014: Paedophile orgies in luxury flats and claims three boys were murdered by VIPs: Special report into the growing stench of a cover-up by the Establishment.

Jul 24 2000 Giving Billions Isn't Easy: Bill and Melinda Gates

"...Gates' first great non-Microsoft project, started in 1997, was paying billions to wire America's libraries. He deployed high-tech task forces that fanned out across the U.S. equipped with computers, modems and software, bridging the digital divide for poorer school districts. There is a room on the second floor of the Gates Foundation's new Seattle office complex that is command central for that initiative, where huge national maps are studded with pins showing which library districts have been wired—22,530 computers in 4,540 libraries in the U.S. and 4,024 computers in 1,435 libraries in Canada. So far, about $92 million has been spent on the library program. This is the war room of a battle Bill is winning. The wiring project will last until 2005, and is being expanded to libraries around the world." Archive.

OzCW: So did the bid to control the world's information start in the libraries, where they could start wiring up the schools under the guise of "philanthropy"?

Jul 24 2000 End the enduring scandal of Broadmoor

OzCW: In 2000, we did not know about Jimmy Savile [just one fixer of many] being a violent Satanist and the fact that he [and others probably] had keys to Broadmoor. Later, we wonder whether some of these regrettable "suicides" might have been sacrifices/murders?

Sadly, Victor Nash, who had been an inmate for 29 years having attempted murder after "hearing voices in his head" died in a manner reminiscent of the more recent deaths by hanging on door knob.

The BBC goes on, "Nash's suicide was the first of three in one week during a 10-month period when there was one suicide every 36 days at Broadmoor.

The suicides did not make the headlines. "As long as no one's escaping, as long as no one's getting attacked, there's an indifference to what's going on in Broadmoor," as one visitor to the hospital put it."

One “suicide” every 36 days? Scandalous indeed. Scandalous, too, that Savile with his royal connections was given access to those vulnerable adults. Rest in Peace those inmates and condolences to their families from 2024.

At the time, not knowing what we know now, if we’d read the news item at all [which would have been unlikely] unless we’d been directly involved personally or professionally with secure hospitals this article would have – let’s face it – meant nothing or very little to us. Even as conspiracy theorists.

“Victor Nash was a Daily Telegraph reader. He enjoyed Radio Four, especially the political commentaries. Every Monday he'd take out books from the library, mostly on religion or electronics, sometimes fiction. He managed his finances well - no small feat for a heavy smoker on £13 a week.

On January 18 last year, Nash, 56, was found dead in his room. Around his neck he'd placed a dressing-gown cord, which in turn was attached to a radiator. His 29 years at Broadmoor high security hospital were over.

In 1970, driven by voices telling him that he was the son of God, Nash strangled his wife. She survived the attack. He was sent to Broadmoor, never to re-emerge.

Nash's suicide was the first of three in one week during a 10-month period when there was one suicide every 36 days at Broadmoor.

The suicides did not make the headlines. "As long as no one's escaping, as long as no one's getting attacked, there's an indifference to what's going on in Broadmoor," as one visitor to the hospital put it. The contrast with the coverage two weeks ago of security breaches at Broadmoor, where a patient managed to tape-record staff meetings, smuggle in a mobile phone, audio tapes and a camera, was sharp.

Yet both pointed to the same deep-seated flaws within our high-security hospitals - Broadmoor, Rampton and Ashworth - and illuminate successive governments' failures to address them.” Archive.

Relevant: 2000: Broadmoor nurses suspended. 2009: Serious concerns over Broadmoor suicides.

Jul 24 2000 News of the World's paedophile campaign is cynical exploitation

“As an example of the cynical exploitation of public opinion in the interests of commercial gain, it would be hard to better the News of the World’s publication of the names and photographs of 49 sexual offenders against juveniles – with the promise of thousands more to follow. With the alleged intention of promoting child safety, the NoW has shamelessly latched on to the public revulsion at the dreadful murder of Sarah Payne, with little or no thought about the consequences. Increased circulation is all that matters.

The universal and rightful condemnation of the News of the World by the rest of the national press could possibly be dismissed as sour grapes. But that of those who are responsible for child safety – government agencies, the police and voluntary organisations – must be taken seriously. They fear an outbreak of vigilantism – there has already been one incident involving a totally innocent person – and the driving of paedophiles underground where their activities cannot be monitored. In other words, this is an action which can benefit no one, and may harm many.” Archive.

Jul 25 2000 Paedophile watch

“The Home Office estimated that in 1993 there were at least 260,000 men aged 20 or over who had been convicted of a sexual offence of some kind, of whom 210,000 had convictions for a "sexual offence with a victim" [ie excluding offences involving only consenting adults]. About one in 60 of a sample of men born in 1953 had a conviction by the age of 40 for some type of sexual offence. Some 10% of these offenders had a further such conviction within five years of their first conviction for a sexual offence.” Archive.

O2CW: It was bad enough back then but decades on it’s even worse. Budget cuts affect victims and offenders are not punished.

Jul 26 2000 Dick Cheney: the high-flying hawk

“As a former White House chief of staff and a former defence secretary, Dick Cheney may seem like a figure from the political past, but he has always been identified as a man with a big political future. Now, confirmed as George W Bush's running mate, Mr Cheney is an election campaign away from becoming US vice-president in November - and then a step away from the highest office of all.

Mr Cheney is best known internationally for the four years he spent as defence secretary in President George Bush's administration between 1989 and 1993. The central event of those years was the Gulf war, in which Mr Cheney presided over the largest US military operation since Vietnam...

Mr Cheney's high level and immensely profitable links with the Texas oil industry - also the source of the Bush family's wealth - will be another big issue in November, not least with environmentalists. Since 1995, he has been chief executive officer and chairman of the Halliburton Corporation..

Another intensely sensitive aspect of the Halliburton connection - which could lead to conflict of interest allegations - is the company's stake in two American oil industry companies, Dresser-Rand and Ingersoll-Dresser Pump Co, which are involved in trying to reconstruct the Iraqi oil industry after the Gulf war. Halliburton also major interests in the Russian oil industry." Archive.

Relevant: 2024: Dick Cheney, Whose Wars Cost 4.5 Million Lives, Says Donald Trump Is Threat To Global Security.

Jul 27 2000 Why London's Millennium Dome has been a disaster

OzCW: The Millennium Dome, which we visited, was in our opinion a failure because it was rubbish. It squatted on poisoned industrial land which was a haul to get to and once you'd paid the hefty entrance fee, everything was disappointingly tacky, corporate and expensive. It was cold, too. Even in summer, icy winds blew in from the River Thames.

Oh – and there was a huge red plastic – and tedious – Body section devoted to health and the NHS. The Dome would have been an ideal venue for large-scale rehearsals of dancing nurses, although Tik Tok did not exist back then.

The Dome, now a music venue, was cobbled together at the last minute. It was glaringly obvious even back then that the government cared zero for the changing of the centuries – or its people. The London Eye was much nicer. Would it not have made more sense for the government to mark the millennium with the Eye instead? Or would that have been too nice a gift to waste on the sheeple?

“Tory propaganda was that the Dome was part of the antidote to Britain's “damaged culture, with low self-esteem, shrinking pride and a diminishing position in the world”. It would be a statement of “optimism for the future,” they promised.

As with most of its policies since taking office in 1997, the Blair government adopted Conservative plans for the Dome and gave them its own twist. Prime Minister Tony Blair said the Dome would provide a “People's Show” that would celebrate a “new Britain”. It would be the “greatest show on earth”, he enthused, inspiring in people “memories so strong that it will give them that abiding sense of purpose and unity that stays with them through the rest of their lives”.

But the Dome has been a disaster ever since it opened on New Year's Eve.” Archive.

Relevant: 2000: Fraud enquiry at London's Millennium Dome. The November 2000 Millennium Dome Heist.

Jul 27 2000 Northern Ireland: Royal Ulster Constabulary trap exposed

“A West Belfast man has revealed an RUC attempt to recruit him as an informer by offering him £25,000. The plan to entrap the man was exposed on Wednesday at a press conference called by Sinn Féin. The elaborate plot entailed the RUC Special Branch placing advertisements for joiners in the West Belfast newspaper Andersonstown News.

When the man, 42 year old Joe Malocco, went along for a job interview the RUC men who said they “were representing the British government” offered him a bribe of £25,000.

“They said they wanted me to work for them to help secure the peace process”, said Malocco at a press conference in Sinn Féin's Falls Road offices on 26 July.

Speaking at the press conference Sinn Féin's Gerry Kelly accused the British government of “failing to tackle the securocrats who are firmly in control and are doing everything they can to wreck the peace process”.” Archive.

Jul 27 2000 Spacey invests heavily to save the Old Vic

“The Oscar-winning actor Kevin Spacey is investing a six-figure sum to help save the Old Vic theatre in London...

During the lunch at The Ivy restaurant, much loved by the media and movie set, Sam Mendes, who directed American Beauty, walked in, hugged Spacey and had a private five-minute conversation with him. Spacey refused to say whether they had discussed a follow-up to American Beauty.

The actor said he had a love affair with the Old Vic ever since he was first taken there by his parents at the age of five...

Old Vic Productions, whose chairman is Lord Attenborough, is offering a stake in its running to anyone who invests a minimum of £2,000." Archive.

Relevant: 2022: Spacey was sexually assaulting men when he was director of the Old Vic. Kevin Spacey sexual misconduct allegations. 2022: Spacey addresses Epstein client list/Pizzagate rumours.

Jul 28 2000 Maze emptied as terrorist prisoners walk free

"The Maze prison was almost empty tonight - just 15 inmates were left inside the 800 cells. By the end of the year most will have been released or transferred elsewhere and the top security prison finally shut down.

The H Blocks emptied in just three hours today as the government freed the last big batch of 78 prisoners under the early release terms of the Good Friday Agreement. A further seven were let out of Maghaberry Prison a few miles away across County Antrim and one from Magilligan Jail in County Londonderry.

In all, 428 terrorists, including 143 serving life sentences, had been released since the scheme began 22 months ago. Mass killers and bombers, many responsible for the worst atrocities during 30 years of violence in the province, walked free today to be welcomed by cheering supporters.

IRA men, UDA and UFF men, men from the UVF, LVF and INLA, they all walked. The prison service made sure the releases were phased and that republicans and loyalists did not bump into each other in the car parks of the high security prison. Indeed, they ensured rival loyalists were kept well apart from each other." Archive.

Relevant: 2020: VIDEO: NORTHERN IRELAND: Protestants & Catholics UNITING to STOP immigration!

Jul 28 2000 Lawsuit against Britain over Belgrano sinking thrown

“The action filed against the British government in the European Court of Human Rights in Strasbourg by relatives of the 323 Argentines killed on board the Belgrano cruiser in 1982 has been dismissed on a technicality.

The three-judge committee at the Strasbourg court rejected the case for Britain to be tried for war crimes on the grounds that it had been submitted too late. The human rights convention stipulates that applications must be made within six months after all other available remedies have been pursued in the domestic courts. Strasbourg ruled that in this case the domestic courts were those in Britain, disallowing all the legal proceedings in the Argentine courts.

As there were no cases before the British courts, the judges ruled that the six months should run from the date of the sinking of the Belgrano on May 2, 1982. In other words, the relatives were expect

Relevant: 2007: The Belgrano 25 years on. Belgrano: Is Maggie Thatcher a War Criminal?

Jul 28 2000 Boy camped with cult as hunt went on

OzCW: We’ve included this headline because it’s one of the many several msm articles in 2000 that features the word “cult”. Is this just coincidence or were “they” trying to seed an idea?

Or was it because “they” wanted to deflect from the existence of Satanic “cults”? We never see the word Satanic in front of that word. The word “sect” is used in an article about Satanism in Poland.”

“Two weeks ago a man strolled into the reception centre of a busy campsite near Farnborough in Hampshire and booked a two night stay, signing himself into the visitors' book as Reinhard Zeuner from Erlangen in Germany.

That day, Friday July 14, Bobby Kelly's face was on the front of the Express newspaper under the headline "Cult kidnap boy aged 16." He was in other newspapers too, and the cult members with him read the reports with alarm.

Their fear was that Bobby would be "deprogrammed" - forcibly made to give up the religious beliefs he had acquired since he left his grandmother's home in Romford to travel with them a month earlier.

On the Jesus Christians' website, the group declared that "we recognised something like this was almost inevitable".

The website reiterates their fear of "deprogramming". It states: "We regard Bobby Kelly as an adolescent... not fully adult, not fully child... 16-year-old children all over Britain do things that their parents and guardians do not agree with, but the police are not called in, a nationwide manhunt is not mounted... and certainly the whole country is not banned from hearing their side."

Founded by David McKay in 1981 and at one time - maybe still - consisting of no more than his family, friends and dropouts picked up on the group's travels, the Jesus Christians preach a fundamentalist version of Christianity, insisting that salvation can be obtained only by reverting to the precepts of the Bible." Archive.

Jul 29 2000 Newsgroup thread: The Libertarian Technocrat – is it true?

*"I have noticed that quite often, the political philosophy of the technical minded is libertarianism. I log on and notice the large number of anti-religious posting, the strong gun lobby, repeated references to the constitution, and low tolerance for taxation and welfare.<P>Listening to the radio the other day, there was a woman talking about the technocrat elite of silicon valley, and their libertarianism. This irritated me. I don't find the people here particularly liberal, nor do I note a particularly free market view among folks here. It was mentioned that there was no particular predominance of republicans or democrats. to my mind, no one particularly cares for politics anyway.<P>so I was curious, what are teh political views of most people out in the Ars-world. Pragmatists, social liberals, free traders? I realize that it is exceedingly difficult to state political philosophy in a few paragraphs--or even books--but I would like to know what everyones philosophy is.<P>I'll start.
Well, for me, libertarianism is a childish philosophy: politics for the asocial, perhaps. I would like to be a pragmatist, but I want too much from the owrld as well. As fre and wealthy as possilbe, and no starvation, no war. That is my philosophy in a nutshell. Open borders, open trade. <P>need examples? Well, fire away." Archive.*

Jul 30 2000 Mr Bill's Logging in to Trump's Tower

"SORRY, Ron Perelman, you're no longer the wealthiest homeowner in Manhattan.

Bill Gates, still the world's richest man despite Microsoft's legal woes, has just signed on the dotted line for a lofty lair in the 900-foot-high Trump World Tower overlooking the U.N. building.

Sources say Gates is paying $19.8 million for an 8,500-square-foot full-floor pad with 16-foot ceilings on one of the building's top floors.

The software guru's reps would neither confirm nor deny the report. "Our policy is not to comment on Mr. Gates' personal life," said Gates spokeswoman Nicole Miller.

"It tends to make sense," said one residential developer. "There's a natural bond. Gates and Trump World Tower are both overwhelming and controversial." So too is the project's developer, Donald Trump, who wouldn't comment on the Gates deal, but took the opportunity to tout his recently topped-off tower.

"The building has really been well-received," claimed The Donald. "The community is loving it now. Prices in the neighborhood have gone up tremendously because of the building." Archive.

August 2000 Links Most Relevant to Today

NME Glastonbury Festival 2000 cover, available here.

Aug 2000 Princess Shamsa of Dubai kidnapped off streets of Cambridge. This fact emerged in 2020, along with the fact that Robin Cook [Blair's Foreign Secretary] had covered it up.

Aug 1 2000 They know where you live, what price privacy? Back then, partly because there was no social media, those of us who did not work in tech or the legal profession had no clue about the no-privacy implications we'd be facing in 2024.

Aug 2 2000 Web of abuse. They didn't do a very good job of cleaning things up.

Aug 3 2000 Bill goes ballistic: Microsoft boss says govt case is a conspiracy. 2024: Bill Gates complains "conspiracy theorists" make his "super important work" depopulating us much harder.

Aug 8 2000 Email: Subject: Re: Observer Front Page: Police to track mobile phone users: journalists exchange emails, concerned over the secrecy with which governments have handled the 2000 G8 meeting and the fact that they appear to be working all-too-closely with industry.

Aug 8 2000 Top S.F. Prosecutor Kamala Harris Quits D.A.'s Office. Harris whipped up quite a stir, it seems.

Aug 9 2000 William Hague: I drank 14 pints of beer a day. In 2024 the then-Leader of the Opposition has U-turned to work in cahoots with his old rival Tony Blair.

Aug 10 2000 Farmyard and teen hardcore porn found on White House system. There have been many of these sordid events over the decades including Pizzagate and Hunter Biden. Nothing's changed today.

Aug 13 2000 Global Warming is a Scam and I Won't Fret or Sweat About it.

Aug 14 2000 A fisherman's tale of greed and folly – the barren seas. The war on the food supply was continuing.

Aug 14 2000 Murdoch buys Chris-Craft: Murdoch was expanding his empire.

Aug 20 2000 First ice-free North Pole in 50m years. Oh no – we’re all going to die!

Aug 22 2000 11-Year-Old British Actor To Play Potter: Christians and others believe Harry Potter was about normalising the occult. In 2024, the Telegraph is blaming an occult revival on the [alleged] pandemic but we believe Harry Potter and other cultural [in particular Satanic] influences are more to blame.

Aug 22 2000 Controversy Over Diamonds Made Into Virtue by De Beers: in 2024, Patrick Bet-David explains the Rothschild diamond scam.

Aug 28 2000 Millennium World Peace Summit: Dalai Lama’s Message Read at UN. In preparation for the One World Religion.

August 2000 Summary

Top of the Pops magazine Britney Spears 2000 cover, available here.

In August 2000 we saw msm scaremongering over global warming and a melting North Pole, paedophiles and animal rights activists.

In the US:

- Prosecutor Kamala Harris flounced out of her job.

- Hillary was proven anti-Semitic.
- No one could agree on a definition of “animal distress”. Was that why there was hardcore and animal porn on the White House servers? Still, a judge backed porn.
- Bill Gates was losing it [was/is his mind control falling apart?].
- Clinton gave a massive gift to China.
- Dick Cheney was/is corrupt and the CIA were stonewalling on their past activities in Iraq and Italy.
- Elizabeth Wurtzel was a Britney fangirl.
- Eisenhower ordered the assassination of the Congo’s leader, we hear.
- Lots of politicians’ offspring were/are gay.
- Sexual abuse was/is rife in Wackenhut prisons.
- Al-Fayed was suing for Diana information.
- JD Salinger’s daughter had been writing...her father was peculiar.
- And in Canada, Justin Trudeau revisited his brother’s demise.
- The government were researching pychoenergetics.
- Google was a “growing force”.

In the UK:

- Loss of privacy due to tech and lack of transparency at the G8 summit were concerns.

- There was widespread abuse in children's homes
- Sarah Payne [RIP] and Meghan's law [in the US] were reported on: there were loud anti-paedophile protests.
- People were questioning the superiority of supermarkets over shopping local.
- The Third World was standing up against the rich.
- Leader of the Opposition William Hague exaggerated his drinking to sound cool.
- David and Samantha Cameron were photographed at a posh champers party.
- Savile made disgusting double entendres via the BBC.
- Frankenscientists were pushing for human cloning.
- Chancellor Gordon Brown got hitched to Sarah.
- The Trade Unions criticised the law review.
- The Harry Potter stars had been selected.
- There was a dodgy raid on the progressive prison Blantyre House.
- MI5 whistle blower David Shayler was arrested.
- Animal rights activists boycotted Ribena.
- Penises were in the papers.
- Michael Jackson put his son down to attend the very spooky Stowe public school.
- The UK had ransacked Sierra Leone for blood diamonds; there was a corrupt dictator and child soldiers. De Beers milked the situation for commercial advantage.

- The Millennium Dome continued to fail.
- A princess was snatched off the streets of Cambridge – and Robin Cook covered it up.
- PriceWaterhouseCoopers was in court.
- The [reptilian?] Queen Mother was 100.
- Paedophiles were being named and shamed.
- Diana had been in love with a heart surgeon.
- The TUC called out shareholder power and the poorer countries wanted a look-in [some chance].
- But none of the above matter because it was so nice to live in sunny Godalming with all the celebs... and [alleged Satanic abuser] Virginia Bottomley and her [alleged pedophile] husband.

In the rest of the world:

- In Europe, CERN fired up an accelerator. There was/is a global fishing crisis and we revisited the scandal of the sunken Greek oil tanker Erika.
- In Australia Murdoch was buying up another channel and creepy guru Sai Baba was exposed by Nexus Magazine.
- The Dalai Lama was at the UN.

In between all that, there are a few conspiracy postings as we fall into autumn 2000.

August 2000 Links

Welcome to sunny Celebrity Central Godalming, Surrey...

Murgatroyd49, CC BY-SA 4.0 via Wikimedia Commons

Aug 2000 Newsgroup post: [Genomes and Eugenics by researcher Dave McGowan \[RIP\]](#)

"On June 26th of this year, the successful completion of the mapping of the human genome was triumphantly announced. The media were nearly universal in heaping praise on this alleged scientific milestone. This was just as true for the 'progressive' press as it was for the more mainstream media outlets....

"Seemingly the only critical voice among the mindless back-slappers of the U.S. media belonged to Robert Lederman, columnist for the Greenwich Village Gazette. In an insightful column featured on The Konformist web site, Lederman noted that:

"Probably the single greatest irony in the human genome issue is the idea being marketed to the public that this scientific advance will lead to the average person enjoying a much longer and healthier life. In light of governmental resistance to preventing corporate pollution of the environment, developing renewable sources of energy, banning the use of toxic chemicals and insecticides or protecting the food supply from contamination, can we really expect that this technology will be used to extend human life generally?"

"Politicians claim there is an imminent crisis facing the social security system right now. How much worse will that crisis be if tens of millions of Americans who might otherwise have died in their sixties and seventies from chronic disease live into their nineties and beyond? Be assured that those in control have no intention of allowing this to happen." Archive.

Relevant: Dave McGowan's website is maintained by his daughter.

Aug-Sept 2000 Nexus Magazine exposes Sai Baba: Fraud, Fakery and Molestation

"He now takes my head and pushes it quite firmly into his groin... He then pulls up my arms and asks me to go higher and higher and higher... Now I am holding his buttocks and wonder what the hell my Divine Master is asking me to do! I let go my arms and now I am even more shell-shocked... He pulls up his dress, presents me his half-erect penis and invites me to take up my "good luck chance": "This is your good luck chance." I am now on my knees facing his erect penis, being asked to perform oral sex. He stands there, and I think: Am I supposed to do this? Could I do this? I then instinctively stretch out my right arm and put it on the part of his chest which hides his heart, and say: "I don't want this, Swami; I want your heart." He now drops his dress and tells me: "Yes, yes, yes; of course you have my heart."

He now asks me to take my pants down, "discovers" my penis is not erect and tells me that that is how it is supposed to be! "Swami is inside there, see; Swami is inside there." Hell no! That is mine and mine! And you are certainly not in there, I thought.

He asks me to do padnamnamaskaar again, and again he pulls up his dress. "This is your second good luck chance," he says. I refuse and get up without saying anything. I am now angry, confused and dazed." Archive.

Aug 2000 Princes Shamsa of Dubai kidnapped off streets of Cambridge [article from 2020]

“Ministers helped a billionaire sheikh get away with the kidnap of his daughter from the streets of Britain, the High Court has heard, and now British authorities are facing pressure to bring the Gulf state monarch to justice.

The ruler of Dubai, a friend of the Queen and close UK ally, ordered henchmen to abduct Princess Shamsa from Cambridge in 2000, a judge found.

The teenager said armed bodyguards grabbed her, injected her with sedatives and rendered her to Dubai, where she was tortured.

Yet when Cambridgeshire police launched a criminal probe, it was allegedly shut down amid 'interference' by the Foreign Office – as a diplomatic favour.

In an astonishing ruling, Sheikh Mohammed al-Maktoum, one of the world's richest men, is today also exposed as having waged a campaign of 'fear and intimidation' against his youngest wife, Princess Haya, who fled to Britain last year fearing that he would kill her.” Archive.

OzCW: These allegations came out in 2020 during the divorce and custody trial – held in the UK – of Dubai’s Sheikh Mohammed al-Maktoum, one of the world’s richest men, and one of his wives, Princess Haya.

Their daughter, Princess Shamsa, fled Dubai in 2000 to be abducted with the help of the Blair government. Then foreign secretary Robin Cook [d.2005] shut down the criminal enquiry. Likely to protect the lucrative arms trade between the UK and UAE.

Relevant: 2024: Dubai princess' bombshell 'I divorce you' Instagram post rocks royal family. Archive.

Aug 1 2000 They know where you live: What price privacy, when a click of a mouse will give anyone who's interested your name, address and spending habits?

“If I know your name and you vote, I can find out where you live in less than 30 seconds - and so can anyone else with a computer. It is perfectly legal, and all part of the technology revolution. Directory websites such as 192.com not only provide on-line UK telephone directories, but have the entire electoral register with over 25 million adults on their database. Tap in a name and up pops the address.

It may be legal, but many argue that the law has not yet caught up with the internet revolution and put in place proper safeguards. In this brave new world there is no real privacy. The legislators are struggling with the terrifying power of computers to, as the marketing companies so innocently put it, "datamatch" information from a wide range of sources to build a detailed picture of you and your spending habits. If you don't mind the world knowing all about you, that's fine. But if you prefer anonymity, hard luck." Archive.

OzCW: In 2000 UK society at large was coming to terms with the lack of privacy and anonymity forced upon it by tech. Anyone protesting this would have been seen as a dinosaur but fast forward to 2024 Gates, Blair and the globalists are pushing for a CBDC which could end freedom forever.

Aug 2 2000 Cheney's Multi-Million Dollar Revolving Door: As Bush Sr.'s secretary of defense, Dick Cheney steered millions of dollars in government business to a private military contractor — whose parent company just happened to give him a high-paying job after he left the government.

"As secretary of defense, Cheney oversaw one of the largest privatization efforts in the history of the Pentagon, steering millions of military dollars to civilian contractors. Two and a half years after Cheney left his federal job, he began cashing in on the very contracts that he helped initiate.

In 1992, the Pentagon, then under Cheney's direction, paid Texas-based Brown & Root Services $3.9 million to produce a classified report detailing how private companies — like itself — could help provide logistics for American troops in potential war zones around the world." Archive.

Relevant: 2010: Dick Cheney to be charged in Nigerian corruption case. 2014: War Crimes and 9/11: Why Dick Cheney and Donald Rumsfeld are Suspects. 2015: War Criminals Among Us: Bush, Cheney, and the Eyes of the World In which we learn how to say 'war crimes' in Malaysian.

2023: The Untold Truth of Dick Cheney.

Buy Trance-Formation of America from Cathy O'Brien's site to read about Cheney.

Aug 2 2000 Web of abuse

“NORTH Yorkshire's biggest police investigation into child abuse began with a letter. It was written by a childhood resident of Springhill Residential School in Ripon and gave the first details of appalling abuse children there suffered at the hands of some workers many years before.

Barnardo's, the charity that ran the school, passed the letter to police. At about the same time, detectives first heard of abuse in another children's home, Fairfield in Harrogate. The two reports led to the setting up of a special squad of officers codenamed Operation Pudsey.

Three years of hard work later, the childhood horrors they uncovered have put five child abusers in jail and another has a suspended prison sentence hanging over his head.

Relevant: 2012: Richmond, Yorks paedophile ring enquiry: man jailed. 2012: Jimmy Savile ruled North Yorks paedophile ring.

Aug 2 2000 International Injustice: The tragedy of Sierra Leone

“Can Sierra Leone escape its hellish cycle of mutilation, rape and murder? The answer lies with the United Nations Security Council, which is meeting this week to consider how to set up a war crimes tribunal for this ravaged African country.

Having tried and failed to buy peace on the cheap, the council now faces a defining moment. How it responds will speak volumes about its capacity to meet the difficult challenge of abusive civil wars, particularly in Africa.

The last time that the U.N. had a chance to wrest Sierra Leone from its nightmare, it failed miserably. In January 1999, Freetown, the capital, was under siege by a barbarous group of thugs known as the Revolutionary United Front...” Archive.

Aug 2 2000 Privates on Parade Young men won't wear condoms, old men are less fertile. Size matters. (Or is it what you do with it that counts?) William Leith reports on how the penis has entered the public arena

"It has been a mixed week for the male sexual organ. The penises of heterosexual men, it has been reported, contracted 31% more gonorrhoea last year than they had the year before, with young men particularly at risk. It has also been shown that the fertility of older men, as we always suspected, declines with age - 15% of men over 35 take more than a year to make their partners pregnant, say research teams from Bristol and Brunel universities. And according to Spice Girl Mel C, the former children's television presenter Jamie Theakston, who now presents Top of the Pops, has got "the biggest cock in the business".

On Tuesday, newspapers speculated about the rise in sexually transmitted diseases, about why the young men were taking such risks. Why these guys were plunging in, without making the effort to protect themselves with condoms. Kevin Fenton, a consultant epidemiologist, noted: "Young people are particularly vulnerable, as many are unaware of sexually transmitted diseases and their symptoms."

The lessening of fear of Aids is, of course, a factor. "We can't lose vigilance," Fenton says. But vigilance is, in some ways, increasing. On Wednesday, a tabloid reported that the comedian Mark Lamarr, who had been seen emerging from Tara Palmer-Tomkinson's hotel room, "has got a bit of a 'Theakston' on his hands - or rather Tara's hands"." Archive.

OzCW: Call us old-fashioned but we miss the days when everyone was by default modest and more conservative and chose not to make bawdy public reference to – men’s or women’s – genitals. Especially if there were children within earshot. Call us party-poopers but we suspect msm articles like this were encouraged to erode boundaries and spread degradation. Apologies if you think differently – we reserve the right to be prudes.

Aug 2 2000 CIA Secrecy Claims are Facially Incredible, says Lawsuit: Plaintiff Challenges CIA's Stonewalling on 50-Year-Old Operations in Iran, Italy

"Lawyers for the National Security Archive today filed in federal district court [in paper and CD-ROM formats] a legal challenge to the CIA's claim that only one line out of 350 pages of internal histories can be released under the Freedom of Information Act without damaging U.S. national security.

The histories cover CIA operations in Italy in 1948 and in Iran in 1953, two subjects that CIA directors Robert Gates, James Woolsey, and John Deutch all specifically identified as priorities for CIA declassification and promised the release of documents. But when the National Security Archive, the George Polk Award-winning research institute at George Washington University, filed Freedom of Information requests for the histories in 1998, the CIA refused to release the documents...

The CIA submitted a sworn affidavit to the court last August, written by the chief information officer in the CIA Directorate of Operations, William McNair, claiming that only one line of the histories [a line previously included in a memoir by a former CIA officer] could be released...

Archive director Tom Blanton said, "The CIA's Directorate of Operations seems to have no clue how badly it damages U.S. national security to make ludicrous secrecy claims like these. The CIA is not only wasting taxpayers' money to cover up public information, it is actively discrediting the whole secrecy system." Archive.

Relevant: 2019: Operation Gladio: The unholy alliance between the Vatican, CIA and the Mafia. 2022: Dirty money: Meet the US agent driving the CIA-led riots in Iran. 2022: Operation Gladio: The CIA's Clandestine Network in Italy. 2023: CIA admits 1953 Iranian coup it backed was undemocratic.

Aug 3 2000 Bill goes ballistic: Microsoft boss says govt case is a conspiracy

"Is Bill Gates losing it?"

For the first time, the usually low-key Gates has lashed out publicly at 'conspiracies,' calling the government "worse than dumb" and showing some agitated mood swings few have seen. Pressures have been mounting on the chief of Microsoft since a court ordered the bust-up of his company three months ago.

This as his title as the world's richest man slowly slips away – with his personal stock losing $1.2 billion a week since the start of the year for a whopping $37.5 billion setback this year.

In a free-wheeling interview, the billionaire nerd revealed a side of his personality that suggests he's suffering more than from just the stress of seeing his empire under the gun." Archive.

OzCW: Regrettably, try as we might, looking long and hard, we could not find a copy of that redherring.com interview Bill Gates Unplugged anywhere.

Aug 3 2000 PwC lodges appeal against watchdog findings on Barings

“PricewaterhouseCoopers has lodged an appeal against the findings of the profession’s senior watchdog on Coopers & Lybrand’s role as auditor of Barings Bank, which collapsed after #860m of unauthorised transactions by rogue trader Nick Leeson.

The Joint Disciplinary Scheme confirmed this week it had received notice of the appeal but would not comment further.

Members of an independent Joint Disciplinary Tribunal had considered complaints against Coopers and two of its partners, Gareth Davies and Andrew Turner.

PwC, formed by the merger of Coopers and Price Waterhouse, also declined to comment.

PwC also faces a court action next year bought by liquidator Ernst & Young on behalf of Barings’ creditors.” Archive.

Relevant: 2002: I should have stopped Leeson, admits Barings director. 2022: Who is Nick Leeson?

2014: Funding Rape, Kidnapping, Beheading, and Genocide: Price Waterhouse Coopers Fined $25 M for Terrorist-State Money Laundering. 2016: #LuxLeaks: PwC whistleblowers hope to overturn convictions.

2023: ‘Disgraceful breach of trust’: how PwC, one of the world’s biggest accountancy firms, became mired in a tax scandal.

Aug 3 2000 Gordon and Sarah wed at home

OzCW: Even back in 2000, Sarah looked like a fake “beard” wife for Gordon. It seemed there was no chemistry between them. We had not yet heard the Blair–Brown paedophile allegations which started surfacing in 2003.

“Chancellor Gordon Brown and his long-time girlfriend Sarah Macaulay have been married in a private family service.

The pair wed at Mr Brown's home in North Queensferry, in Fife, in a ceremony conducted by a Church of Scotland minister. Mr Brown's brother John acted as best man.

Afterwards, the couple kissed in the garden in front of a battery of television cameras and press photographers.” Archive.

Relevant: 2010: UK government ring allegations. 2010: Brown the bully. Archive1. Archive2.

Aug 4 2000 Supermarkets – do we need them?

“Essential time-savers for a modern world or responsible for the destruction of urban and rural communities? William Moyes, Director general of The British Retail Consortium debates with campaigner Caroline Cranbrook...

Please remember that there are consumers who exist beyond the rosy glow of the supermarket - those who have no car, who are not on the internet, who live in a cash economy, whose shopping budgets are too small to qualify for home deliveries, who need their local shop for social contact and conversation. And don't forget the local food producers. Virtually all food production starts small-scale and depends on small retail outlets.

In east Suffolk, following the threat of a superstore, I surveyed 81 food shops and discovered they were sourcing food from 295 local producers. When superstores open, small shops close. Small shops, farms and food businesses are interdependent, providing employment and consumer choice. They are the basis of the rural economy. The way forward is to ensure we have the framework in place that enables the supermarkets to co-exist with the parallel integrated local economy, rather than compete with it until it is destroyed.

Yours sincerely,

[Lady] Caroline Cranbrook Campaigner” Archive.

We fondly remember our once-thriving, once-bustling high streets.
Supermarkets are just one reason they were destroyed.

In 2024, the deputy leader of the Labour Party Angela Rayner has promised to get high streets going again. If this is possible, then we as conspiracy theorists believe this may be about the idea of “creative destruction” i.e. destroying something to replace it, thus furthering an agenda e.g. Klaus Schwab’s 2020 Build Back Better.

So what will Labour's new high streets look like, Angela? 15-minute cities? Full-on ULEZ biometrics, facial recognition and lasers? Let's have some BRING Back Better instead.

Aug 4 2000 Sexuality and Family in the US Political Spotlight

"When Sen. Barry Goldwater, dubbed "Mr. Conservative," learned that his grandson and grandniece were gay, he worked for new laws that would protect their civil rights. When Newt Gingrich became speaker of the House, and his lesbian half-sister, Candace, became a gay activist, he took a more neutral stance. "It's a free country," he told the press. State Sen. William "Pete" Knight has been estranged from his son since learning four years ago he is gay.

And now, Dick and Lynne Cheney are faced with their decision, how to handle in public what is essentially a private matter: the sexual orientation of their daughter, Mary." Archive.

Aug 4 2000 VIDEO: The Queen Mother's 100th Birthday

Relevant: 2000: What the world papers said about the Queen Mother's 100th birthday..

"As the celebrations suggest, the "Queen Mum" is a revered figure for millions of Britons, particularly those old enough to remember the stalwart, stiff-upper-lip posture she and her husband, King George VI, demonstrated during the horrendous Nazi blitz of 1940 and 1941... Yet the reaction to this 100th birthday has been surprisingly mixed, with many taking the occasion to denounce the Queen Mother, her family and the whole concept of inherited monarchy. She maintains a full time staff of 50 and regularly exceeds her million-dollar-a-year government allowance but manages to make people smile indulgently about it... In 100 years, she has never been known to wash a dish, make a bed or draw a curtain."

Relevant: 2015: Queen Mother and Queen of England give Nazi salute in 1933 video.

2023: Adrenochrome: The Underground Drug Fueling the Rich and Powerful's Insatiable Desire for Eternal Youth!

Aug 5 2000 News of the World Surrenders - and About Time, Too

“Every reporter knows, or ought to know, that bad journalism has serious consequences. This basic fact of our trade, drummed into every young reporter, appears to have eluded Rebekah Wade [Brooks], editor of the News of the World. It has taken two weeks of attacks on the innocent, disappearing paedophiles, and finally a major riot, to convince Ms Wade that she may, after all, have been wrong to publish the names and photographs of convicted child-sex offenders. The police, the probation service, virtually every child protection agency – even PressWise – warned her this would happen. Now, finally, she has got the message.

With becoming modesty, Ms Wade has declined to appear in person to explain why the campaign has been abandoned [and why it was ever started in the first place]. Instead, she has left that humiliating task to lesser executives in the NoW hierarchy.” Archive.

Aug 6 2000 The story of Megan’s law

“American parents - unlike their UK counterparts - have access to information on paedophiles living in their local area under legislation known as Megan's Law.

The law - which was signed by President Bill Clinton four years ago and has been adopted in some form by all 50 states - arose from the rape and murder of seven-year-old Megan Kanka.

She was killed by Jesse Timmendequas, a known child molester with two previous convictions for sexual offences, who had moved across the street from her family without their knowledge.

This caused outrage in the US and Megan's mother campaigned for a change in the law to give parents access to information on paedophiles in their area.” Archive.

Aug 6 2000 Gay daughter poses dilemma for Cheney

“Lifestyle puts candidate's struggle with GOP family values in spotlight

Sen Sen. Barry Goldwater, dubbed "Mr. Conservative," learned that his grandson and grandniece were gay, he worked for new laws that would protect their civil rights.

When Newt Gingrich became speaker of the House, and his lesbian half-sister, Candace, became a gay activist, he took a more neutral stance. "It's a free country," he told the media.

California state Sen. William "Pete" Knight has been estranged from his son since learning four years ago he is gay.

And now, Dick and Lynne Cheney are faced with their decision, how to handle in public what is essentially a private matter: the sexual orientation of their daughter, Mary.

It would seem a peripheral issue in today's America, which in many ways is more accepting of diversity. But it is also an interesting sidelight of the presidential campaign - a barometer of our shifting cultural map." Archive.

Relevant: 2009: Mary Cheney Played Diva to the Secret Service. 2023: The True Story Behind the Cheney Family Feud Over Gay Marriage and Cheney's Gay Daughter.

Aug 7 2000 Justin Trudeau returns to site of brother's death

"Justin Trudeau paid an emotional return visit to the site of his youngest brother's fatal avalanche accident yesterday and held out hope that his aging father, former prime minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau, might be hearty enough to journey there next year...

Justin Trudeau said he intends to continue living and teaching at a private school in Vancouver for at least another year. He has no plans to enter politics.

"I'm a teacher, and I believe in making a difference. If I ever felt that could be done in politics, I might end up there. But it's not something I'm making any plans around."

Since his father's retirement as prime minister, in 1984, Justin Trudeau has kept a low profile, away from the limelight. He admitted that the new, higher profile thrust on him by the fundraising campaign is a departure.

"If the tragedy hadn't happened, it's unlikely I'd be doing anything like this. There's no real point to being in the limelight," Justin Trudeau said." Archive.

OzCW: We did not know back then that Justin Trudeau would end up PM of Canada or that as a schoolteacher he was molesting a pupil. We had, however, read Cathy O'Brien's allegations about his father Pierre.

Relevant: 2022: Justin Trudeau paedophile. 2023: Of flagrance and fellatios: Trudeau's dark stint as a school teacher. Archive.

Aug 7 2000 Shadowlands sea serpent page

"In 1865 a giant lion's mane jellyfish was found in the Massachusetts Bay. The bell was 7 1/2 feet and it's tentacles measured 120 feet long and a width of 245 ft.. In 1973, the Kuranda, collided with a giant jellyfish that was estimated to have weighed 20 tons. The Captain of the Kuranda, Langley Smith, estimated the tentacles length to be over 200 ft long. With the aid of another ship, the giant jellyfish was forced off the front of the ship. A sample of the slime left behind was analyzed and found to be from a lion's mane jellyfish. One crew members died during this encounter after being stung by the creature. In 1969 2 divers encountered a jellyfish that they claimed was 150 to 200 ft in diameter. There also have been reports of giant jellyfish attacking small boats and pursuing divers." Archive.

Aug 8 2000 Email: Subject: Re: Observer Front Page: Police to track mobile phone users

OzCW: This is an email from a journalist who attended the 2000 G8 summit and is writing to a campaigner to protest its lack of transparency.

"The Paris G8 summit was a grave disappointment if we want to consider it as 'public'... Attendees? Industry and government. That was all. That was the mandate; when I protested to my own delegation [I managed to squeeze myself in to another country's delegation] about the lack of the 'other', I was quickly quietened down by a response: "This is the first time we have actually invited outside people, and it was decided to be industry..."

Companies were there; yes. Many of the big names, plus some of the smaller names, and industry groups were present ...The IETF did have representation, and discussed the wiretapping protocol proposal, amongst many other interesting issues. The rest were industry and government.

Most alarming was the lack of checks and balances that the 'other' would provide. The most appalling display was that of Gemplus, invited [and subsidised, I believe] by the French government. The Gemplus representative was shamelessly selling smartcards as the solution to all problems -- even Viruses! [as were many of the other companies promising privacy and individual protections...

The UK delegation was a bunch of familiar faces [Thus, LINX, Home Office, DTI], while some, on their badges, had their names and then just the association of "Law Enforcement" -- no expansion on that...

Even more appalling was the treatment of the press. Gemplus was even included in the press conference afterwards [the only real interaction with the press that occurred at the last session of the conference]; and was again shamelessly plugging smartcards as the grand solution to everything.”

Relevant: May 18 2000: G8 agree to cooperate on cybercrime

Key themes to G8 Summit Okinawa 2000

“Okinawa 2000

Health is key to prosperity. This was the theme of the G8 summit in Okinawa in 2000. The fight against infectious diseases became a highlight of the Japanese presidency. The member states committed themselves to extensive cooperation with the WHO, pharmaceutical companies and research institutes.

In doing this, the G8 sought to achieve three key UN targets: to reduce the number of HIV infections among young people by 25 per cent by 2010, and to reduce deaths from TB and the burden of Malaria by 50 per cent by the same year.

The G8 undertook to provide increased financial aid and also convened a special conference – “a quantum leap” in the history of the Group.

It was this initiative that led to the establishment of the Global Health Fund. The G8 have now made 1.4 billion US dollars available to fight disease.” Archive.

O2CW: Here was the Medical Industrial Complex being constructed in plain sight in preparation for 2020 – we were just not encouraged to look.

Aug 8 2000 Why I love Britney

“Is it Britney Spears herself, or the way she seems not to get it? Or is it the wink-wink way in which she appears to be a complete constructor of her own sexiness, feigning innocence? For that matter, is innocence subversive?”

We went through the light-of-my-life and fire-of-my-loins of Lolita so many years ago that by 1980 the Police could reference Nabokov in Don't Stand so Close to Me with casual knowingness. Just the same, in the United States you can buy a porn magazine called Barely Legal and a teenage pop star's career can still be built on her accidental sexuality. Of course, Humbert Humbert's fantasy about Lolita was predicated on the idea that she is unaware of "her own lusciousness, that as a nymphet she is almost grubby and boyish". But later in the book, Lolita - or rather, Dolores - takes the sexual power that Humbert has assigned her and turns it against both of them. By the end, she is a tawdry housewife, and her seducer and tormentor is a ruined man. Lolita did not age very well; awareness destroyed her just as Adam and Eve's eating from the Tree of Knowledge got them expelled from the Garden of Eden. How long can Britney Spears linger in paradise before all of us notice that her eyes were wide shut all along?" Archive.

O2CW: Could the above article be referencing Eyes Wide Shut? It references Lolita. It was written for the Guardian by Elizabeth Wurtzel [d. 2020], who had written about her depression in Prozac Nation [1994] and wrote a series of books on the cultural themes of the times. Prozac was a theme.

Another strong cultural theme was use of the drug ecstasy, as described in this article from 2000.

Aug 8 2000 PDF: US Secret Government-sponsored Research in Psychoenergetics

[This is a protected PDF: if you're interested, we advise downloading it.]

Relevant: 2000: CIA/DOD Psychoenergetics Program. 2018: Psychoenergetics.

Aug 8 2000 Top S.F. Prosecutor Kamala Harris Quits D.A.'s Office

"One of the top prosecutors who led a failed revolt in San Francisco District Attorney Terence Hallinan's office resigned yesterday, saying she was saddened and disenchanted by Hallinan's administration.

"I've become disillusioned and disappointed with the top leadership of the district attorney's office," said Kamala Harris, who is among a small exodus of prosecutors angered by the management style of Hallinan's second in command, Darrell Salomon.

"Based on my number of years as a prosecutor, the bulk of which came in a very well-managed district attorney's office in Alameda County, I thought I would be able to come to San Francisco and add value to the work of the office," said Harris, a 10-year prosecutor who headed the career criminal prosecution unit for Hallinan.

"Instead, I have come to experience, or find, that the top leadership is dysfunctional," Harris said. "There is a very low level of morale, especially among the experienced prosecutors in the office.""
Archive.

Relevant: Aug 22 2000 Hallinan's Controversial Top Aide Quits in S.F. / D.A.'s office thrown into turmoil during 7-month tenure. Archive.

Aug 9 2000 William Hague: I drank 14 pints of beer a day

"The Tory party leader, William Hague, will tomorrow use an interview with a glossy men's magazine to launch the boldest reworking yet of his personal profile.

"We used to have a pint at every stop and we used to have about 10 stops a day," he said. "You worked hard so you didn't feel you'd drunk 10 pints by four o'clock - you used to sweat so much."

And the day's drinking did not stop there, he explained. "Then [we would] go home for tea and then go out in the evening to the pub. I think when you're a teenager you can do that."

Yesterday people in Mr Hague's home town of Rotherham met this revised personal history with scepticism.

David Hargreaves, 54, a drinker in the nearby County Borough hotel, said: "I think his memory might have got confused by a couple of sherries. The Hague family have always been famous round here for soft drinks not the hard stuff."

But Mr Hague insisted most of his teenage holidays were spent loafing in bars rather than poring over Hansard, as previously claimed..." Archive.

Relevant: 2010: William Hague denies gay affair rumours as aide quits. 2014: William Hague rejects Iraq 'abuse' complaint to ICC.

2015: Hague faces cover-up row over Thatcher ally's link to care home abuse scandal: Former foreign secretary said to have been made aware of Sir Peter Morrison's connections while working as Welsh secretary. 2016: 'THE THREE ARE IN CAHOOTS' British 'witches' accused of getting involved in divorce

'war' and driving a wedge between Brad Pitt and Angelina Jolie - Baroness Arminka Helic and former William Hague adviser Chloe Dalton got between Brangelina's marriage last year, The Sun has learned.

Also see 2016 FOIA refused by Cabinet Office listing Hague's name.

Aug 10 2000 Farmyard and teen hardcore porn found on White House system: Suicide threat if names leaked

"Massive porn files, featuring teen and farmyard hardcore porn, have been found on the White House computer system.

A consultant came across the real-time video files after being hired to tighten up Web security as part of the US government's Y2K upgrades. The hardcore porn files were so big in byte size that they accounted for most of the traffic coming into the White House computer system's Internet firewall, according to WorldNetDaily.com.

"There were things that said 'teen," one White House computer expert, who was not named, told the news service. "There was gay and bestiality stuff too."

When probed on this, he explained: "Donkeys, goats, dogs...It's embarrassing." Archive.

Aug 10 2000 US judge backs porn: Everyone should be allowed to catch a bit of flesh

"A Virginia judge has blocked enforcement of a federal law which places restrictive Internet laws on pornography and sex-related content, saying that it breaks the US' First Amendment.

The People for the American, backed by 16 "Internet businesses", filed a lawsuit against the 1998 Child Online Protection Act, which requires commercial Web sites to get proof of a user's age before allowing access to a site. While the Act was passed in good faith, Judge James H Michael Jr accepted the argument that it was impractical.

The law makes it a crime to sell, rent or lend sexually explicit photos or stories to juveniles and forms part of a nationwide movement to protect kids at the expense of everyone else. A lawyer made the case that the law is also vague on what would be deemed offensive - sex education stuff and art materials could easily be interpreted as being too adult for children.

Backing the lawsuit, the Judge produced a whopping 31-page piece on his decision." Archive.

Aug 10 2000 Anti-paedophile protest halted – for now

“London: More than 150 anti-paedophile campaigners in Portsmouth, England have called off their protest while they hold discussions with civic chiefs and police.

Meanwhile, a Belgian newspaper, L'investigateur, is reportedly following the lead of the British paper that sparked the protests, by naming alleged paedophiles. But a judge in Belgium has threatened the editor, Jean Nicolas, with a fine of $20,000 if he ignores a court injunction not to do so.

For a week protesters have demonstrated in the streets demanding alleged child sex offenders be moved away from their estate in the Paulsgrove area of the southern city.

Children have paraded in polo shirts carrying the legend: "Keep Us Safe" and "Protect Me," while others have carried placards with the slogan: "Kill The Paedophiles." Archive.

Aug 10 2000 Start-up of CERN's new anti-matter factory

“Geneva, 10 August 2000. CERN1's unique new antimatter factory, the Antiproton Decelerator [AD] has begun delivering antiprotons to experiments. These experiments will study antimatter in depth to determine if there is a difference between it and ordinary matter.

Any difference between antimatter and matter would be extremely interesting since it is not yet understood why the universe is made of matter. Physicists believe that the Big Bang created equal amounts of antimatter and matter, which would then have annihilated, leaving nothing. The great mystery is why there was enough matter left over to form the universe.” Archive.

O2CW: As lay people, what kind of a clue would we have had [or still have] about what's going on at CERN? We had not yet seen the alleged 2016 Satanic ritual held at the Large Hadron Collider or the creepy Satanic Gothard Tunnel opening ceremony/ritual attended by world leaders.

Is CERN the ultimate false flag? Whatever, it's real, big and expensive and there are quite a few of them. And there are lots of SRA whistle blowers who claim to have visited CERN.

“No one knows what the thing does – no one does. Firing particles at each other at the speed of light can't end well. We [physicists] have no idea what we're doing.”

– Dr. Amit Goswami, Quantum Physicist”

Aug 11 2000 Society Pals' Falling Out Affects Newsom, Getty Families

“The big talk among San Francisco's political glitterati this summer: the split-up of toast- of-the-town buddies Billy Getty and San Francisco Supervisor Gavin Newsom.

Word is that Getty, a multimillionaire heir to the oil fortune, and Newsom, a fast-rising talent being talked up for a run for mayor, have had a bitter falling-out and have spoken only once in the past six months.

In fact, most of the talking these days is being done through lawyers.

"It's the saddest thing you've seen," says one source close to the two.

From the looks of things, money, women -- and personal jealousies -- may all be at play in the rift. But first some history.

The Getty-Newsom connection goes back to the days when Billy's father, Gordon Getty, and Gavin's father, retired state appellate Judge Bill Newsom, schooled together at Saint Ignatius. Since then, the elder Newsom has become one of the Getty family's key advisers...” Archive.

OzCW: Back in 2000, many of us would have loved to visit the magnificent Getty Museum in LA. In subsequent decades we will read rumours that the Getty family are Satanists, for example a whistleblower reported that their LA Museum is a DUMB in which child torture takes place and a survivor backs this up [29:15 in video].

The family's reputation has not been helped by its occult associations including August Getty's bizarre costumes and "Project Monarch" pyjamas.

Gavin Newsom [whose name most of us would not have known back then] has been a controversial political figure. In 2021 he was accused of conspiring to destroy the US with a cabal of families, which included the Gettys. Archive. Having supported abortion and a Satanist fashion designer in 2022 Newsom was described as a "cult-owned" psychopath.

Aug 13 2000 Global Warming is a Scam and I Won't Fret or Sweat About it

"Watch out. A new Ice Age is coming. The New York Times has reported that the temperature near the surface of the Southern Hemisphere, as measured by satellites, has averaged below normal in the Southern Hemisphere for the 16th consecutive month.

That's not all, folks. Some parts of the Northeast had the coolest July in 100 years, and Cold Harbor, Alaska [my nominee for the most appropriately named city], just had the coldest winter since 1940, when records began to be kept. The glaciers are coming.

All of the above, except for the part about the glaciers, is true. [The part about the glaciers could be true, but if it is, I don't know it.] I'm just trying to even out the hysteria. If the global-warming [read that socialist, anti-energy] types can wax hysterical about a few heat waves, then I thought I would balance that with a little fear-mongering about cold snaps." Archive.

Aug 13 2000 Name and Shame Victims to Sue

"Innocent victims singled out by vigilante mobs in search of paedophiles to attack and harass are to begin legal proceedings against the News of the World.

Three men who were subjected to vicious attacks by anti-paedophile demonstrators told the Independent on Sunday that they had taken legal advice and intended to seek "significant compensation" from the newspaper.

Last night libel specialist Amber Melville-Brown, head of defamation at London solicitors Finers Stephens Innocent, said the men were clearly entitled to damages.

"They will be able to show that the mob looked at the pictures and identified them, however wrongly, from the paper," she said. "There is no doubt that this is defamation because they have been shunned by the public as a result. The paper should have carefully identified specific individuals so there was no confusion."" Archive.

Relevant: 2000: Paediatrician harassed in spelling mistake.

OzCW: In our opinion, Rebekah Brooks ran Murdoch's News of the World's "name and shame" campaign to protect paedophiles. Like lots of [some potentially paedophiles themselves] the general public can come out to form a baying mob, which can then be loudly discredited in the msm.

Acts of extremism can then be committed by agent provocateurs. Responsible citizens will be put off or bored by the issue. People can be falsely accused and outraged...there are all sorts of "benefits" to be had from such a "campaign."

Aug 14 2000 A fisherman's tale of greed and folly – the barren seas Special report: Global fishing in crisis

"World fish stocks are seriously depleted. More and more vessels are chasing fewer and fewer fish, and prices are soaring. Attempts to control overfishing and save the industry from collapse have failed for 30 years. Over the next three days Guardian reporters assess the crisis and ask what can be done. Hundreds of thousands of people once dependent on the fishing industry are looking for work and many more are struggling to replace once plentiful food supplies. In Britain alone, sea fishing now employs fewer than 18,000 people. Fifty years ago it was nearly 48,000.

Despite bigger boats with better technology, and fleets that are able to range over any stretch of the oceans that cover two-thirds of the planet, world fish catches are going down. Big species such as tuna and cod are disappearing, fished to virtual extinction in many places.

Two years ago the UN estimated that nearly half the world's fish stocks were fully exploited and if stocks were to have a chance of recovery one in three of the world's fishing boats would have to stop fishing. Nearly 70% of the world's stocks are in need of urgent management, the UN food and agriculture organisation said.” Archive.

Relevant: 2024: Surprising trend in global fishing industries: Study finds decline in catch per fisher since the 1990s.

Aug 14 200 Content Warning: Human mutilation photographs from Brazil

“Since I published the article Human Mutilation Victim http://www.themestream.com/gspd_browse/browse/view_article.gsp?c_id=117557 I have received 100's of emails from people asking if I had any knowledge of other Human Mutilation cases, and if possible could I publish another article and include the photos that accompanied the cases. As I have stated previously I am "not" in possession of the photographs that I was shown back in 1994.

What I offer you below is a case from Brazil where the photos were published in UFO Magazine [UK] September/October 1995 issue. Because of the graphic nature of the following photographs I feel I must again warn readers that they might find the photos and certain sections of the autopsy report disturbing, so please keep that in mind, and if you do not wish to be exposed to this material you should go no further.

The photos were presented by Brazilian Ufologist Encarnacio Zapata Garcia and Dr rubens Goes who obtained them from Brazilian police files. These depicted a mutilated corpse of an adult male. More disturbing, it was alleged that the police had intimated there may be at least a dozen more cases similar to this particular case uncovered near the Guarapiranga Reservoir, Brazil, on 29 September 1988.” Archive.

Aug 14 2000 [Nicer non-mutilation photos from Tatler at the Oliver Krug \[champagne\] dinner including David and Samantha Cameron](#)

“Replacing the traditional annual bunfight for 450, Olivier Krug, head of the sixth generation of the champagne dynasty, rang the changes with a more intimate dinner for 90 at the Dorchester Club. The favoured few were treated to no fewer than three different vintages of the nectareal liquid, which most managed to sip effortlessly, though one guest was heard to request a glass of red wine, much to the sommelier's horror. To match the mature champagne on offer, grown-up hairdos and OTT jewellery were the order of the day." Archive.

Aug 14 2000 Murdoch buys Chris-Craft: News Corp. pays $5.4B for TV-station owner after Viacom drops out

"News Corp., the Australian owner of the Fox television network, grabbed an unparalleled leadership position in the two largest U.S. television markets Monday, agreeing to buy Chris-Craft Industries Inc. and its 10 television stations for nearly $5.4 billion in cash and stock.

The deal gives News Corp. [NWS: Research, Estimates], owned and controlled by media mogul Rupert Murdoch, control of 13 television stations in the nation's top 10 television markets, including a duopoly -- or two stations -- in the top two markets, New York City and Los Angeles.

The agreement would provide the company, through its subsidiary Fox Entertainment Group, unprecedented leverage for programming and media advertising in those markets, particularly in Los Angeles, where it would own two broadcast stations and two sports networks." Archive.

Relevant: 2011: Murdoch's Other Moral Crimes. 2014: The Secret History of Rupert Murdoch: CIA/Mafia Drug & Murder Ties, Cover-Ups in Australia.

2019: Darker Than Any 'Succession' Plot: The Murdoch Kidnap Tragedy

2023: Global elite Rupert Murdoch fakes "resignation" from Fox and News Corp boards to avoid financial liability for his crimes.

Aug 14 2000 Eisenhower ordered Congo killing

"The revelation that President Dwight Eisenhower ordered the CIA to "eliminate" Patrice Lumumba, the first prime minister of Congo and a celebrated African freedom martyr, has again turned the spotlight on a country that, 40 years after independence, remains the world's biggest and most anarchic battleground.

Police officers from Belgium, the former colonial power, are understood to have overseen the killing of 35-year-old Lumumba on 17 January 1961. But the evidence that Eisenhower told the Central Intelligence Agency to kill the radical liberation politician confirms that the West could not tolerate a major African country potentially being led by a man seen to have Soviet leanings.

Instead, in one of the most blatant examples of a former colony being prevented from managing its own independence, the West supported the brutal and corrupt dictator Mobutu Sese Seko until he was ousted by rebel leader Laurent Kabila in 1997.” Archive.

Relevant: 2017: Eisenhower’s death camps. 2024: Eisenhower’s hideous crimes.

Aug 15 2000 Wackenhut Wracked By Sexual Abuse Scandals

“After a decade as a leading operator of corporate-owned prisons, Wackenhut Corrections has become a prisoner of its own problems.

In New Mexico, a 500-page legislative report written by five consultants calls for a near-total overhaul of state prison operations, including two run by Wackenhut. After an August 31, 1999, riot that left a prisoner and guard dead [see PLN Dec. 1999], Wackenhut was faulted for having inadequate and ill-prepared staff earning Wal-Mart wages. Four prisoners have died in Wackenhut prisons in Santa Rosa and Hobbs since their opening in 1998. Three were stabbed to death, and one fatally pummeled with a laundry bag containing two rocks. But it was the murder of guard Ralph Garcia last August 31 at the Santa Rosa prison that put Wackenhut on the hot seat...

But the biggest of Wackenhut's scandals has occurred in Texas where Wackenhut was stripped of a $12 million-a-year contract in September 1999, and fined $625,000 for failing to live up to promises in the running of a state jail. Twelve former guards were indicted for having sex with female prisoners. Civil lawsuits were brought by women who claimed they had been raped in three Wackenhut prisons in Texas. Allegations of poorly staffed prisons and rampant sex behind bars have Wackenhut on the defensive.” Archive.

Relevant: An Octopus Named Wackenhut.

Aug 15 2000 Savile confronts modern art

“Veteran entertainer Sir Jimmy Savile came face to face with a lifesize scarecrow model of himself at a new art exhibition.

Sir Jimmy, who was visiting the Tate Britain gallery in London for the first time, said he was flattered by the exhibit, entitled The Jimmy Savile Scarecrow.

*"I've been scaring the birds away for years. I hope my namesake has more luck," he quipped.
"Generally, I'm not very interested in art unless it lives, breathes and wears a short leather skirt."
Archive.*

Aug 15 2000 Diana's Mystery Man

"Hasnat Khan has never been one to follow his own advice. As a heart surgeon he tells his patients to stay away from greasy foods, do lots of exercise and keep healthy. As an individual he eats takeaways, smokes heavily and drinks a lot of coffee. Those who know him say he is a quiet, shy man who likes to keep himself to himself. In 1995 he started dating the most famous, least private individual in the world - the Princess of Wales.

But while Diana's ill-fated escape from the long lens and tabloid obsession has at least saved her from the pain of further intrusion, Khan has lived on as one of the few remaining people in her life around whom some mystery remained.

Until now, at least. For just when we thought there could not possibly be anything more to reveal, yet another branch of the Diana memorial industry has emerged with news that Hasnat was not just the man she loved, but the man she intended to marry." Archive.

Aug 16 2000 UK Closer to Cloning Humans?

"A panel of experts urged the government to allow human cloning for scientific study of transplants, a recommendation that, if approved, would make Britain the first country in the world to authorize human cloning for any purpose.

In calling for Britain to amend its ban on human cloning, the government-commissioned panel said scientists should be allowed to create cloned embryos to study the manufacture of cells and tissues for transplant.

The government accepted the panel's recommendation, led by Britain's chief medical officer, and said it would initiate legislation to implement it as soon as possible...

"We're talking about research at this stage, not treatment," cautioned Dr. Liam Donaldson, Britain's chief medical officer." Archive.

Relevant: 2001: US clones first human embryo Archive. 2018: Pet cloning Archive. 2024: Human cloning is more advanced than we know.

16 Aug 2000 The scandal of the Erika

“At an Athens party for the movers and shakers in world shipping the drinks flow freely. Life is good. But the industry funding this champagne lifestyle is coming under increasing scrutiny following one of Europe's worst environmental disasters.

Correspondent has investigated the sinking of the oil tanker, Erika, off the west coast of France last December and has discovered a murky world where profit rules over safety and blame shifts like the sand on Brittany's beaches.

On December 8th last year the 37,000 ton tanker, the Erika, left Dunkirk and sailed down the Channel bound for Italy with a cargo of heavy fuel oil. Erika was an old vessel reaching the end of her shelf life. As befitted her age she was a "bargain basement charter" working for half the price of a safe modern tanker. The Erika never made her final destination.

As the vessel entered the Bay of Biscay, she ran into a heavy storm. Oil tankers are built to withstand such conditions but the Erika encountered difficulties. The storm worsened and by mid afternoon on December 11th , she started to list to starboard by 10-12 degrees. In mountainous seas the ship's hull was cracking and water was being taken onboard. In the hours that followed Captain Karun Mathur slowly lost control and the vessel began to un-peel like a sardine tin.” Archive.

Relevant: 2019: The Sinking of the Erika 20 Years Later.

Aug 17 2000 US dispute over definition of animal distress

“Changes to animal welfare rules proposed by the US Department of Agriculture [USDA] have been met with concern from a group of US researchers. The scientists last week urged the agency to replace its current working definition of distress in laboratory animals, which they describe as “subjective” and “unenforceable”.

The researchers had taken part in a workshop held by the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology [FASEB] to set a policy agenda on animal welfare. The meeting followed a call from USDA in July for comments on proposed rules for classifying animal pain and distress in the laboratory.

USDA is seeking suggestions for an official definition of ‘distress’. It has also outlined alternative ways to measure pain and distress in animals. One idea is a three-tier classification of procedures — none/mild, moderate, severe — based on the level of pain experienced by the animal over the whole trial.

This categorization is similar to systems used in countries such as Canada and Switzerland. But many researchers would prefer a method, based on the current rules, that focuses on whether or not analgesic or anaesthetic drugs are used to alleviate pain during a particular period of the trial...
Archive.

Aug 17 2000 From the Internet Archive: The Men Who Run The World

Endtime Prophecy Magazine:

"For the mystery of iniquity doth already work..." II Thessalonians 2:7 by Irvin Baxter Jr.

Remember those heady six years when Mikhail Gorbachev dominated world events so completely that Ted Turner said he was the greatest world leader in the last 2,000 years? The Velvet Revolution, the fall of the Berlin Wall, the end of the Cold War, the birth of the New World Order, a Nobel Peace Prize and the dissolution of the Soviet Union all occurred in such rapid succession that it almost took our breath away.

Then suddenly he was gone. Did he just burn himself out? Does such a dynamic leader become content to just fade into the pages of history? Or has he perhaps found other ways to pursue the lofty goals of his much-vaunted New World Order?

Gorbachev left the Soviet Union in 1991. He immediately, as though it had already been planned, launched the Gorbachev Fund. He described the Fund as a think-tank whose purpose was to explore the path that global governance should take as mankind progressed into the interdependent global society.

Working with Maurice Strong, General-Secretary of the highly publicized Earth Summit of 1992, Gorbachev founded an international environmental organization called Green Cross International. He also managed to be named president of this new organization. Since that time, environmental issues have asserted their dominance over every business, building project, military activity and individual life." Archive.

Aug 17 2000 Reasons to Disclose

"In a June 14 Alien Zoo column the question was asked, "What does the 'politics of UFOs' mean?" The answer: making the case to the general public why their personal vital interests and their nation's vital interests are served by a comprehensive and truthful disclosure of the facts known to their government relating to the extraterrestrial presence. Events intervened delaying a follow-up column making that case, until now.

Let's take a closer look at some of the reasons why formal disclosure of the extraterrestrial presence needs to occur at this time. You will probably not read here anything that has not been written somewhere else, but there is a power to gathering them in one place. So, the reasons to disclose: It's True.

Sometimes historical events are built on lies. That doesn't mean the events were not powerful or dramatic. In such an instance activists might still pursue issues with vigor and well meaning ardor. It does mean the outcomes were tainted, possibly destructive, and certainly confusing. Activism for the sake of activism is no virtue. The well-being of people, nations and the planet is best served by events built on truth." Archive.

Aug 18 2000 Newt Gingrich and Callista Bisek married

"In August 2000, Gingrich [who had resigned a Speaker of the House] married Callista Bisek four months after his divorce from Marianne was finalized.[208] He and Callista live in McLean, Virginia. In a 2011 interview with David Brody of the Christian Broadcasting Network, Gingrich addressed his past infidelities by saying, "There's no question at times in my life, partially driven by how passionately I felt about this country, that I worked too hard and things happened in my life that were not appropriate." In December 2011, after the group Iowans for Christian Leaders in Government requested that he sign their so-called "Marriage Vow", Gingrich sent a lengthy written response. It included his pledge to "uphold personal fidelity to my spouse". Archive.

Relevant: 2000: Interview: Gingrich Discusses Past, Future. Archive, 2000: Burning Down the House: Newt Gingrich, the Fall of a Speaker, and the Rise of the New Republican Party. 2011: Newt Gingrich's Congressional Ethics Scandal Explained.

2023: Gingrich Makes Bombshell Allegation About Latest Trump Indictment.

Aug 20 2000 First ice-free North Pole in 50m years

“The icecap at the North Pole has turned to water for the first time in 50 million years. Scientists aboard a Russian icebreaker have discovered an ice-free patch of water a mile wide at the top of the world.

It is the first time humans have seen water at the pole, and it is the most dramatic evidence yet of the impact that global warming is having. Satellite studies have shown that the ice pack is more than 40 per cent thinner than it was 50 years ago. The last time the pole was awash with water was during the Eocene period, 55 million years ago, when the world's climate grew significantly warmer.

'It was totally unexpected' said Dr James McCarthy, director of the Museum of Comparative Zoology at Harvard University and co-leader of a group working for the UN-sponsored Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change. McCarthy was the lecturer aboard a tourist cruise to the North Pole on the Russian ice-breaker Yamal.” Archive.

Relevant: 2017: Nine Years Ago Today Al Gore Said North Pole Would Be ‘Completely Ice Free’. 2024: North Pole Camp Returns

Aug 20 2000 Pros and Cons: Behind the raid on the model prison, Blantyre House, lies a tale of Home Office mendacity

“At about nine o'clock on the evening of Friday 5 May, Blantyre House jail near Goudhurst in Kent was stormed by 80 prison officers dressed to the nines and ready for a riot...

the Home Counties Swat team moved in. 'They were completely up for it,' said Paul Collins, a Blantyre prisoner at the time. 'They charged into the rooms shouting, "F-ing get out of your cell you c-!"

The deal was straight-forward. Prisoners could prepare for law-abiding lives by leaving the jail on day-release to work or study. They could buy second-hand cars to get to their factories and open bank accounts for their wages. If, however, they even thought of stepping out of line, they would lose all privileges and be banged up again...

Three months on and no one has been charged. No officer or governor has been disciplined.

...But last Sunday we reported that Blair will be pumping public money to lightly regulated and rather dubious private hospitals, including a chain owned by HCA, a US company which is being fined hundreds of millions of dollars for an enormous fraud on the American taxpayer...

Meanwhile, the Government's private finance initiative is wrecking the NHS. The initiative is a dodge to avoid raising taxes by mortgaging the future. Instead of paying for a new hospital up front out of taxation [price circa £180 million], the Treasury allows a corporate consortium to receive fees for building and administering a hospital over 30 years or more [price circa £900 million at today's prices].

Relevant: 2019: The notorious past of Blantyre House prison in Goudhurst which is set for closure.

Aug 22 2000 11-Year-Old British Actor To Play Potter

"In addition to Radcliffe, as Harry, two other Harry Potter cast members were named yesterday. Rupert Grint, 11, will play Harry's friend Ron Weasley, and Emma Watson, 10, will be Hermione Granger. The two, also British, will make their screen debut with the film, being directed by San Francisco-based Chris Columbus ["Bicentennial Man," "Mrs. Doubtfire"].

"Harry Potter and the Sorcerer's Stone" is scheduled for release on Nov. 16, 2001 [it was originally slated for next summer]." Archive.

Aug 22 2000 Animal rights groups to boycott Ribena

"Animal rights campaigners are drawing up plans to urge a consumer boycott of Ribena and Lucozade in their campaign against Huntingdon Life Sciences, Europe's largest vivisection laboratory.

Stop Huntingdon Animal Cruelty [SHAC], a pressure group locked in a bitter struggle with Huntingdon, says it wants shoppers to know that SmithKline Beecham, which makes the branded drinks, tests some of its other products at Huntingdon's facilities.

The tactic marks a departure for the campaigners, who have previously targeted Huntingdon's staff, its shareholders and the Cambridgeshire-based company's bankers.

Earlier this year, the campaign prompted the Labour Party pension fund and other fund managers to sell their shares in the group, helping to undermine its share price. Huntingdon's bankers, the Royal Bank of Scotland, recently opted not to extend the company's £22.5m overdraft facility after a series of demonstrations at its branches." Archive.

Aug 21 2000 Shayler arrested on return home

"Renegade former M15 officer David Shayler was arrested at Dover port immediately after his arrival in Britain at 11 o'clock this morning.

Uniformed officers were waiting at the building as Mr Shayler arrived on a bus accompanied by his family and dozens of photographers and journalists.

Mr Shayler fled to France in 1997 after claiming two MI6 officers, who he believes should be tried for conspiracy to murder, were behind a failed attempt to assassinate Libyan leader Muammar Gadafy. It is thought he will face two charges under the Official Secrets Act for leaking information to the press, which may result in a four-year prison sentence...

Mr Shayler's return is also thought to have been encouraged by the introduction of European human rights legislation, to be incorporated into British law in October, which will provide a public interest defence for secret service "whistle-blowers".

"It certainly gives me a defence," he said. "If I was tried tomorrow without that act the judge would say that here is this man talking about secrets on television, you have to convict him."

When he became a fugitive three years ago, Shayler said he was prepared to go to jail in order to reveal what he claimed were the illegal and incompetent actions of the British security services."

Archive.

Aug 22 2000 Polygraph: Hill accuser honest – he passes test Jewish slur

"The Arkansas man who accused Hillary Rodham Clinton last month of uttering an anti-Semitic slur in 1974 has passed a lie-detector test arranged by The Post.

Paul Fray, who has charged Mrs. Clinton called him a "f- -ing Jew bastard" after Bill Clinton lost his race for Congress, cleared the polygraph exam administered Sunday near his home here.

"There's no doubt in my mind that Mr. Fray is truthful," concluded state-licensed Arkansas polygrapher Jeff Hubanks, who gave the three-hour test.

Hubanks, who has administered 400 to 500 exams, was chosen by The Post from a list of accredited polygraphers in the state.

The findings were reviewed yesterday by another polygrapher, Richard Keifer, a former head of the FBI's polygraph unit who has over 20 years of experience." Archive.

Aug 22 2000 Controversy Over Diamonds Made Into Virtue by De Beers

"A little over a year ago, De Beers, the mining colossus straddling the world's diamond trade, confronted double jeopardy. Human rights groups were accusing it of buying illicit diamonds from African rebels and rulers who used the proceeds to help pay for their wars. The essential mystique of its product, nurtured over decades of artful image-building and brawny cartel management, seemed threatened by association with these so-called blood diamonds.

At the same time, De Beers, a South African-based multinational corporation, faced a pure business challenge: the company's huge accumulation of raw gems, used to help control the supply and keep world diamond prices high, had become a costly albatross. De Beers's shrinking share of the market was making it harder to support prices by sopping up gems itself.

Then, De Beers hit upon a way to use the controversy over blood diamonds to address its commercial problems." Archive.

Aug 23 2000 TUC says law review fails to prise open corporate doors

"The Trades Union Congress yesterday called for a dilution of shareholder power as it accused the government's company law review of caving in to corporate interests.

John Monks, the TUC general secretary, said the latest revelations of unbridled boardroom pay rises showed the need for new laws to rein in "unaccountable corporate power".

He added: "Top directors have shown that they are more than prepared to suffer a few days' bad publicity in return for mega salary and bonus packages."

Mr Monks was presenting the unions' response to the government's review of company law, which will introduce the biggest shake-up in more than a century. The review has rejected calls for a "stakeholder" approach which would broaden directors' duties.

Mr Monks described the review team's report as a "cop-out" because it urged better behaviour without backing the legal changes necessary to make that happen.

"The report seems simply to have given in to vested interests."

The TUC argues that directors should have to balance the interests of all stakeholders rather than answering only to shareholders." Archive.

Aug 23 2000 Clinton's gift to Silicon Valley and China

"A little-noticed White House regulation change urged by Silicon Valley will allow the Chinese military to buy some of the most powerful U.S. computers without a government license or security review. The move, announced by President Clinton on Aug. 3 and applauded by Vice President Al Gore, is drawing fire from security experts who say the computers could help foreign militaries develop nuclear weapons more quickly, and from a congressman who charges the White House is compromising national security for political profit.

The new regulations, scheduled to take effect in February, will relax U.S. government oversight on exports of ultra-powerful high-performance computers, or HPCs, to nearly all countries around the globe." Archive.

Aug 25 2000 Welcome to Celebrity Central

"...Chris Evans, who bought a mansion in the area in January...

'We've got Ringo Starr, who has just moved into Cranleigh. Eric Clapton used to live very, very close but I think he's now moved out. Anthea Turner, of course, and Grant Bovey have just moved into Dunsfold.

"Damon Hill has just moved in with his family to Hambledon. Roger Taylor from Queen has lived at Thursley for some years, and Penelope Keith lives just outside the boundary of the town. Sir Harry Secombe lives in Shamley Green. Phil Collins used to live in Shalford, but I think he's now moved abroad. David Shepherd, the wildlife artist, has lived just outside the boundary for many years.

"Bruce Grobbelaar lives in Ewhurst, Chris Evans lives at Hascombe, and David Coulthard, I'm reliably informed, has just bought a house just outside the town. Rick Parfitt from Status Quo lives locally, and I've just been told that Jim Davidson lives at Ewhurst. And somebody else told me this morning that David Jacobs, the disc jockey from perhaps my era, lives locally as well," says Cllr Nyazai, adding that she used to live opposite Terry Scott in Witley."...

Former Genesis singer Mike Rutherford lives in Ewhurst, and Tony Banks, the band's keyboard player, lives in Wormley. Then there's Gary Brooker, formerly of Procul Harum, whose most famous hit was "Whiter Shade of Pale", who lives in the same road as Anthea Turner, and Virginia Bottomley who lives in Milford." Archive.

Relevant?: 2019: DJ Chris Evans in Epstein's black book.

Aug 25 2000 Google Senses That It's Time to Grow Up

"Google Inc.'s brief history, from its inception in 1998 by two Stanford University students to becoming one of the Internet's leading search engines, is posted on a wall at the firm's Mountain View headquarters.

The posting shows the company's popularity growth to nearly 40 million queries a day, in typical Google fashion: The history is written in green, purple and red crayons, with exclamation points punctuating the biggest successes.

So goes business at Google, a company trying to emerge from adolescence into maturity. It has quickly become a major force in the Internet industry, underscored by its agreement in June to provide its search engine to Yahoo Inc., the giant Santa Clara Web portal." Archive.

Aug 25 2000 The last indignity for these sufferers is to be disbelieved

"Fate has saved up one last indignity for the people of Kosovo. They lost relatives in last year's bloodletting, they saw loved ones executed before their eyes, and they were driven from their homes. Now - just as they are struggling to rebuild their lives - they are being called liars and accused of faking their grief for political gain.

The Kosovo backlash is in full swing. The criticism of last year's Nato campaign against the Serbs - quite properly - opened a debate over "humanitarian intervention" and whether such intervention should involve dropping cluster bombs from high altitude.

But the backlash has gone further, casting doubt on the scale and nature of Serb atrocities and calling into question eyewitness accounts of the killing. The allegations are serious - hinting at a conspiracy between Nato, the press, the humanitarian agencies and the refugees themselves - yet they are based on no more than partial and misconstrued evidence.

The starting point for the wave of revisionism has been the exhumations carried out by the international war crimes tribunal in the Hague. As of mid-July, tribunal investigators confirmed they had recovered the remains of 2,808 bodies, believed to be victims of the Serb ethnic cleansing campaign." Archive.

Aug 26 2000 Third world aims a spearhead at rich club

"Key figures from the developing world gave their agreement yesterday to proposals for securing a voice in international economic forums.

The meeting, in London, was the first for the coordinating group of the G77, which represents 80% of the world's population.

The group is angry at the way the developing world has been excluded from decisions taken by such organisations as the Group of Seven, which represents the wealthiest countries.

The two-day meeting was the most serious attempt by the developing world to acquire political muscle since the Non-Aligned Movement lost influence.

The main people involved were the president of Nigeria, Olusegun Obasanjo; the president of Malaysia, Mahathir Mohamad; the president of Algeria, Abdelaziz Bouteflika; the prime minister of Jamaica, James Patterson; and Cheryl Carolus, the South African high commissioner in London, representing President Thabo Mbeki." Archive.

Aug 26 2000 Villagers warned after big cat mauls boy playing in field.

"It turned and made a horrible hissing sound. It reared up and lashed at me with its paw, holding my cheek for a second. Then it got my head in its jaws and bit me. I was terrified and I thought it was going to kill me."

He said the animal ran off when he began screaming. But the attack left him bleeding from claw and bite wounds that required treatment at a medical centre.

Chief Inspector Nigel Russell of Gwent police said that although there had been local sightings of one or more large black cats he had not heard of anyone being attacked.

"We don't want to panic people but we are asking them to be very careful and vigilant."

Danny Nineham, a big cat expert, said he believed Josh was "extremely lucky" to be alive. He was baffled that the creature had backed off." Archive.

Aug 26 2000 Dome cuts ticket price in half to halt slump

"Ticket prices for the Millennium Dome are to be reduced by up to 50 per cent in a final attempt to reverse the continuing slump in visitor numbers.

The cut-price ticket initiative has been launched after visitor numbers over the school holidays failed to rise sufficiently to meet the Dome's heavily reduced target of six million paying visitors, which works out at 21,600 people a day." Archive.

Aug 26 2000 Pulsing, Jumping Light in West Stowell, England Field

"By Linda Moulton Howe:

Then around 1 AM, three of us all said at the same time, "Look! Did you see that red flash?" The color was a pure red in the very black fog.

I immediately looked through the Night Vision scope where the red flash had been. To my shock, there now was a bright oval seeming to rest right above the crop pulsing a beat each second. I passed the scope to the others and each confirmed he or she could see the bright oval pulsing. When the scope was passed back to me, I was eager to look again at the strange object and was further shocked when it jumped from the middle of the frame to the far right, then to the far left, then back to center and kept repeating the odd jumps. Again, I passed the scope to the others who all confirmed with their own astonishment that they could see the object jumping in the Night Vision scope even if none of us could see anything in the dark mist.

Graphic depiction of pulsing, jumping oval object as seen in shades of grey-green in the Night Vision scope beginning around 1 AM on August 4, 2000." Archive.

Aug 27 2000 Michael Jackson puts son down for Stowe

"Jackson is understood to have put his son forward for a place at Stowe, the Buckinghamshire independent school, nine years before he can take the entrance exam.

Subject to passing that exam, Prince Michael Jackson, will join a school whose list of old boys includes Sir Richard Branson, the actor Sir David Niven, Gp Capt Leonard Cheshire VC and Sir Peregrine Worsthorne, former editor of the Sunday Telegraph.

It is understood that officials acting on Jackson's instruction visited the school and inspected its facilities last year. Now Michael Jackson has taken the decision to send Prince, his first child by his second wife Debbie Rowe, to the school. According to friends, the artist is "very impressed" by the facilities and security measures." Archive.

Relevant: 2023: Stowe School. Archive.

Aug 28 2000 Millennium World Peace Summit: Dalai Lama's Message Read at UN

"It's been about four decades since official words from the Dalai Lama were echoed at the United Nations. Representatives read a statement from the spiritual leader to the Millennium World Peace Summit.

The Dalai Lama has long been an unwelcome presence at the U.N. because China rejects his call for an autonomous Tibet. So Drikung Chetsang Rinpoche, a Tibetan Buddhist leader, conveyed the message on his behalf Tuesday to more than 1,000 religious leaders gathered for the summit.

While the Dalai Lama said that he joined the group "in spirit," the Nobel Peace laureate was not invited to the U.N. portion of the conference for fear of offending China a veto-wielding member of the U.N. Security Council.

"The world's religions can contribute to world peace, if there is peace and growing harmony between different faiths," he said. "It is also my belief that whereas the 20th century has been a century of war and untold suffering, the 21st century should be one of peace and dialogue."

"There can be no peace as long as there is grinding poverty, social injustice, inequality, oppression, environmental degradation, and as long as the weak and small continue to be trodden by the mighty and powerful. The world's spiritual and religious leaders need to address these real and pressing issues," he said." Archive.

OzCW: In those days, we had yet to witness the stomach-turning sight of the Dalai Lama tongue-kissing an eight-year-old boy. This site states:

"Millennium World Peace Summit: About three months after the United Religions was formed one week before the Millennium Summit for the world's political leaders was held, there was a meeting held at the United Nations called the Millennium World Peace Summit. This was the first religious meeting ever held at the United Nations. The supposed concept behind this meeting was to bring about cooperation between the religious leaders of the world and the political leaders of the world, but almost certainly to begin the final push for a single false religion as planned by the New World Order.

The Summit was sponsored by Ted Turner, who had gifted $1billion to the UN. Because he put up the money, Turner was the keynote speaker for the meeting. There were about a thousand religious leaders in attendance from all over the world. The hope of the World Peace Summit was to engage religious and spiritual leadership as an interfaith ally to the United Nations in its quest for peace, global understanding and international cooperation. The formation of a World Council of Religious Leaders was one of the stated goals of the Millennium World Peace Summit which brings to pass the stated goal of the father of 'interfaithism', Robert Muller.

"We have brought the world together as far as we can politically. To bring about a true world government, the world must be brought together spiritually. What we need is a United Nations of Religions." – Robert Muller – Former UN Assistant Secretary General" Archive.

Relevant: 1997: ONE-WORLD RELIGION NOW OFFICIALLY BORN!! A SPIRITUAL EQUIVALENT TO THE UNITED NATIONS! 2018: The One World Religion (NWO) Revealed. 2022: Pope Francis declares 'Jesus is Satan', vows to usher in 'One World Religion'.

Aug 30 2000 Salinger's Daughter's Truths as Mesmerising as His Fiction

"Ms. Salinger says she is willing to take the risk that her father might not speak to her again. And then of course there is the possibility that the public might see her book as an attempt to trade on his name. In any case she has written it, Ms. Salinger says, to make sense of her strange childhood. And she has come to New York to promote the book...

Nothing could interrupt his work, which he likened to a quest for enlightenment. He was also abusive toward her mother, Claire Douglas, Ms. Salinger says, keeping her a virtual prisoner in his house in Cornish, N.H., refusing to allow her to see friends and family. Ms. Salinger said that her father feared the female body and that when Ms. Douglas was pregnant, he found her abhorrent. She said that since her parents rarely had sex, she feels her birth was almost an accident." Archive.

Relevant: 2019: Salinger was a creepy womanizer who took home underaged girls in his 60s.

Aug 30 2000 Mohamed Al Fayed to sue US for Diana info

"In a videotaped statement, Al Fayed accused the CIA and other U.S. agencies were withholding the documents as part of a coverup.

"I believe they are withholding some of the documents at the request of the British secret services," an emotional Al Fayed said. "They cannot afford to let the truth be known because they know exactly where the truth lies."

In a letter read by Macnamara, Al Fayed said the National Security Agency has at least 39 documents totaling more than 1,000 pages relevant to the crash.

"There clearly is U.S. involvement in events prior to and subsequent to the tragedy," Zaid said."
Archive.

Relevant: 2023: Everything Mohamed Al Fayed claimed about Princess Diana's death: 'Royals were...'
2023: Mohamed Al Fayed's Conspiracy Theories About the Royal Family, Explained.

Aug 30 Animal rights, terror tactics

"Animal rights extremists launched more than 1,200 attacks last year - terrorising their victims and causing £2.6m of damage to property. A clampdown has now been promised to thwart such activities. "Animal liberation is a fierce struggle that demands total commitment. There will be injuries and possibly deaths on both sides. That is sad but certain."

So wrote Ronnie Lee, founder of the Animal Liberation Front [ALF]. In the two decades since its birth, the organisation has proved itself more than willing to stand by these words.

St Andrew's University terrorism expert Professor Paul Wilkinson says animal rights now tops the list of causes which prompt violence in the UK. A dubious honour won following the easing of tensions over Northern Ireland.

With 1,200 fire bombings, acts of vandalism and physical attacks last year perpetrated in the name of animal "liberation", the government is planning a clampdown on the extremist groups responsible."
Archive.

September 2000 Links Most Relevant to Today

Frankenscientists started vaxxing fruit and veg

image made with [AI from here]

Sept 2000 A Systematic Review of UK Public Water Fluoridation The UK government has been champing at the bit for decades to add toxic fluoride to the water supply. How sadly appropriate that in 2024 it was genocidal murderer Sir Chris Witty who announced that plans were going ahead.

Sept 2000 Brighton Collaboration was launched – to define vaccine Adverse Events Following Immunization.

Sept 3 2000 The last days of a white world. Two decades on we may be in those last days.

Sept 3 2000 Child Prodigy, Online Pioneer in which we see hyped the “great mind” Jeff Bezos whose Amazon deliveries will make the 2020 lockdowns so much more bearable.

Sept 6 2000 MS Exec Moots Windows for Washing Baskets: Bluetooth boxers already? Smart tech was being developed from the 1970s. In 2000 it was getting closer to home – and in 2020 Covid accelerated its adoption.

Sept 7 2000 MTV Video Music Awards, NYC: In 2024, P. Diddy faces allegations that he assaulted a teenager at the after-party.

Sept 8 2000 UN Millennium Development Goals are Declared, which dangerous claptrap will be followed by Agenda 2030.

Sept 8 2000 Dreams, hallucinations, spirituality and psychological extremes are a source of inspiration for many artists as artist Marina Abramovic was exhibiting in Hampstead, London. Only the “initiated” knew her name back then but in 2024 she’s notorious for her dark occult “spirit cookings” and was even invited to become ambassador to Ukraine.

Sept 9 2000 Difficult, yes, but not appalling: Lord Falconer was at the time Tony Blair’s “psychic.” He would go on to block the David Kelly inquest in 2010 [that would have exposed Kelly’s political assassination over the Iraq War]. In 2024, Lord Falconer is advising Keir Starmer – and encouraging euthanasia.

Sept 10 2000 FILM; Ben Affleck Shocker: I Bargained With Devil for Fame. Has Ben changed his mind? A 2023 photo of him looking "as if he'd rather be at Dunkin'" during a [devilish-looking] Sam Smith Grammy performance went viral.

Sept 11 2000 PNAC Release a Report That Their Plans to Conquer Global Resources Needed "some catastrophic and catalyzing event like a 'new Pearl Harbor.'" Like 9/11. Released exactly a year before it happened.

Sept 11 2000 The IMF and the Silent Revolution: Global Finance and Development in the 1980s. [Written by the IMF, explaining how they took over the money systems 1979-89.]

Sept 13 2000 World Economic Forum Protests. The protests are still going in 2024 but haven't worked yet.

Sept 13 2000 The house of Morgan: banker was lender to nations and adviser to captains of industry... Sept 14 2000 JP Morgan Execs Score in Big Pay Day. The big banks continued to merge in order to control the money supply...ready for the CBDCs decades later.

Sept 19 2000 Supermarkets "must go global". Tesco is a WEF member, which explains its 2000 push for globalisation. Expansion was going quite well into 14 countries until 2020. In 2024 they have banned cash payments in their cafes and are trailing cashier-free checkouts. Boycott Tesco if you want to save Ethel's job!

Sept 26 2000 Protests mar IMF meetings. The protests continue in 2024 yet nothing has changed.

September 2000 Summary

"S11 (Day Three S13) Melbourne anti-globalisation protest against World Economic Forum p9130006" by John Englart \(Takver\) is licensed under CC BY-SA 2.0.

Come autumn 2000 we saw msm scaremongering over Waco conspiracy theorists, climate change, people who expose satanic ritual abuse and hackers.

In the US:

- RFK Jr backed Hillary Clinton.
- We read about Operation Northwoods.

- There was diversity in STEM. And a white male Frankenscientist was vaccinating fruit and vegetables. Even better, GM fruit could be vaccinated with anti-hepatitis pharma!
- John D Rockefeller [d. '37] was interested in [de]population. And a phony Rockefeller was conning the elite.
- Shoplifting was cool, we read.
- The Hilton sisters were hip hop debs [according to Paris decades on, she was being abused].
- Harry Potter was not going down well with Christians.
- Jeff Bezos was a “child prodigy” [yawn] and Microsoft was talking smart tech already.
- Ben Affleck said he’d bargained with the devil. And P. Diddy raped a teenager. Allegedly.
- A Bronx principal was spreading child porn on the net.
- A Pacifist firm was working with the military.
- PNAC announced that we needed a “Pearl Harbor” event [like 9/11].
- The Republicans were caught using subliminals on TV.
- Chase Manhattan took over JP Morgan – and the execs raked it in. But there weren’t any Rockefellers or Morgans involved. And banksters laundered billions for the Russians.
- The techs were raking it in, too.
- Dick Cheney was not that well endowed.

- Someone once stole Bill Gates' software.
- Buffett was knocking trustafarians.
- The Wizard of Oz was 100 years old.
- Vanguard's founder was a traditionalist.
- Some ancient Indians were cannibals.

In the UK:

- Nigella was on the Atkins diet.
- The MI6 building was bombed.
- The Brighton collaboration was launched to define Adverse Vaccine Events.
- Heavyweight Mike Tyson admitted being drugged up to kill.
- The BBC was sticking up for wrongly-accused paedophiles. It revealed the method of the Project for the New American Century.
- Marina Abramovic was exhibiting in Camden.
- The old Britain is lost, argued a journalist. Another journalist called the OECD globalists "wolves in sheep' clothing."
- Two black women won compensation for racist abuse.
- The Frankenscientists were studying mRNA in vaccines and human coronaviruses.
- The government was looking into water fluoridation.
- Lord Falconer was Blair's right hand man.

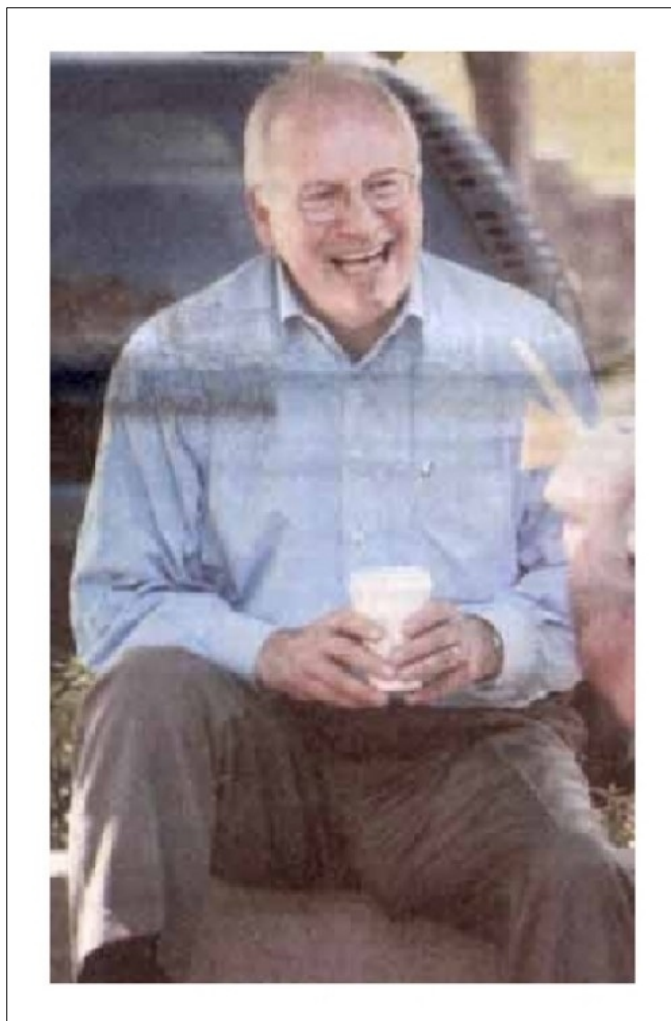

- There was abuse in a Scottish Buddhist monastery.
- Paul Yates, the first wife of Bob Geldof, died of a heroin overdose.
- Tesco said supermarkets needed to go global.
- We saw a black King Henry VI at the Royal Shakespeare Company.
- A nun terrorised girls in care.
- Tony Blair and Gordon Brown lied about Ecclestone's donations.

In the rest of the world:

- In Rome, Pope Jean Paul II didn't perform an exorcism.
- The IMF told its story. There were protests about them and the WEF. And the UN declared its Millennium Development goals.
- In France, the OECD was crying crocodile tears.
- A Strasbourg court found the Guinness trial breached human rights.
- In Chile, a senior advisor had been working for the CIA.
- Italians were stunned by paedophile videos.
- In Libya, Gaddafi was a Freemason.
- In Australia [and the rest of the world] Nickleodeon continued to dumb us and our children down.

All the above with a few conspiracy theory links scattered in between like autumn leaves.

September 2000 Links

Back in 2000, “thanks” to Cathy O’Brien’s compelling testimony, this picture of “Big Dick” Cheney was all over the “conspiracy” websites.

September 2000: PDF: Land of Plenty - Diversity as America’s Competitive Edge in Science, Engineering and Technology

“Dear President Clinton, Congresswomen Morella, and Esteemed Members of Congress and the National Governors’ Association:

Today's U.S. economy depends more than ever on the talents of skilled, high-tech workers. To sustain America's preeminence we must take drastic steps to change the way we develop our workforce. An increasingly large proportion of the workforce consists of women, underrepresented minorities, and persons with disabilities—groups not well represented in science, engineering, and technology (SET) fields. Unless the SET labor market becomes more representative of the general U.S. workforce, the nation may likely face severe shortages in SET workers, such as those already seen in many computer-related occupations.

To address the problems facing America's scientific, engineering, and technological enterprise, Congresswoman Constance A. Morella developed and sponsored legislation creating the Commission on the Advancement of Women and Minorities in Science, Engineering and Technology Development. In this legislation, the Commission was mandated to analyze and describe the current status of women, underrepresented minorities, and persons with disabilities in the science, engineering, and technology pipeline, beginning in early education classrooms and progressing through the SET pipeline to professional life in industry, government, and academe. Additionally, the Commission was instructed to develop and issue recommendations regarding the recruitment, retention, and advancement of women, underrepresented minorities, and persons with disabilities in SET education and careers."

September 2000: Operation Northwoods

"President John F. Kennedy took many actions which upset his war-hungry generals and other top business and mafia leaders. One of the least-known of these was his putting a stop to plans of the Pentagon's top generals to provoke war with Cuba. The plans were detailed in documents under the title of Operation Northwoods.

Approved by the top Pentagon chiefs, Operation Northwoods proposed fabricating terrorism in US cities and killing innocent citizens to trick the public into supporting a war against Cuba in the early 1960s. The operation even proposed blowing up a US ship and hijacking planes as a false pretext for war.

Follow the links below to the declassified Pentagon documents and an ABC News article on Operation Northwoods. First coming to light in the year 2000 through a Freedom of Information Act request, key excerpts from the Operation Northwoods documents are provided below these links." Archive.

Sept – Oct issue 2000 Britain’s Final Decline

“Since 1997 something startling has happened in the venerable and ancient nation of Britain. The result, at the turn of the 20th century, is a British people that has lost contact with its roots and now faces complete divorce from its national heritage.” Archive.

Autumn 2000 The Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development’s Crocodile Tears

“If the World Trade Organisation [WTO], International Monetary Fund [IMF] and World Bank are the body of globalisation's dark side, the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development [OECD] is its head. [2] ... It is the crude, lumbering think-tank of the most wealthy nations, bulldozing over human dignity without pause for thought. Its tracks, crushed into the barren dereliction left behind, spell 'global free market'.

Premised on the economic repudiation of Communism, the OECD was central to the West's defences against the threat of an inhuman political and economic dogma. Yet in being so, the OECD merely helped to establish its own brutal ideology in the rejection of another and, tragically, created the conditions for conflict precisely in its simplistic attempts to maintain 'stability'.

The danger of ideology, be it communist, capitalist or whatever, is that the theoretical means to achieve the end of a better society tend to become pursued as ends in themselves.” Archive.

Sept 2000 Survival of human coronaviruses 229E and OC43 in suspension and after drying on surfaces: a possible source of hospital-acquired infections

OzCW: We’ve included this articles just to show how in 2000 human coronaviruses were being studied.

“Strains OC43 and 229E of human coronaviruses [HCoV] cause one-third of common colds and hospital-acquired upper respiratory tract HCoV infections have been reported in premature newborns. To evaluate possible sources of infection, virus survival was studied in aqueous suspensions and on absorptive and non-absorptive surfaces representative of a hospital environment. Virus susceptibility to chemical disinfection with standard products was also characterized. Virus survived in saline solution for as long as six days but less in culture medium, with or without added cells. After drying, HCoV-229E infectivity was still detectable after 3h on various surfaces [aluminum, sterile latex surgical gloves, sterile sponges] but HCoV-OC43 survived 1h or less. Of the various chemical disinfectants tested, Proviiodine reduced the virus infectious titre by at least 50%. This study suggests that surfaces and suspensions can be considered as possible sources of contamination that may lead to hospital-acquired infections with HCoV and should be appropriately disinfected.” Archive.

Sept 2000 Brighton Collaboration is launched – to define vaccine Adverse Events Following Immunization (AEFI) [article from 2024]

“Around September 2000 (Fall) the Brighton Collaboration (BC) was officially launched, following a 1999 vaccine conference in Brighton, England, where US CDC’s Robert Chen and others called for “improving the quality of vaccine safety data”. [10]

Their initial stated mission “is an international voluntary collaboration to facilitate the development, evaluation, and dissemination of high quality information about the safety of human vaccines.” with a primary aim “[t]o develop globally accepted and implemented standardized case definitions of Adverse Events Following Immunization” (AEFI) i.e. vaccine injury.

“The Collaboration consists of researchers and other professionals from vaccine safety, public health, pharmaceutical and regulatory agencies to address the problems of the quality of information on vaccine safety. Its primary task is the harmonization and standardization of AEFI’s”. [3, 11]

The CDC and WHO got involved in the 2000 launch, and by 2001 the “Brighton Method for defining adverse events following immunization was established” and on May 22, 2002 they held their first International Symposium on the Evaluation of Safety of Human Vaccines. [1, 2]” Archive.

Sept 2000 PDF: A Systematic Review of UK Public Water Fluoridation

“This systematic review has been commissioned by the Chief Medical Officer of the Department of Health to ‘carry out an up to date expert scientific review of fluoride and health’ [Paragraph 9.20, Our Healthier Nation].

Overall, the aim has been to assess the evidence on the positive and negative effects of population wide drinking water fluoridation strategies to prevent caries. To achieve this aim five objectives were identified:

Objective 1: What are the effects of fluoridation of drinking water supplies on the incidence of caries?

Objective 2: If water fluoridation is shown to have beneficial effects, what is the effect over and above that offered by the use of alternative interventions and strategies?

Objective 3: Does water fluoridation result in a reduction of caries across social groups and between geographical locations, bringing equity?

Objective 4: Does water fluoridation have negative effects?

Objective 5: Are there differences in the effects of natural and artificial water fluoridation?"

Relevant: 2023: 69 Reasons to Oppose Adding Fluoride to Water. Archive. 2024: Millions will get fluoride added to their UK tap water in biggest expansion of controversial scheme since the 1980s.

Sept 2000 Satanism and Ritual Abuse Archive By Diana Napolis, M.A. aka Karen Jones © 2000

OzCW: This archive of SRA cases was compiled by Karen “Curio” Jones. “Curio” had been investigating and trying to get the word out. She was facing opposition – as can be seen in the Newsgroup post.

In the same post, researcher Alex Constantine is both defending Curio in the newsgroups and via an open letter to the critical San Diego Tribune.

“The following cases describe legal proceedings held in Juvenile, Family, Civil and Criminal Courts around the world where there have been allegations of Satanism or the use of ritual to abuse others. Any religion or organization can be used as a front to hide ritual abuse activity, including Christianity, Buddhism, Shamanism, Hinduism, Masonry, Mormonism, Pagan and Satanic religions; however, not all Satanists commit crimes and not all occultism is Satanism. It is imperative that investigators and professionals familiarize themselves with cross-cultural belief systems so as not to target any particular group.

This archive was compiled by Diana Napolis, M.A.. If there are any corrections or updates that need to be made, please contact the author at: 6977 Navajo Rd. PMB 114, San Diego, California 92119-1503. "Warning: Some of the following cases depict graphic, violent activity."” Archive.

Relevant: Newsgroup argument Archive.

Sept 30 2000 False Memory Foundation, Michael Aquino and other

Newsgroup post: Stalking Curio Jones - An Open Letter to the San Diego Union-Tribune

By Alex Constantine

The stalkers have arrived with bells on. "Armed with a telephoto lens and a laptop computer with a hidden camera," San Diego Union-Tribune reporter Mark Sauer informs us, "Michelle Devereaux headed south from San Francisco on a mission to find Curio." "1 Ms. Devereaux, a vociferous member of the False Memory Syndrome Foundation [FMSF], and Barry, a friend, "camped out for hours at the computer lab in San Diego State University's Love Library," patiently waiting for Curio to arrive and log on at the library's computer lab. Devereaux, 43, has, according to Sauer, "a plethora of tattoos and body piercings and an extraordinary knowledge of cyberspace after 20 years in the computer business." She and her fellow "cyber-sleuth" hoped to catch "Curio" in the act - not of a crime, mind, not even a misdemeanor, but of posting documentation on organized child molestation and expressing opinions on the same in the Internet's Usenet newsgroups, a public forum.

What's up with that? "In her zeal to protect 'young victims,'" Sauer explains, "Curio has posted extensive information about notable individuals who worked hard over the years to debunk the notion of satanic-ritual abuse." "Archive.

Sept 1 2000 Hip Hop Debs

"Hotel pioneer Conrad Hilton strutted a parade of showgirls on his arm, and Zsa Zsa Gabor as his second wife. His son, Nicky, notoriously wed and divorced Liz Taylor. Now a fourth Hilton generation—19-year-old Paris, with her 16-year-old sister, Nicky, in her wake—is setting society on its ear. Planning a cosmetics line, starring in a documentary about herself, and denying tabloid tales of a romance with Leonardo DiCaprio, Paris is the very model of a hip-hop debutante." Archive.

Relevant: 2000: Paris' boyfriend Furlong thrown out for throwing up. 2022: After revealing new sexual abuse allegations, Paris Hilton lobbies for change in DC. 2024: Paris Hilton testifies she was 'force-fed medications and sexually abused' as a teen. Archive.

Paris Hilton photo Sept 2000. Archive.

Relevant: Newsgroup post: Nicky Hilton Rothschild and MK Ultra – and Pizzagate. Archive.

Sept 1 2000 John D. Rockefeller 3rd, Statesman and Founder of the Population Council

"The motivation for John D. Rockefeller's interest in population issues eluded many of his closest associates and advisors. It grew out of his humanity and his concern for the well-being of all people. Indeed, he took a broad view of "population control" as a means to address poverty and economic development rather than as an end in itself.

His first public undertaking came in 1952, when he initiated the convocation of the Conference on Population Problems, in Williamsburg, Va. The discussion took up food supply, industrial development, depletion of natural resources, and political instability resulting from unchecked population growth. The presence of medical doctors, chemists, geologists, economists, and other scientists gave serious weight and prominent attention to the emerging and unrecognized facts of demographic change. Soon after this conference, Rockefeller established the Population Council. From philanthropic funds at his disposal, he provided $1 million within the first year of operations." Archive.

Sept 1 2000 The Problem With Harry Potter

"An article in the December 1, 1999 Christian Century magazine gives a pretty good overview Harry discovers on his 11th birthday that he is the son of two legendary wizards murdered by an evil magician named Voldemort. Harry has been living with his loathsome aunt and uncle [who make him sleep in a cupboard] and their mean son, Dudley. Apprised of his real identity, Harry eventually makes his way to Hogwarts, a boarding school for wizard children, and starts learning the family trade.

Make no mistake about it. Harry Potter books are about witches and wizards, and their practices of divination, necromancy and sorcery. Harry's world is the world of witchcraft through and through! Harry Potter wisdom is the wisdom from beneath spoken of in James 3:15 "This wisdom descendeth not from above, but is earthly, sensual, devilish."

To be sure, the reader is drawn into Harry's world. Witchcraft is presented as being exciting, titillating and powerful. Witches are portrayed as friendly, positive, supportive and good! However, non-witches are presented as being boring, dysfunctional, cruel, abusive, bigoted, and hateful." Archive.

Relevant: 2016: The Great Harry Potter Hoax.

Sept 1 2000 Waco Whistleblower Faces Indictment

"The whistleblower who sparked a probe into whether the federal government was responsible for the deaths of 74 Branch Davidians near Waco, Tex., has been notified he faces criminal charges after acknowledging he withheld notes from special counsel John C. Danforth's investigators and misled a federal grand jury about the papers..."

Though he acknowledges withholding three pages of notes he feared would be used to smear him, Johnston, 41, asserted that he did not commit a crime and will not plead guilty to a felony, which would cause him to lose his law license in Texas...

Danforth's "treatment of Bill is completely the opposite of the way he treated other people who misstepped during the course of this investigation," said Michael Kennedy, Johnston's lawyer. "The only distinction I can see between Bill's mistakes and the mistakes of other people is that he is a whistleblower who caused a tremendous amount of embarrassment." Archive.

Sept 1 2000 Speed Kills: Rates of Climate Change are Threatening Biodiversity

"...A doubling of CO2 in the atmosphere has the potential to eventually destroy at least a third of the world's existing terrestrial habitats, with no certainty that they will be replaced by equally diverse or productive ecosystems, or that similar ecosystems will establish elsewhere. Unfortunately, some projections for global greenhouse gas emissions suggest that CO2 will not only double from pre-industrial levels during the 21st Century but may in fact triple if action is not taken to rein in the inefficient use of fossil fuels such as coal and oil for energy production." Archive.

Sept 2 2000 From the Internet Archive: The New Roman Empire Part 1

"In this article, I plan on discussing what is to be one of the most important factors in the endtimes scenario: the emergence of a unified world government. My current understanding is that this union will consist of every single nation in the world. I will get into factors that have led to and are currently leading up to this monumental event later in the article. First, we must tackle the evidence of the scriptures, which is the main thing that makes the whole New World Order thing feel so real. Not only do we have piles and piles of confirmation from today's sources, but the Bible has a lot to say about it as well.

It all goes back to King Nebuchadnezzar's dream of the "great statue", recorded in Daniel 2. In this chapter, we read that the king of Babylon has had a troubling dream, but he can not remember the dream. He turns to his magicians and astrologers, but none of them can do anything for him:

"Daniel answered the king, "No wise men, enchanters, magicians, or diviners can show to the king the mystery that the king is asking" [Dan 2:27]" Archive.

Sept 3 2000 The last day of a white world: We are near a global watershed - a time when white people will not be in the majority in the developed world, Britain included

"It was news and no news; the most significant milestone in one of the most profound changes to affect the US in the past century, and yet a non-event. Last week the US Census Bureau issued figures showing that non-hispanic whites made up 49.8 per cent of the population of California.

Anglo-Saxon whites are already a minority in Hawaii and the District of Columbia. Now they are an ethnic minority in the country's most populous state, the one most usually identified with the American dream...

But now, around the world, whites are falling as a proportion of population. The United Nations collects and produces a vast array of statistics on population, but produces none relating to race or ethnic origin. Indeed few countries collect their own figures on ethnicity - in Europe, only the UK and the Netherlands do." Archive.

Sept 3 2000 Child Prodigy, Online Pioneer

"How many gas stations are there in the United States?"

Jeff Bezos likes to put this question to executives who want to work at Amazon.com. It has nothing to do with Amazon's business--petroleum products are among the few things the online retailer does not yet sell--but everything to do with Bezos's assessment of raw intelligence. Bezos does not care about the exact number of gas stations, only the back-of-the-envelope calculation that the candidate devises to get the answer: The process yields a snapshot of how the prospect's brain is wired.

While all corporate chiefs want to hire bright people, Amazon's founder prizes "genius" as a gold standard, and hiring it has been a long-held imperative. Amazon's screening process sometimes includes asking younger job candidates for their SAT scores.

Bezos's appreciation for powerful minds was nurtured in a series of privileged environments. At 9, he was a subject of a book about education for child prodigies. As a Miami high school senior, he celebrated his acceptance to Princeton University by taking his girlfriend for a weekend in New York. At 26, he was a wizard among whiz kids at one of Wall Street's most exclusive hedge funds. He was 30 when he founded what would become the dominant force in online retailing." Archive.

Sept 4 2000 IT'S BUMMER IN THE HAMPTONS – PHONY 'ROCKEFELLER' CONS EAST END ELITE OUT OF THOUSANDS

“A CLEVER con man posing as a scion of the Rockefeller family cut a fraudulent swath through the Hamptons over the summer, netting hundreds of thousands of dollars from gullible victims. Then, just as it seemed he would be put behind bars, he got what amounted to a “Get Out of Jail Free” card – and used it.

“They let him slip through their fingers,” one outraged victim said. “And that may be the understatement of the decade.”

Victims in the affluent communities of East Hampton and Southampton may have handed over tens of thousands of dollars in cash to “Christopher Rockefeller” believing him to be an heir to the spectacularly wealthy Rockefeller dynasty.

One estimate is that victims parted with more than $250,000. Prosecutors say they were conned by their own greed – so intent on believing the con man was a Rockefeller they even ignored his incongruous French accent.” Archive.

Sept 5 2000 Masonic Founders May Have Oriented Washington Around Virgo

“Every Aug. 10, an astrological event takes place in the sky over Washington that some say ties the city to a pagan goddess.

As the setting sun pours golden light onto cars and street lamps, turning brick esplanades to a dull rose, a shimmering August sun floats a few degrees just to the left of Pennsylvania Avenue. The orb gradually inches to the right until it sets directly over the famous street.

If the horizon remains cloudless, three stars are visible in a straight line from the Capitol to the White House to the skies in the west. Known as Regulus, Arcturus and Spica, the stars form a right-angled triangle framing the constellation of Virgo.

This is because Washington’s founders deliberately aligned the city with the stars, consecrating it to Virgo also known as the Egyptian goddess Isis British author David Ovason says in his new book, “The Secret Architecture of Our Nation’s Capital.” Archive.

Sept 6 2000 MS exec Moots Windows for Washing Baskets: Bluetooth boxers already?

“Craig says: “Today, most clothing has an itty-bitty label with washing instructions, which most people never look at. If the labels were smart, they could tell the washing machine to regulate the water temperature as well as the amount of soap.”

...Say all your clothes have labels that have some processing power on board, and presumably a Bluetooth capability to allow them to communicate with the washing machine. Surely they could communicate with each other as well? Distributed Windows in your clothing? Wear do you want to go today?” Archive.

OzCW: Smart tech had been in development since the 1970s but in 2000 it was getting closer to home. In 2020 IoT technologies gained traction with – you got it – coronavirus. Unfortunately, they’re seen as an investment trend in 2024. They’ll go very nicely with 15-minute cities, suicide pods and facial recognition cameras.

Sept 7 2000 Abuse – crusade or witch-hunt?

“Are some jailed for abuse innocent?”

Society's outrage at sex crimes against children may be leading to a witch-hunt in which innocent people are caught up, says the BBC's Paul Vickers.

Rebecca Williams Rigby remembers the moment she knew her father was going to prison very clearly. "He said 'how can I prove my innocence?' and I just hugged him and said 'you can't, Dad'. Then I knew for certain that he wasn't coming home."

Basil Williams Rigby will not be coming home for some time.

He is currently in HMP Wakefield, doing a 10-year stretch for abusing children in his care over 20 years ago, leaving his family to protest his innocence.” Archive.

Relevant: 2003: Care workers cleared of abuse.

Sept 7 2000 New Data Suggests Some Cannibalism by Ancient Indians

“Scientists have found what they say is the first direct evidence of cannibalism among prehistoric Indians in the American Southwest, belying the image of these people as steadfastly peaceful farmers. The finding may well reignite a long-smoldering controversy over whether ancestral Indians ever made it a practice to eat human flesh, a conclusion deeply resented by their descendants.

The latest evidence sprang from the site of an ancient Anasazi settlement near Mesa Verde in southwestern Colorado, where archaeologists came upon butchered human bones and stone cutting tools stained with human blood. A ceramic cooking pot held residues of human tissues. But the most telling of the evidence was found in human feces: biochemical tests revealed clear traces of digested human muscle protein in the dried coprolite, or fossilized prehistoric feces.” Archive.

Sept 7 2000 MTV Video Music Awards, NYC

“Best Dance Video

Jennifer Lopez

“Waiting For Tonight”” Archive.

Relevant: 2024: Sean ‘Diddy’ Combs, currently incarcerated in an NYC jail, is yet again facing another lawsuit alleging he raped and assaulted a 13-year-old girl at his party in 2000:

“One of the lawsuits, filed under the Violation of New York City Victims of Gender-Motivated Violence Protection Act, involves a now 37-year-old Jane Doe, who claims she was assaulted at a post-MTV VMAs party on September 7, 2000.”

2024: VIDEO: DIDDY J-LO PHOTOS NIGHT OF R-WORD OF TEEN!

Sept 7 2000 Robert Kennedy Jr. Endorses Hillary Clinton

“Robert F. Kennedy Jr. endorsed Hillary Rodham Clinton's Senate candidacy yesterday, declaring that she would show leadership on environmental concerns he champions and would overcome the "carpetbagger" tag that also threatened his father's bid for a Senate seat from New York in 1964.

Mr. Kennedy, an environmental lawyer in Westchester County who had considered running for the seat Mrs. Clinton is seeking, stood at her side at the 79th Street Boat Basin in Manhattan and delivered her second endorsement on environmental issues in two days. On Tuesday, she was endorsed by the Sierra Club.

Mr. Kennedy credited Mrs. Clinton with exerting influence on the Clinton administration to take steps to protect the lands around New York City's upstate drinking water supplies, a battle Mr. Kennedy has waged for several years. He said that during a "seminar" he conducted for Mrs. Clinton this year, she had demonstrated a strong interest in that problem and in such other issues as cleaning up chemical contamination from the Hudson River." Archive.

Sept 8 2000 UN Millennium Development Goals are Declared [article from 2024]

“The United Nations Millennium Declaration was signed on September 8, 2000 by all 191 UN member states, agreeing to try to achieve Eight Millennium Development Goals (MDG) by the end of the year 2015. [1, 2]

The Eight Millennium Development Goals were to:

- eradicate extreme poverty and hunger;
- achieve universal primary education;
- promote gender equality and empower women;
- reduce child mortality;
- improve maternal health;
- combat HIV/AIDS, malaria, and other diseases;
- ensure environmental sustainability; and
- develop a global partnership for development.

“The MDGs are inter-dependent; all the MDG influence health, and health influences all the MDGs””
Archive.

Sept 8 2000 Dreams, hallucinations, spirituality and psychological extremes are a source of inspiration for many artists

OzCW: Marina Abramovic’s work was on display in Hampstead.

“Dream Machines, selected by artist Susan Hiller, was an international exhibition of work by artists from the 1920s to the present day, which focused on altered states of consciousness and the transformative power of art. For the exhibition she drew together painting, drawing, photography, video, film, sound-based work and installations that explore and induce states of transcendence and reverie.” Archive.

Relevant: 2012 photo. Archive. 2022: A look at the Marina Abramovic connections to the elite child trafficking and pedophile network. 2023: Ukraine Appoints Satanic Pedophile Marina Abramovic To Serve As Child Ambassador.

Sept 8 2000 Vaccine in GM fruit could wipe out hepatitis B

“Tomatoes and bananas genetically modified to contain hepatitis B vaccine could rid the world of the virus, a leading American scientist said in London yesterday.

The virus, which causes high fever and attacks the liver, is a precursor of liver cancer, the biggest single cause of cancer deaths. This new development will save hundreds of thousands of lives a year, said Charles Arntzen, the scientist who developed the technology.

The breakthrough in producing a cheap, stable vaccine by genetically modifying plants became biology's holy grail in the 1990s, and is seen by the US bio-tech industry as its vindication and public relations saviour. Plant vaccines will be a billion-dollar business, said Professor Arntzen, who leads a team of the world's top plant scientists at Cornell University in New York state.” Archive.

Sept 9 2000 Bronx Principal Arrested in Child Pornography Investigation

“The principal of a Catholic elementary school in the Bronx was arrested today on charges that he distributed child pornography over the Internet, becoming the latest man snared by a long-running investigation by Westchester officials into Internet pedophilia.

The principal, James Irwin, 51, was arrested this morning outside his home in Yonkers, then charged with seven felony counts of promoting an obscene sexual performance by a child, said Jeanine F. Pirro, the Westchester district attorney. At his arraignment in Yonkers City Court, he pleaded not guilty to the charges, which each carry a maximum of seven years in prison, and was ordered held in $10,000 bail in the Westchester County Jail.” Archive.

Sept 9 2000 Difficult, yes, but not appalling

“He has always fiercely resisted publicity. But this week Lord Falconer of Thoroton came tumbling out into the limelight, defending the Millennium Dome on television and radio from dawn until dusk. Tabloid newspapers dug out the most pompous photographs they could find to put on their front pages under headlines telling him to “GO NOW”. “Plainly I have until now been engaged in things that don’t hit the public eye but the Dome drags even the most obscure people out,” he says with a twinkle in his eye. “Obviously it’s not been a very enjoyable experience and it’s been difficult, but I haven’t found it appalling.”

The Cabinet Office minister is a dream target for the Conservatives. This unelected peer is one of the most influential powers behind Mr Blair’s throne, with a place on 14 ministerial committees and a swipe card giving him instant access to Number 10. Ministers describe him variously as the Prime Minister’s “sounding board”, his “eyes and ears” and his “alter ego”. Many of the Government’s most delicate deals - over the beef ban, employment law, proportional representation - have been quietly negotiated behind the scenes by the Labour peer.” Archive.

OzCW: So Lord Falconer, a former flatmate of Blair [he was a “commoner” – Blair ennobled him] was Tony’s right hand man. He would go on to block the David Kelly inquest in 2010 [that would have exposed Blair and Bush as the Iraq War criminals they were/are].

In 2021 Lord Falconer was overheard in Parliament describing the coronavirus as “the gift that keeps on giving”. In 2024 he is advising Keir Starmer – and encouraging euthanasia. He sounds to us like a member of that death cult.

In 2022, a cronyism row erupted when Hamish, Lord Falconer’s son, ran for Parliament. Of course, he was elected as MP for Lincoln in 2024. Hamish is a Yale Fellow. Is he Skull and Bones, we wonder?

Sept 10 2000 Abuse Alleged at Monastery for Tibetan Exiles: Buddhist monk is accused by 18-year-old novice at Scottish Borders centre supported by Dalai Lama, Richard Gere and David Bowie

“The largest Tibetan Buddhist monastery in the Western world is at the centre of a police investigation into sex abuse involving a senior monk.

The Samye Ling Centre, in the Scottish borders, has an international reputation as the "home of Tibetan culture in exile".

The claims that the centre is a hotbed of abuse as well as drug-taking have prompted a four-month police inquiry that has caused deep embarrassment to the Buddhist world.

The monastery has in the past received backing not only from the Dalai Lama but also a clutch of celebrities, including Richard Gere, David Bowie, Ruby Wax and Billy Connolly.

For the villagers of Eskdalemuir, long suspicious of the goings on at the monastery, the inquiry confirms the suspicions aroused ever since its establishment with the sanction of the Dalai Lama in 1967."

Archive.

Sept 10 2000 FILM; Ben Affleck Shocker: I Bargained With Devil for Fame

"The supermarket press has spied Mr. Affleck buying out the condoms in a 7-Eleven in Wisconsin, and affianced him to innumerable actresses, some of whom he has even met. His on-again, off-again entanglement with his "Bounce" co-star, Gwyneth Paltrow -- this week off -- was the subject of more speculation than the last Mideast peace summit meeting.

"Tabloid stories are what I imagine patients' diaries are like in lunatic asylums," says Mr. Affleck. "They're always about storming out of rooms and falling in love with 17 different people." He inhales deeply, crushes out his cigarette, shreds a paper napkin. Well aware that being too famous is not the sort of personal problem that elicits much sympathy, Mr. Affleck shrugs: "Those of us who have agreed to this Faustian bargain deserve our drubbings at the hands of the Fourth Estate. We entered into the agreement willingly."" Archive.

Relevant: Ben Affleck Interview [from Talk Magazine October 2000]

"Fueled by Diet Cokes and Camel Lights throughout our conversations - one over dinner in Houston, the other between takes in L.A. - Affleck remained upbeat and high-spirited, even as he discussed in some detail a few black months in the middle of last year when he felt his life going off the rails.

Talk: For a guy who's pretty open and accessible, you can really generate the hot rumors.

Affleck: When I broke up with Gwyneth, somebody came to her - a friend of hers, a person I actually like - and said, "Well, I feel really bad telling you this, but I know people in the gay community who have slept with Ben." This was not a rumor that was being passed on, this was fact: "I hate to break it to you, but he's been sampling the kielbasa out there." [laughter] And luckily, if you know me, that is the one thing that is outside the parameters of what's believable, and so I was kind of off the hook, because I was able to say, "You know me - do you see how ridiculous this is?" And I'm sure this guy really did hear it from somebody who heard it from someone who made it up. They said that about Brad Pitt, they said that about Leonardo DiCaprio - they said it about me and Matt! [laughs] I felt like we were in good company." Archive.

OzCW: Did Affleck regret the bargain? A photo of him looking "as if he'd rather be at Dunkin'" while watching a Satanic Sam Smith Grammy performance went viral in 2023.

Sept 10 2000 Island sells web address to buy UN membership

"A tiny Pacific island state has exploited a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity provided by the world wide web to fund its newly acquired membership of the United Nations. Tuvalu has sold an American firm the rights to use its internet domain address.

Last week Tuvalu was admitted to the UN in advance of the world leaders' Millennium summit...

'The agreement with DotTV has given our nation a sense of economic independence. Our membership of the United Nations signals to the world that Tuvalu has joined the international community,' said Prime Minister Ionatana Ionatana.

'Rarely does the internet have such a direct economic impact on developing nations,' said Lou Kerner, chief executive of DotTV.

Tuvalu became the 189th member of the UN during last week's 55th General Assembly, and its prime minister featured in the world leaders' photocall. Only four countries have applied and been admitted to the UN in the past six years; Tuvalu is the only admission this year. The country was also recently admitted to the Commonwealth to reflect its growing involvement in world affairs.

In his maiden UN speech, Ionatana raised fears about the effect of globalisation on culture, and rising sea levels, which threaten parts of his country." Archive.

O2CW: It's hard not to get conspiratorial about the UN's "poster atoll" Tuvalu. This article from 2000 states:

"The Honorable Ionatana Ionatana, prime minister of the tiny Polynesian nation of Tuvalu – a group of islands – never had much reason to think about television or the Internet. After all, many of Tuvalu's 10,800 residents never had electric power. That's changing, thanks to the Web domain name assigned to Tuvalu in 1994: .tv. This year, a group of enterprising Internet types saw a business opportunity and struck a $50 million, 10-year deal with Tuvalu to license the name..."

And from this article, we conclude that Ionatana Ionatana had succumbed to climate change "scientific predictions" scaremongering while Tuvalu is still here un-submerged decades later.

Ionatana Ionatana was to die suddenly three months later. We wonder how. We also wonder who those "enterprising Internet types" were who saw the "business opportunity"?

Nowadays, we learn from this 2019 documentary, most of the visitors to the tiny South Pacific island work for the UN [03:30]. One inhabitant asserts [12:40] that "climate change is real" and that from November villagers gather in the island's main hall when the waters rise [note the large, incongruous "Climate Change is not an option for me" billboard behind him [12:53] followed by another huge UN scary "If people in the Atolls sink, the World sinks with them" billboard [13:01] and another at [13:03]]. How many huge climate change billboards does a tiny island need?! And as conspiracy theorists, we can't help noticing the "HAARP" skies behind the narrator at several points e.g. at [11:16]. In our opinion, those clouds are not natural.

Might all those UN employees living and working on Tuvalu be there – likely unknowingly – to perpetuate the climate change myth as HAARP-controlled clouds rain down on a tropical paradise to manufacture scary flooding as needed? Or has the island just experienced seasonal flooding for millennia? Was Ionatana Ionatana, a leader hoping to do the best for his people, scared into unwittingly selling out his tropical paradise then assassinated? We don't know. Draw your own conclusions, we hope our suspicious minds are wrong.

Relevant: 2000: 19 girls die in Tuvalu dormitory blaze. 2000: Death of Tuvalu Prime Minister Ionatana Ionatana. 2020: New play to honour Tuvalu schoolgirls who perished in Motufoua dorm fire. 2007: [UN] A threat to our human rights: Tuvalu's perspective on climate change.

Sept 10 2000 Pacifist firm criticized for military contracts

"Bruderhof Communities of New York is an enterprising religious group. Christian Anabaptists, they live in the Ulster County hamlet of Rifton and own and operate several private businesses, including Rifton Aviation Services.

Rifton fuels and maintains many of the planes that fly in and out of Stewart. Its core business is its stable of swank business jets for hire in a new $10 million hangar...

But this summer the peace-loving Bruderhof have been accused of thievery on several fronts and have been on both the giving and receiving ends of angry words, even talk of lawsuits...

On one front, three Nigerian fathers who left the Bruderhof — while their wives and children remained with the sect — accused the Bruderhof of stealing their children. They have not been able to visit them...

In July, New Windsor Town Supervisor George Meyers accused Rifton of stealing town water to load its new hangar's fire suppression system. That dispute has since been smoothed over.

Now, employees of Worldwide Flight Services say Rifton is stealing their work — pumping fuel into U.S. government aircraft...

They say they were angered when on one occasion two special U.S. Marine helicopters, sometimes used to transport the president, were directed by an air traffic controller to Rifton for refueling, even though WFS has a contract with the government to provide that service...

"How can [Rifton] justify servicing the military when they refuse to serve in the military," said veteran Phil Sayles of New Windsor." Archive.

Sept 11 2000 PNAC Release a Report That Their Plans to Conquer Global Resources Needed "some catastrophic and catalyzing event like a 'new Pearl Harbor.'"

"Exactly one year prior to the World Trade Center attacks on 9/11/2001, The Project for the New American Century [PNAC], a Washington-based think tank of neo-conservatives formed in 1997, released a report that stated their aspiration to conquer and militarize global resources would be achieved much too slowly, "unless there were some catastrophic and catalyzing event, like a new Pearl Harbor."...

PNAC drafted a blueprint to help the Clinton Administration's successors speed up the New World Order [NWO] agenda for global hegemony. The plan for world-government needed to be implemented by the turn of the century, marking the start of what Luciferian occultists refer to as the "Age of Aquarius."

In September of 2000, PNAC's report stated that their aspiration to conquer and militarize global resources would be achieved much too slowly, "unless there were some catastrophic and catalyzing event, like a new Pearl Harbor."

They needed an external threat to galvanize a wave of public indignation that would lead the American people to blindly support and finance PNAC's desires to wage wars, confiscate critical foreign resources, run pipelines through the Caspian Sea, create new overseas bases with an unrestricted permanent military presence, and expand their power throughout Middle Eastern countries through privately owned central banks." Archive.

Sept 11 2000 Pope Performs Exorcism Over Teenage Italian Girl: Girl flew into a "possessed rage" during an audience in St. Peter's Square

"VATICAN CITY, Sept. 11 [CNS]--Pope John Paul II performed an impromptu exorcism on a teenage girl who flew into a possessed rage at the end of an audience in St. Peter's Square, said the chief exorcist for the Diocese of Rome.

The Rome exorcist, Pauline Father Gabriele Amorth, told Catholic News Service September 11 that the pope spent more than half an hour praying over the girl and ordering a demon to leave her, but failed to fully cure her.

The girl, identified as a 19-year-old Italian with a history of possession, was in the front row at the pope's weekly general audience September 6. As the pope prepared to leave, she began screaming incomprehensibly and speaking in a "cavernous voice," Father Amorth said." Archive.

Relevant: 2000: Vatican denies it's an exorcism.

Sept 11 2000 Why I Love Shoplifting From Big Corporations

"Nothing compares to the feeling of elation, of burdens being lifted and constraints escaped, that I feel when I walk out of a store with their products in my pockets. In a world where everything already belongs to someone else, where I am expected to sell away my life at work in order to get the money to pay for the minimum I need to survive, where I am surrounded by forces beyond my control or comprehension that obviously are not concerned about my needs or welfare, it is a way to carve out a little piece of the world for myself—to act back upon a world that acts so much upon me. It is an entirely different sensation than the one I feel when I buy something. When I pay for something, I'm making a trade; I'm offering the money that I bought with my labor, my time, and my creativity for a product or service that the corporation wouldn't share with me under any other circumstances. In a sense, we have a relationship based on violence: we negotiate an exchange not according to our respect or concern for each other, but according to the forces that we can bring to bear on each other. Supermarkets know they can charge me a dollar for bread because I will starve if I do not buy it from them; they know they can't charge me four dollars, because I will go somewhere else. So our interaction revolves around unspoken threats, rather than love, and I am forced to give up something of my own to get anything from them." Archive.

OzCW: We have not reproduced this article because we encourage shoplifting [we don't, although we might be persuaded that shoplifting from Tesco could contribute to the greater good of humanity], but because it was published on the "anarchistlibrary" site in 2000 and reflects an attitude that would to most people back then have been considered "anarchist fringe", if not downright criminal.

Fast forward to 2020 in the US as looting of stores spread after the death of George Floyd, causing chaos and the death of many small businesses as "America descends into lawlessness." In 2024, the same free-for-all ransacking was seen in the UK as riots swept across the country.

In is our opinion that most of these riots, if not all, have been contrived by globalist [and/or Zionist-funded] “controlled opposition” with the aid of agents provocateurs and compromised police, their aim being to destabilise western society.

We also believe that the portrayal of UK riots and stabbings by the msm is skewed and over-exaggerated to give the government an excuse to bring in draconian surveillance systems.

Sept 11 2000 The IMF and the Silent Revolution: Global Finance and Development in the 1980s
[By the IMF]

“This pamphlet is adapted from Chapter 1 of Silent Revolution: The International Monetary Fund, 1979–89, by the same author. That book is a full history of the evolution of the Fund during 11 years in which the institution truly came of age as a participant in the international financial system. Major upheavals hit every region of the world in the 1980s, initiating revolutionary changes in economic policymaking and producing lessons that conditioned the Fund's responses to the even more dramatic events of the 1990s. Publication of this overview is intended to introduce the seminal events of the “silent revolution” in global economics and finance to a general readership.” Archive.

Sept 13 2000 RATS ad: subliminal conspiracy?

“George W Bush may have dismissed the controversy as “weird and bizarre”, but there is no doubt that the Republican presidential candidate has been wrong-footed by one of his own campaign adverts. The 30 second TV advertisement, which deals with who should pay for prescription drugs for the elderly, contains the word “rats”.

Alongside images of Vice-President Al Gore, the ad shows fragments of the slogan “Bureaucrats decide”. “RATS” is flashed for a split second, before the complete word “bureaucrats” appears. Psychologists suggest that such brief messages can be processed by the brain but at an unconscious or subliminal level.

Mr Bush has denied that the words were planted intentionally as a subliminal message. “This kind of practice is not acceptable. Conspiracy theories abound in American politics, but I don't think we need to be subliminal about prescription drugs”, said Mr Bush.” Archive.

Sept 13 2000 Dirty RATS leave Gore a subliminal message: It was only visible for a thirtieth of a second but here's proof the gloves are really off

"The increasingly accident-prone Bush presidential campaign was accused of dirty tricks yesterday, after it was discovered that the word "rats" appeared subliminally in a Republican political broadcast targeting Democratic health care proposals.

The offending word, in large white capital letters, flashes against a black background for a thirtieth of a second as a woman narrator criticises Vice President Al Gore's plan for government funding of prescriptions for pensioners.

George W Bush ridiculed as "bizarre and weird" accusations that his campaign was trying to use such underhand techniques to discredit his opponent. Yesterday, however, he announced that the $2.5m [£1.3m] advertising campaign would be withdrawn." Archive.

Sept 13 2000 World Economic Forum Protests

"From 11-13 September 2000 members of the World Economic Forum [WEF] met at the Crown Casino Complex in Melbourne. 3CR covered the massive public opposition to the WEF and corporate-led globalisation, and compiled highlights of the broadcasts on a CD - Globalisation Unplugged. 3CR would like to thank all those people who contributed material to this compilation and all those who added their voice to the protest." [Listen to the compilation CD on the website]. Archive.

Sept 13 2000 Protests Against World Economic Forum at Melbourne Crown Casino September 11 - 13

"For two days in September 2000, Melbourne witnessed a police force ferociously attacking peaceful people protesting about national and global issues. The World Economic Forum was in town - a junket for global corporate executives to write off their visit to the Sydney Olympics. Grassroots activists, concerned with the increasing marginalisation of a democratic agenda and imposition of a corporate economic agenda, were organising a peaceful civil disobedience protest outside the conference venue - Crown Casino.

My account was written on a nightly basis for three days and was accompanied by some 50 photos showing the general atmosphere and peaceful nature of the blockade. An account by Ciaran O'Reilly details some of the more practical features of the blockade and some of the police attacks. The Barrett

Report clearly intimates that the use of excessive police violence was politically motivated, with the media being culpable in promoting a climate and expectation of violence. All the documentary evidence shows police abusing their power, which contradicts mainstream reports that such violent scenes were caused by protestors.” Archive.

Sept 13 2000 The house of Morgan: banker was lender to nations and adviser to captains of industry

“NEW YORK [CNNfn] - Imagine Wal-Mart buying Tiffany. Now think Chase Manhattan snapping up J.P. Morgan.

Sound like a stretch? Not exactly, experts in banking and finance say. The $33 billion deal, announced Wednesday, will join Chase Manhattan Corp. and its middle-of-the-road clients with J.P. Morgan & Co., long the nation's banker for the wealthy, whose name helped define American capitalism.

"It's not quite like Donald Trump and the Beverly Hillbillies, but the differences in these two banks are striking," said Ken Thomas, an expert in finance at the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School of Business.

The deal comes as both banks try to keep up with larger rivals. Morgan needed the size and reach that a mass-market bank like Chase could provide, while Chase takes a big step forward in investment banking and wins the prestigious Morgan name. The new company will be called J.P. Morgan Chase & Co.

While the roots of the "House of Morgan" extend back to London in the 1830s, the firm began to take shape in earnest in 1861, when J. Pierpont Morgan, age 24, the son of one of the founders, established J.P. Morgan & Co. in New York.” Archive.

Relevant: 2015: JPMorgan Tech Workers Have New Conspiracy Theories Archive. 2017: New Evidence Reveals JP Morgan Sunk Titanic To Form Federal Reserve.

2019: JP Morgan traders accused of manipulating price of gold, silver for a DECADE, as DoJ tries to look tough on Wall Street. 2020: The bank of Epstein, Madoff and the 2008 crash: How JP Morgan - where Harry and Meghan gave a speech this week - has been embroiled in a series of controversies.

2022: JP Morgan 'pulled the levers' of Jeffrey Epstein's sex-trafficking operation, US Virgin Islands says in new lawsuit. 2023: How J P Morgan and John D Rockefeller Colluded in the Panic of 1907.

Sept 14 2000 JP Morgan Execs Score in Big Pay Day

"J.P. Morgan Chief Sandy Warner's stock in his company will soar in value to $289 million with the acquisition of his company by Chase Manhattan.

It was the best payday on record at his venerable bank – enough to make namesake founder J. Pierpont Morgan roll over in his grave with envy.

Warner, 53, who heads the bank and its 136 subsidiaries scattered around the world was the winner of the day. But others scored big, too.

Even the shares of his departing No. 2, Vice Chairman Roberto Mendoza, 54, will be worth some $216.5 million from the merger.

However, Warner's new No. 2 in the combined empire – Chase's chief, Bill Harrison – is getting the short end of the stick in the payoffs." Archive.

Sept 14 2000 Cheney: "I'm no donkey dick"

"Vice-Presidential nominee Dick Cheney, in a surprise move, became the first public figure to respond to underground allegations made of involvement in sexual misconduct with mind-controlled CIA slaves. The allegations were made by Cathy O'Brien in her autobiography Trance Formation of America, an extremely popular work within certain quarters of the conspiracy buff culture. In the book, O'Brien discussed her supposed abuse by a who's who list of powerful political officials and entertainment figures which she ties to Satanism and the Central Intelligence Agency.

One of her more vivid tales involves Mr. Cheney himself, while he was Chief of Staff for President Gerald Ford. Cathy described Cheney's participation in human hunts inspired by the classic Richard Connell short story, "The Most Dangerous Game." According to O'Brien, Cheney would hunt CIA sex slaves, which included herself, on private property. When he would catch his prey, he would sexually violate the victims as celebration.

O'Brien also claimed that Cheney had an "unusually large penis..."

Then, in a surprise move, Cheney directly addressed the charges. "Normally, I do not discuss fringe accusations made by conspiracy nuts and others who endorse strange beliefs, but the spurious claims made by Cathy O'Brien are so appalling, I must directly confront them. I can state for a fact that her personal claims against me are completely unfounded. I can prove it too." Archive.

Sept 15 2000 BBC Panorama: Project for the New American Century

"The Project for the New American Century [PNAC] was founded in 1997 by the right wing thinkers William Kristol and Robert Kagan.

This group is arguably one of the most influential in Washington and is thought to have a significant influence on - or at least to reflect - much of George Bush's view of the world.

The PNAC believes that America should use its power to shape the world and further American interests across the world - by military means if necessary.

It has some high profile sympathisers including US defence secretary Donald Rumsfeld, his deputy Paul Wolfowitz, John Bolton, the under-secretary of state for Arms Control and International Security and Richard Perle.

America's defence

All of these people were among a group of 18 who signed a letter from the PNAC to Bill Clinton in 1998 urging him to topple Saddam's regime.

The most important document produced by the group was published In September 2000, as Mr Bush was running for the presidency.

The report called "Rebuilding America's Defences" said that America's goal should be to "promote American global leadership".

It called for increased defence spending coupled with a strong foreign policy which promotes American democracy across the globe - all hallmarks of the current US foreign policy." Archive.

Relevant: 2003: Why America Needs War, The Project for The New American Century [PNAC] Archive.
2016: PNAC: a document between Israel & US to invade 7 Countries within 5 years to help usher in NWO. Archive.

Sept 15 2000 Conspiracy Mongers Continue to Denounce Government's Role in Waco

"For seven years, conspiracy mongers on the left and right have angrily denounced the government's role in Waco, accusing it of starting the shootout that began a 51-day standoff with religious cultists, setting the fire that ended it and then using snipers to murder any who attempted to flee the holocaust.

An entire industry of conspiracy materials has grown up around the 1993 standoff, and the antigovernment "Patriot" movement grew to prominence partly by describing the conflict as emblematic of the government's murderous treatment of dissenters.

Perhaps they should have waited.

This summer, two major blows hit the Waco conspiranoiacs. On July 15, a five-person advisory panel to a federal judge ruled that the government was not responsible for the gun battle that began the standoff with the Branch Davidians or the fire that ended it.

A week later, former Republican senator John Danforth — appointed by U.S. Atty. Gen. Janet Reno as special counsel in an independent probe that lasted 10 months — concluded officials had committed no "bad acts." Archive.

Relevant: 2015: Waco, What Really Happened.

Sept 15 2000 Tyson: Drug Stops Me From Killing

OzCW: Is former heavyweight boxer Mike Tyson in this rant admitting that he's a victim of mind control, trained to be a violent money-making thug controlled by drugs? In 2019 he admitted that he'd been hypnotised repeatedly as a child.

"During a bizarre, profanity-laced tirade Thursday, Mike Tyson said he's on anti-depressant medication for a reason.

"I'm on the Zoloft to keep me from killing y'all," he told reporters during a news conference to promote his Oct. 20 fight against Andrew Golota in Auburn Hills, Mich.

The state boxing commission in Michigan has expressed concern about Tyson taking the drug and the fact that he stops taking it before fights.

'Almost an Animal'

"It has really messed me up, and I don't want to be taking it, but they are concerned about the fact that I am a violent person, almost an animal," Tyson said. "And they only want me to be an animal in the ring." Archive.

Relevant: 2000: Tyson nearly kills opponent Golota a month later. 2014: Tyson tried black magic to avoid prison. 2000: The Wickedest Man in Oxford:

"Ayer...was entertaining a group of models at a New York party when a girl ran in screaming that her friend was being assaulted in a bedroom. The parties involved turned out to be Tyson and Naomi Campbell. "Do you know who... I am?" Tyson asked in disbelief when Ayer urged him to desist: "I'm the heavyweight champion of the world."

"And I am the former Wykeham professor of logic," Ayer answered politely. "We are both pre-eminent in our field. I suggest that we talk about this like rational men." Archive.

Sept 15 2000 As Banks Join, the Morgans, Rockefellers Aren't on Board

"This week, the Rockefellers and Morgans crossed paths again when Chase Manhattan Corp. agreed to acquire J.P. Morgan & Co., forming what company officials hope will be a banking powerhouse. But there no longer are any Rockefellers or Morgans among either institution's executive ranks.

Indeed, neither family has significant ownership in the banks, and the news was of little more than passing interest to many of the heirs. "I don't think that anybody in the family can have any emotional reaction. Nobody in the family had been really involved in the bank for a number of years," says John A. Morgan, a great-grandson of Pierpont Morgan and an investment banker himself at a small firm, New York's Morgan, Lewis Githens & Ahn Inc.

Which raises a question: What has happened to the heirs of two of the most famous titans of American business? Despite the proposed corporate marriage, the personal and financial fortunes of the families have followed drastically different paths." Archive.

Sept 16 2000 Women win payout for soldier's race abuse

"Two black women who were subjected to a barrage of racial abuse at an army base have been awarded thousands of pounds in compensation by a judge.

Sue Hunter and her sister Angie DeMeyer suffered chants of "nigger" and say they had guns pointed at them when they attended a dance at Oakington barracks, Cambridgeshire, in August 1995.

The women say their ordeal came at the hands of soldiers of the first battalion of the Cheshire regiment, based at the barracks, whose commander-in-chief is the Prince of Wales...

The MoD was condemned by Mrs Hunter, from Leicester. She said yesterday that several soldiers who had never been punished were involved: "What annoys me is the MoD's attitude towards the case, they have still not apologised."

She added: "They are despicable, I still haven't had anything from the Cheshire regiment. We still don't know what happened to the other four soldiers who abused us."

The two women went to the function as guests of the Cheshire regiment. Mrs DeMeyer's husband was a soldier with another regiment stationed on the base.

The court martial was told that Bragg first abused the two women when Mrs Hunter spoke up for a black soldier being racially abused by him." Archive.

Sept 17 2000 Ex-Banker Admits Guilt in Scheme: Couple Laundered Billions for Russians

"The murky plot behind one of the largest money-laundering cases ever became clearer today when a former Bank of New York executive and her husband admitted in federal court that they helped move billions of dollars out of Russia in a vast, secret scheme to avoid paying taxes and customs duties there. For four years, working at the behest of figures who controlled two Moscow banks, Lucy Edwards and Peter Berlin set up front companies, opened accounts, and eased the way for more than 160,000 electronic transactions worth more than $7 billion from banks in Russia to the Bank of New York and the rest of the world.

The scheme exploded into view last summer, when reports suggested that Russian organized crime was the source of the torrent of money moving through accounts maintained by a host of mysterious companies in the New York area. Federal officials acknowledged they were engaged in a sprawling worldwide search for clues.

The reality turned out to be less dramatic but still far-reaching." Archive.

Relevant: 2002: U.S. Investigators Missed Russian Mob in N.Y. Bank Scandal.

2022: Organized Crime, Intelligence Services, and the Bank of New York Money Laundering Scandal.

Sept 17 2000 Celebrating the Centennial of the Wonderful Wizard of Oz

“...It is not hard to imagine why Gardner ducked the original assignment. The two “Alice” books are more literate, intricate, and modernist than Baum’s “Wonderful Wizard,” and Lewis Carroll’s mind, laden with mathematical lore, chess moves, semantic puzzles, and the riddles of Victorian religion, was more susceptible to explication, at least by the like-minded Gardner. But Baum, Hearn shows in his introduction, was a complicated character, too—a Theosophist, an expert on poultry, a stagestruck actor and singer, a fine amateur photographer, an inventive household tinkerer, a travelling china salesman, and, only by a final shift, a children’s writer. He was forty-four when “The Wonderful Wizard of Oz” was published. His prior bibliography included a directory of stamp dealers, a treatise on the mating and management of Hamburg chickens, a definitive work entitled “The Art of Decorating Dry Goods Windows and Interiors” [also celebrating its centennial], and a few small volumes for children. Baum’s life [1856-1919] reflects the economic and ideological adventurism of his America.” Archive.

Relevant: 2010: The Wizard of Oz and Illuminati Mind Control.

2023: Wizard of Oz Esoteric Analysis: L. Frank Baum, Theosophy, Occultism & Cast Tragedies PART 1.

Sept 18 2000 A Tale of the Tape from the Days when it was still Micro Soft

“As Microsoft celebrates its 25th anniversary this month, the company is unlikely to call attention to another formative event 25 years ago: the day someone stole Bill Gates's software.

But the heist, now shrouded in equal parts mystery and industry folklore, gave an early glimpse of the hard-nosed approach Mr. Gates, Microsoft's chairman, has long taken to the software business. And the fierce debate that the theft ignited a quarter-century ago remains relevant today, as the industry engages in a war of words and lawsuits over whether computer software and digital information should be bought and sold or freely shared.

Even today, there is disagreement over who actually stole the software. But computer industry lore has it that on June 10, 1975, at a demonstration room set up in a Silicon Valley hotel suite, someone's stealthy hand reached into a cardboard box and removed a long roll of paper tape punched with holes. The tape contained Altair Basic, the programming language for the machine that heralded the birth of the personal computer era.

Written by William H. Gates and Paul G. Allen, the software, which would soon be renamed Micro Soft Basic, was one of the earliest programs of practical use for the first personal computer aimed at the hobbyist, the MITS Altair.” Archive.

Sept 18 2000 [Obituary: Paula Yates \[d. Sept 17\]](#)

"...Yates was born in Colwyn Bay, and brought up in the north Wales village of Rowen, near Llandudno. It was not a happy experience. In her autobiography, she described her mother, the former Bluebell dancer and actress H el ene Thornton-Bosment, as being "absent" for large portions of her childhood.

An only child, Yates wrote that, as a girl, she would sleep outside her mother's door in case she left in the night. The man she believed to be her father, the one-time presenter of Yorkshire Television's religious programme, Stars On Sunday, Jess Yates, left the family when Paula was eight, and her mother later admitted to a string of affairs.

After an itinerant childhood, overshadowed by abandonment and infidelity, Yates claimed to have experimented with sex and heroin at an early age. She left school at 16, and moved to London, where she became involved in the emerging punk scene. Besotted with Bob Geldof, then the lead singer of the Boomtown Rats, after meeting him at a party, she followed the band around on tour before beginning a relationship with him. The pair eventually married in Las Vegas in 1986, having been together for 10 years." Archive.

Relevant: 2000: Yates libel win for deceit allegation. 2012: Michael Hutchence auto-erotic asphyxiation? 2014: Peaches tried to confront Paula.

2018: Bob Geldof's cult of mysterious death... 2023: Everything you know is wrong: How the media misrepresented Paul Yates and continues to do so.

Sept 19 2000 Guinness trial breached human rights

"The trial of three businessmen convicted of colluding in an illegal share-fixing operation alongside former Guinness chairman Ernest Saunders breached their human rights, European judges have ruled. The prosecution's reliance on Department of Trade & Industry [DTI] interviews with Gerald Ronson, Sir Jack Lyons and Anthony Parnes during the Guinness fraud inquiry obliged the three men to incriminate themselves, said the Human Rights Court in Strasbourg.

But they rejected other claims by the three men that there had been "improper collusion" between police and the DTI, and that the trial had been unfair in any other way.

No damages were awarded but the judges gave the three men two months to submit claims for costs and expenses.

The Strasbourg judges reached a similar verdict in the case of Mr Saunders more than four years ago, dealing a major blow to efforts to tackle city corruption.” Archive.

Relevant: 1997: Law Report: Human rights infringed at Saunders trial.

Sept 19 2000 Black actor cast as English king

“The Royal Shakespeare Company has broken with its own traditions, casting a black actor in the role of an English monarch for the first time.

David Oyelowo, whose family are originally from Nigeria, will play the title role in the company's production of Henry VI Parts I, II and III, due to open this autumn.

The production will open at the Swan Theatre in Stratford-upon-Avon in November and will move to the Young Vic in London next April.

The production's director, Michael Boyd, said the casting had not been about colour but had been conducted on merit.

He said: "David really is a bit of a genius. It is colour blind casting, his son will be white and there is no hint of illegitimacy.”” Archive.

Sept 19 2000 Supermarkets “must go global”

“Food retailers will need to go global to succeed, Tesco, the UK's largest supermarket chain, has said in announcing half-year profits up 10.2%.

Tesco is moving from being a domestic player to being an international retailer of real scale Consolidation among supermarkets in leading nations and sales growth in emerging markets will prompt leading store chains to take an international outlook, said Tesco, which plans to run 130 hypermarkets abroad by 2002.

Tesco, announcing group sales up 10.7% to £10.1bn between March and August, also claimed to be the world's largest internet grocery business, with 750,000 registered customers and orders running at £60,000 per week.

Terry Leahy, Tesco's chief executive, said: "These are strong results, reflecting the successful implementation of our strategy."

International giant

"Tesco is moving from being a domestic player to being an international retailer of real scale, giving us a strong position in the league of major international retailers." Archive.

OzCW: Tesco is a WEF member, which explains its 2000 push for globalisation. Expansion seemed to be going quite well into 14 countries until 2020.

In 2024 they have banned cash payments in their cafes and are trialling cashier-free checkouts. Boycott Tesco if you want to save Ethel's job!

Relevant: 2013: Tesco's ex-chief Sir Terry Leahy attacked by predecessor. 2014: Sir Terry Leahy 'shocked' by events at Tesco. 2015: Sir Terry Leahy: Tesco 'eroded customers' trust' 2022: We are Nova: Fund backed by Terry Leahy in Covid inquiry.

Sept 19 2000 Dr Steven Greer: Uncovering the big UFO cover-up

"Dr Steven Greer, a physician and former Chairman of the Department of Emergency Medicine at Caldwell Memorial Hospital in North Carolina, USA, is widely considered an authority on UFO and extraterrestrial phenomena. In 1991 he founded CSETI [the Center for the Study of Extraterrestrial Intelligence] as a "world-wide organization dedicated to establishing peaceful and sustainable relations with extraterrestrial life forms."

As part of CSETI, Greer subsequently founded Project Starlight, an attempt to uncover the best scientific evidence regarding UFOs. Since 1993, Greer and other Project Starlight members have provided preliminary briefings on the UFO phenomenon for the US White House staff, a sitting director of the US Central Intelligence Agency, senior military leaders, senior UN leadership, members of the US Senate and House of Representatives, international leaders, and leaders in foreign governments.

Greer has placed particular emphasis on "identifying military, intelligence, government contractor and other government agency employees with direct, first-hand knowledge of the UFO/ET subject." Greer says he has found 107 such government witnesses. In April of this year, 15 of these witnesses testified in CSETI-sponsored briefings held in Washington, DC. Among those in attendance were representatives of more than two dozen US Congressional offices, VIPs from the Executive branch of government and the Pentagon, representatives of the Dutch Embassy, the National Academy of Sciences, and two state Governors' offices. Major print and broadcast media representatives attended a separate briefing. Participants received numerous government and military documents related to UFOs, as well as a video and photographic summary tape..." Archive.

Relevant: 2012: A smear campaign against Steven Greer. 2016: Steven Greer is a controversial figure.

Sept 20 2000 Nun guilty of terrorising girls in care

"A nun who beat, force fed and humiliated vulnerable girls in her care at children's homes run by the Catholic church was yesterday found guilty of four charges of cruel and unnatural treatment.

From the 1960s to the early 1980s, Sister Alphonso, also known as Marie Docherty, was said to have conducted a reign of terror at Sisters of Nazareth children's homes in Aberdeen and Midlothian. During the six week trial at Aberdeen sheriff court, 21 women gave evidence of horrific treatment meted out by the 58-year-old nun.

They told of beatings, a child forced to watch over a dead nun, another told she would die when she started menstruating and a victim of a fit being put into a freezing bath.

Sister Alphonso originally faced 23 charges of child cruelty. However, two of the charges were dropped and Sheriff Colin Harris directed the jury to find her not guilty on 14 more as there was not enough evidence for conviction. A further three charges were found not proven." Archive.

Relevant: 2017: The Testimony of Sister Charlotte – Murdered for Telling Horrific Story of Satanic Ritual Abuse within the Roman Catholic Church.

Sept 20 2000 Guilty: Verdict on Cruel Nun – Sister of No Mercy

"...Irrespective of the verdict of her trial on charges of cruel and unnatural behaviour, the Church faces compensation claims in excess of pounds 6million.

Around 300 men and women who stayed at the four children's homes run by The Poor Sisters of Nazareth have launched actions for damages...

One after another they took the stand, telling of the unhappy, disturbed childhoods they are still trying to come to terms with...

Many were abandoned by parents who could not cope - one woman went to Nazareth House after her father was murdered.

When the time came for Sister Alphonso to defend herself, one thing became clear.

The question at the centre of the trial was not whether she had behaved cruelly towards children, but whether her behaviour was acceptable by the standards of the day.

Sister Alphonso admitted striking and force-feeding children at Nazareth House in Aberdeen in the 1960s, but at a time when corporal punishment was thought normal, she believed it was the correct way to discipline children.

During one incident, she hit a girl over the head with a book, despite the fact that the child had just been released from hospital with a head injury.

She said: "It wasn't done maliciously. It was the natural thing to do. I wasn't in a temper. I just happened to have the book in my hand. Nobody ever said to us, 'Do not hit the children!'" Archive.

Relevant: 2022: Tuam babies: Excavation at mass grave could begin this year.

Sept 20 2000 ECCLES GATE; A new crisis for Labour... but Blair & Brown deny lying over Formula 1 boss' pounds 1M party gift

"TONY Blair and Gordon Brown last night hit back at claims they hid the truth about a pounds 1million donation to Labour saying: "We're no liars".

The Prime Minister and the Chancellor are said to have misled the nation over the cash from motor racing tycoon Bernie Ecclestone.

The gift was made before a decision to exempt Mr Ecclestone's Formula 1 organisation from a ban on tobacco advertising.

Mr Brown is accused of saying on radio that he did not know about the donation - although he had already been told by Mr Blair.

The Premier is alleged to have been drawn into the cover-up when he said on TV that he had decided before the issue arose to tell Lord Neill's public standards committee about the donation.

As Tories demanded Mr Brown's sacking or resignation, a Labour Party spokesman fiercely denied that Mr Blair had misled the nation or lied about the Ecclestone payment." Archive.

Relevant: 2000: The funding scandal that won't go away. 2008: Blair intervened over F1 tobacco ban exemption, documents show. 2008: The Ecclestone Affair: Labour's first funding scandal. 2022: In 2017 Ecclestone was replaced as Formula 1 CEO – and praised Putin for his restraint in Ukraine.

Sept 20 2000 How the Ecclestone affair unfolded:

"The prime minister is reported to have feared that the Bernie Ecclestone affair would finish his career. But whether the claims are to be believed depends on who knew what and when. The saga began in 1997, even before Labour won its election landslide.

This is how events appeared to unfold:

January 1997 F1 chief Mr Ecclestone donates £1m to the Labour Party, although this is not made public at the time.

May 1 Labour wins a landslide victory in the general election, promising to end government sleaze after a series of scandals under the Conservatives.

May 19 Health Secretary Frank Dobson announces the government will ban all sports sponsorship by tobacco companies.

During the summer, Labour fund-raisers begin secret talks with Mr Ecclestone about a possible second donation, but later break off the discussions.

October 16 1997 Mr Blair has a meeting with Mr Ecclestone, but the discussions remain private." Archive.

Sept 21 2000 15-year-old Admits Hacking NASA Computers

"A 15-year-old computer hacker caused a 21-day shutdown of NASA computers that support the international space station, and invaded a Pentagon weapons computer system to intercept 3,300 e-mails, steal passwords and cruise around like an employee.

The boy, known on the Internet as “c0mrade,” pleaded guilty today to juvenile delinquency in a sealed federal case...

He became the first young hacker to be incarcerated for computer crimes, the Justice Department in Washington said in a summary.

He will serve six months in a state detention facility.” Archive.

Sept 21 2000 New economy luvvies get more than you think and work is fun

“The future looks bright for dotcom flyers - the average bubble economy worker makes more than $100,000 a year while their boss runs around organising their dry cleaning.

A survey has revealed there are 2.5 million black polo neck new media luvvy-types in the US. They love their jobs, they take their pets to work, they're young and hip and they're far too busy enjoying their jobs to take holidays.

What's more, they are so valuable that their bosses will basically do anything except wipe their arses to keep them from straying to a cyber-rival - including free massages, stock options and dry cleaning.

Meanwhile, they're rolling in it - the average Internet staffer makes $104,000 per year - including $84,000 salary and benefits. That's three times the national average...

Apparently, 51 per cent of them claim to be "very happy" [how dare they!], while 14 per cent say they regularly put in more than 12 hours a day [only 13 per cent get paid for overtime]...

"But it wasn't all about money. It was fun. What other job could a college graduate walk into at 10am wearing shorts and sandals? And spend days with his dog at his feet, working on projects that required real brain power - then leave at 9pm with a belly full of free food, a few happy-hour beers and a big fat check?"

O2CW: So in 2000, the AVERAGE US internet staffer made $104K. In 2024, according to Forbes the MEDIAN US IT worker’s salary is $104K. What does that tell us? A few facts:

This 2022 article describes the development of salaries in tech in the US from 2001–2019: “Salaries in 2000 were already 10% higher than the previous year and, apart from information science majors, were well above the national average starting salary of $39,824.” Google whistle blower Zach Vorhies in 2019 was earning $260K per annum (at 14:55).

Sept 21 2000 The Philadelphia Experiment from A-Z

“It has been claimed that the Philadelphia Experiment was partly an investigation into how Albert Einstein's "Unified Field Theory for Gravitation and Electricity" might be used to advantage in the development of electronic camouflage for ships at sea. Einstein allegedly published his Unified Theory around 1925-27 in German, in a Prussian scientific journal, but it was later withdrawn as incomplete. This research was aimed at using intense electromagnetic fields to mask a ship from incoming projectiles, mainly torpedoes. This was later extended to include a study of creating radar invisibility by a similar field in the air rather than in the water.

The story begins in June of 1943, with the U.S.S. Eldridge, DE [Destroyer Escort] 173, being fitted with tons of experimental electronic equipment. This included, according to one source, two massive generators of 75 KVA each, mounted where the forward gun turret would have been, distributing their power through four magnetic coils mounted on the deck. Three RF transmitters [2 megawatt CW each, mounted on the deck], three thousand '6L6' power amplifier tubes [used to drive the field coils of the two generators], special synchronizing and modulation circuits, and a host of other specialized hardware were employed to generate massive electromagnetic fields which, when properly configured, would be able to bend light and radio waves around the ship, thus making it invisible to enemy observers...” Archive.

Sept 21 2000 MI6 Bombed: two “massive” blasts on 7th floor of spy centre

“TWO explosions rocked the MI6 headquarters in London last night.

Eyewitnesses reported hearing two blasts near the secret service HQ at Vauxhall Bridge.

Emergency services raced to the scene, south of the River Thames, around 9.50pm.

Police immediately sealed off the entire area while firefighters tackled the blaze.

There were no reports of casualties.

*The building - which was shown being attacked by terrorists in the James Bond film The World Is Not Enough - houses the headquarters of Britain's international spying operation.*

The blast was heard by residents living near the secret service nerve centre.

They said the explosions came from the top of the building "near the seventh floor"." Archive.

To our surprise, there don't seem to be any conspiracy theories surrounding this event. We wonder why? Might it be because no one would really care if MI6 was wiped out?

Relevant: 2000: MI6 attack weapon identified.

Sept 21 2000 What does MI6 do?

"Just one of Britain's secret intelligence agencies, MI6 is primarily concerned with information gathering outside the UK.

Established in 1912, the agency was known in full as Military Intelligence, section six, and did not officially exist for many years.

Are SIS agents more like James Bond than we thought?

This meant that for the best part of a century ministers did not have to answer questions about it in Parliament.

However, following pressure to make the service accountable, the then prime minister, John Major, changed its existence from an open secret into an accepted part of state machinery with the Intelligence Services Act of 1994.

Since the end of the Cold War, its axis has shifted away from the "Soviet threat" to the fight against terrorist groups and organised crime, such as drug-smuggling cartels." Archive.

Relevant: 2023: How much influence does MI6 have in world events and who do they answer to?
2024: MI6 Created Hamas and Radical Islam.

Sept 22 2000 Ex-spy chief says CIA helped him set up Pinochet's secret police

"For Chileans, the most explosive item was evidence that the head of the secret police under the military regime, Manuel Contreras - a senior adviser to the regime's leader, Augusto Pinochet - was a double agent and briefly on the CIA's payroll.

Mr Contreras immediately denied the CIA accusations. They were in retaliation, he maintained, for his action in passing a stack of secret documents to US investigators in April.

"The FBI is working to establish the truth [about CIA collaboration with Pinochet's secret police]... The CIA is quite worried that the judicial investigation will reach them," Mr Contreras said in an interview from his jail cell at Punta Peuco, a prison for military officials convicted of human rights violations during the military regime." Archive.

Relevant: 2015: The Untold Story of Manuel Contreras and the CIA.

Sept 26 2000 Protests mar IMF meetings

"PRAGUE, Czech Republic [CNNfn] - As thousands of anti-globalization demonstrators clashed with police at the International Monetary Fund and World Bank meetings Tuesday, it was business as usual for delegates inside attending the bank and fund's opening ceremonies.

Determined not to be swayed by the protests, finance officials from the IMF and World Bank's member countries mulled in and around the vast conference center -- nonchalant if not oblivious to the action outside, except for what they could see through the huge windows lining the southwestern side of the building.

Meanwhile, governors of 182 countries stood and presented their views of a new world where globalization and cooperation would help benefit all nations, particularly the poorer ones. graphic "We cannot turn globalization back," said James Wolfensohn, president of the World Bank. "Our challenge is to make globalization an instrument of opportunity and inclusion -- not fear and insecurity. With all the forces making the world smaller, it is time to change our way of thinking, time to realize we live together in one world, not two -- this poverty is in our community wherever we live. It is our responsibility." Archive.

Relevant: 2024: Kenya's IMF protests expose African fury with IMF.

27 Sept 2000 Billionaire Buffett takes a swipe at Rich Kids Living Off Trust Funds

“When billionaire Warren Buffett hears his friends complain about poor people dependent on government handouts, he starts complaining about rich kids dependent on their parents’ trust funds. “I hear friends talk about the debilitating effects of food stamps and the self-perpetuating nature of welfare and how terrible that is,” Buffett said yesterday at Columbia University. “These same people are leaving tons of money to their kids, whose main achievement in life had been to emerge from the right womb. And when they emerge from that womb, instead of a welfare officer, they have a trust fund officer. Instead of food stamps, they get dividends and interest.” He acknowledged that his own kids “started out way ahead in the race of life.” But “I don’t believe in accentuating that by passing along the chips that would enable them to command the resources of society without contributing to society. I believe in leaving them enough so they can do anything — but not enough so they can do nothing.” Buffett, who heads the Nebraska-based Berkshire Hathaway investment company and was recently estimated by Forbes magazine to have a personal worth of $28 billion, has three children... Buffett, a Democratic Party supporter, appeared at Columbia alongside New York Senate candidate Hillary Rodham Clinton and gave her his personal endorsement.” Archive.

Relevant: 2014: Video “Warren Buffett, the Butcher of Omaha.” Buffett donated $1.2 billion to abortion group, including Planned Parenthood.

Sept 28 2000 Eat fat, get thin

OzCW: In our opinion, since the World Wars the globalists have deliberately destroyed our healthier lifestyles. We might have been poorer but we were in better shape. Not everybody had a car. We ate better: more food was seasonal and grown locally, there was no GMO. Large supermarkets were not widespread in the UK until the eighties so we walked to the high street shops, where we chatted to people – there were no mobile phones.

Since the end of rationing in the 40s, we have been tempted by advertising, media and corporates into materialism and gluttony and in the process some of us got fat and needed to shed a few pounds.

Here is celebrity chef Nigella Lawson, who was married to Charles Saatchi. She, like her father Nigel [d. 1993] who was the former British chancellor and a Baron, had put on some weight. She was selling the Atkins diet. [Nigel Lawson was enormous and also sold a diet book.]

The recipes she suggests look very expensive...but very tasty.

“Nigella Lawson, author and cook, reveals how she easily lost weight on a diet that lets you cook with butter and eat 'great wedges of brie'...

I ate this once at the Brompton Brasserie in South Kensington, and started making it at home. It's simply a hamburger with a fried egg on top, criss-crossed with anchovies - heaven. It is much better if you chop the meat for the burger yourself. Ideally, you'll have a mincer, but I just put the not-too-lean chuck steak, cubed, in the processor. Of course, you could do this with bought mince, but I'm only happy to eat butcher's mince.” Archive.

Sept 28 2000 Nickleodeon Ad Break [VIDEO from the Internet Archive]

OzCW: Video from Nickelodeon Australia showing how we, along with our children, continued to be dumbed down by TV.

Smutty double entendres [beavers] and “scoring” boys girly-dancing in the mirror [being groomed?] at the gym; cartoon babies; Alice-in-Wonderland effects and nasty clowns. Fragmented, frenetic and confusing; zero educational or uplifting content.

Sept 28 2000 Gaddafi is a Freemason

“Camp Zeist, Netherlands - A Libyan double agent testifying in the Lockerbie bombing trial claimed on Wednesday that Libyan leader Muammar Gaddafi was a Freemason.

Under cross-examination by a lawyer for two Libyans accused of planting the bomb which destroyed a Pan American airliner over Lockerbie, Scotland in 1988, Abdul Majid Giaka was suddenly asked: "How did you discover that Colonel Gaddafi is a Mason?"

It was one of the few times the Libyan leader's name has been evoked during the trial and Majid, a Libyan agent in Malta who turned CIA informer and defected to the United States in 1991, at first refused to answer the question.

But after presiding judge Lord Randal Sutherland instructed the witness to respond, Majid said: "I know that from a person, but I cannot divulge the identify of that person. That person is in Libya."

Defence lawyer Richard Keen told the court that Majid made the claim to his CIA contacts and said that the Libyan foreign minister and Maltese president at the time were also members of the secretive Masonic order." Archive.

Relevant: 2011: We came, we saw, he died: What Hillary Clinton told news reporter moments after hearing of Gaddafi's death. VIDEO: 2016: Hillary's War Crime: The Murder of Muammar Gaddafi. "We Came, we Saw, he Died." 2019: What Gaddafi did for his people.

Sept 29 2000 Paedophile videos stun Italians

"Italian police have discovered a massive international paedophile network selling violent child-pornography videos to clients in Italy, the US and Germany.

Eight Italians have been arrested and 490 warned that they are under investigation, in a scandal that has shocked and outraged the country. Police are reportedly trying to identify 5,000 people who are suspected of attempting to purchase the videos, some of which appear to contain images of children being tortured and murdered.

The tapes, which were made in Russia, have allegedly generated revenues of £410m for their makers. The directors of two state-run television news programmes resigned yesterday after brief excerpts of the paedophile videos were broadcast on Wednesday to illustrate reports. The images were apparently taken from internet sites promoting the pornographic films, which cost anything from £270 to £4,000." Archive.

Relevant: 2022: Pedophilia: Italian bishops announce internal investigation. The Italian Bishops' Conference chose to not entrust the investigation into sexual abuse to an independent commission, to the dismay of victims' associations.

Sept 30 2000 Conspiracy theories and Paula Yates

“Julie Burchill: I met Paula Yates when we were both 17, and we loathed each other from the word go... she envied my cred, I envied her confidence.

And the cant just keeps on coming - last weekend, the death of Paula Yates continued to push wars, famine and the fallout from Big Brother Bernie Ecclestone off the front pages of the nation's newspapers. If one is of a conspiracist set of mind, one might imagine that Paula had been sleeping with the president [sorry, prime minister], perhaps - as her great heroine Marilyn Monroe had done in her day - and that, when she threatened, in a last desperate midnight phone call to make their affair public, MI5 was sent in to do their stuff with a vodka bottle and a hypodermic. Just in time for the party conference.

What's that, you say? It's a load of old codswallop? Well, yes, if you want to nitpick. But it's certainly no more ludicrous than the rest of the swill that has been written about this woman since her death. The one truly alarming thing that Yates's death did reveal to me was not about the madness of modern society, but rather about the silliness of serious newspapers. It revealed, rather shockingly, that the broadsheet press is now home to even more Sob Sisters than the traditionally mocked tabloids.” Archive.

Sept 30 2000 The idea of a lifetime: In a business culture that increasingly celebrates anything new - paradigms, economies, technologies - Jack Bogle has been carting around the same old notions for decades

“In 1974, after he was fired as president of Wellington Management Co., Bogle, then 45, founded Vanguard Group on a powerfully simple idea: The best money management is inexpensive money management.

For a long time, his was a solitary voice. Cost consciousness didn't appeal either to fund managers or to investors who searched for the next hot stock picker. Nevertheless, Bogle didn't waver in his devotion to this basic principle. He structured Vanguard as one of the first mutual fund companies to be owned by its fund shareholders and not by a separate group of investors.” Archive.

Relevant: 2023: Vanguard cites shunned founder Jack Bogle to deflect criticism after epic ESG flip-flop, extolling the founder's 'whole haystack' investing strategy versus finding the 'needle'.

October 2000 Links Most Relevant to Today

Drill in preparation for 911 [from here].

Oct 1 2000 Technology in Your Community: A Community Conversation Guide: Designed to push tech onto children and parents, this organisation is still operating.

Oct 4 2000 Justin Trudeau's eulogy: More than anything, to me, he was dad. The young Trudeau's hypocrisy in this article is staggering. In 2024 he hasn't changed.

Oct 6 2000 CIA and drug firms out to get me, Mbeki says. Big Pharma's on everyone's case in 2024. In August 2024, a plane full of good doctors just came down.

Oct 7 2000 The Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation Announces New HIV/AIDS Grants at World AIDS Conference – donating to the UN Population Fund, Planned Parenthood [who introduced an abortion pill] and others.

Oct 8 2000 Forgotten Children – the background to the children’s homes scandals. Very little has changed in the UK’s children homes in two decades.

Oct 9 2000 Human-pig embryo accusation provokes debate. Things have deteriorated over the years: 2024: Pigs With Human Brain Cells and Biological Chips: How Lab-Grown Hybrid Life Forms Are Bamboozling Scientific Ethics.

Oct 10 2000 Growing Vaccinated Fruits and Vegetables. More Frankenscience in preparation for Covid?

Oct 10 2000 Hinduja Family charmed its way into the heart of British society. Feted by the msm in 2000, in 2024 the Hindujas were charged with human trafficking and convicted of exploitation.

Oct 11 2000 X.com Scraps Bank Strategy To Focus on PayPal System. Musk was moving into PayPal.

Oct 15 2000 Power list reflects business on the rise. This 2000 “Power List” is topped by Tony Blair and Gordon Brown. Six of the other top ten were in banking or commerce. Fulfilling Mussolini’s [alleged] definition of fascism.

Oct 15 2000 [HIV gag mRNA transfection of dendritic cells \[DC\] delivers encoded antigen to MHC class I and II molecules, causes DC maturation, and induces a potent human in vitro primary immune response](#). Two of the listed authors of this article will go on to win the Nobel Prize for helping add mRNA to vaccines.

Oct 17 2000 Blackstone Acquires Debt on 7 World Trade Center. In preparation for 9/11.

Oct 17 2000 LIVERPOOL CONTINUES PROTEST OVER ASYLUM-SEEKERS. The protests continue but have had no effect.

Oct 19 2000 ISO: the quality you can't feel. ISO9000 is still dragging on in 2024, yet people were seeing through it in 2000.

Oct 20 2000 BSE disaster: the history. In 2000, research exposing BSE as a reaction to pesticides was suppressed, allegedly in the interests of Big Pharma. Yet in 2023 there was an alleged case reported in the UK msm...all at a time when more people recognise the war being waged on our food supply.

Oct 24 2000 Cocktail Napkin Primer: Osama Bin Laden – Who is Osama Bin Laden? The man who they will scapegoat for 9/11 – is this msm pre-programming?

Oct 24 2000 The Pentagon Simulates a Commercial Plane Striking the Pentagon in preparation for 9/11.

Oct 26 2000 Should we have faith in central banks? No is the answer in 2024 as they scheme towards CBDCs.

October 2000 Summary

Adsum Tecum [I Am with you] print by Bob Moran, available here.

The globalists were scaremongering over resources running out. Richard Branson was scaremongering over the ozone layer. The msm was scaremongering over the BSE scam and climate change.

In the US:

- McDonald's bowed to animal rights pressure.
- Planned Parenthood introduced an abortion pill. And sex was all over the msm.
- Children needed tech, we were told [decades on parents say they don't].

- Demon possession was in the news – but Elizabeth Loftus said it didn't exist. Exorcism was flourishing nonetheless.
- Rock music had Jewish roots.
- Frank Sinatra had liaised between the mob and JFK.
- More Frankenscientists were adding mRNA to vaccines – for which they will be awarded the 2023 Nobel Prize.
- Blackstone bought into the World Trade Center, a plane flying into the Pentagon was rehearsed and we were introduced to Osama bin Laden. All in preparation for 9/11.
- Hillary snubbed “anti-Semitic” Moslem donors.
- There was a conference on Homeland Protection.
- The web had/has a dark side.
- There was a grisly murder in a cult.
- Bush and Gore were/are blueblood cousins.
- Stella Rimington's MI5 memoirs were incomplete.
- Microsoft was hacked.
- The Safra murder was reported on.
- Musk was moving into PayPal.
- Justin Trudeau was the hypocrite he is.

In the UK:

- The Brits are/were involved in snuff films.
- Tony Blair was atop the power list.
- Sotheby's pled guilty to price-fixing.
- Isabel Maxwell was visiting.
- The children's homes scandals were burgeoning.
- Nigella Lawson upset Guardian readers, but how?
- The Hinduja brothers had infiltrated high society.
- Like Dracula, the royals didn't/don't eat garlic.
- Queen Elizabeth was given a weed bouquet [cannabis was less harmful than aspirin, we read].
- A Welsh minister was a tranny.
- Liverpool was protesting asylum seekers.
- Branding was being debated.
- ISO9000 was a scam.
- "Petie" Mandelson's scandals were catching up with him.
- Sir Paul was in love with Heather Mills.
- There were vaccine blunders in a hospital.

- Brits were intolerant [whatever that meant].
- Child torturer PM Edward Heath stood down.
- Prince Andrew was cured of smacking.
- Young Brits were being dumbed down by tech – just as planned.
- The Guardian gave a lesson in witchcraft.
- A Hindu priest was a blackmailer.
- The BBC moved.
- David Irving was in court.

In the rest of the world:

- Young people were being abused in Cambodia.
- Horrific snuff images appeared on Italian TV.
- In South Africa, the CIA were after president Thabo Mbeki. At the same time, the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation were funding vaccines for African children.
- In Germany, Frankenscientists were trying to create a human pig and politicians moved to ban a far right party.
- Chilean police raided the “torture colony” Colonia Dignidad.
- In New Zealand an abusive father went to jail.
- In Paraguay, the Moonies bought a town.

- Had Atlantis been in Greece?
- In Libya, Gaddafi relaxed the dress code.

And in between all that, you'll find the odd conspiracy post as the summer ended and autumn set in.

October 2000 Links

"World Trade Center , New York , USA" by Nouhailer is licensed under CC BY-SA 2.0.

October 2000 PDF: Revisiting The Limits to Growth: Could the Club of Rome be Correct After All?
An Energy White Paper

OzCW: The 2000 white paper linked above was written by billionaire Matthew R Simmons, who worked with Bush and was heavily invested in the Peak Oil scam – the idea that the oil is running out, which in 2024 it has not yet. In fact, there is so much oil that we have to “Just Stop” it.

Note that on page 3, Simmons scoffs at economists who did not buy the globalists' Malthusianism. Also note the deaths of four economists before 2010: were one or more these deceased "energy economists" who did not buy into the scaremongering?

Also worthy of note is that in 2024 globalist eugenicist Klaus Schwab is talking about the same book Limits to Growth as he tries to push their depopulation agenda.

"In the early 1970s, a book was published entitled, The Limits To Growth, a report of the Club of Rome's project on the predicament of mankind. Its conclusions were stunning. It was ultimately published in 30 languages and sold over 30 million copies. According to a sophisticated MIT computer model, the world would ultimately run out of many key resources. These limits would become the "ultimate" predicament to mankind.

Over the past few years, I have heard various energy economists lambast this "erroneous" work done. Often the book has been portrayed as the literal "poster child" of misinformed Malthusian" type thinking that misled so many people into believing the world faced a short mania 30 years ago. Obviously, there were no "The Limits To Growth". The worry that shortages would rule the day as we neared the end of the 20th Century became a bad joke. Instead of shortages, the last two decades of the 20th Century were marked by glut. The world ended up enjoying significant declines in almost all commodity prices. Technology and efficiency won. The Club of Rome and its "nay-saying" disciples clearly lost!

The critics of this flawed work still relish in pointing out how wrong this theory turned out to be. A Foreign Affairs story published this past January, entitled Cheap Oil, forecast two decades of a pending oil glut. In this article, the Club of Rome's work was scorned as being the source document which led an entire generation of wrong-thinking people to believe that energy supplies would run short."

Relevant: 2021: The Club of Rome Invents Bogeymen to Terrorize Mankind. 2023: Dr. John Coleman: Club of Rome responsible for SATANIC depopulation and transhumanist agendas. Archive.

October 2000 McDonald's Stops Worst Abuse of Chickens and Other Farmed Animals

"In 1997, PETA called on McDonald's to make improvements for animals before they become Big Macs and McNuggets, holding news conferences and demonstrations around the country. After a 'Day of Action' in October generated dozens of protests around the country, McDonald's invited PETA into negotiations. Negotiations proved fruitless, so PETA launched a campaign against McDonald's in 1999 that lasted 11 months and included more than 400 demonstrations at McDonald's restaurants in more than 23 countries, as well as advertising and celebrity involvement. In September 2000, McDonald's agreed to make basic but important animal-welfare improvements, which are the only protection for chickens in factory farms because the Animal Welfare and Humane Slaughter acts do not cover birds". Archive.

Winter 2000-PDF: Welcome to the rape camp: sexual exploitation and the internet in Cambodia

"In October 1999, an American living in Phnom Penh, Cambodia announced that he was adding a live bondage sex show to his Internet site [Deutsche Presse-Agentur, 14 October 1999]. His pornography web site, "Rape Camp," featured "Asian sex slaves" who were used for "bondage, discipline and humiliation." The women on the web site were blindfolded, gagged and/or bound with ropes while being used in sex acts; some had clothespins clipped to their breasts [Xinhua News Agency, 8 November 1999]. Viewers were encouraged to "humiliate these Asian sex slaves to your hearts content" [Welcome to the Rape Camp, March 2000]."

October 2000: Interview with Richard Branson, Pilot

"NOVA: Our main focus is the science and technology behind this kind of ballooning: the meteorology, the atmospheric layers—what do you think students can learn by following your adventure?"

BRANSON: Well, I think there's a lot that could come out of this. And obviously, from our own personal point of view, the principal challenge is a personal challenge. But quite often from personal challenges, science is pushed forward—for instance, the ozone layer, which is being damaged by all the pollution that's being pumped into it. It's very difficult to know just how badly damaged it is and in what particular place in the world it's the most damaged. If we're successful in flying around the world in a manned balloon, and if we craft the technology for other manned ballooned attempts to take place in the future, then the ozone—testing equipment that we're taking on in this trip could become commonplace in other manned balloons in future years. And by really carefully monitoring how badly the ozone is being damaged, that can alert countries and governments to act much quicker than they, perhaps, have acted up to now. I think that could be one of the most important things that comes from this trip as far as future science is concerned." Archive.

Relevant: 2019: Branson and Blair in Epstein's black book.

October 2000 PDF: Papers from the US Conference on Homeland Protection.. to ensure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defence...

Page 57: In our own era, with its conspiracy theories and widespread mistrust of big government, many Americans, like their forebears, are too easily inclined to view the armed upholders of federal authority as the primary threat to the homeland. 72

Note 72 p 66:

72. As Benjamin Lincoln advised George Washington 7 years before the Whiskey Rebellion: Love and Fear are the bonds of civil Society. Love is the noblest incentive to obedience; a Government supported hereon is certainly the most desirable, and ensures the first degrees of happiness which can be derived from civil compact. Such a Government as this is always wounded, when any thing shall exist which makes it necessary to apply to the fears of the governed. This never will be done by a wise administration, unless the General Good renders it indispensable, and it will be removed the first moment it can be, consistently with the common safety.

Oct 1 2000 British link to "snuff" videos

"Britain is a key link in the biggest ever international investigation into the production and supply of paedophile 'snuff' movies - in which children are murdered on film - an Observer investigation can reveal.

The key suspect in the inquiry, a Russian who was arrested last week in Moscow for distribution of thousands of sadistic child porn videos and pictures, was traced following the seizure of his products from British paedophiles.

Dmitri Vladimirovich Kuznetsov, a 30-year-old former car mechanic in Moscow, was identified after British Customs and police traced the origin of violent child porn videos found in the UK back to Russia. Last week Italian police seized 3,000 of Kuznetsov's videos on their way to clients in Italy, sparking an international hunt for paedophiles who have bought his products. The Italian investigators say the material includes footage of children dying during abuse. Prosecutors in Naples are considering charging those who have bought the videos with complicity in murder. They say some may have specifically requested films of killings." Archive.

Oct 1 2000 Technology in Your Community: A Community Conversation Guide

"Many people feel they don't understand technology well enough to make reasonable judgments or decisions. They worry that they won't be able to learn enough to make a difference in how technology is used in their own communities or the larger society. To what degree can community organizations help?"

Technology may not be the first concern of a community-based organization. As technology becomes more prevalent, however, agencies are faced with increasingly complex questions about what role technology should play in their work and in their communities. Several areas need to be considered:

Can technology be used to help serve the community better? Some tools that might be useful to an organization are databases for keeping track of membership, Internet access to keep up with the latest developments in the field, or mobile technologies that streetworkers can use to connect people to shelter or emergency services." Archive.

Relevant: 2024 Thousands of parents say they regret giving kids smartphones.

Oct 2 2000 Demon Possession: can it happen?

"The October 2, 2000 issue of Time had this article about demon possession.

According to Father Gabriele Amorth, exorcist for the Diocese of Rome, the heir to the throne of St. Peter recently spent half an hour struggling-literally-with a demon from hell. Pope John Paul II was conducting his regular Wednesday audience when there was reportedly a disturbance in the front row. A 19-year old woman began screaming insults in what Italian newspapers called "a cavernous voice". Struggling with guards, she displayed "a superhuman strength".

The frail Pontiff did not hesitate. After the apparent demoniac was hurried to a secluded area, he prayed over her, hugged her and promised to celebrate a Mass for her the next day.

After the Pontiff left, a voice was heard to speak through her: "Not even the head of the church can send me away."

Demon possession is spoken of in the Bible. Jesus cast out demons and He gave his Jewish apostles and disciples the authority to do so. The question is: Do Catholic exorcists have the authority to cast out demons? Those who have truly put their faith in Christ can, but what about those who are simply practicing ritual?

First of all, can a person be "possessed" by a demon? I have seen evidence of this, but many so called possessions are just simply illnesses of some kind because I have seen people's behavior change dramatically when they were simply given the proper medication. The term "possessed" never appears in the Greek bible!" Archive.

Oct 3 2000 What Stella Left Out: The truth about MI5's role in the miners' strike will not come out in Rimington's memoirs

"Attitudes to the miners' strike of 1984-5 have undergone a sea-change in the past decade. The realisation that the Thatcher government really was intent on the destruction of the coal industry - sealed by John Major's politically disastrous pit closures programme of 1992 - has cast new light on the miners' resistance. Films such as Billy Elliot and Brassed Off have rammed home the devastation of the pit communities. Labour movement rage at the recent indulgence shown by police and oil companies to fuel tax protesters - including hauliers who once rampaged through National Union of Mineworkers' pickets - was heightened by the contrast with the treatment meted out to the miners. Last week, John Prescott told Labour's conference that the coalfield communities had been "destroyed by the prejudice of the Thatcher regime".

In such a climate, it is perhaps not surprising that the security establishment appears to have prevailed on Stella Rimington, former head of MI5, to cut passages from her memoirs about its role during Britain's most important industrial dispute since the General Strike." Archive.

Oct 4 2000 Justin Trudeau's eulogy: More than anything, to me, he was dad

"Pierre Elliott Trudeau. The very words convey so many things to so many people. Statesman, intellectual, professor, adversary, outdoorsman, lawyer, journalist, author, prime minister. But more than anything, to me, he was dad.

And what a dad. He loved us with the passion and the devotion that encompassed his life. He taught us to believe in ourselves, to stand up for ourselves, to know ourselves and to accept responsibility for ourselves....

But at eight, I was becoming politically aware. And I recognized one, whom I knew to be one of my father's chief rivals. Thinking of pleasing my father, I told a joke about him -- a generic, silly little grade-school thing. My father looked at me sternly with that look I would learn to know so well, and said: "Justin, never attack the individual. We can be in total disagreement with someone without denigrating them as a consequence"...

..it was at that point that I understood that having opinions that are different from those of another does not preclude one being deserving of respect as an individual.

Because simple tolerance, mere tolerance, is not enough. We need genuine and deep respect for each and every human being, notwithstanding their thoughts, their values, their beliefs, their origins."

Relevant: 2018: Canada PM Justin Trudeau, son of alleged Rapist and Pedophile Pierre Trudeau.

2019: Justin Trudeau makes groveling plea for forgiveness after THREE photographs of him wearing blackface emerged - but he refuses to confirm that those were the only incidents. 2024: Pierre Elliot Trudeau Was Also a Commie Traitor.

Oct 4 2000 Jewish roots in rock

"He was compiling a tape of rock music for his daughter's bat mitzvah and, in keeping with the occasion, he concentrated on songs with Jewish composers. "To my surprise, song after well-known pop song, revealed itself to be 'Jewish music'," he writes, "from Presley to the softer sounds of the Drifters and Phil Spector. So much of the rebellious music which I had loved in my youth and which seemed to be a window into a foreign, dangerous world, turned out to be a product of familiar surroundings. Surprise was mingled with delight."

When those emotions had cooled, his analytical instincts took over. He began to investigate. Inevitably, his book concentrates on American society and the complex relationship between black and Jewish people which shaped popular entertainment in the 20th century. But there are resonances for society in Britain. After all, our two cultures were intertwined by the output of Hollywood and Tin Pan Alley even before Irving Berlin's White Christmas hit the shops." Archive.

Oct 5 2000 Tina Sinatra: Mob Ties Aided JFK

"Legendary crooner Frank Sinatra served as a liaison between John F. Kennedy's 1960 campaign for president and mobster Sam Giancana in a scheme to use Mafia muscle to deliver union votes, Sinatra's daughter tells 60 Minutes.

The late singer's youngest daughter, Tina, also describes her father's final years and his work for the Central Intelligence Agency. The interview will be rebroadcast on Dec. 31.

Tina Sinatra, 52, says her father told her that Kennedy patriarch Joseph P. Kennedy wanted the Mafia's help in delivering the union vote in the 1960 West Virginia primary, in which John Kennedy, then a U.S. senator, faced Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota. The elder Kennedy asked Frank Sinatra to make a request to then-Chicago crime boss Sam Giancana.

Sinatra was approached "because [Kennedy] knew dad had access to Sam Giancana," Tina said. "It would be in Jack Kennedy's best interest if his father did not make the contact directly...Dad was on an errand," she tells Correspondent Steve Kroft." Archive.

Oct 5 2000 Paedophile outrage exposes Italian media

"A prime time news broadcast of child pornography has stunned Italy, triggered political uproar and exposed cronyism in the state-owned RAI television network.

Graphic images of children being tortured and apparently murdered were followed within minutes by an apology which in turn led to resignations and allegations of rampant corruption.

Interrupting programmes to make an emotional late night broadcast, Gad Lerner accepted responsibility for the fiasco and quit as news director of RAI's first channel.

Shaking with anger, he attempted to scalp a political opponent in the process. Mr Lerner claimed the chairman of the parliamentary commission on the media, Mario Landolfi, had pressured him during lunch.

"When coffee came, he took out a scrap of paper and told me: 'There's this person to fix up, if possible.'"

Confirming widespread suspicions that RAI's three state-owned channels were riddled with patronage, the scandal has catapulted media ownership back on to the agenda in the run-up to the general election." Archive.

Oct 5 2000 Sotheby's Agrees to Pay \$45 million criminal fine

"Sotheby's Holdings Inc.--one of the world's largest auction houses--has agreed to plead guilty and pay a $45 million criminal fine for fixing the price of commission rates charged to sellers of art, antiques, and other collectibles at auctions, announced the Department of Justice today. The company's former president and chief executive officer, Diana D. Brooks, has also agreed to plead guilty to price fixing charges, and will cooperate with the Department's ongoing antitrust investigation.

In separate one-count felony charges filed today in the U.S. District Court in Manhattan, Sotheby's and Brooks were charged with participating in a conspiracy lasting more than six years, from April 1993 to December 1999, to suppress and eliminate competition by fixing prices in violation of the Sherman Act. The conspirators also agreed to limit or eliminate other inducements to sellers, such as interest-free loans and charitable donations." Archive.

Oct 6 2000 The European Roots of the Illuminati by Svali

"The Illuminati are based in Europe, which is where their power base has always been. I remember being told as a young child that America was basically considered their "mission field" or the "land of opportunity" by those whose roots extend for hundreds of years or more into the ancient European dynastic bloodlines.

This is why their power hierarchy around the world, whether in the U.S., Asia, Australia, Canada, or elsewhere will always point back to Europe, where the 13 rulers [they also call them "lords"] are based. Each ruler represents an area of Europe held under his sway; and each one represents an ancient dynastic bloodline.

For example, the Hapsburg bloodline [Merovingian] is still active in Europe, although hidden, as well as the Rothschild and Battenberg bloodlines . In many modern European countries, the heirs of these bloodlines are immensely wealthy, and secretly are the "power behind the throne", if not the actual rulers.

This is one reason why those of high Illuminati rank/descent in the U.S., for example, can always trace their bloodline or parentage to members of this ruling cabal in Europe; members of leadership councils in the States are always direct descendants, whether legitimate or illegitimate.

Whether at the lowest levels, or the highest, though, this group operates with the same methods: instilling intense fear and terror to control their members." Archive.

Relevant: PDF: Svali Speaks [version 1, 2000]:

"Hi, my name is Svali. Both I and my entire family were involved in a cult group until several years ago, when we broke free. I used to be a programmer in the cult, and now I want to share the knowledge that I have to help others.

It is possible to break free of cult abuse if a person is involved. It is a long, heart-breaking process, but well worth it. In the articles that I will be providing, I hope to help the survivor of cult abuse find tools to help in their journey towards freedom...

Both my ex-husband and my two children broke free of cult abuse last year. My children are living with me while my husband is working on healing. They all have DID [dissociative identity disorder, formerly known as multiple personality disorder] as well, which makes life at home interesting! I am currently married to my second husband, who is also a recovered DID and who got out of the cult five years ago."

Relevant: Svali's 2024 website and book

Oct 6 2000 CIA and drug firms out to get me, Mbeki says

"The South African president, Thabo Mbeki, claims that the CIA is working covertly with American drug companies to discredit him because he is challenging the world economic order and threatening profits by questioning the link between HIV and Aids.

The Guardian's sister paper in Johannesburg, the Mail and Guardian, reports that Mr Mbeki painted a picture of an international plot against him to a meeting of 200 African National Congress cabinet ministers and MPs last week.

The president said that criticism of his Aids policy was a foretaste of foreign attempts to undermine his government to protect the existing balance of economic power. He called on MPs to resist the campaign.

Mr Mbeki said that his advisers were seeking to discover who was spreading the idea that he was "deranged", itself a part of the conspiracy against him." Archive.

Oct 6 2000 Clothes are the work of Satan, says Gaddafi

"Jordan - Libya's leader, Muammar Gaddafi, told a group of Jordanian women on Friday that clothes were the "work of Satan" and denounced the restrictions imposed by Islam on the way women dress...

"Satan is the one who suggested to Adam and Eve they should cover up with leaves" after he succeeded in having God throw them out of the Garden of Eden, said the flamboyant Libyan leader, flanked by three female body guards.

"Clothes are the work of Satan. He invented them and we should not give them too much thought," Gaddafi told the women, who included an Islamist militant, a poet and members of local non-government organisations.

Gaddafi's female guests showed their appreciation by applauding the Libyan leader several times during his expose, which included a liberal view of what he considered restrictions imposed by Islam on the female dress code.

"The clothes we wear today are not those that existed (at the onset of Islam). Everything changes and religion must adapt to the changes of our era otherwise it will no longer be valid," Gaddafi said.

In most Muslim countries, women must cover their hair under scarves, wear long, flowing dresses to conceal their shapes and sometimes a veil over the faces with only slits for the eyes.

The Libyan leader.. said people should not be judged by the clothes they wear..." Archive.

Oct 7 2000 The Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation Announces New HIV/AIDS Grants at World AIDS Conference

"DURBAN, South Africa -- At the AIDS 2000 Conference today, the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation announced a series of new AIDS-related grants designed to take a comprehensive approach to the HIV/AIDS pandemic.

The new grants total more than $90 million. Grants will focus on decreasing the rate of new infections in Africa through programs that will develop microbicides for women and increase access to medications to reduce rates of maternal-child transmission. Other programs will train people in palliative care and provide resources to children orphaned by AIDS.

The new grants announced in Durban build upon earlier funding of AIDS-related organizations, such as the International AIDS Vaccine Initiative [IAVI], one of the Foundation's first major AIDS grantees. IAVI received $25 million in 1999 to boost the research effort toward discovering a vaccine for HIV/AIDS.

Supporting organizations working in the area of AIDS research and prevention is a priority of the Foundation's global health program.

"If governments, UN agencies, NGOs, businesses and foundations work together we can stop AIDS," said Patty Stonesifer, Co-Chair and President of the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation. "We are pleased to see new partnerships and collaboration emerge from Durban, and look forward to the progress that will result."

The Foundation also announced a new partnership with the Republic of Botswana and Merck & Co. The goal of this initiative is to improve the overall state of HIV/AIDS prevention, care and treatment in Botswana." Archive.

Oct 7 2000 Abortion pill approved for sale in United States

"Amid bitter opposition from antiabortion groups, federal authorities announced that the abortion pill RU-486 has been approved for sale in the United States. The pill should be available in there within four to six weeks, according to Planned Parenthood...

Supporters lauded the approval as a milestone, making abortion more private and improving access for women living in areas where surgical abortions are not available. Antiabortion organisations, which have fought since 1988 to keep RU-486 out of the United States, assert that the pill carries health risks for women. The FDA's announcement prompted a flurry of statements from politicians and organisations on both sides of the issue.

Texas governor and Republican presidential candidate George W Bush called the decision wrong, saying: "I fear that making this abortion pill widespread will make abortions more and more common ... As president, I will work to build a culture that respects life."

Vice President and Democratic presidential candidate Al Gore agreed with the FDA. "Today's decision is not about politics," he said, "but the health and safety of American women and a woman's fundamental right to choose." Archive.

Relevant: 2017: Al Gore's Past is an Inconvenient Truth. 2020: Bill Gates' Father Ran Planned Parenthood.

Oct 8 2000 Voyaging around her father, the hi-tech Maxwell: Captain Bob's daughter is in Britain, facing down her family's past and delivering a bright message about her internet firm's future

“She might have an Oxford education, but the daughter of Robert Maxwell doesn't spend too much time here any more. Too much history. Too much baggage. A hard-nosed, hard-boiled country that will always remember the sins of the father.

Instead, these days Maxwell prefers to swim in a different pond, one where people are not too interested in your past, just your future. She is a major player in that US home of perpetual reinvention, Silicon Valley.

Each day when she's not travelling overseas, Maxwell, one of the late newspaper tycoon's five surviving children, makes the 80-minute 'killer commute' to her company, Commtouch. She doesn't need to do it. Maxwell calls herself a working mum, but this is a woman who, with her twin sister Christine, saw the internet's potential in 1992 and helped build Magellan, a search engine, which they sold to Excite for nearly £4.5 million.” Archive.

Relevant: 2022: Ghislaine Maxwell's siblings are in court once again.

Oct 8 2000 [The big issue: it's abuse \[not sex\] that's bad](#)

O2CW: We've included this Guardian Letters page because readers are writing in to complain about or endorse an article written by Nigella Lawson. We can't identify what Nigella wrote because we can't find the article. Why, we wonder, was it removed? Underage sex was being referenced.

“How Nigella Lawson can differentiate between the abuse of 14-year-old boys and girls is certainly beyond me. I suffered abuse at the hands of a female teacher and I can assure Ms Lawson that the long-term psychological effects on me weren't that I 'relished my initiation', as she would have everyone believe.

As far as her remark about a boy 'having the will' to participate, I'm sure that not all schoolgirls who are abused are raped. She obviously knows nothing about basic sex education such as an erection being a reflex action - especially for boys at the age of 14.” Archive.

Oct 8 2000 Forgotten Children – the background to the children's homes scandals

“It is, according to a government minister in the Lords, “the greatest scandal of the 20th century”. Unfortunately, the minister’s view has not found much echo in society at large. The story has been largely ignored by the press. It has, too, been the subject of little academic research, despite the obvious need for a greater understanding. Successive governments have commissioned reports into particular incidents, but most of these have been at a local level. Yet the importance of understanding the wider history of these scandals cannot be overstated, for without such understanding, it is impossible to frame a policy to tackle the problem.

The scandals cover the breadth of the UK, from Aberdeen to North Wales, East Belfast to Plymouth; and while cases occur from the early 1960s into the 1990s, they predominate in the 1970s and 1980s. The story really started to unfold in public view in 1989, with the revelation of abuse in Castle Hill – a privately owned home in Ludlow which took in children from local authorities around the country. In response to a series of complaints, police began to interview past residents. Allegations of abuse were made by 57 victims, and in 1991 Ralph Morris, proprietor of the home, was sentenced to 12 years. New investigations rapidly followed: in Staffordshire, in North Wales, in Leicestershire.” Archive.

Oct 8 2000 Newsgroup post: Satanic Symbolism Surrounding the Death of Diana

“The Pont and Place de l'Alma are also the sites of major crossroads in the Parisian street system. The Moon Goddess is frequently said to be as female energy form composed of three aspects, Diana, Luna and Hecate. These represent the energy as manifest on Earth, Heaven and the Underworld. The latter, Hecate, the Queen of the Underworld, is very heavily associated with occult practices and ritual sacrifice. “Hecate's Day” is August 13th, but Satanic rituals, [black as opposed to white magic], to Hecate are better carried out on the 31st, reversal of numerals popular in Satanism. Sacrifices to Hecate are also invariably carried out at crossroads, places symbolic of the meeting of ley lines.

Add these observations to the facts that Diana apparently bled to death at the scene of the crash, [absolutely fundamental to such a sacrifice], despite the rapid presence of medics; that the police radio system went off-air for twenty minutes at the time of the accident; that the surveillance camera system monitoring the route the Mercedes took malfunctioned the night of the crash; and that the car crashed into the 13th pillar in the tunnel, [the number 13, along with 33, are the two most powerful numbers in Western occultism] and you have a pretty good conspiracy theory.” Archive.

Oct 9 2000 Human-pig embryo accusation provokes debate

"Two firms seeking a patent on an embryo cloning process have denied accusations by Greenpeace that they are creating "human-pig" hybrid embryos, as the debate over 'therapeutic cloning' continues.

Reuters reports that according to Greenpeace Germany, the European Patent Office in Munich has received a patent application [No: WO99/21415] from US-based BioTransplant Inc. and Australian firm Stem Cell Sciences which allows for the production of human/animal embryos.

"The application shows that the firms have already transferred cell nuclei from human fetuses to egg cells from pigs and cultivated the resulting embryos for around a week in the laboratory," Greenpeace said in a statement.

"Society should not reward these Frankenstein scientists with patents," it added.

A US spokeswoman for the companies involved in the patent application confirmed that laboratory cells of human origin had been used in the experiment but denied that what resulted was a human hybrid, and said Greenpeace had misunderstood the case." Archive.

OzCW: Things have deteriorated since 2000: 2024: Pigs With Human Brain Cells and Biological Chips: How Lab-Grown Hybrid Life Forms Are Bamboozling Scientific Ethics.

Frankenscientists in the UK are now growing synthetic embryos from stem cells. And have attempted to grow a human-monkey chimera.

The above experiments were reported in the "above-ground" msm. In the criminal underworld, there are allegations that it is far worse. There are credible YouTube interviews in which witnesses describe chimeras that have been engineered to suffer, living in DUMBS, by the NWO's dark occult Frankenscientists.

We believe it – on the basis of testimony from a credible witness, an architect – that NASA genetically engineered the chupacabras.

Oct 10 2000 Growing Vaccinated Fruits and Vegetables

“Charles Arntzen wants to save the lives of millions of children threatened by deadly infectious diseases, and he wants to do it by feeding them a slice of a banana.

“We know what the problem is,” he says as he leans back in a chair on a courtyard at Arizona State University in Tempe. “We have 15 million kids dying every year in Third World countries from infectious diseases that could be prevented.

“And we know what the solution is,” he adds. It is to inoculate those children with vaccines that can fight off diseases such as hepatitis B, cholera, and various deadly types of diarrhea...

What to do about all of that has consumed Arntzen ever since a 1990 conference in New York City, sponsored by the WHO. The Children’s Vaccine Initiative came out of that meeting, and it changed the life of Arntzen, then a plant biologist at Texas A&M University.” Archive.

Related: Charles Arntzen Wiki. 2005: Banana Vaccines: A Conversation with Dr. Charles Arntzen Archive.

Oct 10 2000 Hinduja Family charmed its way into the heart of British society

“Their network of friends ranges from Tony Blair, Bill Clinton and the Queen to Michael Jackson. Their commercial and industrial might, with a turnover of £6bn, stretches from Bombay to Boston, London to Las Vegas. They have been called one of the most influential families in the world.

Everything about the Hinduja brothers is in hyperlatives, and they are in the centre of the biggest corruption scandal in the history of independent India. The fallout from that tale of arms, bribes and subterfuge is expected to spread far and wide, and raise question marks, yet again, about New Labour, and international tycoons with shadowy lives.

For people so wealthy, so powerful, the Hindujas are remarkably reticent. Their friends say this is because they are much maligned, their critics say yes they are, but nothing like enough.

To their friends, the Hindujas are deeply religious givers to good causes, such as the £6m underwriting of the Millennium Dome Spirit Zone at the behest of Peter Mandelson, another of their good friends. The critics say this is hypocrisy because the family fortune was built trading in death, gunrunning for the Shah of Iran. The Hindujas deny they traded in arms.” Archive.

Relevant: 2024: How The Hindujas’ Prison Sentences Stack Up Against Other Billionaires To Serve Time
2024: UK's richest family convicted of exploiting servants.

Oct 11 2000 U.K. Queen's Italy Trip Full of Food No-Nos

OzCW: So the British royal family and Berlusconi could not/cannot eat garlic. Charles is related to Dracula...

"Italian chefs were up in arms this week following a report in the Roman daily newspaper Il Messaggero that Britain's Queen Elizabeth II did not want to be served any food containing garlic during her state visit to Italy next week. Garlic is a virtual staple in the Italian diet, finding its way into most of the country's traditional dishes.

According to Britain's Guardian newspaper, Il Messaggero reported that "Her Majesty's antipathy for 'boorish' garlic and onion is well known," comparing her to the charismatic right-wing Italian media mogul, Silvio Berlusconi, who also apparently shares her distaste for garlic." Archive.

Relevant: 2016: Charles and Camilla don't eat garlic. 2017: Britney Spears: Prince William is a Shapeshifting Reptile. 2022: Reddit: Why garlic deters vampires. 2022: King Charles III is a descendant of Dracula and owns properties in Transylvania.

Oct 11 2000 X.com Scraps Bank Strategy To Focus on PayPal System

"Elon Musk is not yet 30 and already he has sold his first start-up for $300 million, founded another aimed at transforming financial services, and orchestrated a major redirection for the new company.

The 29-year-old is abandoning his plan to make X.com, which he founded 18 months ago, into a one-stop shop for financial services. Rather than offer a wide range of banking and related services, the Palo Alto, Calif., company will become a global payment system, he said.

The foundation of this plan is the PayPal person-to-person system, which has four million customers and is listed as a preferred payment provider for 50% of auctions on eBay.

"Our long-term goal is to process one trillion transactions," Mr. Musk said.

Originally, person-to-person payments were to be just one component of X.com's financial services plans, which also included offering banking accounts and selling mutual funds.

X.com still has an option to buy First Western National Bank of La Jara, Colo., Mr. Musk said. The purchase would give it access to Federal Deposit Insurance for its online accounts, but X.com will take a pass, he said.

The plan now is to hone its payments expertise, much of which it gained by acquiring PayPal.com two months after X.com's founding. It quickly multiplied PayPal accounts by working through online auctions and offering an incentive program in which it deposited $10 in the accounts of customers who referred friends to the service." Archive.

Oct 12 2000 Sex-change minister's victory

"A transexual church minister has won a fight to join the Welsh-language equivalent of the Women's Institute.

Dian Parry, aged 61, - who used to be bearded clergyman Revd Bill Parry - was accepted as a member by the all-women group who changed their rules after legal advice.

She was asked to leave a meeting of the organisation Merched y Wawr - "Daughters Of The Dawn" - when she first turned up.

But she has now won the right to join in the all-women organisation after talks with the Equal Opportunities Commission." Archive.

Oct 12 2000 Sexual Moderates: The American media makes us think we are strange if we aren't thinking about sex all the time

"I am a sexual moderate. I have intercourse -- or at least something that involves two naked bodies and leads to orgasm -- three or four times a week, sometimes less. Sex books and magazine articles tell me that's about the norm for a person in my married state.

I don't think of sex when commercials come on TV. I don't get hot when I see Robert Downey Jr. with his shirt off on the cover of Details. And I don't sweat when the "Thong Song" comes on the radio, although I read somewhere that the average person thinks about sex several times an hour.

When I have it, I like sex probably an average amount -- which is to say, I enjoy it very much, but it's not a preoccupation or anything. I do an average range of sex stuff. I'm not a prude, but I have certain things I'd rather not do [like have sex with other people watching] and certain things I enjoy on a regular basis that are so mainstream as to be pedestrian [like the missionary position].

Sometimes I'm in the mood for sex to be an epic and systematic debauchery, but other times I just enjoy it in a moderate sort of way and am ready for it to be over in about 15 or 20 minutes." Archive.

Oct 12 2000 Chilean Police raid German Enclave

"Chilean police have raided several properties belonging to a German community whose leaders are suspected of human rights abuses under former military ruler General Augusto Pinochet.

More than 50 officers surrounded the group's enclave near Parral, 350 km [220 milers] south of the capital, Santiago.

Agents also searched a conference centre in Santiago and a casino in the southern town of Bulnes, which belong to the German group.

The enclave known as Villa Baviera - formerly Colonia Dignidad - has been raided before on orders of the judge investigating killings which took place during the country's 1973-90 military regime.

Police were also looking for the community's founder, Paul Schaefer, who has been accused of human rights abuses and child sex abuse." Archive.

Relevant: 2008: The Torture Colony. 2018: Excavations at Chile torture site offer new hope for relatives of disappeared.

Oct 13 2000 Adapting to Climate Change: Baking the Big Apple

"In New York City, overheated wires and an excessive demand for air conditioning during the summer of 1999 strained the electric power grid, blacking out most of Manhattan. Climate experts have already observed an increase of approximately 1.1°C (2°F) since 1900 and predict that average temperatures for the Big Apple will not cool off in the near future. Average temperatures may climb by.9°C to 1.9°C (1.7°F to 3.5°F) by the year 2020." Archive.

Oct 13 2000 NZ Daughter a sex slave for 23 years, jury told

"A father kept his daughter a virtual slave for 23 years, subjecting her to depraved and bizarre sex acts, a High Court jury has heard this week.

The alleged catalogue of mistreatment included blindfolding her and suspending her upside down from a ceiling while abusing her.

Another alleged fetish of the 66-year-old involved putting the woman's head inside a specially constructed wooden box which was padlocked closed while he had sex with her.

The man, who is represented by lawyer Allan Roberts, denies representative charges of rape and sexual violation - with alternative counts of incest - unlawful sexual connection, and indecent assault between 1983 and 1992.

In the High Court at Auckland this week, prosecutor Philip Hamlin told the jury it was a case of a father enslaving his daughter.

Initially she was a child slave, ordered to do his bidding.

"Worse still, he took her as his wife and sexually offended against her from when she was nine until she was 32.

"He enslaved her for more than 20 years in Vanuatu and in New Zealand where he totally controlled her." Archive.

Oct 14 2000 Queen given cannabis bouquet -

"LONDON, England -- A man campaigning for the legalisation of cannabis has said he handed a bouquet including the drug to Queen Elizabeth on a royal walkabout.

Police say they intend to question the campaigner, who apparently hoodwinked the Queen into accepting the narcotic.

Colin Davies, who alleges he gave the monarch the bouquet when she was visiting Salford in northern England, said: "It was a harmless way of trying to bring to the notice of Her Majesty the ludicrous restrictions on cannabis." Archive.

Oct 14 2000 Uproar after Moonies buy town -

“The residents of Puerto Casado, in Paraguay, have demanded that their town be handed over to the local council after it was purchased by the sect known as the Moonies.

The Unification Church of the Reverend Sung Myung Moon acquired more than 300,000 hectares of land in the northern department of Alto Paraguay.

The land was sold by an Argentine company and includes the town of Puerto Casado which has about 6,000 inhabitants.

The residents of Puerto Casado prevented an aircraft carrying a delegation of Moonies from returning to the capital, Asuncion after hearing on Wednesday that their town had been sold.

After a meeting with community leaders, and the mediation of the deputy interior minister, Mario Sapriza, the Unification Church representatives were allowed to leave.

But correspondents say tensions have not eased and no solution has been found.” Archive.

Relevant: 2004: Moonies accused of involvement in drugs - PARAGUAY: The Reverend Moon has carved out a section of Paraguay that is twice the size of Luxembourg. 2005: Promised land - A town owned by a cult seeks liberation.

2009: Paraguayans Block Road, Demand Land Donated by Moonies.

Oct 15 2000 Power list reflects business on the rise

“Power can prove short-lived. Currency dealer George Soros, model Naomi Campbell and former British Airways boss Bob Ayling are among those who have dropped out of the latest Observer/Channel 4 Power List. Four of the five highest new entries are businessmen.

For the third year running, an expert panel has selected people according to their capacity to 'influence the quality of people's lives, lifestyles and values in Britain today'. Tony Blair is first and Gordon Brown is second.

Six of the other top 10 work in banking or commerce. Steve Case, chairman of AOL Time Warner, has leapt from 59th place last year to fourth, a recognition of his new company's huge power over the world internet business.

Will Hutton, chairman of the Power List panel, said: 'We simply concentrated on the actual influence that people had on our lives in the year 2000. Sometimes that can be ephemeral, sometimes it is longer lasting. Many figures are, inevitably, international. 'We did seriously discuss whether Gordon Brown deserved the No 1 slot.' Archive.

Oct 15 2000 [HIV gag mRNA transfection of dendritic cells \[DC\] delivers encoded antigen to MHC class I and II molecules, causes DC maturation, and induces a potent human in vitro primary immune response](#)

"Dendritic cells [DC] are the major APCs involved in naive T cell activation making them prime targets of vaccine research. We observed that mRNA was efficiently transfected, resulting in superior translation in DC compared with other professional APCs. A single stimulation of T cells by HIV gag-encoded mRNA-transfected DC in vitro resulted in primary CD4[+] and CD8[+] T cell immune responses at frequencies of Ag-specific cells [5-12.5%] similar to primary immune responses observed in vivo in murine models. Additionally, mRNA transfection also delivered a maturation signal to DC. Our results demonstrated that mRNA-mediated delivery of encoded Ag to DC induced potent primary T cell responses in vitro." Archive.

OzCW: Two co-authors of the article headlined won the 2023 Nobel Prize for their "mRNA discovery that paved way for COVID-19 vaccines." Seems these Frankenscientists were being rewarded. Did they know at the time that their work would be used for genocidal purposes? Archive.

Oct 16 2000 Inside Bristol's Freemasons Hall -

"The Park Street Masonic Hall was one of the 'Bristol open door' venues this year. A rare opportunity to have a poke around our city's normally forbidden freemasonic H.Q.. Most Bristolians, if you ask them, walk straight past the sandy building at the bottom of Park Street all their lives without knowing where the Masonic Hall is, let alone wondering what might go on inside.

All masons must believe in some kind of supreme being or god. The other prerequisite is a belief in an afterlife. And they seem to have at least one 'god' on their side. Though Tony Blair promised a public register of Freemasons in the Labour Manifesto [to combat masonic infiltration of the police] miraculously no new law has been drawn up to implement the pledge, now all but forgotten... We were shown Bristol's main temple with its high-backed chairs at the ends, portraits of past Grand Masters along the walls and chequerboard carpet in the centre. This, we were told, is where the craft, that is the first second and third degree masons, do their ceremonies.

In the next small ante-room something called the 'ceremony of the veils' takes place we were told. The analogy is that someone who has been picked to join the higher [Royal Arch] levels of freemasonry is passing from a state of ignorance to a state of enlightenment..." Archive.

Oct 17 2000 New wave of exorcisms seen; some people can be convinced they witnessed a demonic possession as a child

OzCW: This looks like a hit piece written by paedophile-protector scientist Elizabeth Loftus about a study she concocted to conceal the fact that demonic possession is a real phenomenon that people witness, notably children who have suffered SRA.

"Couple the re-release of "The Exorcist" and the up-coming Halloween broadcast of "Possessed," a TV documentary about a purported exorcism in a mental hospital, and you've got a prescription for a sudden jump in the number reported demonic possessions.

"Quite a number of people who watch these exorcism films will be affected and develop symptoms of hysteria. These films will be a full-employment bill for exorcists," said Elizabeth Loftus, a University of Washington psychologist and memory expert." Archive.

Relevant: Elizabeth Loftus. SRA survivor politely confronts [abuse victim] Elizabeth Loftus.

Oct 17 2000 Blackstone Acquires Debt on 7 World Trade Center

"Blackstone Real Estate Advisors, the global real estate investment and management arm of The Blackstone Group, L.P., announced today that it has purchased, from Teachers Insurance and Annuity Association, the participating mortgage secured by 7 World Trade Center, a commercial office complex controlled by real estate developer Larry Silverstein.

Located in downtown Manhattan, 7 World Trade Center is a 47 story, Class A, office tower containing 2 million square feet of office space. The property, which is 100% occupied, houses some of Manhattan's premier companies including Salomon Smith Barney, Hartford Fire Insurance, American Express and the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission.

The mortgage contains certain features which allow Blackstone, as the lender, to share in the improvement in performance of the asset over time through its maturity in 2006. Average rents in the building are currently $45 per square foot, reflecting a significant discount to current market rents. Additional terms of the transaction were not disclosed." Archive.

Relevant: 2004: Financial Bonanza Behind the 9/11 Tragedy. 2020: Why Aren't Insurers 9/11 Truthers? 2024: Blackstone and 911. 2024: Blackstone's Defaulted NYC Office Loan For Sale.

Oct 17 2000 LIVERPOOL CONTINUES PROTEST OVER ASYLUM-SEEKERS

"Liverpool City Council has given the government until the end of the month to sort out its problems with asylum-seekers, reported BBC Radio 4's Today programme.

Richard Kemp, executive housing chief of the council, said the problems were twofold.

'Basically, we offered in February, when [home office minister] Barbara Roche came to Liverpool, on behalf of all the local authorities in the north west of England to provide decent public sector accomodation for asylum-seekers. Instead - if you just take the situation in Liverpool - more than 1,000 asylum-seekers have been dumped in areas which are inappropriate, in property that is poor, with landlords in some cases but not all, who are despicable.

'That's creating two types of problem. One for the asylum-seekers. Radio Merseyside and the Liverpool Echo have been able to show that in one area at least the people are being terrorised by their own landlord'." Archive.

Oct 18 2000 I shop therefore I am

"... Naomi Klein, author of the acclaimed book No Logo, will be the keynote speaker at the Brand.new conference next month.

Ms Klein argues that companies are spreading their tentacles ever wider around the world, commercialising public places and branding celebrities.

But Mr Williams says new media actually make marketing a harder task.

Gone are the days when TV, radio and newspaper ads would suffice to spread the word. Today, there are countless websites and cable channels to choose from - and the latest video recorders such as Tivo allow viewers to screen out commercials altogether.

"There's more competition, so it's getting more difficult to create your brand in such a huge market."

Although new companies such as lastminute.com use clever marketing to enter the nation's consciousness quickly, it takes much longer to build a profitable business.

"You cannot create a market very quickly - the biggest brands in the world are often the oldest."
Archive.

Oct 19 2000 ISO: the quality you can't feel: The universally used ISO 9000 standard is failing to improve business. John Seddon on why bosses need to regain control from assessors

"ISO 9000 is everywhere. Drive on any motorway and you notice the 'quality assured to ISO 9000' logos on commercial vehicles. Managers in both private and public sectors know that achieving this standard it is a requirement for doing business with many customers.

But is ISO 9000 improving the way organisations serve their customers - or is it a disease in the fabric of our industrial society? It was 1979 when Margaret Thatcher pushed the button that began the spread of the ISO 9000 phenomenon. In the interests of 'improving' British management she was persuaded that an approach used by the military and power generators would have value.

For the previous 20 years the UK had experienced problems with munitions production, power generation and, in fact, all its new technologies. These were tackled by the introduction of the British Standard BSD 5750, which required organisations to specify how they worked, write that down and prove it to an inspector. For the first time we had a standard that was concerned not with what was made but how it was made - that is, a management, not a product standard.

As a method of management, BS 5750 appeared to solve the problems of the time - bombs stopped going off in factories - but did the organisations improve? Did they make better bombs? Had they solved the problems or merely controlled them?" Archive.

Oct 20 2000 Uncovering the Dark Side of the World Wide Web

"In an achievement that is almost the equivalent of the Human Genome project for the internet, a new Scottish software company has not only succeeded in plotting a map of the world wide web but has also uncovered its Dark Side..."

About 40 broad categories of undesirable activity, including pornography, fraud, anarchism, "freaking", virus creation, promoting violence, cyber terrorism and hacking, have now been registered in forensic detail.

The programmers found that more than 20,000 new hosts for pornography sites were being created daily. The average site contained just 43 images, and 98 per cent held almost no original material. However, some sites had more than 100,000 images.

The porn-viewing public - which forms just 2.5 per cent of the database - cannot keep up: the number of sites is growing exponentially but the number of visitors to them only linearly, says Whitelaw. Child pornography, much of it now originating in eastern Europe, is a big growth industry, he adds." Archive.

Oct 20 2000 Financial scandal surrounding Peter Mandelson returns to haunt Labour government

"Britain's government has again been mired in scandal over the £375,000 loan made by multimillionaire Geoffrey Robinson, formerly Labour's Paymaster General, to his cabinet colleague Peter Mandelson to purchase a Notting Hill residence.

In 1998 news leaked out that Mandelson, then Trade and Industry Secretary, had failed to declare to his mortgage brokers that he had received a loan from Robinson to help finance the purchase of a house in a fashionable part of London. Amidst accusations of dishonesty and sleaze, both men were forced to resign whilst protesting that they had done nothing wrong.

Within ten months, Mandelson, the man credited with Blair's meteoric rise to leadership of the Labour Party, was back in the cabinet as Secretary of State for Northern Ireland. His speedy return was helped by the fact that the home loan leak was thought to have originated from Chancellor Gordon Brown's media adviser, Charlie Wheelan, who was also forced to resign. The bitter internal feud between Blair loyalists in the Labour leadership and those supportive of Brown is public knowledge. Following the death of party leader John Smith in 1994, Brown and Blair were the frontrunners to replace him. With the media favouring Blair as the more high profile advocate of Labour's "modernisation", Mandelson switched his support from Brown and went on to lead Blair's campaign." Archive.

Relevant: 1998: The Mandelson Affair: History of Scandals. 1998: Mandelson Resigns Over Loan Scandal. 2005: On Monday June 13, the EU trade commissioner, Peter Mandelson, addressed the [eugenicist] Fabian Society in London to set out his vision of the future of Europe after the French and Dutch no votes on the proposed constitution.

2014: Peter Mandelson accused of covering up Sir Peter Morrison child rape allegations. 2019: Peter Mandelson pictured with Jeffrey Epstein in 2005. Archive. 2019: EPSTEIN, ROTHSCHILD, MANDELSON, SAVILE, STOWE.

Oct 20 2000 For 17 years a guerilla group and a commune lived in harmony. Then came a brutal killing

“They may have different philosophies but for the last 17 years a band of heavily-armed Marxist guerrillas and a radical commune founded in London have managed to live in harmony in a remote area of Colombia.

While the Revolutionary Armed Forces of Columbia [Farc] has grown in strength and influence thanks to drugs money, Atlantis has been promoting organic farming and primal scream therapy. Farc has tolerated - even helped - the commune.

But the two are now at loggerheads after Tristan James, the 18-year-old grandson of the Atlantis founder, Jenny James, and his Colombian friend were stabbed and decapitated, and their bodies set on fire after being accused of spying for pro-government paramilitaries.

Atlantis was founded in London as a "radical primal commune" based on the principles of Reichian, or "Primal Scream", therapy in 1970. Four years later the group moved to Burtonport, Co Donegal, but their alternative lifestyle earned them suspicion and notoriety.” Archive.

Relevant: 2019: Breaking the Silence: Secrets of the Reichian Cult.

Oct 20 2000 Cannabis less harmful than aspirin, says scientist

“Cannabis is a safer drug than aspirin and can be used long-term without serious side effects, says a book by a leading Oxford scientist.

Cannabis is a safer drug than aspirin and can be used long-term without serious side effects, says a book by a leading Oxford scientist.

The Science of Marijuana, by Dr Leslie Iversen of Oxford University's department of pharmacology, found many "myths" surrounding marijuana use, such as extreme addictiveness, or links with mental illness or infertility are not supported by science.

He also found cannabis is an inherently "safe drug" which does not lead to cancer, infertility, brain damage or mental illness. Legalisation of the drug for medical conditions should be considered, he says.

Dr Iversen's findings will increase pressure on the Government to reopen the debate about the decriminalisation of marijuana.” Archive.

Oct 20 2000 Bush and Gore Blueblood Cousins?

"Burke's Peerage, the British firm that tracks bluebloods around the world, said this week that U.S. presidential candidates George W. Bush and Al Gore are both descended from royalty.

Worse, from the point of view of political strategists, the two men are distant cousins.

"It is now clear that Gore and Bush have an unusually large number of royal and noble descents," Harold Brooks-Baker, publishing director of the company, said."

Archive.

Relevant: 2008: American Presidential Bloodlines. Archive.

Oct 20 2000 BSE disaster: the history

"A few days before Christmas 1984, vet David Bee was called to Stent Farm in Sussex to examine a sick cow with strange symptoms – its back was arched and it had lost weight.

Within six weeks, cow 133 was dead, having developed head tremors and a loss of coordination. Seven months later, the UK Central Veterinary Laboratory diagnosed spongiform encephalopathy. By this time, other cows were also showing symptoms. The epidemic had begun.

Four herds had been affected when the Central Veterinary Office alerted the Ministry of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food [MAFF] in June 1987.

Nearly a year later, the government set up a working party chaired by Oxford University professor of zoology, Richard Southwood, to investigate bovine spongiform encephalopathy [BSE] and any implications for human health." Archive.

O2CW: The BSE disaster saw hundreds of thousands of cattle slaughtered under the guise of what we believe was a fabricated disease as detailed in this article, Did Insecticide trigger Mad Cow/BSE in UK? which appeared in December 2000, on rense.com. It offers strong evidence including murders that BSE was caused by insecticide: this was covered up by and for Big Pharma, who feared litigation.

BSE was also, of course, an opportunity for governments to destroy food supplies. The article reads:

“Pharmaceutical interests in the UK are ignoring new scientific research that shows the insecticide used in the UK government's own warble-fly campaigns triggered the surge of 'Mad Cow' disease.

Latest experiments by Cambridge University prion specialist, David R. Brown, have shown that manganese bonds with prions to cause BSE. Other researchers unpublished work shows that prions in the bovine spine -along which insecticides are applied- can be damaged by ICI's Phosmet organophosphate[OP] insecticide -causing the disease.

British scientists have led the current theory that an infectious prion in bonemeal fed to cattle causes bovine spongiform disease [BSE]. Infectious prions are also claimed to cause new variant Creutzfeld-Jakob Disease [CJD] in humans -from ingesting beef. But the infectious prion theory serves to obscure a tragic chemical poisoning scandal behind the majority of BSE cases.”

Relevant: 2000: Behind BSE lies a disease of secrecy. 2000: Madness: Sixteen years after the first infected cow was discovered, the Philips report exposes how the deadly truth was carefully hidden from the public by overcautious officials and political pressure.

2001: BSE/"mad cow disease" crisis spreads throughout Europe. 2004: Newsgroup post: BSE conspiracy or not? Archive. 2024: Case of mad cow disease confirmed in the UK

Oct 21 2000 I love her yeah, says Sir Paul

“Sir Paul McCartney has for the first time publicly declared his love for model Heather Mills.

The former Beatle said "Yeah, I love her" on a television programme being screened in the UK on Sunday.

He also reveals how he arranged charity meetings so he could meet up with his love.

Heather, 32, who lost part of her left leg when she was hit by a police motorbike, is the subject of an ITV Stars And Their Lives show presented by Carol Vorderman at 1850 BST.

She had resolved not to discuss her year-long relationship with the millionaire musician, who has been largely silent about his love life since his wife, Linda, died of cancer.

But he secretly arranged to appear as a surprise guest and that was when the programme heard of his intimate feelings.” Archive.

Relevant: 2023: Heather Mills ‘struggled’ to live with Paul McCartney as he kept shrine to late wife Linda. 2024: Beatles truth James Delingpole/Mike Williams podcast.

Oct 22 2000 Revealed: full scale of vaccine blunders

“The drug factory at the centre of the polio vaccine scandal has a history of contamination and production blunders, leading to fears that its vaccines against other diseases are unsafe.

The lives of thousands of old people and children have been put at risk by drug shortages caused by a catalogue of problems that have plagued the Medeva vaccines plant on Merseyside. One serious incident led to British soldiers being sent abroad without protection against Yellow Fever.

Last year, investigators from the US Food and Drug Administration [FDA] were horrified by the conditions they found at the plant in Speke, near Liverpool, which also makes vaccines against flu, tuberculosis, tetanus and Hepatitis B.

On Friday, the Department of Health was forced to recall Medeva's oral polio vaccine after it was discovered that the firm had potentially been using BSE-infected material.

This weekend, an investigation by The Observer can reveal that the problems surrounding the polio vaccine may prove to be the tip of the iceberg.” Archive.

Oct 23 2000 Britain Today - Are We An Intolerant Nation?

“A Reader's Digest survey reveals widespread intolerance of refugees, immigrants and asylum seekers in Britain. The poll also exposes high levels of ignorance on both immigrant numbers and the financial assistance they are given.

A massive eight in ten [80%] of British adults believe that refugees come to this country because they regard Britain as 'a soft touch'.

Two thirds [66%] think that 'there are too many immigrants in Britain'.

Almost two thirds [63%] feel that 'too much is done to help immigrants'.

Nearly four in ten [37%] feel that those settling in this country 'should not maintain the culture and lifestyle they had at home'.

These alarming figures are reported in the November issue of Reader's Digest. The survey conducted by MORI of 2118 adults throughout Great Britain also reveals that many of these opinions are based at best on a sketchy knowledge of the facts." Archive.

Relevant: 2023 YouGov immigration poll.

Oct 24 2000 Cocktail Napkin Primer: Osama Bin Laden – Who is Osama Bin Laden?

"He is a Saudi financier who recruited and led Arab volunteers for the jihad [holy war] against the Soviet invaders in Afghanistan. Since that war, he has sent his "Arab Afghans" to fight in Bosnia, Chechnya, Kashmir and other conflicts involving Muslims. But he also declared a jihad against the United States, and has been accused of authoring a number of bloody attacks on Americans, most notably the 1998 embassy bombings in east Africa. He's also a prime suspect in the attack on the USS Cole." Archive.

Relevant: 2000: Bin Laden arrest warrants. 2023: The Bin Ladens and the Bushes: On 9/11 George Herbert Walker Bush Meets Osama's Brother Shafiq bin Laden. The Bush-bin Laden connections.

Oct 24 2000 Sir Edward Heath to stand down -

"The former prime minister Sir Edward Heath has announced he is to retire from parliament at the next general election after over 50 years as an MP.

Sir Edward - who as the longest serving MP bears the title the father of the house - was prime minister from 1970 until 1974.

Prime Minister Tony Blair was among the first to pay tribute saying: "Sir Edward has made an outstanding contribution to British political life, both through his service as an MP and as Prime Minister."

Conservative leader William Hague said: "Ted Heath's retirement from the House of Commons at the next election will leave a gap that no-one can fill."" Archive.

Oct 24 2000 The Pentagon Simulates a Commercial Plane Striking the Pentagon

"...After 9/11, members of the Bush administration claimed that no one had previously envisioned the kinds of attacks that occurred that day. For example, Condoleezza Rice said: "I don't think anybody could have predicted that these people would take an airplane and slam it into the World Trade Center, take another one and slam it into the Pentagon; that they would try to use an airplane as a missile, a hijacked airplane as a missile." [4] However, these claims were totally untrue. Besides the exercise involving the simulated crashing of a plane into the WTC, there were at least three separate exercises in the 12 months prior to 9/11 based around a plane hitting the Pentagon.

The first of these occurred in late October 2000. In the Office of the Secretary of Defense's conference room, military planners held the Pentagon Mass Casualty Exercise, which was based around a passenger aircraft crashing into the Pentagon, with 341 victims. The exercise was first described in a military newspaper in a report that the British Daily Mirror later said, "reads like an account of what actually happened" on 9/11. [5]" Archive.

Oct 26 2000 Mrs. Clinton Says She Will Return Money Raised by a Muslim Group

"Hillary Rodham Clinton said yesterday that she would return $50,000 in political contributions received at a fund-raising event sponsored by a Muslim organization based in California.

Mrs. Clinton said she was offended by remarks attributed to members of the organization, the American Muslim Alliance. The group's president has been quoted as defending a United Nations resolution that he said allowed for the use of armed force by Palestinians against Israel, while other members have been accused of making anti-Semitic remarks.

Mrs. Clinton's decision to return the money, as well as $1,000 from an official of another American Muslim group, the American Muslim Council, puzzled leaders of both Muslim organizations. The groups acknowledge that they have some members with extreme views on Israel, but say that they are mainstream and oppose terrorism. Officials in the groups yesterday took issue with the characterizations of the remarks." Archive.

Oct 26 2000 Germany moves to ban far-right party

“Ministers in Germany have taken further steps to ban the far-right National Democratic Party (NPD), which has been accused of neo-Nazi activity.

A majority of the country's 16 state interior ministers voted to ask the Constitutional Court to impose a ban, after NPD supporters were linked with a spate of racist attacks on foreigners.

A statement after the meeting in Duesseldorf said the ministers were sending a strong signal that xenophobia and right-wing extremism were unacceptable.” Archive.

Relevant: 2022: How the term 'far Right' has been twisted to reflect the media’s world view.
2024: Campaign to ban AfD, Germany's far-right party, gains momentum.

Oct 26 2000 Echoes of Atlantis

“During the heyday of classical Greece, the city of Helike was the renowned cult centre for worship of Poseidon, the god of the sea and of earthquakes.

Ironically, on a winter night in 373 BC, a violent earthquake and seismic sea-wave [tsunami] destroyed and submerged the city.

At the time of its destruction, Helike was capital of a con federation of city states on the southern shores of the Gulf of Corinth, and was probably located southeast of the modern city of Aigion, roughly 150 kilometres west of Athens. Its precise location has long been the subject of debate among historians and archaeologists.

Ancient writers were insistent that the city lay off limits beneath the waters of the Corinthian gulf, but modern marine surveys had repeatedly failed to locate it there. Last week came the news that ruins of ancient Helike had been uncovered onshore, three to four metres beneath the mud and gravel of the Aigion coastal plain.” Archive.

Oct 26 2000 Should we have faith in central banks? Speech by Professor Otmar Issing, Member of the Executive Board of the European Central Bank, St. Edmund's College Millennium Year Lecture, Cambridge, 26 October 2000

"I should admit from the start that I do not have an obvious and clear-cut answer for you. If there was a simple answer it would not have been an interesting question to ask ... and it would have been a very brief Millennium Lecture. So I will try to approach this question a bit in the spirit of how I presume that Cambridge undergraduates might tackle their weekly essay questions, but hopefully - given my lack of practice - I will not be graded quite as harshly." Archive.

Oct 27 2000 School cured Duke of smacking -

"THE Duke of York [Prince Andrew] says that being beaten at school turned him against corporal punishment. He ruled out smacking his own children after he was disciplined at his prep school, Heatherdown in Berkshire.

In an interview recorded for broadcast this morning on GMTV in support of the NSPCC's Full Stop appeal, he said that he was grateful that neither the Queen nor the Duke of Edinburgh had laid a finger on him.

Asked if his parents ever smacked him as a child, the Duke of York, who turned 40 this year, said: "Never, ever." At school it was different. "I think I probably got one sanction taken against me, but that was all."

The Duke is not the first royal to complain that he was beaten during his childhood. The Prince of Wales has said in the past that he had an unhappy upbringing, due in part at least to numerous rows with his father, a rough time at Gordonstoun, which he described as a "hell-hole", and a lack of hugs and kisses from a rather stoic Queen. The brothers have grown up to treat their own children very differently. The Duke refuses to smack his children, Princess Beatrice, 12, and Princess Eugenie, 10, preferring to use other forms of punishment." Archive.

Oct 28 2000 18 to 24: the dumber generation: Young adults 'dumber than older Britons', survey reveals

"Young 18- to 24-year-old adults are measurably "dumber" than older age groups, evidence in a special ICM survey for the Guardian indicates today.

They emerge consistently as knowing less - sometimes far less - than older people about many of the main events and personalities of British history and culture. Fewer than a third of them can name Winston Churchill, Britain's war-time hero, as a prime minister who served before 1945.

Last night, after studying the survey results, the culture secretary, Chris Smith, said: "I fear it may represent a slipping of knowledge. They do clearly know about other things such as internet search engines and rock music.

"But the fundamentals of what I would call cultural literacy are sadly missing for too many of them. I hope the trend can be reversed." The schools minister, Jacqui Smith, said: "There are worrying gaps in the education of too many young adults." Archive.

OzCW: One reason we've included this article is because it quotes MP Jacqui Smith [now Baroness Smith]. We did not know back then that as schools minister she was going to resign in 2009 over submitting an expenses claim for pornography. At that time, Gordon Brown was PM – he asked Smith to stay on. This was the calibre of British Labour Party in the early 2000s – it's gone downhill since.

Oct 28 2000 Hackers fool Gates: Microsoft joins hunt for code-crackers

"The Microsoft Corp. and the FBI joined forces yesterday to track down a group of clever and malicious computer hackers who penetrated the software giant's system and gained access to the basic source codes for the company's latest products.

Microsoft CEO Steve Ballmer, at a meeting in Stockholm, confirmed his company discovered Wednesday that it was a victim of high tech piracy, saying the hackers may have been rooting around the secrets of the company's products in development for up to five weeks.

"They did in fact access the source codes. You bet this is an issue of great importance," Ballmer told reporters." Archive.

Oct 28 2000 The witching hour: Witchcraft was outlawed in this country for the best part of a thousand years. But now, officially tolerated and with a new religion of their own, witches are flooding out of the broom closet. Call it magic, call it hocus-pocus, they say anyone can do it ... especially as Hallowe'en approaches

"According to Cassandra Latham, the rules of spell-casting are: don't dabble but do persist; do not start anything that you can't finish; be aware that anything you wish for in another person may come back to you; and be precise. 'Don't just ask for money, because your nearest and dearest might drop down dead, leaving you an inheritance.' Archive.

Oct 27 2000 The Strange Case of Edmond Safra When the billionaire banker Edmond Safra died in an apparently bungled robbery at his home in Monte Carlo, the initial suspects ranged from the Russian mafia to the Colombian drug cartels. But then the police arrested one of Safra's 12 nurses and the strange story became stranger still.

"As far back as 1957, Edmond Safra was named as a drug trafficker in a US Bureau of Narcotics report. The accusation was later withdrawn, but until his death Safra was the inspiration for countless unsubstantiated rumours that linked him to drug, gold and currency trafficking, money laundering and organised crime.

The Safra family came from the Halabi merchants of northern Lebanon, a close-knit clan of Sephardic Jewish traders who historically made their money from financing the camel caravans of the Middle East. Edmond's father Jacob opened the family bank in 1920, building on the Safras' long experience in gold and currency exchange. Sephardic tradition maintained that the family business should be passed on to the oldest son. But such was his precocious interest in banking that the young Edmond leapfrogged his elder brother, Elie, to be selected by his father as the prime heir. At just 16, Edmond went to Milan to learn the banking business and then on to Brazil, where he set up his first bank at the age of 21." Archive.

Relevant: 2008: Billionaire's mysterious death in Monte Carlo.

Oct 29 2000 Newsgroup post: UK Hindu priest blackmailed young men into having sex with him

"A week after Harish Purohit, the priest at the Shree Shakti Mandir in Leicester, was found murdered, more and more tales of his dangerous double life are trickling out.

The police said that Purohit, 42, may have been murdered because of his dubious dealings in the Asian gay community and revealed that he led a double life -- respected priest, community leader and civil servant by day and a manipulative, camp, promiscuous homosexual, who frequented the seediest edge of the gay scene by night.

Purohit came to Britain, from east Africa, at age seven. His father, also a priest, founded the Shree Shakti temple and brought up his sons to be priests. Harish was the moderniser, attempting to bridge the gap between older and younger members of Leicester's Hindu community. He performed pujas in English and was happy to explain and discuss what lay behind the ceremonies and rituals.

Harish had another job in the city's administration. He was a manager in Leicester City Council's social services department and so doubly respected. A few years ago he went into business with a friend setting up and running a chain of care homes for people with learning difficulties. The business was clearly successful and this reflected in his flashy car, a silver BMW 320, and the house, where he was murdered, that he was renovating." Archive.

Oct 29 2000 Theories of ancient Druid, Celtic visitors persist

"...In the woods near Woodstock, Friedman conjures history not found in textbooks. He tells of Druids and Celtic sun-worshippers who came to this continent, specifically to what is now the northeastern United States, a long, long time before Columbus.

"Everything that you have been told about history," he says, "is wrong."

Maybe it is. Mainstream researchers still hold that no Europeans created significant settlements in North America until after Columbus' 1492 voyage. Friedman's theory of ancient visitors is an old one, previously dismissed by academics as crackpot.

Yet such theories persist. Rebel scholars continue to turn up ancient evidence, and amateur buffs like Friedman keep seeing signs of long-lost civilization underfoot where others see only piles of rocks." Archive.

Oct 30 2000 BBC News goes home

"BBC News is to make a move back to Broadcasting House in central London by the end of the decade - in many people's minds a return to its spiritual home.

The decision to relocate BBC News back to the heart of central London will doubtless have its stern critics...

Statues on the front of the building are of Ariel and Prospero, characters from Shakespeare's The Tempest. They are among the most famous works by the British sculptor and designer Eric Gill. Rumour has it that on its initial inspection by the BBC's governors, they demanded that several inches be lopped off the manhood of the sprite Ariel.

Ariel was chosen as something of a joke on the word aerial. But Gill himself was not completely amused by the joke, saying: "Comic, though, the BBC kidding itself that it may be likened to a prince putting the world to rights and its bally apparatus likened to a sort of heavenly spire."

In a piece of historical neatness, the corporation now uniformly uses a typeface designed by Gill - Gill Sans - as its house style." Archive.

Relevant: 2021: Serial rapist & abuser: the case against sculptor & typographer Eric Gill. 2022: How to avoid the Gill Sans font controversy in Windows and Office. 2022: The Real Reason An Eric Gill Statue Was Targeted By Protestors.

Oct 31 2000 Holocaust on trial

"The Final Solution and the slaughter of millions of Jews during World War II is the defining tragedy of the 20th century. But there are those who claim that the Holocaust is a myth - that the millions who died are mere phantoms, that the few who survived are liars. Today, more than 50 years after those terrible events, the very reality of the Holocaust is being challenged..."

*Irving is fighting a one-man libel action against American scholar Deborah Lipstadt and her publisher, Penguin Books over her 1993 book Denying the Holocaust. She has branded Irving a dangerous revisionist, claiming he bends historical evidence to match his own ideological agenda. Irving counters that Lipstadt has conspired to ruin his reputation and threaten his livelihood." Archive.*

Oct 31 2000 Exorcism flourishing once again

"...The ancient ritual of exorcism, which fell out of favor in the Age of Reason, is once again flourishing in the Age of the Internet. End-of-the-world fears? A desire stoked by Hollywood occult films? Ministers looking for new lines of work?"

*Whatever the cause, hundreds of exorcism ministries now exist--some with names like Demon Stompers that offer personal deliverance testimonies and toll-free lines for convenient counseling. Along with the heightened public interest in exorcisms has come a passionate debate on the nature of evil and the proper role of the ritual among Christians.*

"It's a sensational, fast-food solution to long-term problems that absolves you of any responsibility for your vices," says Hank Hanegraaff of the Christian Research Institute in Santa Margarita. "I call it Flip Wilson theology: 'The devil made me do it.'" Archive.

November 2000 Links Most Relevant to Today

"EPIC FIREWORKS - Guy Fawkes Night Nov 5th Firework Poster" by EpicFireworks [edited] is licensed under CC BY 2.0.

Remember, remember the 5th of November,
Gunpowder, treason and plot!

Nov 3 2000 Temple Mount Fanatics Foment a New Thirty Years' War. In 2024, the Israeli extremists still haven't gone away.

Nov 7 2000 Hillary Clinton Wins NY Senate Race. In 2024 she still hasn't gone away either.

Nov 7 2000 Ukraine wages war on Russian language: Death of folk-singer fuels anger. Ukrainian nationalism had been stoked since the end of the USSR to be used as and when convenient e.g. today.

Nov 8 2000 IMF: Transcript of Economic Forum -- One World, One Currency: Destination or Delusion. IMF revelation of their method.

Nov 11 2000 Author Jeffrey Archer embroiled in sex and perjury scandal. Don't imagine Jeffrey Archer has gone away, either. The Spectator point out the sphere of influence he exerts today: his proteges include Sajid Javid and Priti Patel.

Nov 13 2000 Tucker Carlson video: Tucker voted for George W. Bush. In 2024, Tucker still hasn't gone away.

Nov 14 2000 Mafia "gripping Italian economy": In 2023, the Mafia still hadn't gone away.

Nov 15 2000 Vaccination Liberation - Information - Subject: Autism/MMR Resources: Largely thanks to Dr. Andrew Wakefield in the UK, the idea of vaccine damage was entering the public consciousness on both sides of the pond. The debates will reignite post-Covid all over the world. And in Marin County, as parents stopped vaxxing, the autism rates went down.

Nov 15 2000 “Appalling abuse at hospital” and Nov 18 2000 NHS Trust “condoned” abuse of elderly patients. Abuse of the elderly continued and worsened in the UK until during the Covid years our elders were being systematically exterminated in hospitals via among other the unnecessary use of Midazolam.

Nov 19 2000 Day of destiny for the brothers who courted Blair. In 2024 the once-feted Hinduja brothers were charged. They were not found guilty of human trafficking but guilty of mistreating domestic workers in a raft of shameful accusations. [Not that these people have any shame.]

Nov 19 2000 It’s official – gays do not harm armed forces. The early stirrings of woke? Or did the government just want to kill all the gay people?

Nov 19 2000 Don’t read all about it: the erosion of press freedom in 2000. Reminder: We did not have social media back then. It’s worse now. Much worse.

Nov 19 2000 Pension fund giant reinvents itself. There was early Vanguard expansion into owning everything.

Nov 20 2000 Analysis: Hopeless in Gaza. In 2024, Gazans are even more hopeless.

Nov 22 2000 A whole world sold on sell-offs. Globalism and the technocracy we suffer in 2024 could not have been achieved without Thatcher’s privatisations.

Nov 22 2000 Man who reduces staff to tears. This is not just a gossip article about a nasty boss, this man is [still] a billionaire porn mogul who in 2000 donated massive amounts of cash to Blair. In recent years he bought/bribed his way into UKIP and the Conservative Party, too.

Nov 24 2000 King denies sex offence charges. Serial child abuser King was still fiddling the system in 2019.

Nov 25 2000 Voucher system fails to halt rise in asylum applicants. Conditions have improved considerably for asylum seekers since 2000.

Nov 29 2000 Rise of the Little Englanders. Immigration was making Brits more racist.

Nov 29 2000 Profile: Lord Waheed Alli – first of a new wave of new Labour peer. Homosexual woke TV mogul peer Waheed Alli was appointed by Keir Starmer to run Labour Party fundraising in 2022. As a Labour donor, he was given a pass to 10 Downing Street.

Nov 30 2000 UK Freedom of Information Act passed: At least we can still in 2024 issue FOIA requests, even if they're denied.

November 2000 Summary

Vanity Fair magazine Jemima and Imran Khan 2000, available here.

In chilly November 2000 we see the msm rubbishing the Blairs' nanny and scaremongering over exorcisms.

In the US:

- We heard Bush Jr had been busted for drink-driving. And was running for election against Al Gore.
- Sadly, Hillary Clinton was elected into the Senate.
- There were HIV activists.
- RFK Jr sparked resignations.

- Google was expanding.
- A Waco whistleblower was indicted.
- Internet stocks tanked by $1.7 billion.
- CIA asset Tucker Carson was voting for George Bush.
- Vanguard was growing.
- Western Union finally went online.
- There was an addition to the Clinton body count.
- There was sex for rent in the Bay Area.
- Trump Tower won in court.
- There was baby-smuggling in Canada.

In the UK:

- Supermarkets were under scrutiny.
- We heard Lord Haw Haw's wife had been let off.
- Marketing departments were manipulating.
- Jeffrey Archer was embroiled in a sex and perjury scandal.
- Jemima Khan was not anti-Semitic [isn't she Jewish?].
- Stephen Hawking was getting beaten up.

- There were fuel protests.
- People continued to link the MMR vaccine to autism: we saw support for Dr. Andrew Wakefield.
- The elderly were wickedly being abused.
- Pornographer Richard Clive Desmond gave Blair a lot of money.
- Blair made Waheed Alli a Lord and waged war on Eurosceptics with Robin Cook.
- Elton John blew 40 million quid in 20 months.
- Asians were enjoying a traditional family life – but not the corrupt Hinduja's.
- Gays were safe in the army.
- Britain had been sold off.
- Ted Heath had even more blood on his hands.
- Paedo Jonathan King was arrested.
- The asylum voucher system was no deterrent.
- A paedo murder enquiry fell apart.
- Was Playstation2 the best? we were asked.
- The Freedom of Information Act was passed. [But a 2016 FOIA about paedophiles in Parliament was of course brushed off by the Cabinet Office.]
- Page 3 was 30. [As in the socially-degrading photos of young women's breasts that Murdoch had added to his Sun newspaper so we had to see them all over the place].

- People remembered Margaret Thatcher's resignation.

In the rest of the world:

- In Europe, the globalists were planning their one-world currency. And Adidas and Nestle ignored their ethics hearings.
- Around 1500 paedophiles were bust in an Italian investigation. And Cambodia was trying to crack down on them.
- In Argentina they found pieces of a lost plane.
- There was rioting in Israel. And hopelessness in Gaza.
- Afghanistan wanted the Queen to give back the Koh-i-Noor diamond and everyone was watching Titanic.
- Nationalism was on the rise in Ukraine.
- The Philippines impeached their president.
- Italy's economy was gripped by the Mafia. And the Vatican changed the exorcism law.
- France banned beef over [fake] BSE/mad cow disease.
- Malaysia banned a Michael Jackson concert.

All of which you'll find nestling between our November conspiracy haul.

November 2000 Links

OK! magazine 2000 cover featuring Richard Branson, Cliff Richard, Sarah Ferguson, available here.

Nov 1 2000 Media Watch: HIV Disinformation -

"If you telephone the San Francisco office of the HIV campaign group Act Up (the AIDS Coalition to Unleash Power), an answer phone message announces 2 surprising "facts." First, "HIV cannot possibly cause AIDS." Second, "AIDS drugs are poison." The San Francisco group, joined by branches in West Hollywood, Toronto, and Atlanta, is on a crusade to challenge what they see as the medical establishment's intellectual strangle-hold over the AIDS community." Archive.

Nov 1 2000 A Battle in store: A discussion of the social impact of the major UK supermarkets

"Sustain's report reveals the complex effects of supermarkets on society and why the social and environmental problems they create, the unfair competition for smaller and independent retailers, and the unfair terms of trade they impose on suppliers, need solutions far beyond what the Competition Commission and DTI were proposing at the time of its publication [2000].

At time of writing, about £66 out of every £100 spent on groceries is at supermarkets. Meanwhile, the very same stores have numerous critics. More often than not, the popularity of supermarkets is used to negate the critics [if you want supermarkets, you'll just have to live with their problems or, if you are that worried about their disadvantages, then you'd stop shopping in them]. This 'shrug your shoulders' mentality has long pervaded the supermarket debate." Archive.

Nov 1 2000 Paedophile scandal boosts coverup conspiracy

"A huge child pornography ring has been smashed, the police are jubilant and the guilty snared. Or so it seems, and in Italy nothing is ever as it seems.

Brezing through chat shows, offices and homes is the suspicion of a cover-up. Almost 1,500 people have been charged but not those in high places who are believed to form a "paedophile lobby".

My neighbours, echoing last night's chat shows, are certain a conspiracy is afoot. Whispers and denunciations will continue awhile but probably come to nothing. Italy will have another mystery. The facts are these. Two years ago police, prodded by a campaigning Sicilian priest, set up a fake website to trap sellers and buyers of child porn.

Self-styled "child-lovers" downloaded...films of seduction, rape and torture. Last week police charged 831 Italians and issued arrest warrants for 660 people in Europe, Asia and the United States.

A victory for law-enforcement, trumpeted the government. Quite the contrary, said the magistrate leading the investigation...Speaking into a forest of microphones, he claimed a network of politicians and institutional figures had obstructed the investigation and tried to protect the guilty.

"There is a paedophile lobby that acts in broad daylight and probably with the support, which I could consider unwitting, of certain political parties," said Mr Ormanni.

Father Fortunato Di Noto, the priest who tipped off police, claimed ministers were refusing to act on evidence. He would explain himself only to President Carlo Azeglio Ciampi because he could not trust the government.” Archive.

Nov 2 2000 The plane that disappeared

“NARRATOR [JACK FORTUNE]: The Andes in South America. 53 years ago somewhere in these mountains a British passenger plane vanished into thin air and so began one of aviation's most enduring mysteries.

CAPT. FRANK TAYLOR [Former BSAA pilot]: We heard all sorts of rumours about what could have happened to that plane.

RUTH HUDSON: You don't want to grieve for somebody that might not be dead.

NARRATOR: But earlier this year pieces of the plane mysteriously reappeared high on a remote glacier more than half a century after it had disappeared. The Argentine Army decided to undertake a gruelling expedition to one of the highest mountains in the Andes to try and find the rest of the plane. They hoped to discover enough information to help modern science solve the mystery of the plane that vanished.

HAZEL NORTH: We sat round and asked questions for years basically, the same questions that there were no answers for.

NARRATOR: On August 2nd 1947 a British Lancastrian airliner called Stardust took off on a routine passenger flight across South America. The flight was to be anything but routine. The scheduled British South American Airways flight should have taken under 4 hours to travel from Buenos Aires in Argentina to the Chilean capital Santiago across the Andes mountains. At the controls was a highly experienced pilot with a navigator and 3 other crew members.” Archive.

Nov 3 2000 Temple Mount Fanatics Foment a New Thirty Years' War

“On Oct. 16, Israeli police turned back members of the Temple Mount and Land of Israel Faithful Movement, as they attempted to enter the Dome of the Rock to anoint the cornerstone of a Third Temple. It was an extraordinary provocation, given that, for the previous 17 days, the Israeli military and police had been waging a round-the-clock shooting war against Palestinian protesters, armed mostly with stones. Dozens of Arab demonstrators had already been killed, and Jerusalem was about to explode in religious warfare.

An earlier press release by the Temple Mount Faithful had claimed that "the event has the approval of the Israeli authorities and will be protected by the Israel security forces."

The press release, written by Faithful leader Gershon Salomon, proclaimed, in blood-curdling language, "Now it is the time to rebuild the House of G-d on the holy Temple Mount, the location of the First and Second temples. G-d is ready for this and He expects Israel to re-liberate the Temple Mount from the pagan Arab worshippers and to rebuild His house to again be the heart, soul, and focus of Israel and all the nations... Come and see for yourself what G-d is doing with Israel at this great time and be a part of this major end-time event." Archive.

Relevant: 2024: Temple Tantrums – The showdown is set for Temple Mount in Jerusalem. Archive.

Nov 4 2000 Bush hit by drink-driving revelation

"The fate of next week's US presidential election hinges on how American voters react to last minute revelations that Republican candidate George W Bush has a drunk driving conviction which he concealed for 24 years.

News of Mr Bush's 1976 arrest in Maine eclipsed coverage of all yesterday's other events on the campaign trail after the story broke on Thursday on a local television station in Portland, Maine.

Having kept the conviction quiet for nearly quarter of a century, Mr Bush was forced to change tack once the story broke, electing to confront the issue head-on in a speech at Grand Rapids, Michigan. "It's become clear to America over the course of the campaign that I've made mistakes in my life," Mr Bush told his audience. "But I'm proud to tell you I've learned from those mistakes." His comments triggered prolonged cheering.

Mr Bush was arrested near his family's Kennebunkport summer home on September 4 1976, when he was 30. Police saw his car swaying from side to side. Mr Bush had three passengers, his sister Dorothy and the former Wimbledon champion John Newcombe and his wife. Mr Bush pleaded guilty to the charge. He was fined $150 and suspended from driving in Maine for 30 days." Archive.

Nov 5 2000 A Kennedy and His Mentor Part Ways Over River Group

"A year and a half ago, Robert F. Kennedy Jr., the chief prosecuting attorney for the Hudson Riverkeeper, spoke at a ceremony in Garrison honoring the environmental group's founder and president, Robert H. Boyle.

He spoke of his admiration for Mr. Boyle, a writer and activist who was his mentor and who is widely credited with creating the environmental movement on the Hudson River. And he said that if he had to be stuck on a desert island with one person -- other than his wife -- that person would be Mr. Boyle. It seems safe to guess that he would not say the same thing today.

On June 20, Mr. Boyle and seven other members of the group's board resigned after an angry showdown with Mr. Kennedy.

The resignations quickly reverberated through the environmental community, where Mr. Boyle and Mr. Kennedy are both considered heroes.” Archive.

Nov 5 2000 Taliban asks the Queen to return Koh-i-Noor gem

“The Taliban have demanded the return of the Koh-i-Noor diamond to Afghanistan, saying that the Queen should hand back the gem 'as soon as possible' so that it can be displayed in Kabul's bombed-out museum.

In a claim that may yet provoke sleepless nights among Tower of London security officials, where the gem is kept as part of the Crown Jewels, the Taliban's foreign affairs spokesman, Faiz Ahmad Faiz, said last week that the diamond was the 'legitimate property' of Afghanistan.

He said 'many other things' stolen from Afghanistan during the colonial period the Taliban now wanted back as part of their attempt to reconstruct their war-torn country. 'The history of the diamond shows it was taken from us to India, and from there to Britain. We have a much better claim than the Indians,' he said.

Britain refuses to recognise the Taliban regime and it seems unlikely the Koh-i-Noor will be returned in the near future.” Archive.

Nov 6 2000 Bush and Gore: Two Men Two Visions

“In a normal election, if there is such a thing, it ought to be clear by the end what the race is about whether the candidates are promising continuity or change, bright contrasts or fine distinctions; whether it is about character or competence; whether the results will actually matter in most people's lives or just change the background music on the evening news while they go about multitasking and instant messaging and sorting the laundry and paying the bills. But this election, this confoundingly close race, just dares wavering voters to make a decision and stick with it. It's even hard to choose whom to blame for its being so hard to choose. Could they be more alike, the two political princes, Texas and Tennessee, Harvard and Yale, the compassionate conservative against the pragmatic idealist? Could they be more different, one so unpolished it's hard to imagine, the other so shiny it hurts to look. Vice President Al Gore runs as a populist who doesn't talk much about the poor; George W. Bush, backed by more G.O.P. fat cats than any other Republican in memory, delivers the best New Democrat speech ever given in prime time, says a former Clinton adviser. Gore is famous for his Halloween parties, has always appeared in costume. And so it has been in this race a cannibal in one debate, a Quaker in the next and so voters say they don't quite know what to believe about him."

Archive.

Nov 7 2000 Hillary Clinton Wins NY Senate Race

"Hillary Rodham Clinton tonight became the first president's wife to win elected office, defeating Republican Rep. Rick Lazio in the most expensive, highest-profile Senate race in American history. Shortly after 11 p.m. ET, Mrs. Clinton took to the stage in the packed ballroom of the Grand Hyatt in Manhattan to address a cheering crowd of 2,000 supporters.

"I just wanna say from the bottom of my heart: Thank you New York!" she said, drawing wild applause. At the victorious first lady's side were her husband, President Clinton, daughter Chelsea, Sen. Charles Schumer of New York, and the man she is replacing, Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihan.

Mrs. Clinton poked fun at her campaign-trail wardrobe and the wild nature of the race, which saw her original opponent, New York City Mayor Rudolph Giuliani withdraw amid a prostate cancer diagnosis and marital difficulties." Archive.

Nov 7 2000 Ukraine wages war on Russian language: Death of folk-singer fuels anger

"...Mr Dzhmyl is a foot soldier on the frontline of Ukraine's linguistic war. In a country where Ukrainian - banned by Russian tsars and communists - is now the official tongue but the majority still speak Russian, language is an incendiary issue.

One evening in the summer, Mr Dzhmyl and fellow members of the Patriots of Ukraine, the militaristic youth wing of the extremist Social National party, went on the rampage in Lviv, trashing cafes and bars frequented by young Russians.

Since then "Muscovites Out" graffiti have been daubed across Lviv, and Russian Orthodox churches have been vandalised.

"You don't hear so much Russian spoken on the streets now," he grins.

"Anti-Russian hysteria," complains Roman Manyakin, an ethnic Russian political scientist from the east Ukrainian city of Donetsk.

"Those nationalists are Nazis preaching a gospel of ethnic intolerance."

"It's depressing," says Inna Pidluska, a political analyst in Kiev. "And the government is turning a blind eye."

Independent Ukraine is struggling to shake off centuries of Russification. As any student of 19th-century European nationalism knows, language is central to nation building. Ukraine is discovering that the principle remains axiomatic in the 21st century.

Around 20% of Ukrainians are ethnic Russians, yet more than 60% of the population of 51m speak Russian.

"Any real native of Kiev speaks Russian," says a Ukrainian man born and bred in the city. "We learned Russian at school, we speak Russian at home, and I can't be bothered learning Ukrainian now. I'm too old for that."

Mr Dzhmyl spends his weekends marching in a white shirt and black tie under 8ft Ukrainian banners or doing paramilitary training in the hills outside Lviv." Archive.

OzCW: As we have seen over decades the US facetiously demonising “The Russians” for no good reason other than to fabricate an enemy, we wonder if “they” have deliberately kept the Ukraine simmering in constant “soft” and hard conflict for decades.

Did the globalists keep Nazism fomenting in the region in preparation for their phony war decades later? Add foreign interests plus a few oligarchs [of which Ukraine has many] for funding to a few bands of paid Nazi thugs and corrupt police and there’s a simple recipe for unrest to be used as an excuse for war.

Nazism was also exported from Ukraine/Serb regions to infect the world. SRA victim-survivor Fiona Barnett explains in a witness statement about her abusive grandparents how Nazis were exported to Australia:

“Peter and Helen Holowczak were amongst the large number of Slavic Nazi war criminals granted asylum by the Australian government through the International Refugee Organisation.

The wave of Slavic Nazis offered asylum in Australia was documented in Mark Aaron’s book War Criminals Welcome: Australia, a Sanctuary for War Criminals Since 1945. During a 2001 episode of the television show Lateline, Aaron explained:

Most of the war criminals who settled in Australia were not Germans or Austrians. They were people from Central and Eastern Europe, from the Ukraine, the Baltic States, the central European countries of Czechoslovakia, Croatia and Serbia... These people had done deals with western intelligence organisations, having given them intelligence were then secreted or allowed to go to third countries like Australia...

The Simon Wiesenthal Centre has a classification system whereby they rate (from A to F) how cooperative a country is with the process of locating, investigating and trying Nazi war criminals. Australia is ranked F – the least cooperative.”

These links are a few examples of an unstable Ukraine leading up to Maidan in 2014:

2004: Svoboda Party – the new phenomenon on the Ukraine right-wing scene.

2005: The story of the Orange Revolution 2004. [Soros does “colour” revolutions.]

2005: Ukrainian ex-interior minister found dead.

2007–8: Racist violence up in Ukraine.

2008: Ukraine: racial discrimination on the rise.

2009: New investigation into murder of Novaya Gazeta journalist.

2010: [Georgiy Gongadze \[2000\] murder](#) tied to late Ukrainian minister.

2022: On the influence of neo-Nazism in Ukraine.

Nov 8 2000 IMF: Transcript of Economic Forum -- One World, One Currency: Destination or Delusion

O2CW: Here are the globalists continuing to plan their CBDC and war on cash.

"...The title of this panel harks back to a publication of the European Union or the Commission, a report which was, if my memory serves, called "One Market, One Money." And in fact it is the creation of that "one money" in Europe, the euro, that makes today's topic particularly relevant.

It starts from the recent moves toward regional groupings and asks the question, well, does that presage the move to a universal or world currency.

The question in a way is where do we go from here?

I suppose there could have been two titles, competing titles, for this panel. One would have been the title we are given, "One World, One Currency"; and the other could have been, "Many Governments, Many Currencies." Of course, the euro may be telling us that you can still have a few currencies or one currency with many governments, though the future will tell which way this will go..." Archive.

Relevant: 1990: PDF: One Market One money. An evaluation of the potential benefits and costs of forming an economic and monetary union

Nov 8 2000 Newsgroup post: Claims to Atlantis: Malta

"The Times of Malta, November 8, 2000

Front page headline - Malta was site of Atlantis

Page 13:

An article written by Natalino Fenech covers the new book published by the Prehistoric Society of Malta.

Malta - Echoes of Plato's Island written by Dr. Anton Mifsud, Dr.Simon Mifsud, Chris Agius Sultana and Dr.Charles Savona Ventura.

Theme of the book is to be subject of an ITV documentary series called Underworld on Channel 4, due for screening in August 2001.

In brief:

Malta is the only known civilization which pre-dates Egypt by a thousand years.

The temple builders in Malta also lasted a thousand years just as Plato described.

Maltese architectural civilization suddenly disappeared without trace sometime after 2,500 BC. Recorded Egyptian civilization goes back to 2700BC.

Geological analysis confirms the seabed of the Central Mediterranean shows the island as a mountain peak overlying the deep Pantelleria Rift.

Tectonic movements have tilted the islands so that along the North East coast temples have been submerged[as reported by Quintinus in 1533, Commander Scicluna, Zeitlmar, and probably caught on video by Graham Hancock]. Cart ruts lead into the sea at several points.

The Southwestern coast cliffs are high and cart ruts are interrupted, to reappear on Filfla, a tiny island off the south west coast." Archive.

Nov 9 2000 Social Report Spin Attacked: Marketing Departments Accused of Manipulation

"Social reports produced by companies such as Barclays and Ford have been condemned as corporate "spin" by New Economics Foundation (NEF), the organisation which developed modern methods of social auditing.

In an analysis of the reports by leading companies' covering their impact on society, NEF uncovered "huge discrepancies" between their claims and actions.

Deborah Doane, author of the study, said reporting had been taken over by marketing departments. "The voluntary nature of social reporting has resulted in its capture by the marketing departments and its misuse as an accountability tool. Only when companies are required to produce a social report by law will we see the end of the manipulation by those it should be holding to account."

NEF warns that the technique which was developed as a method of assessing companies' social responsibility has been taken over by the large accountancy firms and marketed as "reputation assurance". Instead of holding companies to account it is now being used to enhance their public images." Archive.

Nov 9 2000 Waco "Whistleblower" Indicted

"A former government prosecutor has been indicted on federal charges of obstructing the investigation into the 1993 siege at the Branch Davidian compound at Waco, Texas, that he helped set in motion.

Former assistant U.S. Attorney Bill Johnston was charged with two counts of obstruction of justice and three counts of lying to investigators and a federal grand jury.

The indictment was returned Wednesday as Waco special counsel John C. Danforth released his final report absolving the government of wrongdoing in the siege.

Attorney Michael Kennedy, while acknowledging that Johnston made mistakes in his dealings with the special counsel, called the charges baseless and unfair.

"Danforth seeks to destroy the messenger and whitewash the governmental excesses of Waco," he said. "While Bill's mistakes were harmless, the same cannot be said for so many other government employees, who today are merely chastised or ignored completely by Mr. Danforth." Archive.

Nov 9 2000 The 1.7 trillion dot.com lesson: Index of 280 Internet stocks is down \$1.7 trillion from its 52-week high

"Call it the $1.755 trillion dot.com investing lesson.

It's hard to think of a publicly traded Internet company that is not down at least 75 percent from its 52-week high and that hasn't trimmed its expenses or laid off workers. While industry groups have always drifted in and out of favor on Wall Street, it's rare to see an industry evaporate as quickly and completely as Web stocks did.

CNNfn.com asked the market data and research firm Birinyi Associates of Westport, Conn., to calculate the market value of the 280 stocks in the Bloomberg US Internet Index at their respective 52-week highs and their current market value. The combined market values of the 280 stocks had fallen to $1.193 trillion currently from $2.948 trillion at their peak, a loss of $1.755 trillion, most of which occurred between March and September of this year.

The Bloomberg Internet Index contains Web retailers, Internet infrastructure firms, Web advertising companies, Web portals and makers of networking equipment. Some of the largest losses on a dollar-value basis came from networking equipment giant Cisco Systems [CSCO: Research, Estimates], which has lost $210 billion in market value from its peak; the Internet incubators CMGI [CMGI: Research, Estimates] and Internet Capital Group [ICGE: Research, Estimates], which have lost a combined $100 billion from their apex; the Web portal Yahoo! [YHOO: Research, Estimates], which shed $102 billion, and America Online [AOL: Research, Estimates], which is worth $92 billion less than at its highest point." Archive.

Relevant: 2024: The dot com bubble definition. VIDEO 2011: The dot com bubble.

Nov 10 2000 Secret files released on Lord Haw Haw's wife

"The wife of Nazi propaganda broadcaster Lord Haw Haw was not prosecuted for treason by Britain because officials felt she had suffered enough, according to secret files now released.

While much is known about the Nazi sympathiser William Joyce, less has emerged about the fate of his wife Margaret, who broadcast alongside her husband for German radio stations during World War II. The couple, who had been active in British fascist circles before the war, married in 1937 in London and went to Germany in August 1939.

Margaret began broadcasting for German stations almost at once, at a time when her husband's identity as Lord Haw Haw had not been disclosed. He acquired his nickname because of his distinctive nasal drawl.

"Mrs Joyce was announced as Lady Haw Haw," according to files from Britain's MI5 intelligence service released on Friday as part of moves towards more open government.

She was not identified on the radio as Margaret Joyce until 1942 but people in Britain who knew her recognised her distinctive voice and told the police.

When Germany fell, Margaret was arrested in Flensburg and subjected to interrogation and imprisonment." Archive.

Relevant: 2016: 1946 Lord Haw Haw hanged. 2016: Nazi monster who deserved to hang: Many believe wartime traitor Lord Haw-Haw was a harmless buffoon who was wrongly executed... but that's utter nonsense, says a new biography.

Nov 11 2000 Author Jeffrey Archer embroiled in sex and perjury scandal

"A scandal of sex, politics and perjury has novelist Jeffrey Archer back in the headlines in Britain. The millionaire author was running as a candidate of the Conservative Party to become the first-ever elected mayor of London.

But in a plot worthy of one of his books, Archer is now out of the race -- and in some big legal trouble. The scandal dates back 12 years, to a libel trial launched by Archer against a newspaper. The paper alleged Archer had paid several thousand dollars to a prostitute to keep quiet about having sex with him. Archer denied the allegations and sued.

He won, and was awarded more than $1 million.

But Archer had also asked a friend to lie for him in court. The testimony was never used, but over the weekend, the friend confessed to the lie to another newspaper." Archive.

Relevant: 1986: Archer quits over prostitute allegations [note: he was stung by the News of the World]. 2001: Archer fraud allegations. 2001: Jeffrey Archer jailed for perverting justice and perjury.

2021: The remorseless rise of Jeffrey Archer's mafia. Archive.

Nov 11 2000 UFO contact from Undersea

"This contact-book is about the experiences of an out-moved Cuban - Filiberto Cardenas who in jan79 lived in Florida, where he had had a gift shop; "Zarabanda", at 4150 East 4th Avenue, Hialeah. He sold that and bought out a small filling station and automobile service shop called Barbara Service Center, Inc., at 4105 East 4th Avenue, which was then no big money maker. He developed the service station business into a highly successful operation, but it took all of his time, and most of his wife's, all days of the week and Saturdays and Sundays. He needed more time to conduct his own investigation into what was happening to him and to tell others who would listen to what was going on. He sold the business on his birthday, the 31st of October, and began to make plans to visit UFO conferences and investigators around the country to see how much was happening to others. That is the day DrVigilo Sanshez-Ocejo tells he met him for the first time.

Filiberto's experiences actually began on 3 January 1979, and investigation of the case was most ably undertaken by Dr. Virgiho Sanchez-Ocejo, Jr., an Attorney and local UFO investigator and researcher who was working diligently on a number of substantial UFO cases already. Sanchez entered the case on 4 January, the day after the first abduction, while Cardenas was still in the clinic, and began the long and highly detailed debriefing. He developed details and tested the data. He arranged for medical and psychological, and even neurological examinations of the witness and provided a hypnotherapist and expert on the subject to conduct regressions of the witness back to the actual contacts to develop details." Archive.

Nov 12 2000 Jemima Khan: I am not an anti-Semite

"JEMIMA KHAN, the daughter of Sir James Goldsmith, has been told by her family's lawyer that he will no longer represent her because a newspaper article she wrote was "anti-Semitic" and showed that he did not understand "what being a Goldsmith means".

Mrs Khan, 26, who converted to Islam when she married the former cricketer Imran Khan in 1995, provoked controversy when she argued that the American media was pro-Israel in its coverage of the Middle East crisis. In her article in The Guardian, Mrs Khan also questioned the impartiality of American politicians with influence over the peace process in the run up to the election.

"The Israeli lobby in the US is rich and influential," she wrote. "The media is largely controlled by the Jews, as is Hollywood, and they account for more than half the top policy-making jobs in the Clinton administration. Peace can only be achieved once the US acts as an honest broker, and the US media as impartial commentators."

Speaking to The Telegraph from her home in Islamabad, Pakistan, she said that she had been "horrified" by the hate mail she had received after her article which was intended to be "a balanced opinion from someone who has experience of both the Jewish and Muslim worlds"." Archive.

Relevant: 2004: Was Goldsmith really Princess Diana's father? Let's hope so.

2011: Court gagging orders unravel as Twitter allegations ruffle feathers of celebrities. 2012: George Galloway calls in lawyer over Jemima Khan's claim that he converted to Islam in a secret ceremony more than a decade ago.

2022: Pakistan ex-PM Imran Khan's first wife Jemima alleges she is being 'stalked, children targeted' in London. 2023: Jemima Khan Rejects Zardari's Allegations Of Financing Vloggers To Support PTI.

Nov 13 2000 Tucker Carlson video: Tucker voted for George W. Bush

Relevant: 2022: Tucker Carlson: The Elite Pedigree of a Brilliant Cosplaying “Populist”. 2023: The Shocking Secret History of Tucker Carlson.

Nov 13 2000 Down to the Wire

“WESTERN UNION CHANGED America 150 years ago with its coast-to-coast telegraph service, but ever since, it has been a company of lost opportunities. Lore has it that in 1876 Western Union turned down Alexander Graham Bell's offer to sell his patent for the telephone; he figured the phone might be a great way to let loved ones know a telegram was on the way.

Later, early shots at the technologies behind the fax machine and the cell phone went nowhere. "There were a lot of bad bets made over the years," says Alan Silberstein, chief executive. Now Western Union, which still relies on money transfers for most of its profit, faces perhaps its biggest challenge ever--surviving the Web. This time, he vows, the company won't miss out.

Yet Western Union is arriving late to the online rush. Except for a merely informational Web site erected in 1998, Western Union has been largely idle--until now. In recent months the company has added cash-transfer services to its Web site, westernunion.com. It also has launched a separate Web site called moneyzap.com [for digital cash transfers] and is entering partnerships with online-lender LendingTree and others to expand its online financial services.

The question is whether it will be too little too late. Western Union executives defend their belated foray into the Web by noting that most of its customers can't easily afford Internet access” ... Archive.

Relevant: 2024: Western Union, Euronet lean into digital growth.

Nov 13 2000 Pedophile Playground

“...Christian Guth, a retired French policeman, is spearheading a program to teach local law-enforcement officials about stopping the trafficking of children. The government has launched a campaign called Sex TourismNo!; it's also compiling a blacklist of suspected foreign sex-offenders for deportation. But child advocates say the campaigns will have little effect unless the country actually punishes pedophiles who are caught. It's easy to escape the courts if you have power or money, says

Yim Po, director of the Cambodian Committee to Protect Children's Rights. If we don't sentence these people, there's no hope of stopping them." Archive.

Relevant: 2010: Cambodia no longer a haven for paedophiles. 2016: With the paedophile-hunters on the streets of Phnom Penh. 2017: 'HE WON MY VIRGINITY' How western paedophiles are buying the virginities of Cambodian children as young as SEVEN – as victim reveals horrors of vile sex trade.

2024: The LEASTC Project: How Cambodia Moved against Child Sexual Abuse in the 2000s.

Nov 13 2000 Philippine President Impeached -

"M A N I L A, Philippines - Philippine President Joseph Estrada was impeached by the country's House of Representatives today and will face trial in the country's Senate on charges of bribery and corruption.

But voting patterns in the Senate, or upper house, later in the day indicated Estrada could survive the impeachment.

Lawmakers raised clenched fists and shouted "Erap Resign" as House Speaker Manuel Villar announced the impeachment at the start of the day's session. Erap is Estrada's nickname and I was the first time in Philippine history that a president has been impeached.

Opposition concerns that Estrada supporters would attempt to delay the proceedings were pre-empted by Villar, who readout a resolution approving the impeachment as soon as he had finished regular prayers at the start of the day's proceedings." Archive.

Relevant: 2007: Estrada given life sentence for corruption. 2017: Joseph Erap Estrada, 13th President. Estrada's Official Facebook page.

Nov 13 2000 Police called in over Hawking injuries

OzCW: Back in 2000, Hawking [d. 2018 or so we are told] was just a supposedly brilliant physicist in a wheelchair. We had yet to find out that he was a Clinton fan who helped Hillary fundraise, supported the Demorats at the White House and had visited Epstein's island...if it was him and it was not, as is alleged, some kind of bizarre replacement situation.

"Police have investigated an allegation that the scientist Stephen Hawking had mysteriously received a number of injuries.

The inquiry was opened when a "third party" told police that the Cambridge physicist and author of the best-selling A Brief History of Time had visible injuries. Staff at a hospital are reported to have been interviewed, but the inquiry is now closed.

Prof Hawking, 58, known for guarding his privacy, made no formal complaint to police. The Lucasian professor of mathematics is paralysed by motor neurone disease, confined to a wheelchair, and speaks with the aid of a computer voice box...

Prof Hawking is reported to have visited the accident and emergency department at Cambridge's Addenbrooke's hospital on several occasions with various injuries but declined to explain how he got them. A hospital spokeswoman said: "He is not an in-patient at the moment." Archive.

Relevant: Hawking divorced in 2012. 2017: Stephen Hawking Died & Was Replaced in the 80's.

Nov 13 2000 Blair and Cook go on offensive against the myth-making Eurosceptics

"Robin Cook, the Foreign Secretary, and Tony Blair will go on the offensive against Eurosceptics today in the first of a series of speeches aimed at softening public opinion before next month's European summit in Nice. The initiative is designed to allay fears that opponents of the European Union are seizing the agenda by using aggressive campaigning tactics.

The sceptics have said that EU proposals to extend qualified majority voting would remove control over taxes and social security from Britain, which under the present rules can exercise a national veto. But in speeches today, Mr Cook and Mr Blair will argue that remaining at the heart of Europe is the only way to retain national sovereignty.

"I am not prepared to stand aside and let other European countries make the decisions that matter to us," Mr Blair will say in a speech at Mansion House in London. "Europe is essential to British investment, British industry, British jobs. To cut ourselves off from the major strategic alliance on our doorstep would be a supreme act of folly." Archive.

Relevant: 2007: Here's what Blair sold out: Goodbye, Great Britain!

2016: How Blair silenced debate over migrant influx and refused to acknowledge public's doubts about open borders.

Nov 14 2000 Mafia “gripping Italian economy”

“Organised crime controls one business in five in Italy, according to statistics released by the country's leading trade association.

A conference organised by the association in Milan said that the Mafia controlled about 20% of all businesses.

It also had an annual turnover of about $133bn, the equivalent of 15% of GNP.

A conference document said that counterfeiting also accounted for a large slice of Italian industrial production.

Only Taiwan, South Korea, Thailand and China reportedly earned more from illegally copying well-known internationally-branded products.

It said Mafia profits were being invested in real estate, clinics and retirement homes, supermarkets, hotels and restaurants.

And the fortunes made in these businesses would be "enough to pay off public debt, the ball and chain around Europe's ankle", the document added.” Archive.

Relevant: 2023: More than 200 people convicted in Italian Mafia “maxi” trial.

2024: Nancy Pelosi, the Mafia and Northern Italian Black Nobility.

Nov 14 2000 How the tide turned against the UK fuel protesters

“...The approaching crisis

November 1997: In the first Labour budget for 18 years, Gordon Brown announces an immediate 9.3% rise in petrol duty and states that the escalator would in future be at least 6%.

Mid-1998: Unleaded petrol now costs around 65p a litre, with tax making up 81.9% of the price.

March 1999: In an effort to increase crude oil prices, which have remained low for the past three years, Opec cuts oil production.

November 1999: Mr Brown reveals that the escalator mechanism will be scrapped. This is welcomed by road users and organisations such as the AA and RAC, but infuriates Friends of the Earth and other environmental groups.

March 2000: In the budget, petrol duties are raised by just under 2p a litre. Rising crude oil prices lead to substantial increases in petrol prices - and government tax revenues.

August 2000: Petrol protests erupt across France, causing massive disruption. British commentators suggest that similar events "could never happen here". UK petrol prices pass 80p a litre, with tax making up around 72% of the total price. An attempt to persuade motorists to "boycott the pumps" in protest falls flat." Archive.

Relevant: 2021: Autumn 2000 – when fuel shortages brought UK to virtual standstill.

Nov 14 2000 France bans beef on bone

"France is banning T-bone steaks and suspending the use of livestock feed containing meat as part of a series of measures to reduce the possible spread of mad cow disease.

Prime Minister Lionel Jospin has said the moratorium on the use of animal-based feeds for all livestock-including fish, chicken and pork would take effect on Wednesday. A decision on a full ban would be made once the French agency for food safety assesses possible risks associated with such feeds. That could take three to four months.

Jospin also said that T-bone steaks, a cut that harbours potential risks because it is near the bone, were being banned in France." Archive.

Nov 15 2000 Interview with Google's Sergey Brin

*O*Linux: What is Google company's mission?

Sergey Brin: Google's mission is to organize the world's information, making it universally accessible and useful.

*O*Linux: When did you start this company? What was your initial motivation and how do you see it nowadays?

Sergey Brin: We started working on Google in 1995, as a research project at Stanford University. In 1998, we formed the company, Google Inc., and launched the search engine in beta to the outside world. This happened in September 1998. Our goal was to create a very simple and easy-to-use website that offers the best search engine in the world. This is still our goal, and we plan to continue to focus our business on search technology for some time to come.

OLinux: What kind of customers look for Google services and what are your company main clients? How fast Google wants to expand its solutions to other countries around the world?

Sergey Brin: We have over 100 customers in over 20 countries. Some of our banner customers include Yahoo!, AOL/Netscape, Cisco, WashingtonPost.com, and VirginNet (in the UK). Google customers license our technology because they are looking for the fastest, most relevant search on the Internet. Google currently supports 25 language searches, and will continue to aggressively add to this list. We ultimately hope to support all major languages in the world.

OLinux: How fast revenues are growing? Are there any plans for an IPO?

Sergey Brin: We're very happy with our business plan. Revenues are growing every quarter and we've made very few changes to our business strategy since we started the company. An IPO is something we're considering, but is not in our near-term plans. We've always managed the finances of our company very carefully, and we are fortunate to still have a very strong cash position from our initial venture financing, which was in June 1999." Archive.

Relevant: 2013: Google executive, 27, accused of 'sleeping her way to the top' in irate online posts after affair with boss Sergey Brin, 40, was exposed. 2017: Top Ten Ways Google Does Evil.

2024: Sergey Brin visited Jeffrey Epstein's 'pedophile island' with ex-wife Anne Wojcicki to 'test out kite surfing equipment with the girls', court documents claim. 2024: Google co-founder Brin named a defendant in wrongful death complaint.

Google was started at Stanford University. Stanford Research Institute now [SRI International] was based at Stanford. So the allegations made by this group of survivor whistle blowers who were tortured at SRI are enlightening – and horrific. “It was a nightmare from hell...it was a living hell.” [01:50:04]

Nov 15 2000 Do we live on a flat earth with a solid dome over it?

"...The Bible presents the world as a flat disc with a solid dome over it. Every biblical representation of the earth is consistent with this model, and there is no biblical material to the contrary. Apart from the study of general revelation, there would be no reason to doubt this. If you read the biblical text apart from any modern scientific assumptions, this becomes particularly clear.

1. The Solid Dome

"...God created a firmament [raqia] in the midst of the waters, dividing the waters from the waters, so that there are waters above and below this raqia [Genesis 1:6]. This raqia appears to be a solid object, because it is that which divides the waters above from the waters beneath. If the raqia were not there, then the waters above would come pouring down. The raqia is called "heaven" which explains why Genesis 7:11 refers to water pouring out of the windows of heaven. At the flood, God opened the windows of heaven, and the waters above came pouring down. Yet as we will see, those waters are still there, which means that the raqia still holds back those waters.

In Genesis 1:14-18, God creates lights in the raqia of the heavens, suggesting that the sun, moon and stars are fixed in the raqia. On the other hand, in Genesis 1:20, God creates birds to fly "across the face" of the raqia of the heavens. Again, the picture is entirely consistent with the idea of a solid dome. The term "al-pene" is used consistently to refer to concrete entities. Since there is no concept of outer space or atmosphere in Scripture, it would be entirely foreign to the biblical world-view to conceive of the raqia as invisible "space." The raqia is entirely visible [that blue thing up there], and is consistently portrayed as a solid object that covers the [flat] earth." Archive.

Nov 15 2000 Vaccination Liberation - Information - Subject: Autism/MMR Resources

"Attention Members and Friends -

The following internet resources for the MMR and Autism Link are excellent for further research. I have followed these resources with the latest commentary resulting from the 60 Minutes show on 11/12/00 which discussed the MMR/Autism controversy. Please share the following with others who may be unaware of this suppressed information.

Dawn Sweeney posted these wonderful links!

Autism: A Unique Type of Mercury Poisoning Sallie Bernard, Albert Enayati, B.S., Ch.E., M.S.M.E. , Teresa Binstock, Heidi Roger, Lyn Redwood, R.N., M.S.N., C.R.N.P., Woody McGinnis, M.D.
<http://www.altcorp.com/autism.htm>*

So What's Not to Like About Andrew Wakefield?
<http://www.autism-spectrum.com/vaccine.htm>
[Media article] Secrets and lies: Is the astonishing rise in autism a medical mystery or a pharmaceutical shame? By Lesli Mitchell Childhood jab linked to rise in cases of autism [Daily Express May 23, 2000]..." Archive.

Relevant: 2024: Marin County Defies CDC Vaccine Schedule, Reports Record-Breaking Decline in Autism Rates:

"We have never seen a decline in the autism rate," Rogers said, putting the results into context.

"It's also a fact that the vaccination rates declined in that population over that time period because parents were worried about safety, they were worried about too many shots on the schedule."

"So they stopped vaccinating."

O2CW: Largely thanks to Dr. Andrew Wakefield's 1998 MMR vaccine study in the UK and the loud anti-Wakefield demonisation whipped up by the msm, in 2000 the idea of vaccine damage was entering the public consciousness on both sides of the pond.

The questions will resurface post-Covid all over the world as people assess whether vaccination is necessary in the first place and even question the idea that viruses exist at all.

Nov 15 2000 "Appalling abuse at hospital"

"A catalogue of cruelty to elderly patients has been revealed in a damning N+HS report - and two other hospitals face massive criticism.

The abuse of mentally ill patients at Garlands hospital in Cumbria was described by the expert leading the investigation as "deeply disturbing".

The Commission for Health Improvement "hit squad" found that patients had been left tied to commodes, sworn at and deprived of food and blankets.

Another devastating NHS report has prompted the government to launch a further probe into one of the country's leading heart hospitals.

Health minister John Denham described the Oxford Heart Centre at the John Radcliffe Hospital as "dysfunctional".

The report said it was "on its knees and riven by internal conflict".

It blames management failings for both poor standards of care, and lack of supervision of inexperienced doctors." Archive.

OzCW: Since World War I and probably before, the globalists have been undermining the family unit using methods including war, replacement migration, education systems [turning children against their parents], the courts [e.g. the UK's secret family courts], budget cuts and the msm.

One major casualty of the loss of strong family units within communities has been the elderly. For decades – and out of necessity as women, who would likely have fulfilled the carer's role, have been forced out to work to survive – ageing relatives have been farmed out to state-run or private care homes, or their care outsourced to low-paid strangers working for agencies. This has led to abuse to the extent that in 2006 the UN founded World Elder Abuse Awareness Day.

This UN "sop" clearly had very little effect as by 2011 elderly care had progressively worsened in the UK. And a decade on during the Covid years, our elders were being systematically exterminated in hospitals through isolation and the use of lethal drugs like Midazolam.

Of course we are not saying that all carers, care homes and agencies are abusive – they are not. And we are not saying that there is no elder abuse within families – there is. What we are saying is that over the past 20 years it's become blindingly obvious that governments and the likes of eugenicist Bill Gates with Matt Hancock and Chris Whitty consider the elderly “useless eaters” and that they and others all-too-happily arranged for their murder during Covid.

UK journalist Jacqui Deevoy on elderly euthanasia during Covid.

Nov 16 2000 Mrs Blair and the blackmailing fantasist

“The woman who was restrained by a judge this week from publishing malicious gossip about the Blairs' private life is called Nel Lister. Or is it Oonagh Mary Flynn? Or Nell Rubens? Is she a child protection officer, as she claimed in court, or a Russian ballerina, or a secret agent, or a helicopter pilot, or, indeed, the former lover of murdered SAS officer Captain Robert Nairac? She is all of these things, and none. All we can be sure of is that she is a liar of breathtaking audacity. But don't just take our word for it, ask her father, or her sister, or even her children...” Archive.

Nov 16 2000 Titanic craze grips Afghan capital.

“Kabul - Afghanistan's ruling Taliban militia may have banned television, music and cinema, but even they have been powerless to stop the inevitable craze for the romantic blockbuster "Titanic".

Perhaps no other people have been so captivated by the epic tale of love and disaster than the Afghans, who are still in the grip of Titanic fever three years after it found its way into their illicit video machines.

"Damn Titanic. Everything has become Titanic. Even rice is called Titanic these days," an irate ethnic Hazara woman, her face hidden behind the compulsory burqa body covering, was heard muttering at a market here recently.

Her outburst was provoked by a shopkeeper who asked if she fancied a Titanic T-shirt for her daughter.

Television and videos are officially banned in the 90 percent of Afghanistan under the Taliban's puritanical Islamic rule, but many flout the law behind closed doors or escape to cinemas in neighbouring Pakistan." Archive.

Nov 17 2000 Flirty not dirty at 30: The Sun's Page 3

"The Sun's Page Three - the feature that defined tabloid newspapers for a generation - has reached its 30th birthday.

In 1969 media magnate Rupert Murdoch, already owner of the sex-obsessed News of the World, bought the ailing high-brow Sun newspaper.

He turned it inside out and aimed it at a younger generation which was much more interested in sex than their up-tight parents.

The new version of the paper was filled with articles about sex and scandal the like of which had never before been seen in a daily newspaper. It was an immediate sales success.

Sex Sells

But what was to become the Sun's main claim to notoriety - Page Three - did not appear until November 1970.

There had been nude pictures of girls in daily newspapers before - illustrating po-faced articles about health and beauty or news stories about topless bathing in France, for example..." Archive.

Relevant: 2019: Murdoch in Epstein's black book.

Nov 18 2000 NHS Trust "condoned" abuse of elderly patients

"An NHS trust allowed the repeated abuse of elderly patients to go unchecked for three years, a report by independent investigators has found.

Patients on a ward at the Garlands Hospital near Carlisle, run by the North Lakeland Healthcare NHS Trust, endured persistent "unprofessional, counter-therapeutic and degrading" treatment. They were tied to commodes and often denied ordinary food, clothing, and blankets, inspectors from the Commission for Health Improvement found.

An internal investigation by the trust was triggered after complaints from student nurses, but the trust failed to curtail the abuse. It was not until a second complaint was lodged by agency nurses in December 1998 that disciplinary action resulted in the dismissal of some staff.

When the commission's investigators arrived earlier this year they found a culture that "allowed terrible abuse of elderly patients to happen and ... when it was brought to the attention of the trust it was excused and condoned," a spokesperson for the commission said last week." Archive.

Nov 22 2000 Adidas and Nestle boycott EU Ethics Hearing

"Two of Europe's best-known multinationals came under attack yesterday for boycotting a parliamentary hearing that was given graphic evidence of their unethical behaviour in developing countries.

The Swiss and German industrial giants, Nestle and Adidas, refused to send company representatives to a meeting in the European Parliament in Brussels that heard a litany of accusations against producers of some of Europe's most familiar branded goods.

The hearing was told that workers manufacturing Adidas goods in Indonesia were forced to perform more than 50 hours of overtime a week, while being paid less than the legal hourly limit for the work. Nestle's sales team in Pakistan was accused of offering anything from small inducements to large items of medical equipment to boost sales of formula milk. The use of breast milk substitutes is discouraged by most aid workers in the Third World because, with the water supply so unreliable, artificially fed infants are about 25 times more likely to contract fatal illnesses. Archive.

Nov 22 2000 Man who reduces staff to tears -

"The magazines, which are said to have amassed Desmond an estimated personal fortune of £150m, are not sophisticated. Nor is the man himself - even though he demands a face-to-face apology from any journalist who, having leafed through his titles, dares to describe the publisher as a 'porn magnate'.

He has reduced staff to tears and seems to take a pride in bringing the most unorthodox working practices into the boardroom. There is the tale of the PR woman ordered into a cupboard for being late for a meeting and of an employee being told to stand on a table. One business acquaintance received an important, formal letter from the great man. It was full of expletives - and ended with an unusual sign-off: 'Bish-Bosh'.

Much of his day-to-day language is Anglo-Saxon in origin. Not that he would know. 'The only books he ever reads are by Jeffrey Archer,' says one admirer. His best friends are disgraced businessman Gerald Ronson and TV presenter Jeremy Beadle. 'What Richard Clive Desmond wants, Richard Clive Desmond gets. He has to be number one,' said former OK! editor Richard Barber. He has a butler, his car carries the number plate RCD 1, and every meeting room in the Docklands headquarters of his company Northern & Shell is named after a member of his family - the biggest, of course, being the Richard Desmond Room." Archive.

OzCW: The article above is about an unpleasant pornographer who [caused a "funding sleaze" row when he donated £100,000 in cash to the Labour Party \[in 2001\]](#).

Desmond, who went on to buy the Daily Express, also donated £1 million to the UK Independence Party in 2015 and donated cash to the Tory Party in 2020 – which caused another row. This looks like bribery.

Desmond's overall involvement in porn, media and big money as detailed in the 2004 article excerpted below is, to us, a red flag. And when we read that he was involved in the phone-hacking scandal, has alleged Mafia connections and is a Conservative Friend of Israel who has played guitar with Tony Blair, we have to wonder where his true allegiances might lie. Surely not with Satan/Lucifer?

"Express owner Richard Desmond today launched an extraordinary tirade against Telegraph bosses at a meeting of their joint venture print works, hurling a string of abuse and goosestepping around a boardroom in mockery of a German newspaper group's bid for the paper.

In scenes that will shock the Conservative party he has just pledged to support, Mr Desmond branded the Telegraph chief executive, Jeremy Deedes, a "miserable little piece of shit" and said Germans were "all Nazis".

The Telegraph executives were so outraged by Mr Desmond's four-letter outburst that they walked out of the meeting in disgust. As they left the meeting of the jointly owned West Ferry printing company,

Mr Desmond told other Express executives to sing "Deutschland uber Alles" and made Nazi-style "Sieg Heil" salutes, according to witnesses.

People present at the meeting said Mr Desmond - who dropped out of the race to buy the Telegraph after balking at the asking price - had at one point strutted up and down the room holding his fingers to his lips and giving stiff-armed salutes, in emulation of the famous goosestepping scene in TV sitcom Fawlty Towers."

Nov 18 2000 ELTON: YES, I BLEW £40M IN 20 MONTHS; [And £293,000 of that was on flowers]

"SIR ELTON JOHN spent nearly pounds 40million in 20 months, including pounds 293,000 on flowers. The rocker bought property worth pounds 9.6million as he blew almost pounds 2million per month between January 1996 and September 1997.

Asked to confirm the pounds 293,000 in florists' bills, Sir Elton, 53, replied: "Yes. I like flowers." He defended his lavish habits, saying: "I do not have people to leave my money to. I am a single man. I like spending my money."

Elton spoke at the High Court in London, where he is suing the boss of former management company John Reid Enterprises and a firm of accountants for an estimated pounds 20million he says was ripped off from him.

He admitted he could not recall parts of the last 20 years because of "severe drink and drug addictions".

And he conceded he disliked "men in suits" and had never taken much interest in his finances. He added: "I have a flair for performing but no aptitude for business".

Elton arrived at Court 17 in a green Bentley and took the witness stand wearing a Versace watch and a gold band on his wedding finger." Archive.

Relevant: 2007: Sir Elton John picture 'isn't indecent'. A controversial picture owned by Sir Elton John is ruled as not being an indecent image. 2016: Elton John Fires Back at Sexual Harassment Accusations.

2020: Sir Elton John's ex-wife claims she attempted suicide on honeymoon as High Court battle continues. 2023: Elton John gives evidence in Kevin Spacey's sex offence trial.

Nov 18 2000 Asians fly the flag for traditional family life: Survey reveals changing role of marriage and underlines ethnic diversity

"They are young, they have children, they are married and the likelihood is that they will stay that way. They are the 2007. "traditional" British nuclear family. But their names are not Smith, Jones or Wilson, but Malik, Khan or Hussein. Their parents hail not from predominantly white English suburbia, but from Pakistan and Bangladesh.

According to a report to which the Guardian has had exclusive access, the ethnic group most likely to uphold the "old-fashioned" structure of British family life is that from the Pakistani and Bangladeshi communities. On the other hand, white and particularly Caribbean relationships are increasingly characterised by divorce, cohabitation and single parenthood.

"The Asian patterns can clearly be labelled 'old-fashioned' in the sense that many of their characteristics now could have been observed among white families in the past," writes Richard Berthoud, a professor at the institute for social and economic research at the University of Essex.

"The key feature of family life in south Asian communities is the very high rate of marriage. Around three-quarters of Pakistani and Bangladeshi women are in partnerships by the age of 25, compared with just over half of white women, [and] virtually all south Asians with a partner are in a formal marriage." Archive.

Relevant: 2018: British Asians more socially conservative that rest of UK, survey suggests.

Nov 19 2000 Day of destiny for the brothers who courted Blair: Billionaire Hinduja brothers who helped bail out the Dome face crucial decision on allegations that could lead to extradition to India

"An Indian billionaire at the centre of a corruption scandal was courted by Tony Blair's Government and given citizenship here after his family donated £1m to help bail out the Millennium Dome, The Observer can reveal.

Srichand Hinduja, who will learn tomorrow whether he and two of his brothers will face trial in India over claims that they took £7m in kickbacks from an Indian arms deal, was turned down for British citizenship by the Conservatives in 1990. The brothers are currently trying to buy Express newspapers. Home Secretary Jack Straw approved Srichand Hinduja's application for a British passport last September, despite the fact that he and his family were at the centre of investigations by Indian police into one of the country's biggest corruption scandals. A year earlier the Hinduja had agreed to pump funds into the Dome's Faith Zone.

Senior sources at India's Central Bureau of Investigation [CBI], the Indian equivalent of the FBI, believe it is 'very likely' that an Indian court will charge the Hinduja brothers with taking illegal commission as part of a controversial arms deal in 1986.

If that happens, Indian prosecutors have confirmed they will move swiftly to extradite the Hinduja, the leading members of Britain's wealthiest Asian family, igniting a political scandal for Blair's government.

Such a turn of events would be embarrassing for Blair as the Hinduja have built up close links with New Labour." Archive.

Relevant: 2024: Britain's richest family sentenced to jail for exploiting staff in Swiss mansion.

Nov 19 2000 Pension fund giant reinvents itself

"The Teachers Insurance and Annuity Association-College Retirement Equities Fund, or TIAA-CREF, thrives as perhaps never before, in part because it is now a full-fledged taxpayer.

At first glance, the genteel pension fund giant with the monstrously ungainly name seems to have lost ground to upstart rivals.

For decades, when new faculty members arrived at colleges and universities, their only choice for a retirement plan was this venerable colossus, formally called the Teachers Insurance and Annuity Association-College Retirement Equities Fund. But this fall, when Villanova University hired about 100 faculty and staff members, the group, known as TIAA-CREF or just as the Teachers, lagged the Vanguard Group in signing them up.

"At least six out of 10 used Vanguard as their only plan or split with TIAA-CREF," said James Kane Jr., the university's associate director of human resources. "Ten years ago, eight out of 10 would probably go only to TIAA-CREF." Archive.

Relevant: 2021: [Two Giant Investment Firms \[BlackRock and Vanguard\] Control Almost Everything You Buy – Here' Why You Should Care](#). 2022: You will own Nothing – the Malicious Plan to Abolish Home Ownership using Blackrock and Vanguard.

Nov 19 2000 It's official – gays do not harm armed forces: Six months on, confidential MoD report reveals no adverse effects on morale or recruitment

“It was supposed to lead to the collapse of Britain's military might. Faced with the prospect of gays in the armed forces, traditionalists warned that discipline would be compromised and heterosexual heroes would be outraged.

But 10 months after the ban on gay servicemen was lifted, the first assessment of the consequences has found that the effect on morale has been non-existent.

A confidential Ministry of Defence Review, obtained by The Observer, states that the introduction of gays has had no adverse effects on the operational effectiveness of the forces. The startling conclusion will cause serious embarrassment to service chiefs, who fought to retain the ban, and to the Conservative Party, which has pledged to consider its reintroduction.

MoD staff canvassed the Army, Navy and RAF in August, six months after the ban was lifted. 'The services reported that the revised policy on homosexuality had no discernible impact, either positive or negative, on recruitment,' says the report.” Archive.

Relevant: 2007: Lifting ban on gays in armed forces caused resignations, report reveals.

2014: UK Armed Forces ranked world's second most gay-friendly military. 2015: UK armed forces recruits to be asked if they are gay. Move introduced in bid to foster greater tolerance within the military, but recruits will be allowed to 'prefer not to say'.

2018: British army in gay recruitment drive as soldiers numbers fall. 2020: Government apologises for historic ban on gay people serving in the armed forces. 2023: The Telegraph: about 50 thousand open gays are fighting in the Armed Forces of Ukraine.

Seems the government wants to kill off all the gay people...

Nov 19 2000 Don't read all about it: The creeping erosion of press freedom goes hand in hand with the erosion of our personal liberty

“...If ex-nannies banded together as Ofmum, a regulatory body exposing maternal shortfalls, we would all emerge as ratty-tempered sluts hooked on takeaway pizzas and unsuitable television. As for Lister's intervention, legal restraint seems the correct recourse. Whether Cherie is now satisfied that her privacy is assured is less certain.

Linda McDougall's forthcoming unauthorised biography has been greeted by her subject with scarcely more joy than Lister's ramblings. Although no threat of invoking the law has been issued, hints of possible action over unwelcome disclosures suggest that a legal army of Floridian proportions will be picking through the finished text.

*Earlier this year, David and Victoria Beckham sought a High Court injunction to prevent publication of Andrew Morton's biography, Posh & Becks. That book went ahead, and quite right too. For a couple so sedulous at self-promotion to object to an outsider chipping away the PR gloss is ludicrous. While the Blairs must defer to the Beckhams in the art of invading their own privacy, they have not been averse to judicious image-building. Cherie Blair may not like unsanctioned probing, but she will have to lump it. So will Jane Clark, Alan's widow, who is attempting to block a 'scurrilous' unauthorised biography of her late husband, on the grounds that she wants an author hand-picked by her. For public figures to be deemed immune to properly-researched scrutiny is not protection of privacy. It is censorship.” Archive.*

Relevant: World Press Freedom Day 2024. 2024: Press freedom under fire as political pressure intensifies on journalists worldwide.

Nov 20 2000 Analysis: Hopeless in Gaza

“...Their economic plight has actually worsened in the seven years of the Oslo peace process, which began with secret talks between Israel and the Palestinians in Norway in 1993.

Gazans have got poorer, with their per capita GDP stuck at just over $1,000, nearly 20 times less than their Israeli counterparts. The situation is exacerbated by Israeli-imposed closures following terrorist and other attacks on civilians and the occupation forces.

Closures now have turned around the modest economic recovery Gaza witnessed in 1999, with more than 4% growth and a fall in unemployment due to a 15% rise in labour flow to Israel.

The bleak truth for the territory is that it remains completely dependent on Israel for almost everything.” Archive.

Relevant: 2024: Gaza Ceasefire Could Save 75,000 from Death.

Nov 20 2000 Canadian Held in Baby-Smuggling Case

"A woman with Canadian citizenship will spend at least three months in jail in the former Soviet republic of Georgia while prosecutors investigate her suspected involvement in a baby-smuggling ring that allegedly used lies and blackmail to obtain babies.

Olga Gorelik, 36, has gone on a hunger strike in prison and almost fainted in a courtroom when a judge refused to release her on bail last week, her lawyer said.

Georgian police say that witnesses have provided evidence of at least six cases in which the ring obtained babies by illicit methods for sale to foreign families, and that the ring may have been involved in at least 14 other cases over the past five years.

In four cases, police said, Georgian parents were told their babies had died, but the babies may have been hidden and then sold to foreign families. In other cases, the smugglers allegedly made deals with desperate mothers of newborns.

"The criminals looked for lonely, miserable and poor pregnant women and urged them to sell their babies for small amounts of money," said a spokeswoman for the Georgian Health Ministry. "They are taking advantage of Georgia's poor economy."" Archive.

Relevant: 2011: Wikileaks reveals probe into [Canada-Egypt] baby-smuggling ring. 2017: Black Market Babies. [underground market for infants in Montreal]. 2023: SMUGGLING: Big Sex and Money in untraceable [Canadian] babies business— not allowed to make paternity testing.

Nov 21 2000 Obituary: Charles Ruff, defender of Bill Clinton at impeachment hearing

Ruff, 61, an influential lawyer who defended Clinton during the Lewinsky scandal and impeachment trial, reportedly died "after an accident at his Washington home." One report said he was found unconscious outside his shower. Others said he had a heart attack.

"Ruff's initial involvement with the Clinton White House came from defending one of Hillary Clinton's principal assistants, Ira Magaziner, who helped to prepare her ill-fated healthcare plan. Magaziner was accused of perjury, but in a complex presentation to the US attorney's office in Washington, Ruff managed to shift the blame to some unspecified White House officials and Magaziner was never charged.

It was against this background that Ruff became President Clinton's fifth White House counsel within four years. As the ripples of the Whitewater affair widened and allegations about the president's sexual behaviour proliferated, insiders joked that Clinton needed a lawyer smart enough to do the job and dumb enough to take it. Ruff defended his recruitment with the comment: "When the president of the United States asks you to do something, you don't say, 'Let me think about it.' You say, 'How can I help you, Mr President?'" Archive.

Relevant: The Clinton Body Count.

Nov 21 2000 Newsgroup post: Atlantis, Lemuria and the Native Americans

"I'm looking for links between the Native American people and the people of Lemuria [or possibly Atlantis]. Specifically, did they come from there? Some places say yes, some say no, and some don't mention it.

Does anyone have the name of a book or website that would have this kind of information? Or perhaps you have your own information/opinion on the subject? Any thoughts are welcome." VUNDERBAR!"
Archive.

Nov 21 2000 Sex for Rent / The erotics of Bay Area real estate

"...For the past year, I've noticed signs that the Bay Area's two most controversial economies -- property and impropriety -- are finally intersecting in a most unseemly way. There have been numerous postings on Craig's List in which housing is offered in exchange for sex or sex in exchange for housing. [Sometimes the requests were not sexual but no less obscene: Two young dot-commers said they had girlfriends so they didn't want sex, they just wanted a good-looking woman to act as a domestic and emotional slave.] Most of the postings have occurred in the "rooms/share wanted" and "rooms/share available" listings; others have popped up in the personals forum." Archive.

Nov 21 2000 Government UFO team probes dancing light in Pampanga

"A government team investigating unidentified flying objects [UFOs] is expected to arrive here today to investigate the mysterious light that danced in the sky for five hours over this town and nearby Angeles City last Friday night.

This developed as Elmor Escocia, chief of the UFO team of the Philippine Atmospheric, Geophysical and Astronomical Services Administration, cited reports that at least 10 people claimed to have seen a bright UFO land somewhere in Kabangkalan, Negros Occidental last Sept. 23.

Escocia said one of the witnesses claimed that the supposed UFO emitted an almost blinding light as it landed at about 8:45 p.m.

He said the UFO team is still gathering more details about the incident.

Escocia said the UFO team decided to investigate the dancing light phenomenon here after witnesses insisted that the strange glow, that persisted from 6 p.m. to 11 p.m. last Friday, remained visible despite the cloudless sky.

"We almost dismissed it as a case of land-based halogen light being reflected in the clouds, until we received reports that the phenomenon was observed even during episodes of cloudlessness," he said."
Archive.

Nov 22 2000 A whole world sold on sell-offs: Ten years after the fall of its great exponent, privatisation has become the common currency of political parties

"Love her or loathe her, Margaret Thatcher changed the industrial landscape of Britain. It is 10 years to the day since she was ousted in a palace coup. But the main legacy of her time in Downing Street lives on, not just in Britain but across the world.

The shorthand version of the Thatcher years, as retold in the Iron Lady's memoirs, and on the after-dinner circuit - where she earns an estimated £1.5m a year - is that Britain was changed from the land of Red Robbo and wildcat strikes to the land of "Sid" and the share-owning democracy. In one stroke, the dead hand of the state was removed from the economy, unleashing a new spirit of enterprise and derring do...

But the real political impact of privatisation has not been in Prague or Wellington but in London. In 1983 when he first became an MP, Tony Blair fought on a Labour manifesto committed to an extension of state ownership. The strength of Mrs Thatcher's enduring legacy is that Labour has not only turned its back on nationalisation, but now has privatisation plans of its own.

When the family silver was sold

Cable & Wireless: Oct 81

Amersham International: Feb 82
Britoil: Nov 82
Associated British Ports: Feb 83
Enterprise Oil: Feb 84
Jaguar: July 84
British Telecom: Nov 84
British Gas: Dec 86
British Airways: Feb 87
Rolls-Royce: May 87
BAA: July 87
British Steel: Dec 88
Regional water companies: Dec 89
Electricity distribution companies: Dec 90" Archive.

Relevant: 2021: Margaret Thatcher Ruined Britain. Archive.

Nov 22 2000 Where were you on the day she quit? Ten years ago today, Margaret Thatcher resigned. She had been prime minister for 11 extraordinary years, and whether you adored her or detested her, it was electrifying - one of those few moments in life that you are unlikely to forget. This is how some of us remember it

Tracey Emin, 26, Artist

I was walking through Elephant and Castle and I looked up at the buses, and people were banging on the windows and going: "Yeah!" And I noticed people were jumping up and down in the street. It was the first sign of the resignation, and people looked so happy. I felt absolute jubilation.

Peter Tatchell, 48, Gay rights campaigner

I was at home making a cup of tea when I turned on the radio and heard the news. For a moment I stood frozen, stunned with disbelief. Then I threw the tea down the sink and poured myself a triple scotch in celebration. After all the years of arrogant leadership, attacks on civil liberties and the crushing of the labour movement, it was a glorious moment when she got her comeuppance." Archive.

Nov 22 2000 DONALD TRUMPS THE 'HOOD – HIS WORLD TOWER WINS THE FINAL ROUND IN COURT

"Don't worry Bill Gates, your new apartment is safe from the jackhammers.

A neighborhood challenge to the 861-foot-tall Trump World Tower couldn't rack up enough votes at the state's top court, which yesterday refused to hear the case, thus ending further legal moves.

"I'm very honored by the victory," said developer Donald J. Trump, who expects an $887 million sell-out of the sumptuous condominiums that will be ready for the Gates' moving van early next year.

"Trump World Tower has proven to be one of the great buildings of New York, and it will forever hold a wonderful place on the New York City skyline," he said." Archive.

Nov 23 2000 Newsgroup Post - Graham Hancock: Open Letter to the BBC

*"To John Lynch
Creative Director of Science,
BBC.*

From Graham Hancock, Thursday 23 November 2000

Dear John Lynch,

Thank you for sending me the release forms that I was conned into signing by Horizon. And I mean "conned" literally. This programme was a confidence trick that was pulled on me. I would never have consented to appear in it had I known in advance how viciously slanted and fundamentally unfair the programme was in fact going to be.

Do you know that a friend of mine in television called me up long before I heard from Chris Hale and warned me that Horizon had some extraordinary plan to "stitch" me up. His advice to me was that I should refuse under all circumstances to be interviewed for this programme as it would be edited to make me look bad whatever I said.

When Chris Hale eventually called me, therefore, the first thing I said was "Hi, Chris, I hear you're planning to stitch me up." Chris denied this vehemently and reassured me at great length that Horizon's aims and methods would be pure, that I would be given proper right of rebuttal, and that my interviews would not be edited in such a way as to make me misrepresent my own position. With this commitment to a level playing field, and Horizon's long reputation for objective reporting in mind, I was finally persuaded to participate in the interviews." Archive.

Relevant: 2000: BBC re-edits Horizon after watchdog's attack. 2006: PDF - Formal complaint concerning the BBC 2 series on Alternative Medicine: the evidence.

Nov 23 2000 Heath approved Londonderry massacre

"The killing of 13 unarmed Catholic demonstrators on Bloody Sunday in Londonderry in 1972 was a deliberate plan approved by the then prime minister of the United Kingdom, Edward Heath, and his Northern Ireland counterpart, Brian Falkner, as well as their most senior military advisers, the new inquiry into the events was told yesterday.

The secret plan, drawn up by the army, led, according to Lord Gifford QC, to a "turkey shoot" in some parts of Derry. Bloody Sunday, on January 20th 1972, was the most controversial day in Northern Ireland's troubled history. It led to hundreds of young Catholics joining the IRA." Archive.

Relevant: 2016: HEATH'S SEX CULT LINK. Edward Heath 'linked to a murderous paedophile ring that killed 16 kids'.

Nov 24 2000 Who is Jonathan King? Jonathan King charged with child sex abuse

"...His band and pop act discovery successes have included Genesis, Peter Gabriel, The Bay City Rollers and 10cc. King was born in Godalming, Surrey and educated at top public school Charterhouse. His father died when he was only 12.

He has always claimed to have been a shy child, but that he tried to conceal his shyness by being an extrovert. He has also readily admitted that he has never wanted to marry or to commit himself to any relationship where he would feel "tied".

King classes veteran TV presenter Jimmy Savile as one of his closest friends - they have known each other for 25 years. Savile once said of him: "He's a sabra. A sabra is an Israeli fruit that's prickly on the outside and all soft and lovely inside. That's Jonathan King."" Archive.

Relevant: 2001: The fall of a pop impresario. 2018: Former DJ Jonathan King, 73, 'claimed Page 3 glamour model Samantha Fox was his girlfriend to lure boys as young as 14 into his Rolls-Royce to take them to his flat for sex in the 1970s and 80s'. 2019: Jonathan King child abuse trial: Surrey Police criticised over collapse.

OzCW: Jonathan King [who has a section on his website called "Deep Throat"] looks like some kind of Savile clone, a procurer of children. We're not the only ones who think like this.

In 2019, Surrey Police [King's from sunny Godalming] were criticised for interfering and messing things up. Interesting that the same thing was supposed to have happened in 2002. Archive. Surrey Police also covered up for Savile.

Nov 24 2000 King denies sex offence charges -

“Surrey Police said in a statement: "We can confirm that Jonathan King has been charged with three offences and released on conditional bail to appear before Staines Magistrates' Court on 30 November."

Mr King was born in Godalming, Surrey, and educated at top public school Charterhouse.

During his 15-year career in the music industry, he had a string of "bubblegum" pop hits during the 1970s.

He wrote his first number one, Everyone's Gone to the Moon, aged 21, while reading English at Cambridge.

In the 1980s he moved into television, devising the show Entertainment USA, which he also presented, and the teen music programme No Limits. He also dabbled in writing, with a novel and a controversial pop column in The Sun.” Archive.

Nov 24 2000 Vatican lays down new exorcism law

“The Catholic Church has issued strict new rules governing exorcism - the casting out of devils. Vatican insiders say the guidelines - which include getting permission from a bishop, and discouraging media coverage - are aimed at controlling a popular African bishop who lives in Rome.

Anything resembling hysteria, artificiality, theatricality or sensationalism should be absent

Emmanuel Milingo, now 70, was summoned to Rome 18 years ago from his native Zambia when European missionaries complained that he was using the practices of African witchdoctors.

The Vatican believed it could keep a closer eye on Archbishop Milingo there, and put him in a flat next door to the Apostolic Palace.

But his services, which sometimes include faith-healing and exorcism, have gained him a wide following in Europe.” Archive.

Relevant: 2009: The last act in the Milingo story?

Nov 25 2000 Voucher system fails to halt rise in asylum applicants

“The arrival of more than 1,000 Iraqi refugees last month has embarrassed the Government by driving up asylum application figures to their highest level since last year.

The increase in total applications of more than 8 per cent on September will come as a great disappointment to immigration officials after a range of measures were introduced to deter asylum-seekers from heading for the United Kingdom. October's total of 6,970 applications was 535 more than the previous month and the highest monthly figure since December 1999.

A decade after the Gulf War, the number of asylum-seekers arriving in Britain from Iraq is at its highest, with 1,175 applications lodged last month.

A Home Office spokesman said it was "difficult to speculate" as to why so many were now fleeing Saddam Hussein's regime. But officials noted that an average of 1,000 applications a month had been received from Iraqis during the August to October period, many more than from any other country.” Archive.

Nov 27 2000 JFK: The assassin who failed

“...This is the story of the first attempt to kill President-elect John F Kennedy...

At some point towards the end of November, Pavlick sold or gave away all of his property and set out, in his station wagon, to kill the 43-year-old president-elect. Somewhere along the 1,500-mile journey, he purchased detonators, blasting caps, seven sticks of dynamite and four large cans of gasoline. In West Palm Beach, the cheaper part of town, he checked into a local motel, which, ironically, was very close to where Kennedy's own secret service detail was lodged. Nobody noticed him rigging up a car bomb in the motel car park. And, on 11 December, he drove to the house on North Ocean Boulevard. His plan was simple: to wait for Kennedy to come out of the house, and then to crash into the presidential limousine before detonating the car bomb, killing both Kennedy and himself.” Archive.

Nov 27 2000 A High-Tech Hunt for the Loch Ness Monster: A Boston inventor attempts to find the most famous—and most elusive—aquatic beast in the world

“...Rines will never give up looking for the Loch Ness monster. Even if he doesn’t ever encounter her again, he knows that she exists, because he saw her. There is something aboriginal about his faith in his own eyes, and something magnificent in his rejection of the civilized disciplines that parse and correct fallible sensation. Not for him science’s careful deductions, charting the unknown with known patterns, in the belief that Nature must be uniform. Rines is a lawyer and an inventor, and as such he believes that the world can be reformed in a moment: a new argument, a new tool, an instant’s astonishing vision, and suddenly everything is different.” Archive.

Nov 27 2000 Paedophilia is easy 2: how a paedophile murder inquiry fell apart

“A year after Bristol police finally started to unravel the ring of paedophiles who had been abusing children in the city for up to twenty years, they came across an informant who opened up a new and alarming line of inquiry.

The man, who himself had a long history of sexually abusing boys, told them that the paedophiles they were investigating had been spending a lot of time in Amsterdam, where they had become involved with a group of exiled British child abusers who had succeeded in commercialising their sexual obsession. They were trafficking boys from other countries; running legitimate gay brothels and selling the under-aged boys ‘under the counter’ and through escort agencies; they had branched out into the production of hard-core child pornography. And they had killed some of them.

One boy had simply been shot through the head, the informant said: he had been causing trouble and had been executed in front of several paedophiles in the basement of a club in the city centre. Another, about whom he knew very little, he believed had been thrown into one of the canals. But the one about whom he spoke the most – the one who seemed to haunt him – was a boy who had been tortured and killed in the most painful and bloody fashion in the course of producing a pornographic video. The informant said he had seen most of the video himself. He said he had vomited before he could reach the end.” Archive.

Nov 28 2000 Sirius Matters: Alien Contact

"In 1976, Robert Temple made news with a Sirius B mystery of another sort. In his book, The Sirius Mystery, he speculated that Earth had been visited a few thousand years ago by amphibious beings from a planet around Sirius. His evidence for this incredible assertion came from a report by French anthropologists Marcel Griaule and Germain Dieterlen, who in the 1930s and 1940s had studied the traditions and mythology of the Dogon, a remote West African tribe located about 300 kilometers south of Timbuktu in Republic of Mali.

Some elements of the Dogon mythology are reminiscent of ancient Egypt, including the prominence of Sirius in their traditions. Other aspects reveal an impressive knowledge of bits and pieces of modern astronomy.

For example, according to Griaule and Dieterlen, the Dogon believed that the Earth and other planets rotate on their axes and orbit the Sun, that Jupiter has four moons, and that Saturn has a ring around it." Archive.

Nov 28 2000 Exorcists and Exorcisms Proliferate Across the US

"The number of exorcists and exorcisms has increased across the country in the last 10 years, experts said. While Chicago's archdiocese has one official exorcist, New York City's diocese has four, including the Rev. James J. LeBar, its chief exorcist. The Chicago archdiocese has not disclosed the identity of its exorcist, largely to maintain the privacy of those seeking his services, church officials said.

Over all, the number of full-time exorcists in the Roman Catholic Church in the United States has risen to 10 from only one a decade ago, said Michael W. Cuneo, a Fordham University sociologist whose book "American Exorcism: Expelling Demons in the Land of Plenty" is to be published next year. Mr. Cuneo writes of an "underground network" of exorcists numbering in the hundreds, and a "bewildering variety of exorcisms being performed."

From 1989 to 1995, the archdiocese of New York examined more than 300 potential exorcism cases, although exorcisms were performed in only 10 percent of the cases, Father LeBar said. Since 1995, the New York diocese has investigated about 40 cases a year.

In addition to Roman Catholic exorcisms, an unknown number of spiritual-cleansing ceremonies are being performed by priests outside the sanctioning of the church, and by evangelical ministers and Episcopal charismatics, Mr. Cuneo said. Mr. Cuneo spent two years studying the subject and said he had witnessed more than 50 of the rituals." Archive.

Nov 29 2000 Rise of the Little Englanders

“A sharp increase in the number of Little Englanders who do not identify themselves as British and tend towards racist and xenophobic views is disclosed today by the National Centre for Social Research in its annual survey of social attitudes.

As power devolved to Scotland and Wales over the first two years of Tony Blair's government, the proportion of English people saying they owed allegiance to England, not Britain, grew from 7% to 17%.

The researchers discovered no evidence of resentment in England about power passing to the Scottish parliament and Welsh assembly, but the figures suggested that 6m adults in England no longer subscribed to a British national identity.

More than a third of this group (37%) freely admitted to being racially prejudiced, compared with 17% of those who continued to assert their Britishness.

They were also much more likely to think that immigrants take jobs away from people who were born in Britain (70%), that it was "bad" that people from ethnic minorities were getting ahead (26%), and that attempts to give equal opportunities to blacks and Asians in Britain had "gone too far" (46%).”
Archive.

Relevant: 2023: To what extent do you think that racism is present in UK society today? [As of September 2022, 48 percent of people in Great Britain thought that racism [sic] was somewhat prevalent [sic] in the United Kingdom, with 30 percent believing that their [sic] was a great deal of racism in the UK.”

Nov 29 2000 Playstation 2: The best so far?

“Friday sees the launch of the Playstation 2 [PS2], with 165,000 consoles on sale in the UK. When Sony first launched PS2 in Japan it sold 3.5m units in just seven months. And the launch weekend in the US saw 500,000 consoles being sold.

Yet the UK Consumers Association says the console is being sold at an over-inflated price in the UK. In the US the PS2 will cost £199 compared to the UK where it costs £299.

Do you own a PS2? Has it been worth the money and the wait? Is the PS2 a world-beater in console games?” Archive.

Relevant: 2024: 50+ Useful Video Game Addiction Statistics, Facts & Huge Trends.

Nov 29 2000 Profile: Lord Waheed Alli – first of a new wave of new Labour peers

“He was the brains behind Channel Four's Big Breakfast - and the first of a new generation of New Labour working peers appointed to revolutionise the House of Lords.

Millionaire Waheed Alli, given a life peerage at the age of 34 in 1998, became the youngest and first openly gay peer in Parliament, and a man that Prime Minister Tony Blair believed could help him reach out to a younger generation.

While one national newspaper described Waheed Alli as the man who "perfected TV presented by morons for morons", he was nominated to the influential Panel 2000, a 25-strong group established to advise the government on the right image to present abroad.” Archive.

Relevant: 2007: Gay Labour peer and Lily Savage star dragged into producer's £300k High Court battle over will. 2019: How Lord Waheed Alli Robbed KOOVS shareholders in the name of ASOS of India 2021: Labour peer Lord Alli feels heat over ‘Asos of India’ deal: Investors wiped out after former media tycoon bought Koovs for just £3m want answers.

2024: London’s power 40: Waheed Alli. 2024: Keir Starmer hires Blairite TV mogul Waheed Alli to head up Labour’s general election fundraising. Archive. 2024: Labour donor Waheed Alli given Downing Street security pass. 2024: Keir Starmer urged to come clean on his relationship with Lord Alli.

Nov 30 2000 UK Freedom of Information Act passed

Relevant: 2017: Using the UK’s FOIA.

2021: British newspaper editors call on the government to protect the Freedom of Information Act amid concern over blocked requests.

2022: Fol requests regarding the “absolutely devastating” legal advice.

Nov 30 2000 Jacko’s tour: a real thriller

“THERE WAS TO BE no moonwalking in Malaysia. On Oct. 12, Selangor state declared that a Michael Jackson concert scheduled for Oct. 27 in Shah Alam stadium near Kuala Lumpur would not be allowed to go ahead. It came as a shock. Thousands of fans had already bought their tickets and the airwaves and newspapers had been filled for days with news about the Gloved One's visit. Not only that, hefty corporate sponsors -- Citibank, Sony Music and Mutiara Telecoms among them -- had already been lined up.

Shah Alam council head Aini Taib was adamant. He said Jackson, with his skin-tight leather pants and crotch-grabbing dance routines, would adversely affect efforts to promote "noble" qualities in the predominantly Muslim society. The singer's values were "unsuitable to a God-fearing country like ours," Aini said. Not everyone agreed. Last week, the Malaysian government announced it had no objection in principle to the concert taking place -- as long as the organizers found a protest-free venue. That seemed a tough proposition. The most likely compromise: Kuala Lumpur's Merdeka Stadium.

Malaysians were not the first Asians to balk at the prospect of Jackson's "HIStory 1996 World Tour" landing on their shores. In South Korea..." Archive.

Nov 30 2000 THE AVENGING MAIDEN AND THE PREDATOR GARDENER

"The composition known as Inanna and Shukaletuda belongs to the less well-known series of compositions involving Inanna, the Great Goddess of Love and War of the Sumerians, later known by Babylonians and Assyrians as Ishtar, featuring as the archetype for young girls of the higher classes [Jacobsen, 1973; Frymer-Kensky, 1992; Leick, 1994]. However, because it is Inanna the main character, the goddess who represents the Dynamic Non-Maternal Feminine, She shows unexpected depth in this myth. Our analysis will attempt to demonstrate that this myth is fundamentally about the coming of age of a young girl, how She meets the Dark Predator, the rapist personified by Shukaletuda, suffers the vilest intrusion a goddess/woman can suffer in her body integrity and proceeds to search for due punishment of the criminal, to finally assert Her Inner and Outer Authority. The historical background to Inanna and Shukaletuda is the invention of shade-tree gardening. Also, Enki/Ea, the god of the sweet fertilizing waters of the deep, patron of all crafts and magick, the Dynamic Non-Paternal Masculine, has an important role to play as the bright counterpoint to Shukaletuda's inner darkness. Inanna and Shukaletuda has hardly been analyzed in depth, although it most certainly is a unique composition especially in terms of content. Fundamentally, it presents the young goddess Inanna in her most vulnerable yet emotionally courageous role as yet found in Her cycle..." Archive.

Nov 30 2000 Autism, MMR and 60 Minutes Another Pediatrician's Perspective

"The recent 60 Minutes program on MMR vaccine was an excellent awareness-raising report on the debate surrounding regressive autism and its explosion. What struck me most are the following:

 The tragic pictures of the little boy who opened the show and his parents' heart-breaking pain and suffering;*

 The beautiful mother, standing with her arm raised, like most of the audience, because she believed her child was injured by the MMR vaccine -- caught crying by the scanning camera; and*

 Andrew Wakefield, sincere, truthful, principled, unassuming and ready to sacrifice everything in the pursuit of the truth.*

First, my background: I am trained in infectious diseases and pediatrics. During my training I personally cared for children and adults with serious and complicated contagious illnesses. I subsequently "really" practiced pediatrics and was a school physician for 34 years. I personally administered my own vaccines and enforced every Health Department mandate. I also informed myself thoroughly about regressive or late onset autism.

*Because of research I am now conducting, I strongly suspect that there is an autism-vaccine connection [below]. The following crucial facts were unfortunately not discussed in the 60 Minutes piece:" Archive.

December 2000 Links Most Relevant to Today

Wishing you Happy Holidays from the Gates Foundation: Unto us a Child is Porn.

Dec 2000 By Michael Jackson: My Childhood, My Sabbath, My Freedom. This is an essay Jackson wrote for Rabbi Shmuley Boteach. Given what we see as Boteach and his daughter harass Candace Owens in 2024, Boteach's bizarre behaviour is telling. [We're sceptical of Candace Owens, but still...]

Dec 9 2000 Organizing Online: How a former union organizer accidentally sparked a nationwide election protest movement, all via the Internet. How things have changed from those early days of connectivity. In 2024, Keir Starmer is making organising online illegal.

Dec 11 2000 The Prodigal Father: Melinda Gates' new boyfriend [2022] was in the news.

Dec 11 2000 Kevin Warwick: a life in pictures: Our visual guide to Captain Cyborg. Warwick, who had a chip implanted in his arm so he didn't have to bother pulling open doors, is a testament to Transhumanism and is still out there in 2024.

Dec 17 2000 Work on death-row cases gives Starmer human rights award. So Starmer was being moved up through the ranks already...

Dec 18 2000 Mandelson sobbed as he was told to resign. In 2024, Petie Mandy is back interfering in Parliament. And his firm is working behind the scenes to stifle British [so-called] democracy.

Dec 22 2000 Holbrooke Praises Turner for Donation to UN. CNN founder [and Jane Fonda's ex] Ted Turner had already donated $1 billion to the UN in 1997. In 2000, he gave them another $34 million. So can we conclude that "the Mouth from the South" bears at least some responsibility for the current state of affairs?

Dec 23 2000 Tory defector will not defend seat. Former MP Shaun Woodward is the scandal-ridden turncoat whose resignation made way for David Cameron to join Parliament.

Dec 24 2000 Right-wing coup that shames America: Continuing unofficial counts reveal the full extent of Al Gore's lead and the massive abuses that have put George W. Bush into power... in preparation for 9/11.

Dec 29 2000 Dubya: Rumsfeld for the Defense. Having seized power, Boy Bush hasn't waited a moment in appointing the murderous Rumsfeld in preparation for 9/11 and Iraq...

It was still normal in those good old days to say to people, "We wish you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year." None of that feeble woke "Happy Holidays" crap.

December 2000 Summary

Bill Gates in 2000

In the bleak mid-winter of 2000 we saw the usual political shenanigans on both sides of the pond.

In the US:

- Michael Jackson reflected on his childhood for Rabbi Shmuley.
- Universities were faking black students' photos.
- A Mellon died.

- Organising resistance online was becoming easier.
- Melinda Gates' new boyfriend [2022] was in the news.
- Microsoft had to compensate their temps.
- Al Gore conceded the election to Boy Bush – but really, there was a Republican coup. Bush picked Rumsfeld for Defense Secretary. And was linked to dodgy hospitals.
- Joe Biden was laying out foreign policy and corrupt Alan Greenspan was still at the Fed.
- Churches were using the internet. And exorcism was booming.
- CNN founder Ted Turner gave the UN $34 million.
- The Rockefellers sold their NY Center.
- Clinton signed a statute...but the US still hasn't ratified it. He was interviewed by Rolling Stone. And bought a flashy new DC house with Hillary.
- The tech stocks were wobbling.
- Clinton would not ratify the International Criminal Court.
- Google's Larry Page was interviewed.
- SRA was coming out in Martensville, Canada.

In the UK:

- [Incredibly] barrister Keir Starmer won a human rights award.
- Derren Brown was mind-controlling on TV.

- Lynn Forester and Evelyn de Rothschild married. In fact, the Rothschilds were “on a roll”. And Christie’s was auctioning off some of their treasures.
- The Freedom of Information Act, passed in November, was a “poisoned chalice”.
- There was sex abuse at London’s Oratory School. And a special needs school. Blair vowed to increase adoption.
- Dr. Vernon Coleman had a column.
- There was an explosion of Asperger’s Syndrome.
- A member of the SAS wrote a book. And the MoD took down the SAS’ website.
- Captain Cyborg was in the news.
- Damilola Taylor was murdered.
- Mandelson cried when he was asked to resign.
- Was Branson going to sue over the lottery?
- A Tory MP defects – and David Cameron moves in in preparation for becoming Prime Minister in 2010.
- Steven Spielberg was knighted.
- Brian Ferry was caught in a fake hijack.
- Princess Anne made a pensioner cry.

In the rest of the world:

- Italy revisited a corruption scandal.

- Denmark looked at the green agenda.
- An Indian scientist scoffed at black holes.
- There were visitors to the International Space Station. And the World Bank was lying.

Everything was slowing down a little as temperatures fell and we prepared for Christmas [which it still was back then] but there's still a little conspiracy glitter scattered among the baubles...

December 2000 Links

Radio Times magazine Harry Potter cover 2000, available here.

Dec 2000: Channel 4 Derren Brown, Mind Control

“The three Mind Control specials on Channel 4 introduced Derren Brown to the nation, giving UK television audiences their first indelible experience of Derren’s signature fusion of magic, suggestion, psychology, misdirection and showmanship. It returned later as a six-part series, which included new material...”

“Love him or hate him Derren Brown is the king of illusionists and the prince of psychological persuaders”

– Night & Day

“He ought to be locked up with some sort of day-release scheme to allow him to film his ridiculously addictive shows”

– Daily Telegraph

“We know that really he’s a warlock”

– Heat”

Relevant: Apparently, 2000 is the year Derren was being banned from casinos. Archive. 2003: Police expose Derren Brown hoax. 2021: Brown hit by allegations that “Apocalypse” victim is an actor.

OzCW: People love mentalist and illusionist Derren. Message under his post:

Natalie

02 October 2009

ahhh darren 😞 i feel so bad for you:’(i dont care about what other people say your amazing! Im still gonna watch all your programs 😊 can’t wait for the next series! and whens this ‘twist’ gonna come??? x

Dec 2000 [Is the 'Erets \[Earth\] Flat? Equivocal Language in the Geography of Genesis 1 and the Old Testament: A Response to Paul H. Seely](#)

“Critic Paul H. Seely claims that the Bible teaches that the earth is a flat disc consisting of a single continent floating on a circular sea. In so doing, he once again makes the mistake of reading into equivocal biblical language definite statements of cosmology.

In a previous article,¹ I explored and refuted the contentions of Paul H. Seely that the Bible taught that the raqiya’ [‘firmament’] was a solid dome over the earth. In this study, we will address a subsequent article by Seely in which he argues that the Bible teaches that the earth is a flat disc with a surrounding sea and a continent that floats upon this sea. We find, not surprisingly, that Seely follows much the same line of argument as he did in his previous articles:...” Archive.

Dec 2000 By Michael Jackson: My Childhood, My Sabbath, My Freedom

“In one of our conversations together, my friend Rabbi Shmuley told me that he had asked some of his colleagues—writers, thinkers, and artists—to pen their reflections on the Sabbath. He then suggested that I write down my own thoughts on the subject...

Last Friday night I joined Rabbi Shmuley, his family, and their guests for the Sabbath dinner at their home. What I found especially moving was when Shmuley and his wife placed their hands on the heads of their young children, and blessed them to grow to be like Abraham and Sarah, which I understand is an ancient Jewish tradition. This led me to reminisce about my own childhood...

When people see the television appearances I made when I was a little boy--8 or 9 years old and just starting off my lifelong music career--they see a little boy with a big smile. They assume that this little boy is smiling because he is joyous, that he is singing his heart out because he is happy, and that he is dancing with an energy that never quits because he is carefree.

But while singing and dancing were, and undoubtedly remain, some of my greatest joys, at that time what I wanted more than anything else were the two things that make childhood the most wondrous years of life, namely, playtime and a feeling of freedom.” Archive.

Relevant: 2013: Troubled Paris Jackson Tweets About the Illuminati. Archive. 2017: Michael Jackson’s Final Notes Released: Illuminati Plot Exposed. 2019: Michael Jackson: Stars are Illuminati Sex Slaves? 2022: The Secret Truth About Michael Jackson’s Anti-Jewish Beliefs, and His Connection With the Artist Formerly Known as Kanye West.

2024: Who is Rabbi Shmuley Boteach? 2024: Rabbi Shmuley Boteach dresses as a 'Candace Owens Jew' for Purim and pretends to sip on Christian blood in bizarre video after conservative commentator left The Daily Wire following clashes with Ben Shapiro over Israel Hamas war.

2024: “I Am NOT A Holocaust Denier” SHOWDOWN! Rabbi Shmuley vs Candace Owens.

OzCW: In the 2022 “Secret Truth” video linked above, we read allegations that Michael Jackson was a Hitler fan, and that there are Hitler salutes in his “They don’t really care about us” video.

Dec 1 2000 Solid Gold Token: With a good-looking black person and a little Photoshop derring-do, almost any American college or political campaign can look as diverse as a Benetton ad. Dexter Roundtree, America’s most-photographed token, is getting rich as a result.

“...Our curiosity piqued by these coincidences, we at the Mojo Wire set out to determine just how common this “cut-and-paste” tokenism really is.

What we found is astounding. Not only do an untold number of US organizations doctor photographs to include African Americans, but in most of those cases, the black person in the photo is the exact same guy.

Working on a hunch, we paged through the yearbooks of more than 30 US universities, all of which have been practicing de facto racial exclusion for decades. To our surprise, we noticed an oddly familiar photo reappearing throughout our search. Either the same black man had attended 19 separate schools in the same four-year period — wearing the same “Bel Biv Devoe” T-shirt for each senior picture — or something was up.” Archive.

OzCW: In 2024, we have social media and have been indoctrinated to easily accept the idea of “fakes”, but this was not the case in 2000. Yes, Photoshop was widely used and taught on many curricula but we would have been far more disturbed then to read the article above than we would today.

Dec 1 2000 [A \[Sceptical\] History of State UFO Research in the USSR](#)

“In the past we have run articles about [and by authors from] many countries, including China, Peru, Chile, Korea, Bali, and Taiwan. Here we proudly continue our effort to give voice to skeptics from around the world.

In the mid-1970s various government organizations involved in the study of UFOs stepped up their investigation of the alleged phenomena. As a result, public interest in the topic increased considerably. The UFO debate became a prominent social phenomenon in the country, especially among the scientific and technological intelligentsia. Soviet UFOlogists delivered well-attended lectures and published literature based on speculation fueled by foreign publications. The government bodies of the former Soviet Union did not actively promote discussion of UFO claims in the mass media, but neither did they discourage lectures at institutes, military installations, and other organizations – events that continually drew crowded audiences.

The lecturers entertained outlandish hypotheses, including that UFOs represented submarine and subterranean civilizations making contact with mankind.” Archive.

Dec 2 2000 Gwen Grant Mellon, 89, Dies; Founder of a Haitian Hospital

“Gwen Grant Mellon, who with her husband Dr. William Larimer Mellon Jr. founded a modern hospital in Haiti that served an area with few medical facilities of any kind, died on Wednesday in Miami. She was 89.

The cause was complications after hip surgery, her family said.

She lived in Deschapelles, Haiti, where she stayed to run the Albert Schweitzer Hospital after her husband, an heir to the Mellon fortune, died in 1989”. Archive.

Relevant: 1982: The Mellons: portrait of an American oligarchic family.

2021: How the Mellon Family Got So Rich. 2021: Dark Journalist VIDEO: Truth UFO Disclosure and Mellon Family Secrets. Exclusive interview with author John W. Warner IV.

OzCW: In the 2024 Dark Journalist video linked we hear from a Mellon family member John W. Warner IV, who says his father was extremely “ethical” and “loved the American people”. However, branches of the Mellon family were fundamentally linked to – and profited from along with the Carnegies, DuPonts and Rockefellers – the Great Depression.

“It’s not nice history,” he says. One side of the Mellons funded the CIA and NSA in the early days. Family members were also very close to Schacht, Hitler’s private banker, and the evil Dulles brothers. They made hemp illegal and introduced fluoride into America’s drinking water. They were involved in “space operations” in Antarctica, Project Paperclip and Nazi technology.

His grandfather was a “robber baron” bar none, he said. The family is an “intelligence” and “Committee of 300” family that were/are intimately acquainted with the British royal family.

Lots of “Committee of 300” families are normal and not part of the deep state, says Warner. Some are quite “hippy”. Many of the deep state, however, believe that they are doing the right thing in protecting the American people from “the darkness”. All the same, the “secrecy is toxic” and a handful of psychopaths have been ruling the roost for far too long. Warner does not excuse these people, though. See the vid or its YouTube notes for more interesting facts Warner discloses.

Dec 2 2000 Email from IAHF: Please: mass forward the information below my comments!

“Your help is needed to protect the lives of former FBI agent Ted Gunderson, Brice Taylor, and a large number of other whistleblowers who are trying to expose satanism/drug smuggling/the CIA's MK Ultra Mind Control Program--- crimes of high treason and crimes against humanity...” Archive.

Relevant: Murdered FBI Chief's Last Interview Uncovered: ‘D.C. Elite Are Satanic Pedophiles’.

Dec 2 2000 Italy's corrupt elite are reborn as victims in rewriting of 90s scandal: Tangentopoli - a tale of bribes, ruination, failed court cases and redemption

“Cusani was the public face of a corruption scandal that swept away Italy's ruling class in the early 90s. His televised trial attracted huge audiences. Systematic bribes and kickbacks were revealed to a fascinated, horrified electorate.

Most shocking of all was that it happened not in the sunbaked, mafia-ridden south but in the acme of northern thrift and innovation: Milan. The capital of Lombardy was renamed Tangentopoli, or Bribesville. But in reality the entire country was infected.

Cusani's sentencing marked a watershed. An establishment entrenched for half a century collapsed. Ministers were arrested, premiers fled, bankers committed suicide. Jails filled up as prosecutors swooped. It was an earthquake. The radical changes which followed amounted to a second Italian republic built on the rubble of the first.

Turning his back on the rush-hour traffic, Cusani, 52, returns to his couch, overlooked by a painting of the Death of Adonis. “Yes, I admit my share of responsibility. There was a bacterium. It was not a good time. But I am out now, I am rebuilding a life." He fell in love with his lawyer, married her and they have a young son.

Voluntary work, including setting up a non-profit-making bank, takes up much of his time. Money is not a problem as he comes from a wealthy family." Archive.

Relevant: 2024: Tangentopoli and Mani Puliti:

"Tangentopoli burst into the Italian consciousness in the early 1990s as an unprecedented wave of corruption allegations and scandals rocked the nation. The scandal exposed a vast network of bribery, kickbacks, and illicit financial dealings between politicians, business leaders, and public officials. It implicated members of the ruling Christian Democracy party and other major political parties, business tycoons, and even some media moguls."

Dec 3 2000 WEDDINGS; Lynn Forester, Evelyn de Rothschild

"Lynn Forester, a communications executive, and Sir Evelyn de Rothschild, the international banker, were married on Thursday at the Liberal Jewish Synagogue in London. Rabbi David Goldberg performed the ceremony.

The bride, 46, is the co-chairwoman in London of FirstMark Communications Europe, a company based in Luxembourg that builds broadband Internet networks in Europe. She is also the chairwoman of the New York City Scholarship Fund, which gives tuition aid to students attending private schools in New York, and a member of the board of the New York City Outward Bound Center." Archive.

Relevant: 2019: Epstein's Island, the Royal Family, and Outward Bound. 2022: Jeffrey Epstein's Handler Evelyn De Rothschild Dies at 91. 2023: Rothschild widow 'run out of London' as she plots US return after tycoon hubby's death: 'They all hate her'.

2023: HIGH CRIMES: 'Dangerous Alliance', Who is Lynn Forester de Rothschild? 2023: Epstein's client list.

Dec 3 2000 World Bank edits out penalty on the poor: John Madeley says it's wrong to insist free trade benefits needy nations as much as rich ones

"Just before its annual meeting in Prague last September, the World Bank published its World Development Report for 2000 and 2001, entitled Attacking Poverty. The report, which is notable for what it does not say rather than what it does, puts the bank's credibility on the line.

The report presents itself as a document based on scientific knowledge. According to the foreword written by bank president James Wolfensohn it 'seeks to expand the understanding of poverty and its causes and sets out actions to create a world free of poverty'.

The puzzle is why it then ignores recent evidence about the way in which free trade and trade liberalisation - the reduction or removal of barriers to trade - is deepening poverty. 'There is now substantial evidence that open trade regimes support growth and development,' it says.

Historically that may have been so. But the experience of the last 20 years undermines the bank's case. Under World Bank/IMF structural adjustment programmes, significant trade liberalisation measures have been implemented by most developing countries since the early Eighties. More recently, the World Trade Organisation has given them a further push.

And what has happened in the developing world?" Archive.

Dec 3 2000 A Poisoned Chalice – the UK's Freedom of Information Act [passed Nov 30 2000]

*"In the end it resembled nothing so much as the knighting of Danny Kaye in The Court Jester: the Freedom of Information Bill rushed through its final stages under the government's guillotine. 118 proposed amendments disposed of in four and a half hours – that's 2.28 minutes per amendment; a lot less if you deduct the time for voting. You could hear the stamping of feet through the lobbies as MPs obeyed the incessant drum beat of the government whips.*

Home Secretary Jack Straw has hailed this as "a radical measure." It could have been, and if New Labour had stuck to its pre-election promises, or even to its first White Paper on the subject, it would have been. But it is not. In the end Mr Straw surrendered to the secretive instincts of the Civil Service and, possibly, the voices of his cabinet colleagues who feared even more embarrassment than they currently receive via the leaky sieve of 10 Downing Street. Things might have been better if the Liberal Democrats in the House of Lords had stuck to their principles, but for reasons best known to them, they abandoned them.

What we have is an Act riddled with "class exemptions" which allow all information in crucial categories to be withheld, even if disclosure would not cause harm. These include the findings of the Health and Safety Executive, the Railway Inspectorate, the Nuclear Installations Inspectorate, and Environmental Health Officers." Archive.

Relevant: Freedom of Information Act text. 2010: Climategate - Loophole in UK FOIA law will apparently [allow CRU \[East Anglia University's Climate Response Unit\] to avoid](#) prosecution.

"Previous Weeks

ANOTHER OMINOUS SIGN IN THE MIDDLE EAST -- WAR MAY BE CLOSE!

Egypt recalled her ambassador to Israel last night, an event usually preceding war.

CLINTON'S SCHOOL SHOOTING AND DISASTER MAP POSSIBLY IN PLAY IN THE FLORIDA ELECTION DISASTER, AS MIAMI AND WEST PALM BEACH FALL ALONG THE LINE NORTHWEST TO SOUTHEAST!

Further evidence that the 2000 Election may be influenced by the powerful Illuminist Witchcraft of President Clinton comes in the fact that both Miami and West Palm Beach fall along Clinton's School Shooting and Disaster Map!

THE INVISIBLE ONE-PARTY SYSTEM IN AMERICA

When you ask anyone how many major parties exist in the United States, they will undoubtedly tell you two -- the Democrats and the Republicans. We will prove that this is simply untrue, and that it has been untrue since 1921.

IS THE ILLUMINIST CLINTON GOVERNMENT TRYING TO TRIGGER ARMED CONFRONTATION WITH PATRIOT AND/OR MILITIA GROUPS?

Extreme statements by Democrat officials in Florida and extreme incitement of Democrat clouds on the street in Florida, have stimulated certain Patriots and Militias to talk of taking violent action in order to protect the United States' Constitution. This may be exactly what the Clinton/Reno Administration wants them to do." Archive.

Dec 5 2000 Microchip Implants, Mind Control, & Cybernetics: By Rauni-Leena Luukanen-Kilde, MD, Former Chief Medical Officer of Finland

"It is technically possible for every newborn to be injected with a microchip, which could then function to identify the person for the rest of his or her life. Such plans are secretly being discussed in the U.S...

Implanted human beings can be followed anywhere. Their brain functions can be remotely monitored by supercomputers and even altered through the changing of frequencies. Guinea pigs in secret experiments have included prisoners, soldiers, mental patients, handicapped children, deaf and blind people, homosexuals, single women, the elderly, school children, and any group of people considered "marginal" by the elite experimenters. The published experiences of prisoners in Utah State Prison, for example, are shocking to the conscience.

Today's microchips operate by means of low-frequency radio waves that target them. With the help of satellites, the implanted person can be tracked anywhere on the globe. Such a technique was among a number tested in the Iraq war, according to Dr. Carl Sanders, who invented the intelligence-manned interface [IMI] biotic, which is injected into people. [Earlier during the Vietnam War, soldiers were injected with the Rambo chip, designed to increase adrenaline flow into the bloodstream.] The 20-billion-bit/second supercomputers at the U.S. National Security Agency [NSA] could now "see and hear" what soldiers experience in the battlefield with a Remote Monitoring System [RMS]." Archive.

Relevant: Tribute to Dr. Rauni Lena Luukanen-Kilde.

Dec 5 2000 Is the green agenda appropriate in poor cities?

"Environmental quality – from luxury to necessity

"It is now often argued that environmental concerns are especially important to the poor whereas, only a few decades ago, they were widely held to be a luxury for the affluent. Much attention has focused on the rural poor and how important environmental care is to achieving sustainable rural livelihoods. The urban poor are less directly dependent on natural resources for their livelihoods yet, environmental health threats in the living environment are characteristic of severe urban poverty. Statistics show that environmental factors account for a far greater share of illness and death among the poor than among the more affluent. It is clearly nonsense to claim that environmental improvements must await economic affluence, when they provide basic human needs without which development is severely compromised.

Conflicting agendas? Helping the poor versus protecting the future

Superficially at least, these two agendas are in opposition to each other. Green burdens have grown in part because Brown burdens have been displaced. Local water shortages have been addressed by drawing on more distant sources. Local air pollution has been reduced by introducing higher stacks or more distant oil or coal-based power stations. Local solid waste problems have been addressed by removing the waste from the vicinity of people and dumping it outside the urbanized area. Land shortages have been eased by transport systems that encourage urban sprawl. And sanitary problems have been removed by using water to carry away human excreta." Archive.

OzCW: We were not surprised to read research suggesting that implementing the green agenda in poor cities is a bit of a dog's dinner. Seems no one can agree: 2010: An Analysis of the Environmental Stewardship Concept And Its Applicability in Post-Urban Towns: Lessons from Epworth in Zimbabwe:

“CONCLUSION

This paper has analyzed the different stakeholders that are in the place stewardship, both in theory and in practice. Epworth, as a case, shows that the construction of the stewardship thesis and to make it work in an environment of conflicting interests may be a mammoth, yet doable task. Dimensions of place stewardship are encapsulated in business economic, ecological, social, institutional and political facets of the economy of any place. It is therefore, the role of policymakers, researchers and the local communities to foster a workable stewardship framework that ensures sustainable development in space.”

Dec 5 2000 Sex abuse inquiry at Oratory school

“An investigation was under way today into allegations of child abuse at the London Oratory school. The inquiry centres on a former chaplain and governor at the Roman Catholic state school in Fulham, south-west London, at which Prime Minister Tony Blair's two eldest sons are pupils.

Police and social services acted after pupils alleged they were abused by Father David Martin, who died of a suspected Aids-related illness two years ago.

Martin was alleged to have met at least six pupils in his rooms at the London Oratory church, to which the highly regarded school is affiliated.

Two boys were said to have expressed fears that they might have contracted the HIV virus from the 44-year-old Scots-born priest, who died in September 1998.

There is no suggestion that Mr Blair's sons are involved in the allegations or the investigation...

ChildLine founder and chairman Esther Rantzen confirmed that the telephone helpline had been contacted by children who made allegations of abuse at the Oratory school.” Archive.

Relevant: 1994: Girl 'was assaulted in pool': Five-year-old alleges sex attack at Esther Rantzen's holiday home. 2017: Mysterious Esther Rantzen Archive. 2017: Fury over paedo lie: Esther Rantzen slams Google for refusing to take down slurs calling her a paedophile and a child killer. 2000: Child abuse enquiry at top Catholic school. 2021: London Oratory school accused of fostering rape culture.

Dec 6 2000 MoD Fails to Stop SAS Book

“The Ministry of Defence has failed to block a new book by a former SAS member detailing a botched mission against Iraq during the Gulf War.

The book will be published in New Zealand, where the former soldier, Mike Coburn, was born.

He was part of an SAS patrol dropped into the clutches of Iraqi forces during a bungled mission behind enemy lines.

It is thought the latest ruling by the High Court in Auckland could open the way for the former head of MI5, Stella Rimington, to publish her memoirs.

Mr Coburn and three other soldiers were captured and tortured before being released when the Gulf War ended.

*The operation spawned several books and films, but Mr Coburn said they did not reflect the truth. He said his book, Soldier Five, was a more accurate account of events.” Archive.*

Relevant: Book 2004: Soldier Five: the Real Truth About the Bravo Two Zero.

Dec 6 2000 Greenspan Shrugged: Now into his fourth term as Federal Reserve chairman, Alan Greenspan holds unparalleled power, despite a history of idealism that started with his worship of Ayn Rand. But Greenspan's official record, as he rose to near-mystical preeminence, shows how Washington can compromise even the most passionate of principles.

“The annual White House Correspondents' Dinner is a feast of sycophancy and pretended satire, and last April's gathering was no exception. Only one real shaft was launched all evening, when the night's designated jester, Jay Leno, juttled himself toward Hillary Clinton and inquired, “What's it like being married to the most powerful man in the world? Let's ask Andrea Mitchell.” Everybody laughed. Nobody missed the point. This country is in awe of a mousy, bespectacled accountant with enigmatic powers—America's least-likely celebrity.

Alan Greenspan, chairman of the Federal Reserve and husband of the divine Andrea, is sometimes idly referred to as “the second most powerful man in America.” But he's quietly approaching his fifth term of office. And in that capacity he probably does possess more power than any president. A nod from him about the interest rate and global markets quiver along every nerve and ganglion. And therefore, since most of foreign policy is now driven by economics, and most wars are fought largely by economic means, he disposes of more power than any 12 heads of government of any remotely comparable countries.” Archive.

Relevant: 2008: The Legacy of the Clinton Bubble.

2010: The criminal legacy of Alan Greenspan. 2016: The Untold Story of 9/11: Bailing out Alan Greenspan’s Legacy. 2024: VIDEO - Ayn Rand’s Atlas Shrugged summarised. 2012: Paul Ryan's Favorite Philosopher Inspired "The Satanic Bible", Experts Say.

Dec 7 2000 Exorcism's Business Boom Brings Theological Debate: Scholars Say Family Problems, Interest in Occult Fuel Interest

“The ancient ritual of exorcism, which fell out of favor in the Age of Reason, is once again flourishing in the Age of the Internet.

End-of-the-world fears? A desire stoked by Hollywood occult films? Ministers looking for new lines of work?

Whatever the cause, hundreds of exorcism ministries exist--some with names like Demon Stompers that offer personal deliverance testimonies and toll-free lines for convenient counseling.

Along with the heightened public interest in exorcisms has come a passionate debate on the nature of evil and the proper role of the ritual among Christians.

"It's a sensational, fast-food solution to long-term problems that absolves you of any responsibility for your vices," says Hank Hanegraaff of the Christian Research Institute in Santa Margarita, Calif. "I call it Flip Wilson theology: 'The devil made me do it.' "

Not so, counters Larson, whose Colorado-based ministry offers exorcisms by radio and conferences nearly every week. "Critics can take all the cheap shots they want, but we are genuinely trying to do something about the suffering of people," he said." Archive.

O2CW: It’s not the best idea to involve “scholars” [e.g. Elizabeth Loftus] in matters of the occult: most of them will reject or debunk them, whether or not they are knowingly on the payroll.

This collection does not perhaps reflect the very real and considerable surge of interest in exorcism in the US that took place in and around 2000. It was to surge in 2001 – and continues today.

Dec 8 2000 Email from a British Journalist whistle blower to David Shayler/Cryptome

“I am sending the text of a letter that I sent to the British Home Office a few months ago. I have been told that a reply was sent but it hasn't reached me for some reason.

What is it all about? Well, I and Sir Teddy Taylor [letters below] [a British Member of Parliament] are trying to force the British government to investigate two murders that the British Secret Intelligence Service [MI6] were directly responsible for. They are the 'Bulgarian Umbrella' murder of Georgi Markov in 1978 [a British double agent tricked the Bulgarians into murdering him] and the murder of the newspaper owner Robert Maxwell in 1991. Both murders are related to the failed KGB coup in Moscow in August 1991, with which I was fairly directly connected. A large file exists which gives the evidence for all this in considerable detail. There is now a copy of it in the House of Commons Library in London, although the Security Services had arranged its concealment for some months. Other copies disappeared from my mother's home in Scotland during the spring. At present, the Home Office and the Foreign Office are tossing the ball between them.

This is one of the biggest intelligence stories in years, and is supported by a lot of evidence, which is why the file has been the object of such attention on the part of the British Security Services.” Archive.

Dec 9 2000 Organizing Online: How a former union organizer accidentally sparked a nationwide election protest movement, all via the Internet

“As a union organizer in the 90s, I had low expectations for how the Internet could be used in grassroots organizing. I knew that e-mail had been used in some unionization drives, but I assumed it was just a tool that allowed organizers to do old tasks in new ways. Now I know better: Last month, almost by accident, I set in motion an organizing drive that mobilized thousands of people across the country, using the Net.

One month before the election, on a lark, I spent about an hour putting up a Web site proposing nationwide protests if Al Gore were to win the popular vote but lose the electoral college. Countercoup.org listed my suggested protest locations in a few big cities for the Saturday following the election and asked people to nominate spots for their own cities. E-mailing everyone in my address book drew a few hundred visits to the site and a handful of e-mails essentially saying, "Why are you wasting your time?" ...

By midday Friday a thousand people had subscribed to the group, and ABC News, Slate, the Boston Globe, NPR, and a Belgian radio station all wanted to know who was in charge. I encouraged the local protest organizers to talk to the press, generating coverage in several major outlets..." Archive.

Relevant: 2024: Those stoking violence online could face jail, Keir Starmer says. 2024: How a young Sir Keir Starmer ended up in Communist spy files after joining a Czechoslovakian work camp during Cold War.

Dec 9 2000 Space Station Crew Greets First Visitors

"Ringing a ship's bell in the naval tradition, the three residents of the International Space Station greeted their first visitors today, the shuttle astronauts who have been working on the station's exterior for almost a week.

The Navy officers who command both spacecraft followed nautical etiquette as they began a one-day visit between crews sailing 240 miles above Earth.

"The crew requests permission to come aboard," said Cmdr. Brent W. Jett, the commander of the shuttle Endeavour, as a hatch to the space station swung open." Archive.

Dec 11 2000 Dr. Vernon Coleman's Casebook: My sexy wife clicked as a camera club nude model

"Byline: DR VERNON COLEMAN [truth-teller extraordinaire doing his day job in 2000]

Q: A FRIEND asked my wife if she would stand in as a nude model at his camera club, because the one they'd booked had backed out. My wife asked my opinion and, as I didn't mind, she agreed. I went with her as a chaperone - and because I was turned on by the idea of strangers photographing my wife.

The model turned up after all. But my friend asked my wife to pose as well. Just as I was getting turned on by the idea of her posing with another woman, I learned it was a hunky bloke. I could see he admired my wife's figure but he behaved like a perfect gentleman.

Now one of the photographers wants my wife to star in a movie he is making. We are keen and he says he'll pay her a fee. What do you think?

A: THE movie is more likely to be Briefs Encounter than Brief Encounter and there's a pretty good chance it will be a blue one. Find out beforehand exactly what your wife will be expected to do. Since your wife is being hired for her body rather than her acting skills, nudity is pretty obviously going to be expected.

But will she be expected to have sex with her other stars? The two big questions are: What do they want and how far does she - and you - want to go?" Archive.

Dec 11 2000 Kevin Warwick: a life in pictures - Our visual guide to Captain Cyborg

OzCW: This is a satirical post about Professor Kevin Warwick, who had a chip implanted into his hand so he could receive neural signals and wears his “cyborg” label with pride. Archive.

Relevant: 2023: I became Britain's first CYBORG when I had a chip inserted in my arm 25 years ago - but it worries me when I hear the risks biohackers are taking today.

Dec 11 2000 The Prodigal Father

OzCW: The article linked is about the man who in 2022 was reported as being Melinda Gates' “new boyfriend”.

“Jon Dupre knows a thing or two about forgiveness and how difficult it can be to achieve.

He's a family man with a devoted wife and three healthy kids and a job as a TV news reporter based in Los Angeles. But make no mistake about it, for years, Dupre lived his life with one goal in mind: to create the "perfect" family he never had...”

Dec 11 2000 Rothschilds are on a roll

"Schroder. Morgan Grenfell. Warburg. Fleming. Kleinwort Benson." Sitting in his modest Paris office a stone's throw from the Elysees Palace, David de Rothschild ticks off the names of once independent European investment houses that have slipped into the embrace of huge banks. "They're all gone. We and Lazard are the only ones left."

On the face of it, this harsh landscape bodes ill for the 58-year-old chairman of Rothschild & Cie Banque and his cousin, Evelyn de Rothschild, chairman of NM Rothschild & Sons, the clan's London-based branch. The fabled Rothschild name was once synonymous with prodigious wealth and power. Today, the Rothschilds head a group whose employees number just 550. The likes of Goldman Sachs, Morgan Stanley Dean Witter, and Citigroup dwarf it. Despite having its best year ever for mergers and acquisitions, the Rothschild group's total investment banking profit for 2000 will be barely $200 million, a fraction of what the big boys take home. With such competition, Rothschild "is going to be very fragile in the long run," says one prominent banker in Paris.

Still, the Rothschilds are on a roll. As their larger rival, Lazard Freres, struggles to keep business amid staff defections and shareholder dissent, the Rothschilds seem to be not only holding their own but expanding." Archive.

OzCW: The Rothschilds, we believe, would have known full well that the smaller independent investment houses were going to be swallowed up by large banks: it was and is all part of the agenda.

In this video, former Illuminati/Jesuit programmer Svali states that [around 19.50] from age 13-14 she was David de Rothschild's "mistress" in France and that he enjoyed frequenting the child auction houses. Warning: Svali shares her harrowing experience of child/infant abuse and trafficking – viewer discretion advised.

Dec 13 2000 The high-flying obsessives: What might these three men have in common? Not just brilliance but a form of autism that is only now being recognised in thousands of intelligent people. Karen Gold on the Asperger explosion “Asperger syndrome was unheard of 20 years ago. Now it seems to be everywhere. Ludwig Wittgenstein, the philosopher, who designed and made a sewing machine at the age of 10 and was friendless and teased by his fellow students, is thought to have had Asperger. So too is long-haired, green-slippered Albert Einstein, who used to lose his train of thought in the middle of giving a lecture.

Their modern day equivalent, Bill Gates, the Microsoft chief executive and Windows inventor, has been described as having autistic-type traits: lack of eye contact, poor social skills, a monotonous voice, a prodigious memory and a tendency to rock backwards and forwards during business meetings.

Twenty years ago we thought we knew what autistic people were like. They had low IQs and limited language, they behaved bizarrely, and they were put into special schools and residential homes. Autism occurred in about one in 10,000 of the population. Since then, it has been redefined as a spectrum ranging from mild to severe - and with that redefinition has come a massive increase in numbers.” Archive.

Dec 13 2000 Microsoft to pay \$97 million to settle suit

“Microsoft Corp. said Tuesday it will pay $97 million to settle federal lawsuits by temporary workers who challenged the software giant’s employment practices, which once allowed employees to be classified as temporary for as long as 14 years.

Between 8,000 and 12,000 current and former employees are expected to receive payments under the settlement, plaintiffs’ attorney Stephen Strong said Tuesday.

“Many have been converted to so-called regular jobs” since the suits were filed in 1992, Strong said. The so-called “permatemp” case involved Microsoft’s practice of hiring long-term workers through temp agencies, allegedly so it could avoid paying the workers pension and health-care benefits and stock options.” Archive.

Dec 13 2000 Al Gore: Address Conceding the 2000 Presidential Election

“Good evening.

Just moments ago, I spoke with George W. Bush and congratulated him on becoming the 43rd president of the United States. And I promised him that I wouldn't call him back this time. I offered to meet with him as soon as possible so that we can start to heal the divisions of the campaign and the contest through which we've just passed...

Now the U.S. Supreme Court has spoken. Let there be no doubt, while I strongly disagree with the court's decision, I accept it. I accept the finality of this outcome which will be ratified next Monday in the Electoral College. And tonight, for the sake of our unity as a people and the strength of our democracy, I offer my concession. I also accept my responsibility, which I will discharge unconditionally, to honor the new President-elect and do everything possible to help him bring Americans together in fulfillment of the great vision that our Declaration of Independence defines and that our Constitution affirms and defends.

Let me say how grateful I am to all those who supported me and supported the cause for which we have fought..." Archive.

Relevant: 2007: Al Gore and the Monolithic and Ruthless Conspiracy. 2010: Newsgroup post: An Inconvenient Truth ON Al Gore: The Google A.I. Conspiracy. Archive. 2016: George Bush Paid Al Gore Millions to Lie About Global Warming.

Dec 14 2000 Arrests over London boy's killing

"Eleven boys have been arrested in connection with the killing of 10-year-old London boy Damilola Taylor as more than 200 police officers staged a series of early morning raids.

The suspects -- eight black youths, two of Mediterranean appearance and one white youth -- were detained at various addresses in south London.

The youths arrested on Thursday included two boys who were previously detained along with a 39-year-old woman.

All the suspects are known to be associates who congregate together in the Peckham area, where Damilola died, Scotland Yard said.

Damilola Taylor bled to death in the street in Peckham, south London, two weeks ago in an incident which shocked Britain and followed a spate of "sink estate" killings in France.

The Nigerian-born youngster is thought to have been stabbed by a gang of 11 to 14-year-olds as he walked home to the run-down inner-city North Peckham estate." Archive.

Dec 14 2000 Video: Charlie Rose interviews Senator Joe Biden about how he sees the future of US foreign policy

Relevant: 2019: Report: Jeffrey Epstein Referred Young Women to Work for Charlie Rose. 2021: A Timeline of Joe Biden's Corruption Allegations. 2023: Joe Biden, NWO Crime Boss.

Dec 14 2000 Details emerge about Martensville scandal

"The veil of secrecy surrounding the 1992 Martensville child sex abuse scandal is beginning to lift. Documents have been filed as part of a lawsuit launched by a Saskatoon Police corporal who was acquitted in the case. Those documents show there were some serious questions about the investigation and children's testimony before any charges were laid.

It was one of the most sensational criminal prosecutions in Saskatchewan history. More than a dozen people faced more than 100 charges of child sex abuse. Investigators believed it was all part of a satanic ritual.

Only one charge against one person was ultimately upheld by the courts...

Documents disclosed by the Crown and filed by Popowich show there were serious concerns about the case quite early on. At the height of the scandal, an RCMP task force was called in to take over the investigation. Its report is included in the court documents. This is the first time it's been made public. Among other things it contains a letter from a task force member to a senior Crown prosecutor, saying the police were "seeking the truth as opposed to looking only at what will support the charges before the court."'" Archive.

Relevant: 2023 Podcast: The Martensville Saskatchewan Satanic Sex Scandal.

Dec 14 2000 Christie's Auction: THE COLLECTION OF THE LATE BARONESS BATSHEVA DE ROTHSCHILD
Archive.

Dec 16 2000 SAS Website Taken Down

"The Ministry of Defence has described as an error a website dedicated to attracting recruits to the Territorial Army branch of the super-secret SAS.

The site has been removed permanently "for security reasons", the MoD said.

It was set up to look for volunteers for the 21 Special Air Service Regiment [Reserves], based in London, which is part of the crack SAS force.

A Ministry of Defence spokeswoman said: "It is our policy not to discuss the SAS at all and this is not in line with that.

"It has been removed permanently. It was a mistake."

The website had shown SAS soldiers in action with their identities protected and visitors to the site were greeted with the message: "Special Forces - A Unique Challenge."

It was accessible through a site which features dozens of other volunteer reserve forces units.

About a third of the UK's armed forces are provided by the volunteer reserve forces who are part-time members of the active army, navy or air force.

The website is the latest piece of unwelcome publicity for the regiment, whose operations have been exposed in several books by former members." Archive.

Dec 17 2000 LA "Battle" launched a golden age of UFOs

"Close encounters of the strangest kind are, of course, a fact of life in Los Angeles. So, it comes as no surprise that the area was an epicenter for one of the late 20th century's genuinely eccentric preoccupations: unidentified flying objects.

In fact, a few days after the region endured one of its most mysterious wartime traumas--the so-called "Battle of Los Angeles"--UFO enthusiasts were suggesting that extraterrestrial tourists, rather than Japanese aviators, had flown across the basin's sky early on the dark morning of Feb. 25, 1942.

Memories of Pearl Harbor were fresh, and just two days after a Japanese submarine surfaced and shot 16 shells at an oil field 12 miles west of Santa Barbara, radar stations picked up an unidentified object over Santa Monica Bay at 2:25 a.m. The region's antiaircraft batteries--the largest at Ft. MacArthur--went fully into action, blindly firing nearly 1,500 rounds into the suddenly searchlighted skies.

As The Times wrote the next day: "At 5 a.m. the police reported that an airplane had been shot down near 185th Street and Vermont Avenue. Details were not available. . . ." Five persons died in the "air raid," three in car crashes and two from heart attacks.

To this day the real story of the “Battle of Los Angeles” remains unknown. The Japanese deny that their warplanes ever flew over Los Angeles; official U.S. wartime records are inconclusive. Although some residents later claimed that they had indeed seen a globular or triangular craft in the sky, military officials blamed...a wayward meteorological balloon.” Archive.

Dec 17 2000 A mother’s anguish – and a president’s profits

“The violent death of a boy in a private hospital shocked the US. Ed Vulliamy reveals that George W. Bush was an investor in the firm at the heart of the affair and shows how some of Bush's biggest backers stand to gain from his health reforms...

But only now can it be revealed that this squalid story is linked to the height of American power. Among investors in the company which bought, owned and leased the hospitals, pocketing a profit of $114,000, was the man who last week became the US President-elect, George W. Bush.

And the businessman at the apex of the corporate pyramid of which Charter was the underpinning was the man who made Bush rich, a market wizard called Richard Rainwater.

There is no reason why - or suggestion that - Bush, Rainwater or any senior executives involved knew what was going on inside the hospitals. But the companies that owned the hospitals - Crescent Real Estate and a spin-off called Crescent Operating, set up specially to manage them - lie at the centre of a network defining Bush's career.” Archive.

Dec 17 2000 Work on death-row cases gives Starmer human rights award

OzCW: Here is Keir Starmer being set up on his path to globalist betrayer-of-the-people 2024. How ironic that while Starmer was awarded the individual human rights lawyer of the year, the organisation that won the other award was the Campaign for Freedom of Information.

“Barrister Keir Starmer won the human rights lawyer of the year award at this week's ceremony organised by Justice and Liberty, and sponsored by the Gazette. Mr Starmer, of Doughty Street Chambers in London, was nominated for his pro bono work on Caribbean death-row cases, his contribution to Human Rights Act training, and his book on the new law. The Campaign for Freedom of Information won the human rights award - which is for an organisation - for its diligence in campaigning for stronger freedom of information law." Archive.

Relevant: Another Starmer case from 2000. 2024: VIDEO: David Starkey questions Keir Starmer's academic achievements and rigid mindset.

Dec 18 2000 Mandelson sobbed as he was told to resign

OzCW: Wipe your tears away, Mandy or do you [prefer Petie?] – you'll be back to shop again with Jeffrey Epstein...

"Peter Mandelson cried after being ordered to resign by Tony Blair when details of his £373,000 home loan from Geoffrey Robinson, the Paymaster General, emerged at the end of 1998, according to a book on New Labour.

Mr Mandelson, who was subsequently restored to the Cabinet as Northern Ireland Secretary, broke down in tears when he was told in a telephone conversation with the Prime Minister that he had to go. Alastair Campbell, the Prime Minister's press secretary, was also in tears.

*"By the end of the conversation, tears were trickling down Mandelson's sepulchral white cheeks. A dark-eyed Campbell, himself blubbing, gave Mandelson a hug," wrote the journalist Andrew Rawnsley in Servants of the People, serialised in The Observer newspaper yesterday." Archive.*

Relevant: 2012: Mandelson takes seat in the Lords.

"Business Secretary Peter Mandelson took his seat in the House of Lords following his appointment to the Cabinet by Gordon Brown.

Baron Mandelson of Foy in the county of Herefordshire and Hartlepool in the county of Durham - who will be known simply as Lord Mandelson - wore the traditional ermine-lined scarlet robes as he swore allegiance to the Queen in a short ceremony of induction.

New peers are flanked by two supporters when they take their seat and Mr Mandelson choose Labour former Lords Leader Baroness Jay of Paddington and Labour former Lord Chancellor Lord Falconer of Thoroton.

Mr Mandelson, who twice resigned from Tony Blair's Cabinet, was surprisingly brought back by Mr Brown in his reshuffle this month."

2016: Freedom of Information petition refused by British Cabinet Office.

2022: New photo emerges of Peter Mandelson partying with Epstein, taken after his conviction.. 2023: Peter Mandelson had four dates scheduled in the diary to see Jeffrey Epstein... after the tycoon's jail term.

Dec 20 2000 Pew Research: Wired Churches, Wired Temples

"We believe this is the first extensive quantitative effort to discover how churches and synagogues in the United States use the Internet. Over 1,300 congregations responded to an email from the Pew Internet & American Life Project and filled out an online survey that asked how they built and use their Web sites, how congregations and leaders use email, and whether their use of Internet tools has helped the spiritual and everyday life of their members. This is not a representative sample of all the congregations in the United States. However, the wide-ranging and extensive responses of congregations to this survey suggest that the Internet has become a vital force in many faith communities.

Congregational life on the Web

The survey reveals that the Internet is being used being used by congregations to strengthen the faith and spiritual growth of their members, evangelize and perform missions in their communities and around the world, and perform a wide variety of pious and practical activities for their congregations. Many believe the Internet has helped these faith communities become better places." Archive.

OzCW: We were pleased to see that a 2021 survey of US Christians and conspiracy theories found:

"According to Lifeway Research, about half of pastors say that they frequently hear conspiracy theories from church members.[1]

27% of white evangelicals say that the claim "Donald Trump has been secretly fighting a group of child sex traffickers led by prominent Democrats and Hollywood elites" is mostly or completely accurate. "This belief is far less prevalent among white Catholics [18 percent], white mainline Protestants [15 percent], religiously unaffiliated Americans [12 percent], and Hispanic Catholics [11 percent].”[2]

One study done at the University of Fribourg found that those who believe that the earth was created less than ten thousand years ago were more likely to believe in conspiracy theories like a faked moon landing or that the U.S. government was behind 9/11.[3]

A 2014 study found that over half of all Americans consistently endorsed at least one conspiracy theory.[4]” Archive.

Dec 21 2000 Cloning’s not a new idea – the Greeks had a word for it centuries ago

“The term 'cloning' originates from the Greek word clonos, meaning 'twig'; clonizo is the verb 'to cut twigs'. A kind of cloning has been widely used in agriculture for centuries: by this process a new tree is created from an adult tree's twig without use of its seed, analogous to the cloning of mammals from adult cells.

The idea that cloning is also possible in humans also evolved in ancient times: it was realized that the principles of reproduction did not lie in the reproductive organs or seed.

Joannes Philoponus, an Alexandrian philosopher of the sixth century ad, commenting on Aristotle's writings, observed: “If someone cuts a twig from a walnut tree in Athens and plants it in Patras [200 km away], two or three years later it will bear nuts that are the same in every aspect, in size and taste and colour and every other character, with the ones from the walnut tree in Athens. . . . So, if the resemblances between the plants do not originate because the seed comes from the entire body, as it was proved, but for some other reason, which [reason] he reveals later, the same applies to animals as well.”” Archive.

Relevant: 2015: The Threat of Human Cloning.

O2CW: To us, it’s not surprising that the Journal Nature seems to blindly accept human cloning. We find the idea abhorrent but have heard more than a few convincing whistle blowers [example] claiming that they were cloned.

VIDEO: Montauk survivor explaining how he was cloned in 2007 [04:14].

Dec 21 2000 Blair: Why adoption is close to my heart

“Prime Minister Tony Blair spoke publicly today about how his father, Leo, was adopted after his travelling entertainer parents left him with a couple they met on tour.

Mr Blair was speaking as he met a group of adopted children and their families, with his wife, Cherie, to coincide with today's launch of the adoption white paper on adoption...

After listening to the families' problems coping with the bureaucracy of the adoption system during an informal chat at the Coram Family Centre in St Pancras, north London, Mr Blair told the families: "My own father was fostered. In those days there weren't any rules at all."

He said: "I don't think my grandmother would have passed any tests at all. But then a framework of rules grew up in a very random and ad hoc way..."

Later Mr Blair added: "I know how much difference a loving and caring family made to me. My own father was adopted and not brought up by his own parents."

Mr Blair's father, Leo, was the illegitimate son of travelling entertainers Celia Ridgeway and Charles Parsons.

The social stigma of having a child out of wedlock and their hectic lifestyles prompted Leo's parents to give him to poor Clydesdale ship worker James Blair and his wife, Mary, who they met on tour in Glasgow. Leo Blair went on to become a successful barrister, although his foster mother, Mary, prevented contact between him and his biological family.” Archive.

O2CW: In 2000 Blair vowed to increase the number of adoptions by 40% under the pretext of reducing the number of children in [expensive] council care. Here he is virtue-signalling about tinkering with adoption. According to the Daily Telegraph, by 2001 this plan had already failed miserably. Archive.

What Blair did do successfully a year later, however, was form Cafcass [Children and Family Court Advisory and Support Service]. Cafcass, while it can't be all bad, has over the years become widely hated/feared by parents whose children have been removed via the Secret Family Courts and given to Satanic paedophiles, for example Samantha Baldwin.

We don't know much about this complex area but find it disturbing that Blair, a man who repeatedly covered up paedophile investigations and was allegedly convicted of cottaging, should have come anywhere near children's law or the office of British Prime Minister. Archive.

Dec 21 2000 Children's home in sex abuse enquiry

"Detectives are investigating allegations that dozens of children might have been sexually abused at a home for young people with learning difficulties.

The abuse was claimed to have taken place "several years ago" at Betts Way children's home in Bromley, Kent, Scotland Yard said last night.

It is understood that child protection officers have interviewed about 40 people so far, but not all are alleged victims.

One woman claimed that her daughter, who has Down's syndrome, was raped at the home, but said the abuser was unlikely to be prosecuted due to lack of evidence. She claimed that he was now working at another children's home.

The mother, named as Sarah, told Radio 4's Today programme she was one of 11 parents told by police last year that their children had made allegations of sexual abuse. Since then at least 28 other families have been given similar news. The allegations are thought to go back 12 years." Archive.

21 Dec 2000 Branson delays decision on legal action over national lottery loss

"The uncertainty hanging over the future running of the National Lottery will drag on for at least a few more weeks after Sir Richard Branson yesterday put off until the new year a decision on whether to press his claim in the courts.

Sir Richard, whose People's Lottery lost in the bidding to win the next licence on Tuesday, said his lawyers would be poring over documents from the lottery commission giving its reasons for rejecting his bid. The commission awarded the seven-year licence to Camelot after a process which has taken more than a year.

"Our people will be sitting down with lawyers over the next week or two," he said, before flying to the Caribbean to join his family on holiday." Archive.

Relevant: 2017: Richard Branson has been accused of sexual assault. 2024: Court documents allege sex tapes taken of Prince Andrew, Bill Clinton and Sir Richard Branson by Jeffrey Epstein.

Dec 22 2000 Holbrooke Praises Turner for Donation to UN

"A $34 million gift to the United Nations by CNN founder Ted Turner allowed the United Nations on Friday to achieve badly needed reforms and the U.S. to reduce its share of the U.N. budget, U.S. Ambassador Richard Holbrooke said.

The United States has been pushing to reduce its contribution to the United Nations budget from 25 percent to 22 percent.

In overnight negotiations, U.N. members agreed to drop the U.S. contribution to 22 percent in 2001, using Turner's $34 million to cover the shortfall between what Congress has agreed to and the 25 percent the United States has been paying.

The U.S. contribution to the peackeeping budget, said Holbrooke, will start around 27 percent but will decrease under the new agreement." Archive.

Relevant: Video: Ted Turner and the Depopulation Agenda 21.

Dec 22 2000 Era Closes at Rockefeller Center With \$1.85 Billion Deal on Sale

"A billionaire Chicago family has teamed up with Jerry I. Speyer, the New York developer, in a $1.85 billion deal to purchase Rockefeller Center, the 22-acre complex that stands as an international symbol of commerce and capitalism.

The deal severs the Rockefellers' remaining links to the historic complex that bears the family's name. For the first time since the family built the center 70 years ago, in the midst of the Depression, the Rockefellers will have no involvement with the 10 landmarked office buildings, Radio City Music Hall or the Rainbow Room.

Under the terms of the pending deal, Mr. Speyer and Lester Crown's family from Chicago, who together owned 5 percent of the complex, will be acquiring the interests of their partners: David Rockefeller, the former chairman of Chase Manhattan Bank; the Goldman Sachs Group; the Agnelli family of Italy; and the estate of the Greek shipping magnate Stavros Niarchos." Archive.

Dec 22 2000 Black holes don't exist, says BARC scientist

"A Bombay scientist has sought to disprove the existence of 'black holes' in the universe -- the concept that fascinated physicists for more than 200 years.

Dr Abhas Mitra, a senior scientist and an astrophysicist of Theoretical Physics Division of the Bhabha Atomic Research Centre in Bombay, claimed that he has disproved the concept of black holes, which are supposed to be objects so compact that from which even light can not escape.

Mitra has pointed out in his paper, 'Non-occurrence of trapped surfaces and black holes in spherical gravitational collapse' in the current issue of the journal 'Foundations of Physics Letters' that just removing the 'subtle errors' in the earlier work of famous physicists J R Oppenheimer and H Snyder had led to the 'rejection' of formation of black holes.

Mitra claimed that his results could help in understanding several currently unexplained astrophysical phenomena including cosmic gamma ray bursts.

Mitra has also shown that one of the crucial assumptions made by the renowned scientists like Stephen Hawking and Roger Penrose and others that of formation of 'trapped surface' which traps light is actually not allowed by Albert Einstein's generalised collapse equation as the local speed of the collapsing fluid 'does not exceed the speed of light'." Archive.

Dec 23 2000 Tory defector will not defend seat

"MP Shaun Woodward, who defected from the Tories to join Labour, will not be defending his seat at the next general election.

In a statement he said that he would not be asking the constituency Labour Party in Witney, Oxfordshire, to consider him when they come to choose their candidate in the new year...

Aged 41, he was born in Bristol and graduated with a double first from Cambridge University.

*He worked at the BBC from 1982-1990 as a researcher and producer on current affairs programmes and Esther Rantzen's That's Life, before moving into politics in 1991 as a communications chief for the Conservative Party.” Archive.*

Relevant: 2009: Minister's 'tax dodge': MP avoided paying £1.5m bill on sale of 'main home'. 2009: Richest man in cabinet Shaun Woodward claims his full £23,083 allowance. Archive.

2012: Lord Mandelson, Prince Andrew, Shaun Woodward, and convicted paedophile pimp Jeffrey Epstein. 2015: Ex-Tory turncoat Shaun Woodward splits from Sainsbury's heiress wife of 28 years as he's linked with a cameraman friend.

OzCW: Shaun Woodward's defection from the Tory Party allowed David Cameron to enter Parliament, thus securing Cameron's role as co-conspirator to destroy the UK from within.

Woodward was married to a Sainsbury's heiress and they both appeared in Epstein's black book. They split when he had an affair with his cameraman. He worked for the BBC and is good friends with [paedophile-protector] Esther Rantzen.

Dec 24 2000 Right-wing coup that shames America: Continuing unofficial counts reveal the full extent of Al Gore's lead and the massive abuses that have put George W. Bush into power

OzCW: The article linked was posted online in the very early hours of Christmas Eve when, back in 2000, most Brits will have been partying, asleep or preparing for Christmas. Many did not have phones or check the internet for news. They will very likely not have been reading the Guardian paper either that day or over the following few days.

So the website announces an illegal “right-wing/Republican” takeover of the US by [Satanist] George Bush – knowing that no one will read it. Perhaps the timing was just a coincidence or the paper staff were working late, but if it wasn't, the announcement was a revelation of a very sick Christmas present for the world as the devastating Bush presidency was about to unfold – and nobody was going to know or give it a second thought as they rolled to the pub and joined hands to sing Auld Lang Syne.

"I never thought I would live to see it. There has been a right-wing coup in the United States. It is now clear beyond any doubt that the winner of the Presidential election was Al Gore. In Florida the votes are being counted unofficially in a way the Supreme Court would not permit: he was already 140 votes ahead when counting stopped for Christmas and his final lead promises to be in the thousands. Nationally he leads by over half a million votes. What has happened is beyond outrage. It is the cynical misuse of power by a conservative élite nakedly to serve its interests - and all of us should be frightened for the consequences.

The issue is not George W. Bush's conservatism, opponent though I am of what Bush plans to do; a democracy only has vitality and political tension if its philosophy and stream of thinking is articulated and pitches to win elections. The incontrovertible abuse is that Bush has won power despite losing, and critically he only pulled off this feat because the Republicans control the Supreme Court." Archive.

Relevant: 2013: Audacious hack exposes Bush family pix, email. Archive.

Dec 26 2000 Island of Templar Treasures

"... In a 194-page book "The Templars' Secret Island", Denmark's Erling Haagensen and Henry Lincoln of Britain say mediaeval round churches were built at sites on Bornholm based on the sacred geometry used by the Knights Templar elsewhere in Europe, most famously at Rennes-le-Chateau in southern France.

The book, studded with graphs, plots the churches' geometric layout with mathematical precision and the authors suggest the design may be a map to hidden treasures.

The Danish archbishop Eskil visited Knights Templar Grand Master Bertrand de Blanchefort in France in 1162, nine years after the death of his predecessor Bernard of Clairvaux.

The historically recorded purpose of Eskil's visit - coming at a time when the Knights Templar may have feared becoming vulnerable because of the influential Bernard's demise - was to prepare a crusade against pagans inhabiting the Baltic Sea's north-eastern coast in what is today Estonia and Latvia." Archive.

Dec 27 2000 Deadline Awaits Clinton on World Criminal Court

“He hasn't managed to bring peace to the Middle East, and he won't be appointing any more Supreme Court justices in the next few weeks. But President Clinton still has a chance to shape his legacy: He can bring hope and justice to the lives of millions of people all over the world, decades after he leaves office, by signing the treaty for an international criminal court before the deadline Sunday.

The international criminal court is the biggest thing to happen in human rights in 50 years. The court will prosecute people suspected of committing the worst atrocities known to mankind: genocide, crimes against humanity and war crimes. Without such a court, we have nowhere to deposit the tyrants and tin-pot rebel leaders who commit these terrible deeds...

How much simpler it would be to have an international court with judges and prosecutors at the ready, where people such as this rebel leader routinely could be handed over. That's the only way to return a failed country such as Sierra Leone to normalcy: a sober judicial proceeding in which the crimes of the past are laid out, addressed and punished.

The international court will be established in less than two years. Already, 122 governments have signed the treaty for the court, and 25 have ratified it. Sixty ratifications are needed.

The United States stands almost alone in opposing this process. Virtually every single one of its democratic allies, including all of Western Europe, vigorously supports the court.” Archive.

Relevant: Although President Bill Clinton did sign the Rome Statute of the ICC on December 31, 2000, the United States still refuses to ratify the treaty.

Dec 28 2000 Bill Clinton: The Rolling Stone Interview

“...Do you think we learned anything from the impeachment process?

The one thing it did was point out all the other excesses, that there was a bogus Whitewater investigation. That civil lawsuit against me was bogus. Even the judge who was famous for disliking me personally threw it out as having no merit.

I think that — at least for the time being — it took a lot of the venom out of our public life. Even as hard as George Bush and Al Gore are hitting each other in this election, they're by and large hitting each other over the issues.

Bush has got some ad up now questioning Gore's integrity — it's amazing that Bush would question Gore's integrity. He knows that there's a certain number of voters who vote for Republicans because they're convinced that they're morally superior to Democrats, notwithstanding the fact that we're awash in evidence now that they're not. And so he's doing that. But there's been very little of that, even from him.

The level of venom is lower than it was. And maybe I absorbed enough for several years. And if so, then that alone might make it worth doing.

It's just crazy for America to have all these fabulous opportunities and some pretty stiff challenges out there to waste our elections and our public officials' time with things that we know are bogus and trivial and cost the taxpayers a fortune, for no other purpose than for one side to pursue political advantage over another. There'll always be some of that. But my instinct is that, in the next four years, we'll have a lot less of it." Archive.

Dec 29 2000 Dubya: Rumsfeld for the Defense

"WASHINGTON – Donald Rumsfeld, a former Navy jet pilot, was tapped yesterday by President-elect George W. Bush to return to a job he first held a quarter-century ago – defense secretary.

Rumsfeld was secretary of defense from 1975 to 1977, in the bitter aftermath of the Vietnam War. "He is going to be a great secretary of defense – again," said Bush, flanked by Veep-elect Dick Cheney and his defense designee...

"History teaches us that weakness is provocative," said Rumsfeld, who considered a run for president in 1988 against the president-elect's father." Archive.

Relevant: 2005: Bush, Cheney, Rumsfeld and 9/11: A Scandal Beyond What Has Been Seen Before. Archive. 2005: Aspartame, Rumsfeld's Bioweapon. 2009: Rumsfeld's controversial link to drug company. 2011: Court Advances U.S. Torture Victims' Case Against Donald Rumsfeld.

Dec 29 2000 Steven Spielberg to be knighted

"Film director Steven Spielberg will become a Knight of the British Empire in the new year, one of the highest honors bestowed by Queen Elizabeth II — and a special tribute for an American...

Those topping this year's list include Patrick Stewart, the Shakespearean actor who played Captain Jean Luc Picard in Star Trek: The Next Generation, the controversial author Fay Weldon, British comic Spike Milligan and Tiggy Legge-Bourke, the nanny who cared for the late Princess Diana's two sons.” Archive.

Relevant: 2018: Hanks, Streep, Spielberg, Lucus, Nicolson, Spacey Accused of Child Sex Trafficking Parties While Trump Cleans the Swamp. Archive. 2018: Tom Hanks and Steven Spielberg Accused of Child Rape by Isaac Kappy. 2022: Diana died believing the affair was TRUE': Friend reveals how Princess of Wales 'burst into tears' over BBC's lies about Prince Charles' romance with nanny Tiggy Legge-Bourke... and went to her grave never knowing the truth.

Dec 29 2000 Bill and Hill have deal of posh estate in DC

“Hillary and Bill Clinton have found new D.C. digs – a stately mansion near Embassy Row, top Washington real-estate sources said yesterday.

The owners of the 4,700-square-foot manse were asking $3.5 million, the listing for the house shows. It wasn't known what the Clintons will pay for it. But two real-estate sources said the Clintons had reached a deal to buy the home – and a White House source said a contract might be signed today. The six-bedroom brick Colonial on Whitehaven Street is not far from the British Embassy and the vice president's official residence at the U.S. Naval Observatory, which is just up Massachusetts Avenue NW. The first lady, set to be sworn in Jan. 3 as a senator from New York, had told reporters earlier this month she wanted to rent a big house in Washington, and that she and her husband would keep their $1.7 million home in Chappaqua.” Archive.

Dec 30 2000 The year dot.com turned into dot.bomb: Iron laws of the market bring a sharp dose of reality to the virtual business world

“Yesterday yet another high profile dot.com business - Letsbuyit - announced it had run into difficulties. The mania for technology stocks in 2000 had all the ingredients for a roller-coaster ride from boom to bust - glamorous sounding products that investors knew little about, avarice, an economy firing on all cylinders, some dashing young entrepreneurs, a small army of cheerleaders in brokerage houses and in the media peddling the line that the rules of business had been rewritten.

Yet what it did not have was the ability to rewrite the rules of economics...

The iron laws of markets have now reasserted themselves. The ratcheting up of interest rates by the Federal Reserve has not not helped, leading to weaker consumer demand and higher business costs.

But there were also structural factors at play. Over the medium term, share prices are linked to profits with a fairly stable relationship between share prices and earnings, the price-earnings ratio. If the price-earnings ratio is much higher than normal, one of two things can happen - either the company will eventually justify its share price by making higher profits or its share price will come down to earth with a bump... Reality has now set in. Shares in dot.com start-ups that were changing hands for hundreds of dollars each at the height of the speculative fever are now virtually worthless.” Archive.

Dec 31 2000 Police cleared cockpit intruder

“The man who nearly brought down a British Airways jumbo jet had been cleared by police to board the aircraft before it left London, it has emerged.

Paul Kefa Mukonyi was allowed onto the Nairobi-bound Boeing 747, and then five hours into the flight burst into cockpit and tried to grab the controls.

*The plane nose-dived 10,000ft before Mukonyi, 27, was overpowered and a co-pilot managed to regain control... One of the passengers, singer Bryan Ferry has called on BA to review its cockpit security policy. Ferry and his family were among the 379 travellers on board flight BA2069. The Roxy Music frontman told The Mail on Sunday the practice of leaving the door between the cockpit and the cabin unlocked during flights was "mad".*

Ferry, 55, who was setting off on a holiday in Zanzibar with his wife and two sons, said: "Another four seconds and we would have died, which is a very sobering thought. "Luckily the captain was a well-set man, courageous and strong."...

The airline said security issues were being reviewed following Friday's incident but did not pledge to copy American and Israeli airlines which keep the door locked for the entire flight.” Archive.

Dec 31 2000 Larry Page's Connections / A conversation with Chronicle staff writer Verne Kopytoff

“Larry Page, the 28-year-old co-founder of Internet search engine Google, may have been the first student at his elementary school to use a word processor. He has lived in technology's embrace ever since, always curious to try the latest gadgets.

It helps, Page concedes, that he can put many of those electronic toys on his expense account. Even then, he is often displeased with the quality of his technology devices and keeps the number of them he uses regularly to a minimum.

Page is more than just an armchair critic, though. He built many of Google's early computers himself to save money and once created an inkjet printer out of Legos while a student at the University of Michigan....

Chronicle: What was your first computer?

Page: My dad was a computer science professor, so we had computers really early. The first computer we owned as a family was in 1978, the Exidy Sorcerer. It was popular in Europe but never in the U.S. It had 32K memory. My brother had to write the operating system." Archive.

Relevant: 2006: Is Google evil? 2019: Larry Page approved \$150M stock grant to Andy Rubin despite sex abuse allegations & without board's OK, lawsuit claims. 2019: Consumer Group Demands Alphabet CEO Larry Page's Resignation After Reports Reveal He Bypassed Board to Pay Out Sexual Abusers.

2023: Jeffrey Epstein-related case: Virgin Islands wants to subpoena 'untraceable' Google co-founder Larry Page. 2023: VIDEO: Google: A History of Evil | Why They Are Not an Innovative Company.

Dec 31 2000 Princess laughs off flower incident

"...Mrs Halfpenny said at the time: "It was a really hurtful thing to say. I've made baskets of flowers for the Queen and she has always said how nice they are.

"It takes a long time, about three hours, to make a basket of flowers and it costs me about £10.

"I wanted Prince Harry to give the basket to the Queen Mother for me but Princess Anne just snatched it very roughly."

A Buckingham Palace spokeswoman said later: "The Princess Royal meets thousands of people every year and it is clear that today there has been a misunderstanding of some kind."

The Princess Royal is also said to have told her nieces, Princess Beatrice, 12, and her 10-year-old sister Princess Eugenie, to "get a move on" and not to take flowers from well-wishers." Archive.

The End: See you in 2001...

Thank you for reading/using TWtWTW 2000. We hope you enjoyed it. If you downloaded or received it for free, please if you are able consider making a donation.

Recommended donation: $14.95

Any amount is gratefully received – but only if you are able. If you would like to donate, bank transfer would be our preferred method:

Payment details for bank transfers:

Payee: MR GUY WARD
IBAN: GB45ABBY09012926763309
SORT CODE: 09-01-29
ACC: 26763309

PayPal: gfxw@mailfence.com

Crypto:

Bitcoin: bc1q42fsvylspq28wvg5qjqevejvmnet8r458v05s6

Monero:

8AhQky4aoeALSpCZRTp6R45E8nAVa2gBnipd7bu4gK3y98zEqAoD7QMaoTUviEzbxkcEYru
v1ZoKHKCyZQU253XfDR71Zty

Pirate:

zs1p8x9fflnm9k2k7gg4rg9vjezzz33krehv806qh2hdphx8aqxxvhrcq0w4yff7y8q8z9uz2hk
4r

Please if you are able also consider donating to the archive.is hosting site. Thank you.

Thank you for reading That Was the Web That Was 2000.

2001 will be coming soon...we won't be focusing too hard on the inside job controlled demolition that was 9/11 because there are researchers/activists out there who do it a thousand times better than we ever could:

Sept 11 2001 There will be a whole page of Relevant links for this day

thatwasthewebthatwas.net